General Information

The Law School was established as a department of Richmond College in 1870. In 1890 the family of the late T. C. Williams, who had been a devoted and valued Trustee, donated $25,000 as the nucleus of an endowment for the Law School. In recognition of this gift, the name of the School was changed to THE T. C. WILLIAMS SCHOOL OF LAW. At various times the School has received further generous gifts from members of the family of Mr. Williams. A substantial gift came through a bequest from Mr. T. C. Williams, Jr. who, like his father, was long a Trustee of Richmond College, and for twenty years was the efficient Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board. The largest of these gifts was received by bequest from Mr. A. D. Williams, another son of Mr. T. C. Williams.

The T. C. Williams School of Law is an integral part of the University of Richmond.* The University Senate, on which sit representatives of all the faculties, provides for intercollegiate cooperation. Ultimate authority is vested in the Board of Trustees and the President of the University. The degrees in law are conferred by the corporation of the University of Richmond. Although possessing a proud tradition, the Law School continues to keep pace with the changing methods of legal education in order to prepare its graduates for the modern practice of law.

The School is fully accredited by the recognized standardizing agencies in America. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools; it is on the approved lists of the American Bar Association and the Virginia State Board of Bar Examiners; and its Juris Doctor degree is fully accredited by the Regents of the University of the State of New York.

The University of Richmond is located on a campus of 350 acres about six miles west of the center of the City of Richmond, Virginia. The Law School occupies a separate building constructed in 1954 and enlarged in 1972, and designed specifically for the study of law. The building, of Collegiate Gothic architecture, is used exclusively by the Law School and provides modern classrooms, seminar rooms, faculty offices, faculty reading room, administrative offices, student lounges, and meeting rooms for the Student Bar Association, the Law Review, Legal Aid Society, and other student organizations. The Library Reading Room, seating 120, is located in close proximity to the Library stacks. The Courtroom accommodates 200 persons.

Richmond is the seat of Virginia’s government. The State Legislature, City Council, and County Board of Supervisors hold frequent sessions. All types of County, City, and State courts, including the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, sit here—some of them continuously. Richmond is the headquarters for the Federal District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. Both courts hold regular terms in Richmond. The State Corporation Commission and the Industrial Commission hold their sessions here. Many of the Federal administrative agencies hold hearings in Richmond.

Thus the student finds, in addition to the formal School program, unsurpassed opportunities for law study by his observation of law in the making and in operation as he notes the various legislative, judicial, and administrative departments of the local, State, and Federal governments at work.

PURPOSE AND METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The educational program of the Law School is designed to equip its graduates with legally-trained minds, while instilling a sense of professional responsibility. Several factors are happily combined to accomplish this result. The case method of instruction is used in most courses. The student, especially the beginner, is trained in the analysis and solution of legal problems by the application of logical reasoning. Attention is given to the principles of the early Common Law, State and Federal decisions, and statutes, and to such rules of law as are peculiar to Virginia. Substantive courses, dealing with the content of the law, are offered by full-time professors. Most adjective courses, dealing with the principles governing actual practice before judicial and administrative tribunals, are offered by associate professors, all practicing attorneys and leading members of the City and State bars. The student is trained in the historical principles of law, but his attention is also directed to the most recent developments. By a combination of the above factors, a competent faculty offers a curriculum that is well balanced in theoretical and practical courses and carefully selected to prepare the graduate for the successful practice of law.

LIBRARY

The Law Library contains more than 46,000 volumes and is housed in greatly expanded facilities as a result of the recent addition to the Law School Building. The new facilities are fully air conditioned and provide space for over 100,000 volumes. The collection provides broad coverage of American and English Law. Included are all state and federal reports, as well as the complete National Reporter System; all annotated reports; loose-leaf services in all major fields; federal statutes and over half of the state statutes; all major encyclopedias; digests, treatises, and citators; subscriptions to over 150 legal periodicals; records and briefs of cases decided by the Supreme Court of Virginia and the Federal Court in the area; and cassettes and law tapes on a wide variety of legal subjects.

An extensive voluntary moot court program is offered. Trials at the traffic and police court level, at the trial court level, and at the appellate court level are held. The Barnett Competition, consisting of appellate arguments, is conducted in the first and second years. This competition gives all students an opportunity to enhance their skill in research, brief-writing, and appellate advocacy. Each participant gains invaluable experience in a more practical application of his legal education. From this competition a team of three students is selected to represent the School in the National Moot Court Competition. Two semester hours of credit are awarded to members of the team.

A formal course designated Practice Court, limited to third-year students and carrying two semester hours of credit, is offered. In addition to regular class work, each student is required to try one nisi prius case, preparing all the pleadings and taking all the steps necessary to the ultimate disposition of the case. Other students act as witnesses and jurors, and members of the State and Federal judiciary serve as judges.

In addition, a Civil Practice Clinic is offered to third-year students. This course is conducted in conjunction with the Metropolitan Richmond Legal Aid Project. Students, under the supervision of a staff lawyer, gather facts and do selected legal research on cases being litigated. The development of a clinical legal education program provides an extremely well-balanced educational experience.

The University of Richmond Law Review is a legal periodical published three times a year by a student staff under general supervision of a board and a faculty adviser. With some emphasis on Virginia Law, the Law Review presents the results of scientific study and scholarly investigation of practical legal problems of current interest to the profession. Articles are written by law teachers, judges, and practicing lawyers. Notes and comments on recent decisions and statutes are prepared by students. Membership on the Law Review is among the highest honors that can be attained by a student. This work affords students valuable training in research, analysis, and self-expression. In the opinion of many, this experience provides some of the best training the School has to offer. Members of the Law Review are awarded two semester hours of credit.
The Legal Aid Program gives the student a realistic educational environment which both aids in the assimilation of substantive subjects and develops the appreciation of the legal profession as a means of solving community problems. Existing programs include student volunteers working with the Metropolitan Legal Aid Association and the Neighborhood Legal Aid Society. Students also prepare legal memoranda and briefs for practicing attorneys on problems that have arisen in advising their clients or in litigating their clients' causes.

The Charles T. Norman prize, a gold medal, is awarded annually to the best all-around law graduate. The 1972 winner was Fenton P. Wilkinson, Norfolk, Virginia.

The Michie Company prize, Burks Pleading and Practice, for the first-year student who attains the highest scholastic average in that class was in 1972 awarded to George L. Consolvo, Suffolk, Virginia.

The Lawyers Title Award, $100 in cash and a certificate, is awarded annually to a graduate for excellence in the law of real property. The 1972 winner was Eddie D. Barnes, Falls Church, Virginia.

The United States Law Week Award is made annually to the student who makes the most scholastic progress during the final year in law school.

The International Academy of Trial Lawyers Student Advocacy Award is awarded annually to the senior law student who has distinguished himself in the field of trial advocacy. The 1972 winner was James W. Tredway, III, Richmond, Virginia.

The McNeill Law Society is named in memory of Walter Scott McNeill, beloved professor in the School from 1905 to 1930. Monthly meetings are held, at which time legal essays and other papers prepared by the members are delivered. Membership is limited to students who have attained a high scholastic average and who have a special interest in research, writing, and the oral presentation of papers.

The summer session is composed of two terms of six weeks each. A total of six semester hours credit may be earned in each term. Classes begin at 8:30 A.M. and end at 12:30 P.M., meeting five days a week. Attendance at one full summer session will be deemed equivalent to one semester's residence where ten semester hours have been pursued during the session. No first-year classes are offered in the summer session. For more information, write to the Dean, School of Law.
Admission Requirements

While no particular subjects are prerequisite for admission to The T. C. Williams School of Law, prospective students are urged to pursue a course of study that will cover all phases of human experience. The law student must be able to draw from a broad base of knowledge. The following are recommended as desirable pre-law concentrations: English, History, Political Science, Philosophy, Sociology, and Psychology.

An applicant for admission as a candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor (J.D.) must be at least eighteen years of age, and must present a transcript from the registrar of a college or university of approved standing showing graduation therefrom or be accepted under the combined academic and law degree program. The policy governing admission to the Law School provides equal educational opportunity to qualified applicants without regard to race, color, national origin, or sex.

First-year students may enter only at the beginning of the fall semester in any year. Students who have been accepted for admission and who have completed the first year of law study at any law school approved by the Association of American Law Schools may enter at the beginning of any semester.

Choice among applicants for admission is made in accordance with the School's evaluation of the individual's promise of success in the study of law at this School and its evaluation of his fitness to become a member of the legal profession.

Application must be made on appropriate Law School forms which are available upon request. A fee of $15 must accompany the application for admission. This fee is not refundable and is not credited toward other fees in the event of admission. The following procedures must be followed and the specified documents forwarded to the Director of Admissions, The T. C. Williams School of Law, University of Richmond, Virginia 23173.

1. The application form accompanied by a check or money order for $15 (Application Fee) payable to "University of Richmond."

2. A letter from the Dean (or other official in charge of records) stating that the college records indicate that no disciplinary action was taken against the applicant.

3. A narrative statement presenting all relevant factors of the applicant's record which should be considered in the selection process. This provides an opportunity for all applicants to explain or draw attention to a particular part of their record and to present themselves and their qualifications as they wish. (Limit 150 words).

4. Report from Educational Testing Service of scores on the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), which all applicants are required to take. The results of a test taken more than two years prior to the date for which the applicant seeks admission will not be considered. No special preparation for the test is necessary since it is designed to measure aptitudes and general background rather than knowledge of subject matter. The test is given five times a year (in October, December, February, April, and July) at more than 100 examination centers throughout the country and overseas. Application forms and further information may be obtained by writing to Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

5. The applicant should register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) by completing and mailing the registration form which will be found in the LSAT Bulletin of Information. A transcript from each college or university attended should then be sent to the following address (do not send to the Law School): LSDAS, Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. The LSDAS will process the transcript(s) and send a copy to the Law School. Accepted candidates will be asked to submit a final transcript directly to The T. C. Williams School of Law, showing that a baccalaureate degree has been awarded.

6. The applicant has the responsibility for ascertaining that all of his credentials have been received by the Law School. The School reserves the right to refuse to consider applications which are not complete in all respects by December 1.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Such students must, at the time of their admission, be twenty-three years of age or older, and are admitted only in exceptional cases where the faculty is convinced that their experience and training have equipped them to engage successfully in the study of law, despite the lack of the college credits required of candidates for the degree. Each applicant must submit in writing a statement setting forth his age and his academic and business training, accompanied by letters of recommendation from two or more persons who have had opportunities to form an opinion of his ability, character, and seriousness of purpose. Special students are not eligible for the degree, but upon completion of the course will be awarded the Certificate in Law.

COMBINED DEGREES

Some colleges provide a combined degree program in which students may so combine the work in their college with the work in the Law School as to receive in six years a bachelor's degree and a law degree. Students who wish to make this arrangement must matriculate in the Law School at the beginning of their fourth or senior year and must complete the required subjects of the first-year law course. Students who complete successfully their first year of assigned work in the Law School with the required standing in the class may receive the bachelor's degree from their undergraduate college, and will then receive the Juris Doctor degree from the University of Richmond upon the completion of the remainder of the three-year law course. Students desiring to make this arrangement should confer with the dean of their college and the Dean of the Law School before matriculation.

An applicant for advanced standing must comply with the requirements for admission governing candidates for the J.D. degree. Such an applicant must have completed one full year of study prior to beginning his studies at this Law School. Therefore, the applicant should submit an official transcript showing completion of the law school work for which credit is desired. In addition, the applicant must submit a statement from the dean of the law school previously attended that the individual is eligible to continue at or be readmitted to that law school.

No credit will be given for work completed in another law school unless at the time such credit is presented, it is acceptable to the school where it was earned and such school is either a member of the Association of American Law Schools or on the Approved List of the American Bar Association.

Credit on work transferred must have been completed with at least the grade of C or its equivalent. Credit granted is conditioned upon the successful completion of not less than thirty semester hours at this School. A final decision on the transferability of credit will not be made until the applicant has registered at this School.
GRADING SYSTEM

The passing grade is 55.

The grade of $A$ is 80-100; $B$ is 70-79; $C$ is 62-69; $D$ is 55-61; $F$ is below 55.

The passing grade of 55 has been selected in order to allow a range of grades wide enough to reflect the wide differences of ability between those students who are merely competent and those who are good or excellent. Grades are given on the theory that a grade of 100 would indicate a perfect understanding of the subject in question. Grades above 80 are unusual and indicate distinguished excellence.

Reports of grades made on examinations are published to students after the close of the semester.

RULES OF ATTENDANCE AND SCHOLARSHIP

A student will not be permitted to attend any class until his name has been entered on the official roll of that class by the Dean, and provision for payment of fees has been approved by the Treasurer.

A first-year student entering in the fall of 1973 and thereafter may not register for more than the required work, which is fifteen (15) semester hours in each semester.

No student in the second or third year may register for more than eighteen (18) semester hours in any semester without special permission of the Dean.

A student may not pursue work for more than eight (8) semesters, including residence at other law schools, unless permitted to do so by special action of the faculty.

A student who fails to maintain a cumulative average of sixty-two (62) is placed on academic probation. If a student on academic probation fails to raise his overall average to sixty-two (62) by the end of the following semester, he will be required to withdraw from the School and will be ineligible to return. The faculty may suspend imposition of this rule in an extreme case. This provision becomes effective with the class entering in the fall of 1973.

Students are held responsible for attendance and prepared recitation at all meetings of their classes. No excuses for absences are accepted and no indulgence therefor will be granted in examining and grading a student. Regularity of attendance and the quality of classroom recitation may be considered with the student's final examination paper in determining his grade on each course.

Under no circumstances will an instructor permit a student to take the final examination in a course if his record shows absences exceeding twenty-five per cent (25%) of the scheduled lectures therein.
Students are not permitted to have outside employment which will interfere with their devoting substantially all their working time to law study.

All students, upon matriculation, become members of the Student Bar Association and agree to abide by and support the Honor System. All work is done under the Honor System, administered by the students through a Grievance Committee and Honor Court under a Code of Ethics. The Honor System requires that a man or woman shall act honorably in all the relations and phases of student life. An individual’s status as a member of the Student Bar Association is conditioned upon his adherence to the System. The resulting atmosphere of personal integrity and trust is highly appropriate to a School preparing individuals for the honorable profession of law.

In July 1972 the Trustees of the University of Richmond approved and published a revised Policy Statement on Standards of Conduct, Penalties, and Disciplinary Procedures governing the conduct of students, faculty, administrators, staff members, and all other persons, whether or not their presence is authorized on the campuses of the University of Richmond or at University-sponsored activities and functions. This Policy Statement, based on an extensive study by a committee of student, faculty, administrative, and Trustee representatives, sets forth those standards of conduct which the University of Richmond deems essential for fulfilling its educational mission and community life. A copy of this Policy Statement and any officially approved revisions thereof are furnished to each student who registers and to each person who is employed by the University. All members of the University community should familiarize themselves with this Policy Statement, as revised, and with any other official publications, handbooks, or announcements issued from time to time by the University of Richmond or by individual Colleges and Schools of the University.

The University of Richmond considers cultivation of self-discipline by members of the University community to be of primary importance in the educational process and essential to the development of responsible citizens. All members of the University community are expected to conduct themselves, both within the University and elsewhere, in such a manner as to be a credit to themselves and to the University of Richmond. As responsible men and women, they are expected also to seek the resolution of all issues through the processes of reason. Moreover, they have a responsibility for complying with local, state, and federal

In a community of learning, individual or group conduct that is unlawful, that disrupts or interferes with the educational process, that causes destruction of property or otherwise infringes upon the rights of other members of the University community or of the University itself, cannot be tolerated.

Any person who violates the standards of conduct and regulations of the University of Richmond shall be subject to disciplinary action and, if need be, legal action. Disciplinary action may range from reprimand up to and including dismissal or expulsion from the University. Penalties will be imposed after a proper determination has been made in accordance with established disciplinary procedures of the University, with due process observed and with appropriate appeal procedures available, as outlined in the aforementioned Policy Statement and any approved revisions thereof.

EXAMINATIONS

Unless announced otherwise by the instructor, the period for an examination will be six hours in six semester-hour courses, five hours in five-semester hour courses, four hours in four semester-hour courses, three and one-half hours in three semester-hour courses, and three hours in two semester-hour courses.

A student who finds that he will be unavoidably prevented from taking an examination at the time scheduled, may, if he communicates such fact to the Dean on or before the morning of such examination, receive permission to take an examination at a later date; otherwise the instructor will not be required to grade or be justified in grading a paper if submitted.

In exceptional cases students may be permitted by the Dean to take an examination in absentia under such conditions as he may deem proper.

Failure to take an examination given in a course for which the student has registered, unless excused by the Dean, will be recorded as “Incomplete” and treated as a “Failure.” No student will be permitted to resign from a course without the consent of the Dean, and then only for an adequate reason.

No credit is given for a course in which a student receives a grade of F (i.e., below 55) unless he successfully repeats the course.

Fees: The degree will not be conferred until the applicant has paid all fees due the University of Richmond.

Filing of Application: Applications for the degree shall be filed by classes and then withdraws or is dropped from the University for whatever cause, no refund of fees or any part of fees is made.

No diploma is granted or credit given for the session's work until all charges have been satisfactorily settled.

The books and supplies required in the first year, if purchased new, will cost about $125. Second-hand books are available at lower cost. All books may be secured at reasonable prices through the Law School Book Exchange located in the Law School building.

Rooms in the Law Dormitory are available upon application to the Dean of the Law School accompanied by check payable to University of Richmond in the amount of $50. Second- and third-year students may reserve a room for the following session by filing a written request, accompanied by deposit, in the Dean’s Office by May 1. This deposit will be refunded only if written notice releasing the reservation is filed in the Dean’s Office by June 1. Applications for rooms by first-year students will be accepted only after the applicant has been accepted for admission to the School. Rooms will be assigned to first-year men after June 1 in the order of application, and the deposit will be refunded only if written notice releasing the reservation is filed in the Dean’s Office by July 1.

If a student occupies the room, the above deposit of fifty dollars, less any charges for damages to buildings and furnishings, will be returned after the close of the session. The rooms are furnished, and students are expected to provide only bed linens and blankets. The charge for room covers medical care by the University Infirmary but does not cover cost of medicines, expenses at a hospital, or the services of any additional physician or nurse. The cost of room and board combined is $1,050 for the session. Should a student desire a room without board, the cost will be $475 for the session.

Assignments to the dormitory are for the entire session, thus making a student responsible for the room charge for both semesters. Should a dormitory resident withdraw from school at the end of the first semester, the student will not be held responsible for his room rent for the following semester, but his room deposit will be forfeited. Notice of withdrawal must be given in advance and approved by the Dean and the Treasurer. If withdrawal is on account of the student’s sickness, a refund may be made in the charge for board.

Students may obtain furnished rooms in private homes near the campus or in the city at prices varying from $40 to $60 a month. Off-campus students may purchase some or all meals at the University Refectory.

RICHMOND COLLEGE
WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE
THE T. C. WILLIAMS SCHOOL OF LAW
SUMMER SCHOOL
GRADUATE SCHOOL
SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE
The University of Richmond offers a unique educational experience. The largest private university in Virginia, it retains the intimate atmosphere of a small college supported by all the resources and strengths of a major university, but with emphasis on quality rather than size. A $50 million gift by Trustee E. Claiborne Robins and his family in 1969 has assured the University of financial stability and will enable it to become one of the strongest small private universities in the country.

The coordinate structure of the University's seven colleges and schools offers the advantages of a coeducational campus along with the benefits of small, separately administered colleges. Six of the seven coordinate divisions are located on the main campus: Richmond College, for undergraduate men; Westhampton College, for undergraduate women; the School of Business Administration; the Graduate School; the T. C. Williams School of Law; and the Summer School. University College, offering both day and evening classes, is located in the heart of downtown Richmond. Each college has its own dean, faculty and students, but contributes to the entire University academically and socially. Degree programs may be pursued in each of the seven colleges, but all degrees are granted by the University of Richmond.

The policy governing admission to all colleges and schools of the University of Richmond provides equal educational opportunity to qualified applicants without regard to race, color, or national origin.

The University is located in the western suburbs of Richmond, on a beautiful 350-acre campus of rolling hills, stately oaks and green pines, surrounding a 10-acre lake. The natural beauty of the setting is enhanced by the architecture of the buildings, which is chiefly in the style of Collegiate Gothic. Although the campus has an informal, relaxed atmosphere, it is only twenty minutes from the center of Virginia's thriving capital city.

Among the University's greatest assets are an outstanding faculty and small classes. Of the full-time teaching faculty about 60 per cent hold earned doctorates. The student-faculty ratio is 15 to 1. Distinctive programs include interdisciplinary studies, the Honors Program, and Colloquia for Freshmen. A new area curriculum enables the student to select courses from a wide variety of offerings.
University of Richmond students join in numerous extracurricular activities: student government, publications, radio station, dramatic productions, choir, glee club, band and orchestra, debate, campus forums, dances, fraternities, intramural and intercollegiate sports, and denominational religious groups.

The University's more than 17,000 alumni throughout the United States and a number of foreign countries include many who have achieved distinguished careers in law, government, medicine, business, industry, education, religion, and the arts.

ACCREDITATION AND MEMBERSHIPS
The University of Richmond's accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools covers all of its programs. The University is accredited also by the Virginia State Board of Education. The Department of Chemistry is accredited by the American Chemical Society. The School of Law is accredited by the recognized standardizing agencies in America; it is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is on the approved lists of the American Bar Association and the Virginia State Board of Bar Examiners; its Juris Doctor degree is accredited by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. The School of Business Administration is accredited by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

The University of Richmond is also a member of the Southern University Conference, the Association of American Colleges, the American Council on Education, the National Commission on Accrediting, the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States, and the National Association of Summer Sessions. In addition, Westhampton College is a corporate member of the American Association of University Women.

The University, one of the affiliated institutions of the University Center in Virginia, benefits from the several cooperative programs of the Center.

The University invites inquiries concerning its academic programs and welcomes visits from prospective students and their parents. These visits should be arranged preferably while the University is in session. Visitors are requested to write or telephone the appropriate Dean or Director of Admissions in advance of an intended visit.
Richmond College, the oldest and largest of the seven colleges and schools that make up the University of Richmond, is the coordinate liberal arts and sciences division for undergraduate men. It offers programs that lead to the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. Students may concentrate in most academic fields except engineering. Pre-medical, pre-dental, pre-law, pre-business, and pre-forestry courses are also offered. Twelve national fraternities have chapters on the campus, and a Student Center provides social activities for all students. Students also enjoy the varied social and cultural opportunities available in the City of Richmond. The $10 million Robins Center on the campus, with the most modern facilities for physical education and intercollegiate athletics, was completed in December 1972. There is ample opportunity to participate in a variety of extracurricular activities.

Guidance and counseling are provided through a faculty adviser system and the University Center for Psychological Services. In addition to a variety of intramural athletic activities, Westhampton women have intercollegiate varsity teams in field hockey, basketball, lacrosse, tennis, swimming, and archery.

A particularly rich educational experience is shared by the students at the T. C. Williams School of Law. With a small, highly selected enrollment, the student is assured of individual attention. Located within the City of Richmond, the seat of Virginia's government, the Law School offers its students unusual opportunities to examine firsthand the various county, city, and state courts, including the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia. In addition to highly competent full-time professors, leading members of the Richmond and Virginia bars teach many of the elective courses. There are modern classrooms, seminar rooms, meeting rooms for student organizations, and a handsome courtroom. A new wing has been completed to expand the Law School building, making available more space for classrooms, library holdings, and offices. The Law School, offering courses leading to the Juris Doctor degree, has recently entered upon its second century of service to the Commonwealth and to the Nation.

The School of Business Administration is nationally accredited by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business. The School’s principal objective is to provide a professional college education to qualified students and to prepare them to meet the present and future challenges of a complex business world. The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration is offered, with majors in Accounting, Economics, Finance, Management, and Marketing. Based upon a broad background in the arts and sciences, the academic program is designed to provide knowledge and understanding of the fundamentals common to business enterprise, with the opportunity for specialization in one or more areas of study, and to develop the student’s creative and analytical thought processes. Enrollment in the School of Business Administration is kept sufficiently small to insure each student a close relationship with the faculty and his fellow students. Approximately one half of the student body comes from other divisions of the University of Richmond; the remaining students are transfers from junior colleges and other senior colleges and universities.
