FOREWORD

The first issue of the University of Richmond Law Notes was published in the Spring, 1958. It has been published annually since then. With the articles appearing in this Number, eighteen articles on Virginia law prepared by the Faculty of the Law School have been presented. We have sought to discuss practical problems thought to be of current interest to practicing lawyers. There have been a minimum of references, and no footnote material has been included.

The reception accorded this modest contribution to the legal literature of Virginia has been encouraging to the Editor and the contributors. The Law School Association has made it possible to distribute the Law Notes to all alumni without charge. There have been many requests for copies from lawyers and libraries throughout the country. Perhaps it soon will be necessary to establish a paid subscription list.

Comments and suggestions of our readers are invited.
