Putting Careers in Focus

Alumni Become Students’ Key Consultants
Dr. Leonard S. Goldberg, dean of educational services at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., joins the University this month as UR’s new vice president for student affairs. The appointment, announced in November, concluded a seven-month search for a successor to Dr. William H. Leftwich, who died last March.

Before coming to UR, Dr. Goldberg had been the chief student affairs officer at Dickinson College since 1977. He is a member of the national board of directors for the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators and is a regional vice president of that organization.

Dr. Goldberg was vice president for student affairs at the University of Maine at Presque Isle from 1973 to 1977 and dean of students at Roger Williams College in Bristol, R.I., from 1969 to 1973.

He has a bachelor of arts degree in English from the State University of New York; a master of arts from The Ohio State University in higher education and student personnel administration; and a Ph.D. in counseling and guidance, also from Ohio State.

He has lectured and written on such topics as fraternity activities, ROTC and the college, and campus health care.

UR’s new president, Dr. Samuel Alston Banks, says, “Dr. Goldberg has been the chief student affairs officer at three diverse institutions of higher learning. He is also active on a national level in his professional association. He was selected as a finalist by the all-campus selection committee and was the ultimate choice for recommendation by the University’s Executive Cabinet.

“I have had the pleasure of working with him for nine years and can say that the University has the right person at the right time.” RF
2 Putting Careers in Focus
Alumni Become Students' Key Consultants
By Forrest Hughes

5 Sisterhood
Sororities Are Coming to the University
By Randy Fitzgerald

8 Heart of the Chapel
25th Anniversary for the Beckerath Organ
By Dorothy Wagener

12 Around the Lake

18 Alumni Notes

24 Classnotes

Photo Credits  Brian Schaeffer, pages 2, 3, 4, 8, 9, 10, 11, 14, 15, 20;
Dorothy Wagener, pages 12, 17, 18; Bob Hutchinson, page 12; Bruce Ackerman, page 13; Forrest Hughes, page 15; Yvonne Benner, page 16; Cliff Bruce Studios, page 19; Alice Dunn, pages 20, 21, 22; Jane Thorpe, pages 21, 22; Mitch Moore, page 22.

Editor  Evelyn Fouraker
Associate Editor  Forrest Hughes
Contributing Editor  Randy Fitzgerald, R'63 and G'64
Assistant Editor  Dorothy Wagener
Classnotes Editor  Jeffrey L. Franklin, R'77
Classnotes Editor  Jane S. Thorpe, W'58
Contributors  Forrest Hughes, Randy Fitzgerald, Dorothy Wagener, Kortni Buck, Brownie Hamilton, Doug Downs, Tripp Shepherd, Jeffrey L. Franklin, Jane S. Thorpe, Kim Bram
Art Direction  ATLS—Lisa Cumbey

The University of Richmond Magazine, of which this is Volume 49, Number 2, is published quarterly for the alumni and friends of the University of Richmond, Virginia 23173. ©1987 University of Richmond
Putting Careers in Focus

Alumni Become Students' Key Consultants

From left, Bettie Shaffer Buehn, W'70, corporate personnel manager for Best Products, and Kristin Miller, W'88
By Forrest Hughes

Consider the questions many students face as they look beyond graduation. "What kind of job do I want?" "What kind of training do I need to do the job?" "What are the prospects of actually getting the job I want?" "What are the advancement opportunities?"

UR students can get answers to some of those questions from a unique source: UR alumni. The Key Career Consultants Network, sponsored by the Office of Career Planning and Placement, puts students in touch with alumni who hold jobs in the field in which they are interested or the geographic location they prefer.

"The Key Consultants Network gives us another tool to give students," says Andy Ferguson, assistant director of Career Planning and Placement. "There is a real need for people to have an accurate picture of what is going on in the world of work ... It provides students with an opportunity to plan. Careers don't just happen; they're planned."

Over 400 people are listed as consultants. Most are located in Richmond, but Career Planning and Placement is targeting Atlanta, Baltimore, New York City, Philadelphia, Boston, and Washington, D.C., for expansion of the network.

The Key Career Consultants Network began at UR in 1979 and is updated regularly. Consultants originally were recruited by invitations sent to 3,000 alumni in selected occupational areas. Others have been recruited through invitations sent from the alumni directors, and a few, the only non-alumni consultants, are members of the Society of Families, a group of parents of current students.

When someone agrees to be a consultant, his form (see inside back cover) is coded by occupation. The form is then filed and cross-indexed by occupational specialty, geographic location, name of business and major. The forms are kept in binders in the Resource Library in Career Planning and Placement, where they are easily used by students.

A student wanting to learn more about a field can look up consultants in his occupational specialty. Students who are home on spring break can look up consultants in their home towns, those needing information on a particular company can do some of the research through consultants and those choosing a major can investigate the career paths of graduates holding different degrees.

Students are also referred to consultants by the System for Interactive Guidance Information Plus (SIGI Plus), a computerized system for career exploration that helps students examine their skills, values and interests and see how they fit into a variety of careers. (See sidebar on page 4.)

At one point in the program students can ask where to find more information on a particular career, and SIGI Plus may give them the names of up to three consultants in that field whose names were programmed into the computer by a student assistant.

Once they have selected a consultant, it's up to the students to initiate the contact. Students are asked to keep their meetings with consultants to about 30 minutes. Career Planning and Placement provides a list of suggested questions for students to ask if they choose to meet with a consultant.
A Westhampton alumna says the Key Career Consultants Network helped her in job searches both before and after graduation. "It's a very good thing and I'm glad we have it," she says, requesting anonymity because she is currently job hunting. "It has helped me decide what I don't want to do."

Most students use the Key Career Consultants Network to make contacts in the more competitive fields: advertising, international affairs, human resource development and public relations, says Ferguson, but consultants are a diverse group. "There's a range of ages, from recent graduates to retirees," says Ferguson. "Also, there's a diverse representation in terms of occupation and the companies represented."

Consultants get involved in the Key Career Consultants Network for equally diverse reasons. Some want to give something back to their alma mater, says Ferguson, and others say, "I wish the University had had something like this when I went to school here."

Carol Whitley, assistant vice president in corporate and institutional sales for Sovran Bank in Richmond, has been a consultant since graduating from The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business in 1981. "It's been really interesting talking to students, seeing what they're facing . . ." she says. She sees the business contacts developed by students through the Key Career Consultants Network as a big plus for them. "It's helpful for getting your foot in the door," she says. "When you're out there job hunting, the alma mater is a readymade contact, with ties already there to build on."

"One of my basic motivations is to help people," says Bettie Shaffer Biehn, W'70, corporate personnel manager for Best Products at their headquarters in Richmond. "Lots of people don't know what the field of personnel is . . . they think it is mainly recruiting, and that's one thing I don't do." She says too that counseling students is one way she can do something for the University. "It makes me feel good," she says, describing the need for an Office of Career Planning and Placement when she graduated with a degree in chemistry.

Another motivation is the opportunity to actually guide someone's career. " . . . There's always the possibility to be the one person who makes the difference," says Ferguson, and that may be the best reason of all.

Forrest Hughes is director of publications at the University and is associate editor of UR Magazine.

SIGI Plus is a friendly name for a user-friendly computer. Its full name is System for Interactive Guidance Information Plus and it helps students in Career Planning and Placement examine their skills, values and interests; apply that information to various occupations; and explore careers of interest in depth.

Students sign up to use SIGI Plus for an hour at a time. Nine sections allow them to progress from self-assessment to getting information to deciding on a career. Students also have the option of going to the section in which they are most interested. SIGI Plus has been in use since January 1986. About 350 appointments are made each semester.

SIGI Plus was a gift to Career Planning and Placement from the student government associations of Westhampton College, Richmond College and The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business; Chancellor E. Bruce Heilman; the alumni associations of Westhampton College and The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business; AT&T; and the Robert E. Pogue Agency of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. Only two other schools in Virginia have SIGI Plus.

The Career Planning and Placement staff considers SIGI Plus only one step in planning a career. Other resources they offer include the Key Career Consultants Network, individual counseling, job search and employer libraries, workshops, job listings and information on graduate schools. FH
Sororities Are Coming to the University

Sororities are coming to the University in a big way. Next month six national sororities will colonize on campus in one of the largest such start-ups in American college history.

By Randy Fitzgerald, R'63 and G'64

An estimated 600 women will go through rush week conducted by Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi.

Why are women's social fraternities being established in 1987, over 100 years after Kappa Alpha Order began a men's fraternity system on campus in 1870?

Jane S. Thorpe, W'SS and director of alumnae relations, says an alumna from the Westhampton class of '31 told her that sororities were “an idea whose time has come.” When Dr. May L. Keller, Westhampton's first dean, helped open the doors to the new women's college in the West End of Richmond, she saw no need for sororities, even though she was national president of Pi Beta Phi. The college, with 85 students, was just too small to support such a system, she thought.

Throughout the years, most Westhampton students agreed with her. They got ideas of community service, academic excellence, sisterhood and competitive spirit from the excellent class system, Ms. Thorpe said. Each class had a special charitable project. The classes worked together on events like May Day, and they competed against one another in such activities as intramurals.

The close-knit feeling that grew out of small classes is being lost somewhat today. In 1946 when Dean Keller retired, there still were only about 400 women in Westhampton College. This year, there are almost that many women in the freshman class, and about half of the approximately 2,700 undergraduate students are women. That percentage reflects the impression women have made in recent years on college enrollment. Women make up 52 percent of the total enrollment nationwide.

Even as late as 1981, 63 percent of Westhampton students voted against bringing sororities to campus. In 1984, however, 555 women voted for sororities and 397 voted against them.

One of the reasons for the negative votes throughout the years was the sororities’ “stigma of being exclusive,” Ms. Thorpe said. Most of the students felt the “Westhampton College student could be and do anything she wanted.”

Dean Patricia C. Harwood says that the larger class sizes now have created “a vacuum” that needs to be filled by smaller communities within the larger ones.

Rather than hurt the class system, though, Ms. Thorpe thinks that sororities may help. “Sororities require that their members be active in other areas of campus life.” And from alumnae who remember fondly the class system, Ms. Thorpe says she has heard “only good things.” Many alumnae have daughters or sisters who are members of sororities and have heard positive things about the organizations, she said.

Also, sororities and fraternities are enjoying a new nationwide prosperity, according to Alison L. Bartel, assistant director for student activities. “In the last

---

Pi Beta Phi

Founded: Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., April 28, 1867
Colors: Wine red and silver blue
Magazine: The Arrow
Philanthropies: Pi Beta Phi Settlement School; Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts; Arrowcraft industry; Emma Harper Turner Fund; Arrow in the Arctic program; Holt House; scholarships, grants and loans.

---

Delta Gamma

Founded: Lewis School, Oxford, Miss., December 1873
Colors: Bronze, pink and blue
Magazine: Anchor
Philanthropies: Delta Gamma Foundation encompassing educational grants and loans, sight conservation, aid to the blind.

---

Chi Omega

Founded: University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark., April 5, 1895
Colors: Cardinal and straw
Magazine: The Eleusis
Philanthropies: Chi Omega Foundation for educational and leadership training activities and scholarships; National Achievement Award; projects in local communities.
two or three years, they have extended in a big way," she said. In fact, combined fraternity and sorority membership rose from 1.2 million in 1965 to 2.2 million in 1985.

When both the faculty and the trustees approved a sorority system last spring, 24 of the 26 national sororities said they wanted to come to UR. A UR committee on sororities invited nine of that number to make presentations on campus. The six finalists were announced in late October.

Ms. Bartel says that only the 10 chapters that colonized at Emory University in 1961 represented a colonization larger than the one planned for UR. She said she knows of no other campus where a whole new system is starting.

To help decide which sororities would be invited, then-president E. Bruce Hallman appointed a committee of students, alumnae, administrators and faculty to evaluate the 24 applicants. Mrs. Tucker Smart Paxton, W'62, headed a committee of alumnae hosts to show sorority representatives the campus. "We put our best foot forward," Ms. Thorpe said. In addition, student spectators helped in the process, Ms. Thorpe said.

The sororities were judged by their emphasis on scholarship, community service, human issues philosophies and financial and personnel support on a national level, Ms. Bartel said.

The influence of one of the six, Pi Beta Phi, even without its physical presence, was felt in Westhampton's earliest years. Dean Keller, national president of her sorority from 1908-1918, hired among others of her sisters Pauline Turnbull, who served as the dean's secretary, as registrar and as Latin and art history professor; and Dr. Caroline Lutz, who became one of the college's most respected English professors and is legendary for her course in puppetry. Both were Pi Beta Phi's.

The enormous interest in sororities in 1987 may result in some initially large chapters, both Ms. Thorpe and Ms. Bartel said, maybe even in the 100-woman range. Rush will consist of such sorority representatives as alumnae, national or regional officers and student members presenting informational sessions and skits to prospective members. Each group has requirements for membership, and a national Panhellenic conference governs all sororities. Rush will be done "in the Panhellenic spirit," Ms. Bartel said.

The six sororities will all work together with the campus community, Ms. Bartel said.

The University will not provide a lodge system such as the one the 11 men's fraternities are now using. At first the six sororities probably will take turns using one designated room, such as the Emily Gardner Room in Keller Hall.

Rush will take place during the second week of February.

By most accounts, the timing is right. "I think Miss Keller would agree," Ms. Thorpe said.

Dr. Randy Fitzgerald, R'63 and G'64, is director of the news bureau at the University and contributing editor of UR Magazine.

---

Kappa Alpha Theta

Founded: DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 27, 1870
Colors: Black and gold
Magazine: Kappa Alpha Theta
Philanthropies: Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation including support to the Institute of Logopedics, Wichita, Kans.; Community Involvement Grants; scholarships and loans.

Delta Delta Delta

Founded: Boston University, Boston, Mass., Thanksgiving Eve, 1888
Colors: Silver, gold and blue
Magazine: The Trident
Philanthropies: Centenary Fund grant to National Humanities Center, Research Triangle Park, N.C.; Crescent Fund; Siegleholtz project to support children's medical research; scholarships.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Founded: Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 13, 1870
Colors: Dark and light blue
Magazine: The Key
Philanthropies: Rehabilitation medicine; Rose McGill Fund; scholarships in rehabilitation; educational grants and fellowships; foreign language graduate study abroad.
A university chapel without a pipe organ is like a body without a heart, or so thought Dr. John White, chairman of the UR Department of Music, in 1958. He went to work with Dr. George M. Modlin, then UR president, and the music faculty and by 1961 a fine $30,000 German-built organ had given the Cannon Memorial Chapel a new heartbeat.

An anniversary concert on Oct. 31, 1986, celebrated the 25th year of the organ, built in 1961 by Rudolf von Beckerath. At the keyboard was Suzanne Kidd Bunting, W'58, associate professor of music and chairman of the Music Department, who is also celebrating 25 years at the University. At interludes throughout the program, she gave brief talks about the instrument, its beginnings and its significance for the University.

At the time of its installation, the Beckerath organ made quite an impact on the University community, in Richmond and beyond. First of all, it gave the chapel a dramatic new reason for being. Before the Beckerath organ, there was only a small, electronic Hammond organ dating back to 1936 that was used to accompany singing for chapel services and convocations.
In contrast, the Beckerath organ, says Bunting, is “a very special and distinguished instrument” that soon after its installation became known to leading American and European organists as one of the finest in the country.

The pipe organ has brought a broader scope to the UR music program. “A classical style organ has made it possible to have performance of major choral works requiring organ accompaniment and has allowed continued development of the splendid choral program led by Dr. James Erb, professor of music,” says Bunting.

Among major works performed through the years have been the “St. John Passion” and the “St. Matthew Passion” by Bach and “Rejoice in the Lamb” by Benjamin Britten. In 1984 the University Chapel Guild sponsored a performance of Handel’s “Messiah” that included the organ.

In addition to its use with choral works, the organ has been featured in works for brass quintet and organ and for organ concertos with the University Orchestra. Some 150 students have had organ lessons on the instrument, and many of those are now holding church music positions across the country.

The UR organ has also influenced a number of churches in the area to install similar organs. The University was on the leading edge of a return to a “classical style” of organ building; there are now hundreds of other instruments in the country built on similar principles of design and more than 30 other Beckerath organs. Many of the Beckeraths are at other colleges and universities, including Stetson University in DeLand, Fla.; Samford University in Birmingham, Ala.; the University of Texas in Austin, Texas; and Yale University in New Haven, Conn.

The Beckerath organ has also made a tremendous difference to the activities of the UR Chaplain’s Office. Organ music is a part of regular weekly worship services held during the academic session; of nearly all the 60 or so weddings in the chapel each year; of memorial services honoring a member of the University community; and of special worship services such as those on Parents Weekend, Easter and the Christmas candlelight service.

For regular weekly services, the Chaplain’s Office employs as organist David E. Woolard, R’77, a former student who had a double major in music and mathematics. Woolard also teaches math at Thomas Dale High School in Chester, Va.

Burhans says the organ is the focal point of the chapel and that “it complements the stately gothic architecture and completes the dignity and majesty our chapel has.

“After having been here 12 years, I’ve come to associate worship with that organ,” he says. “For me, it makes the chapel a holy place.”

The University’s organ was designed and constructed by Rudolf von Beckerath, a noted German organ builder, and was only the third Beckerath organ installed in the United States at the time. It is a classical, 18th-century-style pipe organ having totally mechanical, or “tracker,” action, in which there is a direct connection between the key on the keyboard and the pipe that creates the sound.

The organ has 40 ranks, 26 stops, two keyboards and a pedalboard. It has a total of 1,824 pipes ranging in length from 16... feet to a quarter of an inch and in diameter from one foot to that of a straw.

At the time of its installation, the organ had quite a physical impact. To support the 12 tons the instrument weighs, the chapel's choir loft floor had to be reinforced with steel beams. Preparations for the organ also required painstaking data collection of the temperature and humidity readings in the chapel three times a day for an entire year.

The instrument was made in Hamburg, Germany, then shipped to the United States in 36 crates weighing a total of about 12 tons. Three German craftsmen came to the University to install it in the chapel, and Bunting worked alongside them to learn about the organ. Von Beckenrath himself came later to personally supervise the final installation and to voice the pipes.

"In the early years, organists came from far and near to see and hear the instrument," Bunting says. "I sometimes felt as though I was curator of an exhibit as much as a teacher of organ." The organ is included in "A Collection of Noted Organs and Organists of the World," by H.J. Winterton.

Many of those organists have given recitals. The first was a dedication recital in February 1962 played by Robert Noehren of the University of Michigan. Bunting opened the anniversary concert in October by playing the same piece with which Noehren began the dedication recital, "Prelude and Fugue in G minor" by Dietrich Buxtehude.

Perhaps the most famous organist ever to perform here was Anton Heiller, an internationally renowned Austrian organist who played an all-Bach recital in 1965. When he first saw the organ, says Bunting, "his face lit up and he said, 'At last, a REAL organ!'"

In its 25th year, UR's "real organ" with its imposing pipes and wooden cases is the dominating feature of the chapel's interior.
Music Department Is in Tune with the Times

The Beckerath organ was the newest feature of the Music Department in 1961. Today the department is just as responsive to the University's needs as it was then.

New this year is a greater emphasis on contemporary music and jazz. Joining the music faculty are Michael Davison, instructor of music, who directs a jazz band and specializes in brass instruments; and Dr. Alfred Cohen, assistant professor of music, a composer who directs the orchestra and has formed a new ensemble called "Currents" to perform contemporary music.

They join a team consisting of Suzanne Bunting, W'58, associate professor of music and chairman of the department; Dr. Gene H. Anderson, assistant professor of music and band director; Richard Becker, assistant professor of music whose primary area is piano; Dr. James Erb, professor of music and choral director; Catherine Pendleton-Kirby, assistant professor of music whose primary area is voice; and Dr. Homer Rudolf, associate professor of music whose main teaching area is music history.

Also new in the Music Department are computers. Students now use computer-assisted instruction in music theory classes and work on computer theory drills in the music library; four of the faculty own personal computers. Plans call for an electronic music studio that could be used with courses, in composition and with the jazz band.

The Music Department presents more than 30 events in its concert series each year, including recitals by faculty and students as well as guest artists. In addition to their concerts, guest performers regularly spend time with students, either in the classroom or in workshops or master classes.

The department offers two degree programs, a bachelor of arts and a bachelor of music. Last fall it served some 25 music majors, 101 students taking applied music lessons and over 300 students taking music courses. The department will be serving even more students beginning next year, when all undergraduate students will need three hours of credit in the fine arts to meet distribution requirements for graduation. DW
AROUND THE LAKE

VIRGINIA BAPTISTS WELCOME PRESIDENT BANKS

Higher education and the church make up "a constant and necessary" partnership, Dr. Samuel Alston Banks told members of the Baptist General Association of Virginia in his first major address before that group.

"Universities and colleges are the central nervous system of the church... At the same time, the church is the soul of higher education," Dr. Banks said in November at the association's annual meeting. "Higher education can only be high, the liberal arts can only be liberating if teaching goes beyond the sharing of information, materials and methods in order to explore and appreciate the values that give dignity to human existence."

Dr. Banks said that during his 15 years as a clinical professor of psychiatry and religion at the University of Florida, over half his students and patients were Southern Baptists. As he worked with them, he said, "I was engaged in the spiritual and intellectual nurture of these young people. I was intent on making Baptists into better Baptists."

Enumerating some of the "distinguishing characteristics that make one a true Virginia Baptist," he said, "I find my heart strangely warmed, to use a Methodist expression." Dr. Banks is an ordained Methodist minister.

Noting that many in the audience were UR alumni/ae, he said, "You can rest assured that the University will seek to develop future generations who view all of life as an opportunity for ministry."

"Let us go beyond labels," he said, to the question of whether the new president would "take care of our beliefs, commitments, and traditions." He concluded, "If your heart is as mine, give me your hand," and reached out to shake hands with Dr. Sherrill Stevens, H'86, outgoing association president and pastor of the Montrose Baptist Church in Richmond.

Dr. Banks also spoke at a luncheon Nov. 12 attended by some 170 UR alumni/ae and guests. In remarks to that group, he spoke of his ultimate concern for human dignity in spite of limitations and that both the church and the University address those concerns. DW

DR. BURHANS INSTALLED IN CHAPLAINCY CHAIR

The Rev. Dr. David D. Burhans was installed as the first holder of the Jessie Ball duPont Chair of the Chaplaincy in a dedication service in Cannon Memorial Chapel Oct. 19. Dr. Burhans has been chaplain at the University since 1974.

The Chaplaincy Chair is nearly unique, says UR Chancellor E. Bruce Heilman, because "colleges for centuries have endowed professorships, but endowed chairs for non-faculty members are rare."

The goal to endow the $1.5 million Chaplaincy Chair was met this fall. The campaign for the chair was launched in 1984 with a $750,000 grant from the Jessie Ball duPont Educational Fund of Jacksonville, Fla.

Since then special endowments honoring J. Harwood and Louise B. Cochrane; William Hugh Bagby; the Rev. Dr. William J. Cumbie, H'73; the Rev. Dr. Chevis F. Horne, H'78; the Rev. Dr. Ira D. Hudgings, R'41 and H'65; the Rev. Dr. William L. Lumpkin, R'37 and H'66; Malcolm U. and Louise M. Pitt and Joseph and Jacquelin Ukrop have helped to match the initial gift.

Also a part of the endowment for the chair is the David G., R'77, and Terry Heilman, W'76, Sylvester Speakers Endowment Fund to bring prominent and influential religious leaders to UR.

At the service of thanksgiving and dedication on Sunday, Oct. 19, the message was delivered by Dr. J. Gordon Kingsley, president of William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo. His topic was "For Love of God and Learning." Delivering the prayer of dedication was the Rev. Dr. Rollin S. Burhans Sr., retired pastor and educator and father of UR's chaplain.

The litany of thanksgiving and dedication was led by the Rev. Dr. Linwood T. Horne, UR associate chaplain. It was written by UR's new president, Dr. Samuel Alston Banks, who is an ordained minister in the United Methodist Church. RF

WINTER SPEAKERS

AT UR INCLUDE

BAILEY, DE NEGRI

Speakers on campus this winter included a nationally prominent defense attorney, a Chilean human rights activist and a representative from the Cousteau Society.

Attorney F. Lee Bailey was on campus Oct. 21 to present his idea for eliminating the drug problem in America. The solution, he said, would be to limit the amount of cash the public could carry. He said cash is the fuel of the criminal and of almost no value to the average American.

A defense attorney for 32 years, Bailey represented kidnapped heiress Patty Hearst, the Boston Strangler and U.S. Army Capt. Ernest Medina, who was charged with the mass murder of civilians at My Lai. His speech was sponsored by the University's Speakers Board and the Floyd D. and Elisabeth S. Gottwald Speakers Endowment Fund.

Cousteau Society team member David Owen Brown gave a lecture and slide show Nov. 3 to present a comprehensive overview of the Society's activities. These activities include the exploration of the Amazon, the making of films, and Project Ocean Search where participants join team members in an ongoing island exploration project. Brown's visit was sponsored by the University Student Union.

"Terror and Hope in Chile" was the title of an address on Nov. 10 by Veronica de Negri, whose son's recent death by burning allegedly at the hands of Chilean soldiers has brought widespread attention to human rights violations in that country. Mrs. de Negri herself has a long history of human rights activism both in Chile and in the United States. Her speech was sponsored by the UR chapter of Amnesty International.

Vassily Aksyonov, the leading voice for the emigre writers from Russia, gave a lecture on "The Estranged Writer in the Modern World" in Keller Hall in December. Aksyonov is author of The Burn, an outspoken novel which forced him out of the Soviet Union of Writers. Other recent works translated into English include The Island of Crimea, a novel; and Surplus Barreware, five pieces of fiction. Aksyonov left Russia in 1980 and now teaches at Goucher College and Johns Hopkins University.

Other recent campus events have included a joint sculpture exhibition by Frank Heller and Paul Di Pasquale Nov. 9-26 at the Marsh Gallery. Heller opened the exhibit with a lecture on Nov. 9, and Di Pasquale conducted a sculpture workshop on Nov. 12.

STUDENT RESEARCH

ON CALCIUM

RECOGNIZED

The research of Ben Churn, G'86, on calcium mobilization and response to stress in fish may have ultimate implications for human beings.

The work Churn began for his master's degree in biology— he received his degree last August—is showing that calcium may reduce stress much faster than had been thought. When he induced acute stress in fish, he found a 23 percent increase in the blood serum calcium, "a remarkable change," according to Dr. William S. Woolcott, D.A. Kuvk Professor of Biology, who, along with Dr. Janet M. Nolin, directed Churn's thesis. Churn also found that blood calcium increased within five minutes rather than the expected half an hour.

Churn's work may ultimately help researchers studying such problems as stress and osteoporosis in humans. Calcium or calcium supplements may prove to be even more important than it was thought in helping control stress.

Churn was invited to discuss his research at a Gordon Research Conference on bones and teeth at Kimball Union Academy in the hills of New Hampshire. The conference, by invitation only, drew about 60 people, many of them scientists with national and international reputations. Only four of them were students, and most of them were post-doctoral fellows, Churn said.

Participants shared their research in informal, off-the-record sessions. Churn said he met scientists from France, Belgium and Israel, as well as medical doctors, NASA workers and pharmaceutical company representatives. Mistaken for a post-doctoral student, he was even offered a fellowship, he said. "As a beginning scientist, it was pretty overwhelming," he said. "Just listening to casual remarks'' and getting into late-night scientific discussions made the conference exciting, he said. Churn is now a Ph.D. student in pharmacology at the Medical College of Virginia.

Churn and Howard Perry Cobb III, G'85, both worked at UR on the same general topic. Cobb did his work on calcium and stress in rats under the guidance of Dr. Nolin, a research associate in the UR Biology Department who directed one of the other Gordon Research conferences, and Dr. Francis B. Leftwich, chairman and professor in the UR Biology Department. Churn and Cobb may publish their work together. RF

FULBRIGHT GRANT AIDS DR. EVANS' JAPANESE RESEARCH

During a year's sabbatical in Japan, Dr. David Evans, UR associate professor of history, did research on Japanese naval history, lectured at the Japan Defense Academy and met Prince Takamatsu, the emperor's brother.

Dr. Evans spent the 1985-86 academic year in that country as a U.S. Department of Education Fulbright-Hays Research Fellow and Visiting Scholar in the Faculty of Letters at the University of Tokyo.

While in Japan, Dr. Evans continued his research on Japanese naval history for his forthcoming book, The Evolution of Japanese Naval Doctrine, 1868-1945, scheduled for release in 1989. He says previous writings on the Japanese navy describe the outward aspects of naval battles without explaining why the navy fought the way it did or what it contributed to Japan's role in world affairs; his new book will explore tactics and strategy and will detail the naval tradition behind Japan's modern wars.

Most of the material needed for his research was in private or restricted government institutions for which he had to get to know the right people to gain access. He says Japanese naval historians were flattered that a foreigner was researching their navy and willingly assisted him in finding documents he needed.

One of his most memorable experiences was meeting Prince Takamatsu at the "All Navy Reunion" in the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. A former navy man, the prince was an honored guest at the solemn occasion in which some 2,000 Japanese navy men remembered their departed comrades. Dr. Evans was the only foreigner present.

Other highlights of his visit included lecturing in Japanese at the Japan Defense Academy in Yokosuka; visiting the old naval academy at Etajima, now a school of the Maritime Self-Defense Force; and touring the southwestern island of Kyushu as a guest of Dr. Mamoru Omori, a professor at Seinan Gakuin University who earlier had been a visiting scholar at UR.

Dr. Evans lived during his year at the International House of Japan, a dormitory-style residence for international scholars. When not busy with research, he was coping with the demands of daily life in Tokyo.

This year, Dr. Evans is sharing his experiences with his students in East Asian history and is also teaching UR's first Japanese language course. He is now bringing out a book, The Japanese Navy in World War II: In the Words of Former Japanese Naval Officers, which he edited for the Naval Institute Press. BH

COFFEE HOUSE FOR STUDENTS TO OPEN IN FALL

Students looking for a place to relax and socialize in the evenings will be able to go to a new coffeehouse right on campus beginning next fall. The UR Board of Trustees has approved construction of a student coffeehouse in the Dry Dock area of the Tyler Haynes Commons.
The idea behind the coffeehouse is that students need a place for entertainment on campus because no such place currently exists at UR. The majority of students who would have gone elsewhere for entertainment will not be admitted to many local nightclubs where the age requirement for admission is now 21 years of age.

Construction of the coffeehouse is to be completed next summer so that it will be in operation at the beginning of the 1987 fall term. Plans call for a lattice-work ceiling, booths, pizza ovens and possibly a big-screen television and a stage for entertainment.

"The students will still be able to catch a quick meal during the day, but at night we'll be able to hit a different set of switches and turn it into a cozy coffeehouse facility," says Dr. John A. Roush, executive assistant to the president who was acting vice president for student affairs.

The University will pay the cost of construction for the facility, with the decorating and programming costs likely to be covered by student organizations such as the Student Development Committee. The SDC has already pledged this year's senior campaign funds to the coffeehouse project.

Students will form a committee this spring to begin planning for entertainment in the coffeehouse, which may include speakers, musicians, entertainers, talent shows and more. DD

EDMONDS BECOMES MISSISSIPPI LAW SCHOOL DEAN

Thomas A. Edmonds, dean of The T.C. Williams School of Law since 1977, became dean of the University of Mississippi Law School on Jan. 1, 1987.

During Dean Edmond's tenure the law school's curriculum was expanded, full-time and adjunct faculty were added and the position of associate dean for academic affairs was created. Financial aid for law students was increased through strengthening of the Law Fund and the establishment of the Firm Scholarship Program, and the Law School Placement Office was established. Also during this time the law school building was renovated and expanded, highlighted by the addition of the library wing. New programs during Dean Edmond's tenure included the Admission by Performance Program, the Summer Entry Program and clinical placement programs.

President E. Bruce Heilman joined alumni, faculty, students and administrators at a dinner honoring Dean Edmonds on Nov. 26, 1986. Dr. Heilman presented him with a UR captain's chair and spoke on behalf of the University community. Associate Dean Daniel T. Murphy, now acting dean, spoke on behalf of the law school faculty and Reginald N. Jones, L'68, presented Dean Edmonds with a Resolution of Appreciation on behalf of the law school alumni. KB, FH

Academic Computing Has New Facility

The Academic Computer Center has a new facility in the former administrative wing of Poutwright Memorial Library for use by students and faculty. The center has a room with 25 microcomputers, a room with 25 VAX terminals, and another room with both microcomputers and VAX terminals; these are part of a total of some 350 microcomputers and 150 VAX terminals campus-wide. Shown left are, from left, Dr. Bob DuCharme, director of the center, with Gilpin Brown, operations manager, in the VAX terminal room where students are writing programming projects for computer science courses. Above are Carolyn Ratcliffe, microcomputer coordinator, with Richard W. Noble, R'88, one of about 35 student assistants who along with staff are available to help the approximately 500 students who use the center daily.
IN MEMORIAM: EDWARD OVERTON

Dr. Edward F. Overton, R'31, former dean of the summer school and chairman of the education department, died on Oct. 20, 1986.

Dr. Overton, who served as dean for 27 years, retired in 1978 after 32 years as professor of education and chairman of the department. Since his retirement, he had been professor of education emeritus, and had been on the Board of Associates as an honorary member.

Born in Indian Neck, Va., Dr. Overton received a bachelor of arts degree from UR in 1931, a master of arts from the University of Virginia in 1937 and a Ph.D. from U.Va. in 1943.

Before returning to his alma mater in 1946, he was a teacher at Valley High School in Hot Springs, Va., and at Clifton Forge (Va.) High School. He also was director of instruction for the Fredericksburg (Va.) City Schools; principal of Clifton Forge High School; and director of instruction for the Charlottesville (Va.) City Schools.

Dr. Overton was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta, the Virginia Education Association, the National Education Association and the Comparative Education Society.

He also served as a trustee of Virginia Intermont College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He served as a member of more than 25 visiting committees to evaluate secondary schools and as a member of a team evaluating the teacher preparation program of the College of William and Mary.

Dr. Overton was a member of First Baptist Church in Richmond.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Frances Andrews Willis Overton, W'30; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Overton Kelso of Atlanta; and three sons, Edward F. Overton Jr. of King George, Va.; Dr. Eugene W. Overton of Reston, Va.; and James G. Overton, B'68, of Annapolis, Md.; and 11 grandchildren. RF

BEST SCORES EVER FOR GRADUATES ON CPA EXAM

Last year's graduates of The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business who took the Certified Public Accountant examinations did significantly better than any previous class, according to Joseph Hoyle, associate professor of accounting.

The 27 students who took the exam earned a score of 63.9 percent—69 parts passed out of 108 parts taken. They did especially well in sections for practice (74.1 percent), theory (85.2 percent) and business law (74.1 percent). Hoyle says these scores represent an average improvement of 16 percentage points in each category over previous high scores for UR graduates.

The UR scores also compare very favorably with other business schools in the country. Hoyle cited one regional university with a national reputation in accounting whose students last year scored 28, 35 and 12 percentage points lower in those respective areas than the UR graduates this year. DD

LIVE TELECASTS ON TAX REFORM HOSTED BY UR

Tax reform was the topic of a series of satellite telecasts hosted by the University last fall as one of

Women's Resource Center Celebrates 10th Anniversary

Three women who have led the Women's Resource Center were recognized at a reception Oct. 26, 1986, honoring the 10th anniversary of the center. They are, from left, Bonnie Miller, current director; Dr. Jane H. Hopkins, director from 1977 to 1985; and Phyllis Brown, whose life-planning seminar offered through University College was the stimulus for formation of the center in 1976. The celebration featured recollections by the three women, a videotape and displays about center history, and a "homecoming" for WRC volunteers, staff and participants.
Jointly sponsored by the Institute for Business and Community Development and The T.C. Williams School of Law, the six four-hour programs were telecast live via satellite and shown in Sarah Brunet Memorial Hall.

The series was presented by the American Law Institute-American Bar Association Video Law Review and the ABA Section of Taxation and Division of Professional Education.

The six programs focused on changes related to real estate and tax shelters; individual taxpayers and income of estates and trusts; corporations; accounting procedures and tax-exempt bonds; pension and compensation matters; and business and enterprises and foreign taxation.

Students Recognized At Scholarship Convocation

These students were among those honored at the annual Scholarship Convocation on Oct. 16, 1986. Six sophomores who earned 4.0 academic averages during their first two semesters received Phi Beta Kappa certificates, and five juniors who maintained 4.0 academic averages during their first four semesters of academic work received Phi Beta Kappa book awards. Shown are, first row, left to right: Sherri L. Green, W'88, book award; Roberta M. Mooney, W'88, book award; and Julie A. Hubbard, W'89, certificate. Second row, Kathleen R. Rustum, W'89, certificate; Amanda J. Spahr, W'89, certificate. Third row, Eric M. Goldstein, R'87, book award; Penny L. Collier, W'89, certificate; and Elizabeth Colvin, W'88, certificate.

Teletrade Board Helps Business Students

Students in The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business gather around the stock teletrade board donated by Wheat First Securities. The board is tied directly into the New York Stock Exchange and shows stock trades and prices simultaneously with data on the exchange floor in New York. The gift to UR was the first of ten such electronic boards Wheat, First Securities is donating to universities in Virginia and North Carolina, and is the first of its kind to be installed in a business school in Virginia.
BREAKFAST'S FOCUS IS BASEBALL

The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business Alumni Association sponsors a Homecoming Breakfast each year. The guest speaker this year was Dick Balderson, R'70, vice president for baseball operations for the Seattle Mariners.

BOATWRIGHT SOCIETY PLANS MEMORIAL TO NAMESAKE

Dr. C.J. Gray, R'33, president of the Frederic W. Boatwright Society, announced Nov. 14 that the society would begin a project to complete a bust of President Boatwright. The bronze bust and pedestal will be displayed in Boatwright Library.

The Boatwright Society is made up of those University graduates who have celebrated the 50th anniversary of their graduation. The society's board of directors is enthusiastic about the project, their first major undertaking aside from planning the annual meeting each spring. Dr. Gray said that the board hopes the project will be completed by Alumni Weekend 1987, so that the bust can be unveiled at the Annual Meeting May 29.

Alumnus Elected Virginia Baptist President

Carl W. Johnson, R'60 and G'65, was elected president for 1987 of the Baptist General Association of Virginia and chairman of the Virginia Baptist General Board at its annual meeting in November 1986. Johnson is vice president for finance and treasurer of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in Richmond. He is shown here, right, with Dr. Reginald M. McDonough, who was elected executive director of the Virginia Baptist General Board at the same meeting. Dr. McDonough will succeed Dr. Richard M. Stephenson, H'66, who retires in February.
LAW WEEKEND 1986
DRAWS RECORD CROWD

Despite the rainy weather, attendance at Law Weekend 1986, held Nov. 7-8, reached record levels.

The weekend began with the Barnett Memorial Golf Tournament held at the Crossings Golf Course. Herb Sebren, L'71, received the Lowest Net Score trophy and Bob Brown, L'77, received the Lowest Gross Score trophy.

While the golf tournament took place, the Law School faculty, staff and students celebrated Jean Morris Tarpley’s 35th anniversary at The T.C. Williams School of Law. A pink dogwood tree was planted on the Law School grounds and a special reception was held in her honor. Mrs. Tarpley, director of law admissions, was also recognized at the annual Fall Gathering and presented with a gift by the Law School Association.

Approximately 600 alumni, students and friends attended the annual Fall Gathering. This year’s event was held at the Hotel Jefferson and included a special tribute to Dean Thomas A. Edmonds who left T.C. Williams Jan. 1 to become dean of the University of Mississippi Law School. Law School Association president Reggie Jones read a Resolution of Appreciation recognizing Dean Edmonds’ contributions to T.C. Williams during the past ten years. He also presented Dean Edmonds with ten engraved pewter Virginia cups on behalf of the Law School alumni.

The annual business meeting of the Law School Association was held Saturday morning. During this meeting, W. Birch Douglass III, L’68; J. Sloan Kuykendall III, L’77; and Carrie S. Camp, L’84, were elected to the Law School Association Board. O. Leland Mahan, L’64, was elected vice president and Judge Donald H. Kent was elected president of the Law School Association.

The business meeting was followed by a brunch, where alumni and friends enjoyed a breakfast of crab imperial, curried fruit, sausage balls and pastry before attending the UR vs. VPI football game.

The Student Bar Association sponsored an Indoor Tailgate Party for alumni, students and their families after the football game. The event included clowns to entertain the children and a fried chicken dinner to satisfy post-game hunger pains.

In addition to the class reunions held both Friday and Saturday nights, the Legal Forum sponsored a Tort Reform Debate on Friday afternoon of Law Weekend.

LAW ALUMNI NAMED IN WASHINGTONIAN

Two alumni of The T.C. Williams School of Law were listed in the June 1986 Washingtonian magazine as outstanding young attorneys. William M. Baskin Jr., R’73 and L’76, and Burke F. McCahill, L’76, were among the 12 lawyers listed.

Baskin is in practice with the Falls Church, Va., firm of Baskin, Baskin & Jackson, a general practice. According to the article, Baskin spends much of his time on commercial law, domestic relations and criminal defense. McCahill practices in Leesburg, Va., with the firm of Hanes, Sevila, Saunders & McCahill. He concentrates on domestic relations, according to the article.

PICKETT ELECTED

Owen B. Pickett, L’55, was elected to a Second District Seat in the U.S. Senate in November 1986. Sen. Pickett had 49% of the votes. He is a partner in the Virginia Beach law firm of Pickett, Lyle, Siegal, Drescher and Croshaw.

Weddings Are Reunion Opportunities

Weddings provide opportunities for reunions. Recent guests gather in Richmond for the wedding of Suzanne Krachun, W’85, and Thomas A. “Tad” Davis, R’84, on April 19, 1986. Shown are, front row, left to right: Joe Corish, B’83, L’86; Tommy Mingone, B’87; Craig Janson, R’87; Frank Bosco, R’84; Mike Gardner, R’84; Maurice King, R’85; and Chad Felt, R’85. Second row: Sally Gonseth Hall, W’83; Terry Hall Lackey, W’84; Alice Dunn, W’85; Sally Fossett, B’85; Mary Beth Donnelly, B’85; Sandy Leonard, W’85; Nancy Williams, B’85; Beverly Coghill, W’86; Barb Zuber, W’86; Tad Davis; Suzanne Krachun Davis; Kris DeAngelis, W’85; Terry Gray, W’86; Cathy Mingone, W’85; Robyn Payne, W’85; and Debbie Bright Gardner, W’85.
WCAA RICHMOND CLUB ACTIVITIES

The Richmond Club of the West¬hampton College Alumnae Association has successfully completed several of its scheduled functions.

Cindy Creasy, W'75, arranged an informal supper for Richmond area freshmen and transfers on Aug. 17, 1986. Various campus representatives gave the young women advanced information to help smooth their transition to college life.

Although Sept. 28, 1986, dawned with unsettled weather predictions, Arts Around the Lake was skillfully executed in the Robins Center. Spring Craft Kirby, W'73, and Peggy Lum Watson, W'76, did an expert job.

On Sept. 30, William Carreras presented a program for the Richmond Woman Seminar Series entitled "The Why, What, When and How of Fine Jewelry." Susan Clarke, W'72, is chairman for these lectures.

CASE NAMES ALUMNA SENIOR V.P.

Virginia LeSueur Smith, W'53, has been named senior vice president of CASE, the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education. Based in Washington, D.C., CASE's membership includes 2,800 educational institutions.

Mrs. Smith is a member of the UR Board of Associates and has served as its chairman. She has also been a member of the UR Board of Trustees.

FOUR WITH UR TIES NAMED YWCA OUTSTANDING WOMEN

Four women with ties to the University were among the 10 women honored by the Richmond YWCA as Outstanding Women of the Richmond Metropolitan Area this fall.

Receiving the awards were Theresa Pollak, W'21 and H'73, for her contributions in the field of art; Mary Creathe Payne, W'53, for her work in government and politics; Mary Tyler Freeman Cheek, H'85, for her involvement in human relations; and Joyce Stanley-Scott, C'69, for her contributions as a homemaker/community volunteer.

Two of the alumnae named Outstanding Women by the YWCA are Theresa Pollak, left, and Mary Creathe Payne.

YWCA Outstanding Women of the Richmond Metropolitan Area named last fall are, from left, Norma H. Schanz, health and fitness; Dr. Isabel W. Rogers, religion; Theresa Pollak, art; Anne M. Whittemore, Esq., law; Bernadine Simmons, business/communications; Joyce E. Stanley-Scott and Barbara Ukrop, homemaking/community volunteer; Mary Aylett Creathe Payne, government and politics; and Barbara Grey, education.

Arts Around the Lake

More than 8,000 people attended Arts Around the Lake, an art show sponsored by the Richmond Club of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association, on Sept. 28, 1986.

Above, Arts Around the Lake chairman Spring Craft Kirby, W'73, right, chats with alumnae hostesses Tara Mannion Modsett, W'83, left, and Amy Welch, W'83.
ALUMNI-NOMINATED TRUSTEES BEGIN THEIR TERMS

The UR Board of Trustees includes six members who were nominated by alumni associations at the University. New trustees in 1986 coming to the board this way are Dr. Alice Subley Mandanis, W'52, vice president for academic affairs at Marymount University, and S.D. Roberts Moore, L'61, partner in the Roanoke, Va., law firm of Gentry, Locke, Rakes & Moore.

They join four trustees also nominated by alumni associations: Elsa Queen Falls, W'64 and G'72, assistant professor of biology at Randolph-Macon College; Simon Moughamian Jr., B'52, managing partner-consulting, Arthur Andersen & Co.; Robert S. Ukrop, B'69, executive vice president of Ukrop's Super Markets Inc.; and C. Porter Vaughan Jr., R'40, president of C. Porter Vaughan Inc.

Westhampton Class of '37 Plans Reunion

Members of the Westhampton College Class of 1937 met on campus in September 1986 to begin plans for their 50th reunion in May. Shown are, front row, left to right: Marion Miller Peyrounet, Peggy Louthan Shepherd, Betty Allison Briel. Standing, left to right: Nina Karp Moss, Elizabeth Angle, Joan Hudson Miller, Nancy Chappell Pettigrew, Dot Hall Sheppard, Jane Lauder Johnston, Blanche Bristow Williams, Christine Vaughan Troxell, Louise Thompson Chewning.

Richmond Club Seminar Offered on Jewelry

The Richmond Club of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association sponsors a Seminar Series each year, offering information on a variety of subjects. William Carreras presented a program on Sept. 30, 1986, on "The Why, When and How of Fine Jewelry." Carreras is shown with Wendy Church, W'74, chairman of the series, on his right.
UNIVERSITY COLLEGE ALUMNI HOLD REUNION

Homecoming Weekend brought a reunion of University College graduates and the formation of a University College Alumni Association. The reunion was held on Oct. 17, 1986, at Brunet Hall, and was planned by Jean Proffitt, Administrative Assistant to UC Dean Max Graeber. Earlier this year, a UC alumni committee met to form the association and elected Brooke S. Meisel as its first president.

WC Governing Board Holds Fall Meeting

Among the events of Homecoming on Oct. 7 was a meeting of the Governing Board of the Westhampton College Alumni Association. The fall board meeting was held in the Marsh Gallery in the Modlin Fine Arts Center.

YOUNG GRADUATES PROGRAM AVAILABLE FOR CLASSES OF '82 TO '86

The Young Graduates Program offers special opportunities for the classes of 1982 through 1986 to get together and to serve their alma mater. A committee of UR young grads representing the various schools and years helps to plan activities. Gatherings for Richmond area young grads are held the first Thursday in each month. Call the Alumnae Office, (804) 289-8473, for more information.

Left to right, Andy Rich, R'85; David Bayer, B'85; Kevin Stobbe, B'85; Cathy McGeorge, B'85 and Doug Ehlers, R'85, enjoy visiting at one of the several Young Graduates gatherings in Richmond's Shockoe Slip.

Gathering at a special homecoming event in October were, left to right, Bennett Cave, W'84; Alice Dunn, W'85; Kirk Schroder, B'84; and Ginny Griffiths McConnell, W'84.
GEORGIA WEEKEND

Spiders Head South For Football and Fun

UR’s Atlanta Alumni Chapter hosted a special weekend for Spider fans when they were in Atlanta and Athens to see the UR-Georgia football game on Nov. 1. The Spiders played at Stanford Stadium on the UGA campus before over 75,000 people—one of the largest crowds the Spiders have ever encountered. The team performed well, too, losing 28-13 after holding the Bulldogs to a 7-7 halftime score.

"Hats off" to Ken, R'77, and Jean, B'77, Alcott and their steering committee for taking care of all the arrangements. Committee members are: David Steger, B'68; Jim "Mac" McDougall, R'82; Jeff Ewell, R'65; and Roland, R'48, and Peggy, W'43, Anderton.

ALUMNI TRAVEL PROGRAM OFFERS THREE 1987 TOURS

The UR Alumni Travel Program offers alumni and friends of the University opportunities to visit many parts of the world.

Alumni Travel Program trips planned for 1987 include summer tours to the Canadian Rockies and to Alaska. The Canadian Rockies and inside package cruise from Washington, D.C., is scheduled for June 22 to July 10 and costs $3,195 per person; the Alaska and inside package cruise from Washington, D.C., is set for June 23 to July 3 and costs $2,595 per person.

Planned for fall is a trip to Great Britain from Washington, D.C. Scheduled for Oct. 1-15 at a cost of $1,798 per person, the tour will include England, Scotland and Wales, with highlights such as the Lake District, Edinburgh, Scottish Highlands, Yorkshire and London.

For more information about Alumni Travel Programs, contact travel program director Jane S. Thorpe in the Deanery, telephone (804) 289-8473.
CLASS NOTES

20's

Elmer Hare, R'26, is retired from C&P Telephone Co.

30's

Stuart W. Cook, Ph.D., R'34, G'35, has received an American Psychological Association Gold Medal Award. Dr. Cook is a distinguished professor of psychology, emeritus, at the U. of Colorado. He became chair of psychology at the university in 1963. Prior to that he served as a research psychologist in the Army Air Force during WWII and was influenced by the Holocaust to devote his career to the social psychology of prejudice and intergroup relations. Dr. Cook has served important posts in numerous professional organizations and has been the recipient of two major awards given to social psychologists: the Kurt Lewin Memorial Award and the Gordon Allport Intergroup Relations Prize.

Leroy Smith, M.D., R'34, H'80, was the subject of an article in the Sunday, Aug. 31, 1986, issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Dr. Smith, a Richmond area plastic surgeon, was cited for his efforts in correcting facial deformities of children, often for no pay, as he has donated his time and skills to Children's Hospital for the last 47 years. In August, Dr. Smith went into semi-retirement, limiting his practice to consulting and minor surgery. He will continue work with the Virginia Board of Rehabilitative Services, of which he is chairman. Dr. Smith attended UR from 1930-32 and then entered the Medical College of Virginia.

40's

Lawrence H. Willis, R'42, has retired from his position as a patent counsel with Eastman Kodak.

Joel W. Harnett, R'45, chairman and CEO of Media Horizons Inc., represented UR at the Centennial Convocation of Yeshiva University in New York City on Sept. 18, 1986.

The Rev. Paul W. Strickland, R'46, has taken early retirement from his position as director of Chaplaincy and Pastoral Counseling Services with American Baptist National Ministries. Rev. Strickland has been with National Ministries since 1973. He will continue serving part-time as a pastoral and institutional chaplain. He will also be doing some writing and teaching. Rev. Strickland and his wife, Martha, will make their home in Prescott, Ariz.

50's

Richard Page Hudson Jr., R'52, was the subject of an Aug. 10, 1986, article in the Winston-Salem Journal. Titled "State's First Chief Medical Examiner Is Part Doctor, Part Sherlock Holmes," the article dealt with Dr. Hudson's duties as chief medical examiner in the state of North Carolina. Hudson left his faculty position at the Medical College of Va. to become the state's first and only chief medical examiner when the position was created in 1967. Today 650 physicians form a medical examiners' network across the state. In describing his job in a 1986 interview, Hudson stated, "It attracts that latent Dick Tracy that exists in many people, including physicians."

Fred T. Thrasher, R'53, is a factory representative with Fred Thrasher Sales in Stuart, Fla.

David A. Flemer, G'59, is a research ecologist with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency on Sabine Island in Gulf Breeze, Fla.

Robert D. Scott, R'59, was promoted to manager of industrial sales with Roche Biomedical Labs in Burlington, N.C. His area of responsibility includes five states. Scott continues in his 16th year as a high school football referee.

60's

Thomas H. Atkins, R'60, is associate counsel with Armco Inc. in Morristown, N.J.

The Rev. William L. Painter Jr., R'60, is an associate executive presbyter with the Shenandoah Presbytery in Harrisonburg, Va.

Robert G. Sullivan, R'60, has been elected president and chief executive officer of Viobin Corp., an A.H. Robins subsidiary. Sullivan, an A.H. Robins employee since 1961, went to Viobin in August 1985 as executive vice president. He began his career with the company as a quality assurance chemist and later served in the Research and Development Division prior to spending nine years in the International Division in Latin America, Kenya and Thailand. He subsequently became president and general manager of A.H. Robins Manufacturing Co. in Puerto Rico. Immediately prior to going to Viobin, he served as vice president for production in A.H. Robins' Operations Division.

Thomas A. Tillman, R'60, was re-elected national director of quality control for Seidman & Seidman/BDI, one of the nation's largest accounting firms. Tillman is responsible for maintaining inspection of the firm's 43 practice offices to assure professional standards and quality of service. In addition, he serves clients in the local community. Tillman, a Certified Public Accountant, is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the North Carolina State Society of CPAs, and the National Association of Accountants. He is also active in the First United Methodist Church and the United Way in Charlotte, N.C., where he lives with his wife and family.

Edwin Robertson, R'62, professor of music at the U. of Montevallo, received the Outstanding Commitment to Teaching award presented by the UM Alumni Association. The award is given to a faculty member who has demonstrated a commitment to teaching and has had an impact on Montevallo students through the teaching and learning process. A composer with approximately 30 mediocre compositions published to date. Robertson teaches courses in electronic music, sophomore music theory, 20th-century music and composition. He received his undergraduate degree at UR, his master's of church music degree at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and his doctorate of music in composition at Florida State U. prior to coming to UM in 1971. Dr. Robertson, his wife, and their two children, Renee, 14, and Cam, 10, live in Montevallo, Ala.

Dr. G. James Rockwell, R'64, was recently re-elected as state delegate to the National Association of School Psychologists. Dr. Rockwell is director of psychological services for Broward County Schools in Florida and a past president of the Florida Association of School Psychologists. He received his bachelor's degree from UR and his Ph.D. from the U. of Minnesota.

Paul J. Austin Jr., R'65, is a hospital administrator with Hospital Management Professionals at Beaufort Memorial Hospital in Beaufort, S.C.

Chester E. Davis, U'65, is president of Software City in Richmond.

Linwood Clay Powers III, R'65, G'69, is a provider services representative with Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Va. in Richmond.

Dr. Garnett White, R'65, G'67, represented UR at the inauguration of Dr. Morris G. Wray of Andrew College on Nov. 6, 1986.

David W. Fowler, B'66, is a self-employed banking consultant in Roanoke, Va.

Thomas D. Mallory, B'66, was recently elected administrator of Lakewood Manor in Richmond.

Thomas E. Blick Jr., R’67, received his Ph.D. in communications from the U. of Tennessee Aug. 29, 1986. He is working as coordinator of student publications at Kennesaw College in Marietta, Ga.

Peter D. Pruden III, B’68, has been elected president of the Smithfield Ham and Products Co. Inc. (SHPCO), a subsidiary of the Smithfield Companies, Smithfield, Va. SHPCO and its two additional operating units, Pruden Packing Co. Inc. and V.W. Joyner & Co., produce a variety of specialty meat and food products. Mr. Pruden will continue as executive vice president, corporate secretary and a director of the Smithfield Companies. Prior to joining Smithfield in April, he was owner and president of Pruden Packing Co. Inc., which was purchased by SHPCO this year.

William K. Slate II, L’68, circuit executive of the Third Judicial Circuit of the United States, has been elected Treasurer of the American Judicature Society, a national organization for improvement of the courts.

---

70's

Carl R. Bock, R’70, is a research chemist with Duke Marine Lab in Beaufort, N.C. Lonnice W. Cloc, R’70, is a divisional sales manager with R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. in Dayton, Ohio.

Thomas N. Innes, R’71, president of Brooks & Innes Inc., was recently elected second vice president of the Richmond Board of Realtors Inc. for 1987. Innes started his real estate career in 1973 and helped organize McCullough, Brooks and Innes. He has served as a Richmond board director since 1982 and as chairman of the Make America Better, Community Revitalization and Richmond Multiple Listing Service committees; and is chairman of the Virginia Association of Realtors’ Make America Better Committee.

He is a director of the Fan District Association, the Richmond Community Services Board and the Board for Rights of the Disabled for Virginia.

James I. Bruton, G’72, has joined Signode Corp. as corporate vice president plastics division, with responsibility for the company’s high performance plastics businesses. Prior to joining Signode, he was with Allied Marketing Corp. for 23 years in various technical, marketing, and management positions. He holds a bachelor’s degree in chemical engineering from North Carolina State U. and a masters of commerce degree from U. of Virginia. He and his family reside in Barrington, Ill.

John Edward England, B’72, is vice president of Ryan Insurance Group Inc. in Chicago, Ill.

---

Thomas Holloway, B’72, is a manager with Bowers, Nelms & Fonville Realtors in Richmond.

Carter L. Hudgins, R’72, was appointed to the Prince B. Woodard Chair of Historic Preservation by the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors in April 1986. The endowed chair was established by the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors in 1983 as a memorial to the late president of the college. In making the award, the board cited Dr. Hudgins for his “exceptional performance in terms of teaching, scholarship and administration.” This is the first time the chair has been awarded. Hudgins currently serves as both chairman of the Department of Historic Preservation and as the director of the Mary Washington College Center of Historic Preservation. He is extensively involved in numerous preservation groups and serves as director of several organizations, including the International Commission on Monuments and Sites, the National Commission for Preservation Education and the Preservation Alliance of Va.

David C. Shores, R’72, graduated magna cum laude from Woodrow Wilson College of Law in Atlanta, Ga., with a Juris Doctor degree on Oct. 5, 1986. During his three years in Atlanta, he worked for the law firm of King & Spalding. He also holds a master’s degree in counseling psychology from Ball State U.

Dallas Sanford Batten, R’73, is a research officer with the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis in St. Louis, Mo.

James Davenport, R’73, is a tax analyst with Virginia Power Co. in Richmond.

Dr. Rodney F. Ganey, R’73, represented UR at the inauguration of Dr. William A. Hickey as president of Saint Mary’s College at Notre Dame on Sept. 7, 1986.

Raymond G. Quaintance, R’73, is a general sales manager with Key Lincoln Mercury.

Thomas M. Draney Jr., U’74, has been appointed operations manager of Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co. He joined the Reynolds recycling group as a management trainee in N. J., and later served in management positions in Raleigh, N.C.; Pensacola, Fla.; Williamsburg, Va.; and Tampa, Fla.; before becoming regional market manager in Atlanta in 1983. He transferred to Richmond in 1985 as regional business manager, a position he held until his latest promotion.

Arthur Howard Friedman, G’74, is superintendent, nuclear training at the Surry power station with Virginia Power in Surry, Va.

C. Richard Napier, R’74, president of Napier & Co. for the past three years, was elected president of the Richmond Board of Realtors Inc. for 1987. His real estate career spans 12 years. He has served as the board’s first and second vice presidents, as a director for four years and as chairman of the strategic planning, awards and programs committees. The Richmond Board of Realtors recently named him to the Quarterly Chapter, Women’s Council of Realtors, where he served as membership committee chairman for three years. Napier is a director of the Virginia Association of Realtors, vice chairman of its Public Relations Committee and a member of the Awards Committee.

M. Kirk Pickeler, R’74, is member services director with Associated Builders & Contractors in Alexandria, Va.

Michael L. Dunkley, R’75, has been promoted from captain to major in the U.S. Army. Maj. Dunkley is a missile material staff officer at the U.S. Army Logistics Center at Fort Lee, Va.

John Ross Greer, R’75, is a precious metals consultant in Richmond.

Kirwan Rockefeller Jr., R’75, currently divides his time between management consulting and real estate in Los Angeles, Calif. He acts as a consultant for a medical practice in Beverly Hills and is also employed with Fred Meyer Realtors. He specializes in residential property in Beverly Hills and the Hollywood Hills in Los Angeles. In 1984, Kirwan received his master of public administration degree from the U. of Washington in Seattle, Wash.

Charles Chip K. Kingly, R’76, and wife Jean are missionaries with World Hunger Relief Inc. Chip serves as director for Asia, spending most of his time in India, Nepal, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka. Chip and Jean have a new daughter Keturah. When not overseas, the Kinglys live in Waco, Texas.

Dr. Gerald V. Klim, R’76, has been named medical director of Cardinal Hill Hospital in Lexington, Ky. Dr. Klim has been a staff physician at Cardinal Hill for the last year. After finishing at UR, he attended medical school at the Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine. He served his internship and residency in rehabilitative medicine at Thomas Jefferson U. Hospital in Philadelphia.

James F. O’Donnell, R’77, is a national account manager with General Foods Corp. in White Plains, N.Y.

James L. Walker Jr., R’76, is a claims manager with CIGNA Worldwide Inc. in Agana, Guam.

Richard Dwight Keeler, U’77, has been promoted to vice president and general manager of Able Equipment Co. of Washington Inc. in Springfield, Va. Prior to his promotion, he was a sales manager with Able Equipment.

Patrick P. Phillips, R’77, represented UR at the inauguration of Dr. Guskin of Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, on Oct. 19, 1986.

Moody (“Sonny”) E. Stallings Jr., L’77, is an associate in a general criminal and civil litigation practice. She says it is a big adjustment, but exciting!

Kevin Eastman, R’78, and Wendy C. Haynes, R’76, were married on Aug. 17, 1986. Kevin is athletic director and head basketball coach at Belmont Abbey College in Belmont, N.C.

C. Jeffrey Glassick, R’78, is district operations manager with Whitaker General Medical in Louisville, Ky.

William T. Jorgensen, R’78, is a division operations manager with Borg Warner Ac-
John D. Epps, L’80, is now practicing with Bowdrow, Russell, Morris & Butcher in Richmond at the new James Center.

W. Stewart Futch Jr., R’80, received his master’s degree in immunology at the Medical College of Va. in May 1985. He is currently a first-year medical student at Eastern Medical School.

Dwight L. Harris, R’80, has been promoted to general sales manager of the Bank Card Sales Division headquartered in Springfield, Va., where he is responsible for statewide merchant sales and national accounts. He joined Bank of Virginia in 1975 as a part-time adjustor in collections and in 1980 transferred to Bank Card Division’s Northern Regional Office as a sales representative. He advanced to a sales officer in 1982 and to assistant vice president in 1984.

W. Jeffrey Neiman, R’80, has been promoted to commercial finance officer with the Bank of Virginia. Neiman joined the Bank of Virginia in 1985 from Maryland National Industrial Finance Corp. He is currently an account executive in the Asset Based Lending Division. He graduated from UR with a bachelor’s degree in economics and holds an MBA degree in finance from VCU.

Mark R. Nichols, R’80, is a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy and has completed a five-day port visit to Fremantle, Australia, aboard the tanker landing ship USS Tuscaloosa. The Tuscaloosa’s home port is San Diego.

Mark Sloan, R’80, is director of the Light Factory in Charlotte, N.C.

John I. Tallman, R’80, has been appointed to the position of district manager in the industrial gas division sales organization of Air Products and Chemicals Inc. He will be responsible for direct sales and sales management for the company’s Greensboro district and the Raleigh, N.C., and Roanoke, Va., branch offices. Tallman joined Air Products in 1975 as office manager of the company’s Richmond facility. Prior to his new appointment, he served as group credit manager, industrial gas division, and was located at the company’s headquarters location in Allentown, Pa. He holds a bachelor’s degree in journalism from the U. of North Carolina and an MBA from UR. He resides in Greensboro, N.C.

Ginger Gardner, B’81, and Jim Kachline, R’81, were married Aug. 24, 1985. Ginger is a mass marketing representative for Provident Life and Accident, and Jim is an attorney for Miller and Martin in Chattanooga, Tenn.

David Henderson, R’81, is director of merchandising control with Best Products Co. Inc. in Richmond.

Bill Kamenjar, R’81, has been named assistant coach in truck at Southern Methodist U. in Dallas, Texas. He will be in charge of distance runners. Bill recently earned his master’s degree from SMU, where he had the chance to work with the 1986 NCAA outdoor track champions. Bill also works part-time for the SMU Sports Information Office. He was a distance and steeplechase runner for UR.

John Brady, R’82, is in graduate school at UR working toward his master’s degree in political science.

John Mark Caldwell, U’82, is director of Transportation, Distribution and Customer Service for Park Avenue Tobacco Inc. in Richmond.

Cheryl Cooper, B’82, has been named major account representative for MCI’s Mid-Atlantic Division in Richmond. She is responsible for sales and marketing activities to major business accounts in Central Virginia. Cheryl joined MCI in 1984 as a commercial account manager in Richmond, and was most recently a full-line account executive with MCI’s Long Distance Division.

John Markham, R’83, is a moving consultant with DunMar Moving Systems (Allied Van Lines) in Richmond.

Harry R. Purkey Jr., L’83, is employed by Thomas M. Ammons III, Esq. The firm concentrates in real estate and condominium law. On April 12, 1986, he married Victoria Leigh Turner, who is employed as a title insurance underwriter for Pembroke Title, an agent of First American Title Insurance Co.

Deborah L. Rawls, L’83, has just left the office of the Virginia Beach commonwealth’s attorney to join one of her major adversaries over the past three years. Gregory Snow, R’83, is an account executive with The Financial Group of Virginia in Richmond.

Lynn Arlene Wampler, R’83, received her MBA from Emory U. in Atlanta, Ga., in the spring of 1985, and is currently a commercial loan officer with United Virginia Bank in Springfield, Va. She and David Padraic Malone, R’83, were married

Jane Hoffman Young, B’83, is a vice president, commercial lending, with United Virginia Bank in Richmond.

Teresa Brown, B’84, is a staff auditor with the Auditor of Public Accounts in Richmond.

Dan Getzewich, R’84, is an analyst, defined contribution plan, with Wyatt Co. in Washington, D.C.

John D. Gottwald, B’84, has been elected vice president of Ethyl Corp. He will be responsible for all Plastic Group activities as well as coal, oil and gas operations. Gottwald has been general manager of Ethyl’s Energy Group and executive vice president of the Elk Horn Coal Co. He has been associated with Ethyl since 1977, when he joined the company as an analyst in the corporate budget department. He was named general manager of Elk Horn Coal, an Ethyl subsidiary, in 1979 and was elected vice president of Elk Horn in 1980. In 1984, Gottwald assumed additional responsibility as general manager of Ethyl’s Energy Group. A native of Richmond, Gottwald received a bachelor’s degree from Washington and Lee U. and an MBA from UR.

Alma Fitzgerald Jackson, L’84, has been an assistant city attorney for the City of Richmond since April 1986.

M. Karen McGuire, B’84, is an accountant/systems development with Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. in Reston, Va.

Donna M. Myers, B’84, is a bookkeeper with the town of Blackstone, Va.

Cornice Raus, B’84, is a claim representative with State Farm Insurance in Richmond.

Calvin Roest, U’84, is a data taker with Reynolds Aluminum in Richmond.

Laurence A. Salzman, L’84, has been awarded the Member of the Appraisal Institute designation by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. He is employed as an appraisal analyst by United Dominion Realty Trust and directs property acquisitions.

Donald A. Steinbrugge, B’84, is an account representative with The Travelers in Detroit, Mich.

Mark C. Wangeman, B’84, is a staff accountant with Goodman & Co. in Richmond.

William R. Britton, R’85, is an analyst with Morgan Stanley & Co. Inc. in New York, N.Y.

Mary K. Costello, L’85, is assistant house counsel in the legal department of Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., Commercial Insurance Division, Parsippany, N.J., upon completion of a Superior Court judicial clerkship.

June W. Deyere, B’85, is an assistant brand manager with A.H. Robins Co. in Richmond.

Thomas M. DiBiagio, L’85, is an associate attorney in the law firm of Semmes, Bowen & Semmes, Baltimore, Md., and will be published in the February issue of the Lloyd’s Maritime and Commercial Law Quarterly, Oxford, England.

Ben DiFabio, B’85, is a fund administrator with Drexel Burnham Lambert in New York, N.Y.

Timothy Dodson, U’85, is supervisor of audit and quotations, with Reynolds Metals in Richmond.

Nina B. Nolley, U’85, is housing management manager for officers with the Va. Housing Development Authority. She is also president-elect of the Volunteer Council Boys Clubs of Richmond, Virginia Inc.

John W. Steele, L’85, is practicing real estate law with Hirschler, Fleischer, Weinberg, Cox & Allen since graduation in December 1985. He married Janet S.B. White in September of 1985.

Kevin F. Stubb, B’85, is a property and casualty underwriter with USF&G Insurance in Richmond.

James P. Tuohy Jr., R’85, is a customer accountant with Merrill Lynch in New York, N.Y.

Rene Ulloa, R’85, is a territory manager with Nasco Inc. He and Christine Browning were married Sept. 14, 1985, and they reside in Richmond.

Curt D. Angstadt, B’86, is a commercial credit analyst with Sovran Bank, N.A., in Richmond.

Debra J. Angstadt, B’86, is assistant vice president, trust marketing, with United Virginia Bank in Richmond.

Michell Chambers, B’86, is an investor adviser with Sterling Drilling and Production Co. Inc. in White Plains, N.Y.

Lindsay D. Cruser, R’86, is a management trainee with Hess’ Department Store Inc. in Portsmouth, Va.

Todd V. Cole, R’86, is a research analyst with Henrico County in Virginia.

Jonathan A. Fink, R’86, is a graduate student in the Department of Economics at Boston U. in Boston, Mass.

Andrew N. Howe, R’86, has begun first-year law studies at The Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa.

Keith F. Karlawish, B’86, an Army Reserves 2nd lieutenant, has completed the Army financial officer course at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Peter S. Kirkpatrick, R’86, is a French instructor and graduate student at U.Va. in Charlottesville, Va.

Kelly M. McDonald, B’86, is an auditor with Peat Marwick in Boston, Mass.

Daryl Plante, B’86, is in graduate school and living in Richmond.

Leslie A. Schreiner, B’86, is a regional marketing coordinator with John Hancock Distributors in Boston, Mass.

Robert S. Watson, R’86, is a personal asset manager with Investors Resource Group in Wilmington, Del.

Rene Ulloa, R’85, and Christine Browning, Sept. 14, 1985.

MARRIAGES

Kevin Eastman, R’78, and Wendy C. Haynes, B’76, Aug. 17, 1986.

Ginger Gardner, B’81, and Jim Kachline, R’81, Aug. 24, 1985.

Edward V. O’Hanlan, L’82, and Chase T. Rogers, Dec. 12, 1986.

Emily Arlene Wampler, B’83, and David Padraic Maloney, R’83, Oct. 11, 1986.

John W. Steele, L’85, and Janet S.B. White, September 1985.

BIRTHS

1975/William H. den Hartog, (R, L’77), and Grace Robinson den Hartog, W’74, a daughter, Mary Douglas (Mattie), born March 16, 1986.

1980/Robert Copenhaver Hudson, (L), and his wife, Ann, a son, Robert Copenhaver Jr., born June 19, 1986.

1984/Kimberlie S. Cheshire, (G), a son, James Lee (Jamie), born Jan. 27, 1985.

DEATHS

1916/Walter F. Dewling, (R), of Baltimore, Md., died Nov. 3, 1985.

1918/Richard H. Corr, (R), of Richmond, died.

1920/Anderson Brugh Honts, (R), of Front Royal, Va., died. He was the retired president of Duncan Insurance Co.

1921/William J. Franklin Jr., (R), of Glen Allen, Va., died June 27, 1986. He was a retired chemist.

1922/Henry A. Cook, (R), of Lake Park, Fla., died Aug. 29, 1986. He was a retired architect.

1922/Urban Howard Mills, (R), of Richmond, died Sept. 21, 1986. He was a former examiner with the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Mills began his career with the former American Bank and Trust Co. before joining the examining staff of the Federal Reserve Bank. He was a member of Ginter Park United Methodist Church and a life member of the Henrico Union Masonic Lodge, No. 130, AF&AM.

1925/Blake Walden Meador, M.D., (R), of Richmond, died July 1, 1986.

1926/Vick C. Wright, (R), of Richmond, died Feb. 14, 1986.

1927/Newell Butler, (R), of Richmond, died June 17, 1986.

1927/Charles H. Morgan, (R), of South Boston, Va., died.

1928/Albert C. Barnett, (R), of Philadelphia, Pa., died Nov. 23, 1985.

1928/William P. Hundley Sr., (R), of Richmond, died Sept. 27, 1986. He was retired from the Continental Insurance Companies.

1929/David V. Buchanan, (R), of Peterborough, N.H., died Oct. 17, 1986. He was retired as an electrical engineer from Consolidated Edison Co. of New York Inc.

1930/Charles Henry Miller, (R), of Richmond, died July 24, 1986. He had been star hurler at UK and set several records in 1928 and 1929 in the 12-yard and 220-yard hurdles. The 1929 issue of The Web commented, “Miller is doubtless the best hurler we have ever had in our school and any opponent can fear his faultless stride and smooth jumping.”

1930/The Rev. Lawrence C. Hall, (R), of Lynchburg, Va., died April 10, 1986. Rev. Hall had been retired from active ministry since 1966.

1934/Oscar C. DuVal, (B), of Richmond, died Feb. 19, 1986.

1935/Woodrow E. Carter, (R), of Martinsville, Va., died. He was retired as vice president with Piedmont Trust Bank in Martinsville.
1939/Thomas M. Hall, M.D., (R), of Waynesboro, Va., died in the fall of 1986.
1940/Franklin M. Crouch, (R), of Lynchburg, Va., died April 18, 1986. He was retired as president of Kayhoo Construction Corp. Kayhoo served in the U.S. Army Air Corps in WWII. He left the service in 1945 as a major and returned to Richmond, joining his father's construction business. He began his own company in 1956 and retired in June 1986 as its president. Kayhoo was a past president of several organizations, including the Virginia Alpha Alumni Board for Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, the Home Builder's Association of Richmond and the Pewter Collector's Club of America. He was known for his pewter craftsmanship, especially for his original design of a teapot and a number of spoons.
1944/Charles G. Young, (R), of Staten Island, N.Y., died Jan. 6, 1986.
1950/Charles T. Almond Jr., (R), of Lynchburg, Va., died April 18, 1986. He was the owner of C.T. Almond Bonding and Insurance Co. in Lynchburg.
1950/David A. Bushnell Jr., (R), of Coro­
1955/George T. Parsons, (B), of Houston, Texas, died Sept. 8, 1986. A Richmond native, he was the owner and operator of Parsons Health Equipment Inc. The firm, which he founded 13 years ago, is said to be the nation's leader in sales and volume for spas and whirlpools.
1961/H. Norton Mason Jr., (B, G'69) of Richmond, died Aug. 27, 1986. He was a retired investment broker and founded the Talking Gardens Foundation for handicapped people. A Richmond native, Mason worked in various investment firms in the state. He served for a time as director of the Va. Chapter of the American Diabetes Association before he retired because of disability. In 1980, while serving as volunteer program director for the Virginia Voice for the Print Handicapped, Mason, who was partly blind, became interested in developing a radio program to aid blind gardeners. In October 1980, he founded the Talking Gardens Foundation of Virginia, which opened a talking garden for the public on a half-acre on the Parham Road campus of J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College.
1962/Ralph S. Major, (B), of Richmond, died April 26, 1986.
1967/Maj. John W. Ball Jr., (R), died May 15, 1986. He was an associate professor of military science at West Texas State U. Maj. John W. Ball Jr., (R), died May 15, 1986. He was an associate professor of military science at West Texas State U.
1969/The Rev. James R. Bryant, (H), of Richmond, died July 29, 1986. He was a former executive secretary of the Virginia Baptist Board of Missions and Education, a post he held from 1944 to 1954. In 1954 he resigned to become executive secretary of the Virginia Baptist Foundation Inc., a post he held until his retirement in 1968. In 1969, UR conferred on him an honorary doctor of humanities degree. Rev. Bryant also served as president of the state executive secretaries and of foundation secretaries of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Westhampton

'18

Mary Dennead Ruffin
1600 Westbook Ave. Apt. 619
Richmond, Va. 23227

Martha Chappell has lived at Westminster Canterbury House for ten years. She enjoys her association with many West­hampton College alumnae living there.

Elizabeth Elysson Wiley and Tom still live near UR. She recently celebrated her 90th birthday. The Baptist Women of Vir­ginia in annual meeting recognized her for starting "Christmas in August," in which children from all over the South send gifts to missionaries.

Betsy Camp Smith continues to live in her home in Franklin. She still enjoys visiting with family and friends. Our Alumnae Director Jane Thorpe, W'58, had lunch with Betsy in her home in the spring of '86.

Louise "Pete" Wilson Huey enjoys bridge club and literary club, church and going to the library. Her doctor said "no" to foreign travel.

Dorothy Gary Mackey and husband have sold their home of 43 years and moved to Hastings on the Hudson in New York. Both are in good health and are enjoying their new retirement home. Sounding, a novel about growing up in Virginia and Westhampton days, is soon to appear and a book of reportage on the '30s, The Heart Finds Shelter, will appear this March.

I am happy at Westminster Canterbury in Richmond. The two highlights of this year were a trip to India and Nepal in February and a 90th birthday in August.

'20

Katherine Vaughan Willis
329 Harrison Street
Princeton, N.J. 08540

'22

Irene Summers Stoneham
3151 Varina on the James
Richmond, Va. 23231

Narcissa Daniels Hargroves and husband Carney moved to a Quaker retirement community near Philadelphia; in June he died of a heart attack. She feels fortunate to have three daughters nearby.

Our class has lost three this year and to their families, also to Narcissa, we extend our heartfelt sympathy. Those who passed away were Dorothy Winfrey Cou­ble, in February; shortly afterwards, Mary Louise Bristow; and the first of October, Jeanette Henna.

Dorothy Thomas Davis Gibson has, since Col. Gibson's death, lived with her daughter in Northern Virginia and this year has had three major operations, the last one from a broken hip. She has two grandsons, one a lawyer, the other an electrical engineer and working towards his Ph.D. During the summer she spent three months in Florida.

Zola Hubbard Leek moved last year to Bethany Health Care Center in Nash­ville. Elizabeth "Rat" Flower continues her work at the church thrift shop and at the hospital auxiliary.

Elise Payne Guthrie was almost sent to jail! Last summer two policemen served her a warrant for stealing the hearts of the community and took her away to court. Her son the "judge" said that since she had the second highest number of contrib­utors to the Cardiac Arrest Program for the Heart Foundation, she was released. She has two great-grandsons.

Leslie Sessoms Booker and her daughter Constance, Ruth Tyree '23 and Hannah Coker '23 spent a week at Blowing Rock, N.C. and later Leslie and Con­stance visited friends in England. Ruth Wallerstein Thalhimer enjoyed Bermuda and Tides Inn during the summer.

Claudia Patrick is well but her sight is poor. Eva Timberlake West with her two daughters took a trip to the Amish Country in Pennsylvania, through West Virginia, to the Peaks of Otter and to the Homestead.

Thelma Hill Marsh leads a very quiet life. Celia Levinson Meyer's husband is in a nursing home and she spends much time with him. They have two great-granddaughters. One granddaughter, who studies and teaches in Paris, visited her this summer.

Edith Newton Eakes and Rachel Newton Dickson attended a family re­union on the Eastern Shore in the fall. I am now the great-grandmother of two boys and one girl.

'24

Margaret Fugate Carlton
1503 Wilmington Avenue
Richmond, Va. 23227

Norma Coleman Broaddus, Joanna Savadge Ellett, Inez DeJarnette Hite and Louise Wilkinson Morton were our guests at the Ginter Park Baptist Church in July 1986 for a book review of Drum Song and Brush Fires, a biography of Eva Sanders. Joanna sold her home on Hanover Avenue and moved into the Berkshire
Apartments on Franklin Street. Her daughter and grandson from Buffalo, N.Y., came during the summer to help her move. In July, Joanna left for a three-week trip to Finland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and then Russia. Agnes Jones was in the hospital in the spring, then in a nursing home before she could go back to her apartment.

In June Louise spent two weeks in Houston, Texas, with her son and his family. In late summer she went to New York for a month with her daughter. Louise's granddaughter, Suzannah Morton, a student at U. Va., took a trip to Europe this summer.

Several years ago Charlotte Francis Sloan and husband moved into an apartment complex in Charlotte, N.C. In August, 13 of our family met at Sunset Beach, N.C., for a week.

Grace Watkins Lampson
1535 Pulaski Highway
Havre de Grace, Md. 21078

Alice Richardson Connell settled in a retirement complex near her Dick and his wife in Gainesville, Fla. Priscilla Kirkpatrick Millea spent several days in Cape Cod.

Virginia Saunders Thomas spent two weeks this past summer with her daughter Betty and family at Ocean City, Md.

In October 1986, Curt and I met members of Curt's Princeton graduate school class for our annual reunion.

Valerie LeMasurier Jones
3433 Grove Avenue
Richmond, Va. 23227

Since her retirement 13 years ago, Muriel Jones has helped to care for the stray animals taken in by the Richmond Animal League.

Dee Pritchett Taylor is employed by her daughter, Carolyn, who has organized her own successful mail-order business.

Almarine Montgomery Franklin works on the annual campaign of the United Way. One of her granddaughters, Tywia Franklin, who studied for two years at VPI, has now transferred to The E. Claiborne Robins School of Business.

Carolyn Thompson Broaddus, who now lives in Richmond, attended the Rose Show in Fredericksburg where she was the recipient of three awards for her roses.

Zepha Campbell Scarlett was delighted to hear from many classmates after her hospitalization. Our class has its 55th reunion in May!

Katherine Sergeant Newby
3810 Atlantic Avenue, Apt. 904
Virginia Beach, Va. 23451

Virginia Puckett McNichol and Charlie had two daugthers and grandchildren visit from Texas and California in October and took a trip later to Nova Scotia.

Katherine Brown Van Allen and husband are living in Kentucky.

Helen Hulcher took a cruise through the Panama Canal in November 1986.

Virginia Watkins Ellenburg visited in Richmond recently.

We extend our sympathy to Louise Leatherland who lost her mother a year ago.

Louise Callison
1900 Lauderdale Drive, Apt. A-319
Richmond, Va. 23233

Margaret Bowers Gill is our new class president, Virginia Kirk Lennox, our fund-raiser. Appointed to serve with the Westhampton College dean to help decide on the use of our 50th anniversary fund are Kitty Ellis Fox and Alice Turner Sauer.

What a wonderful time we had at our 50th reunion the last weekend of May! Thirty-five of us were inducted into the Boatwright Society. We attended the Alumni/Ae Luncheon in the Robins Center and the class dinner in Keller Hall on Saturday.

Joining us for the evening were Miss Jean Gray Wright and Dr. and Mrs. Robert F. Smart. On Sunday we shared a breakfast hosted by Florence Marston Harvey, Ruth Parker Jones, Mary Ellen Stephenson and Betty Gregory Thorpe at the Imperial 400 Motor Inn.

Bobbie Brock Clevinger, Ruth Parker Jones and Helen Dueno Hopson and Bill had a two-week tour of France with a UR-sponsored group in May.

Millie Crowder Pickels spent three weeks in Canada visiting friends in Vancouver and Victoria.

Boo Owens Page and Sidney were in London and the Cotswolds for two weeks in September. Martha Riis Moore flew to Calgary in early fall.

Mary Virginia Burfoot Hill attended in June a seminar on herbs in Boulder, Colo. She moved from Tennessee to her newly built home in Powhatan in September.

Florence Marston Harvey suffered a broken left femur in June.

Sarah Poole Batkis and Frances Williams Parkinson went on an Alaskan cruise in late summer.

Ginny Kirk Lennox joined Margaret Bowers Gill and Wilfred for several days at Virginia Beach in early September.

Helen Falls had an early fall tour of Nova Scotia.

Caroline Sauer Essex because of illness is in a veterans' home in Lusby, Md.

Margaret Lockwood Notting
7833 Johnke Road
Richmond, Va. 23235
Anne P. Walker
1813 Woodbine Road
Richmond, Va. 23225

Helen Gray and Mildred Harvey Clark attended the wedding of Martha Byers Beall’s son Clairoborne.
Jean Bobbitt Grubbs and Elsie “Curly” Mitchell Sullivan got together last summer while Curly was on the East Coast.

Henrietta Harrell Smith has ten grandchildren, ages 2 to 23! She enjoys her new home in western Henrico County. She still sings in the choir at River Road Presbyterian Church.

Mildred Harrell Clinkscales and Sid are involved in the Horticultural Society in Norfolk. With this group, they have visited gardens in the British Isles, Hawaii and the Pacific Northwest.

We extend our sympathy to Gene Austin Hall on the death of her husband “T.” R’39, last fall in Waynesboro.

Our sympathy is also with Edna Loving Young whose husband died in July in Danville.

In April, Dick and I flew to Seattle for the wedding of our son Rick. In June we took a ten-day trip to Europe.

Annabel Lunnpin Hessel
1210 Daniel Avenue
Norfolk, Va. 23505

We are fortunate to have Marge Brinson Reed in charge of our scholarship project. If you know the name and address of any classmate who may not be on our list, or the name of any deceased classmate whose family may be interested in a memorial gift, please let Marge know.

The name of a lake at Virginia Beach was officially redesignated by its rightful name of Brinson’s Inlet, as it was in the mid-seventeenth century when Marge’s ancestor settled on its banks. The ceremony was highlighted by a family reunion of 113.

Kitty Lyle and Lucy Baird toured Norway, Sweden and Denmark while Harriet Yeaman toured the English countryside.

Maude Smith Jurgens and Fred visited son Charles in San Jose and daughter Carol in Oregon in 1984.

Jean Miller Yeiser was named on the list of Women of Achievement for volunteer service by the Syracuse Post Standard Newspaper.

Frances Bailey Gill and Harvey, and Libby Johnson Alvis and Frank attended an Elderhostel in Nova Scotia this summer.

Thais Silverman Kaufman stays busy in civic and cultural affairs.

Myra Ann Gregory Hitch and Bob spent summer in their home in the mountains of New Jersey.

Our deepest sympathy is expressed to John Jordan and family at the death of dear Marie Keyser Jordan.

Frances Calisch Rothenberg
4003 Kensington Avenue
Richmond, Va. 23212

It has been three years since you have read news from ’42—no excuses except over-work, usual family crises and procrastination. During these past years I have received some news, which could be “ancient” by now, and here in summary are excerpts from letters received.

Christmastime 1983-84 was fruitful with notes. Gene Woodfin Steussy and husband Cal live in New Castle, Ind., and keep track of five children: Helen and Nik, physicians; Cally, an insurance agent, and  Ed and Chris, completing college.

Martha Beverley Myers received a bachelor’s degree in history and social studies at Boston U. Now retired after several years with Social Security Administration, she and Bob visit daughter Janet in Oregon, Roberta and Robert in Massachusetts.

Marjorie Wilson Glick’s personal interest in gardening has grown into a position as plant consultant for the Fairfax County Extension Service.

Alice Gray Simpson Newcomb has published two volumes of poetry. She lives in Fredericksburg with son David and the niece and teaches first grade.

Correspondence in 1984 brought news from Grace Norris Reese, Annie Loi Walker Seacat, Gertrude Cofer Thorpe and Frances Badensch.

Grace’s husband Bart taught a class in personnel for 14 years; daughter Margaret was an admissions counselor and recruiter, and daughter Melissa entered graduate school—all at UR.

Anne Loi and Lot have lived in London from 1972 to ’75 and look forward to retirement and visiting their daughter and three grandchildren.

Gertrude and Bob have two sons, a journalist and a pediatrician who serves in third-world nations.

“Bad” lives in Santa Rosa, Calif. June 1985 brought news of Kay Gilcrutchfield and husband Bob, now retired from the Navy. They have three children: Pam, a navy wife; Wanda, a Du Pont spouse; and son Renn with North Carolina county work.

In January 1986, Ann Robey Gauld wrote that she and Ray have retired to Midlothian from France. Patricia is the mother of two sons: Michael, wife and two daughters live nearby; and Melissa won an appointment to the Smithsonian Institution.

Jayne Maire Massie and Edmund often have dinner visits with Bill and me. The Massies both have retired and are busy with their farms. They vacationed in Britain last summer.

My job as a religious school supervisor requires much homework. Last spring we went to the Caribbean and Venezuela. Daughter Martha and husband Charles are moving to Tokyo.

Our 45th reunion is in May 1987.

Norma Sanders Granley
1220 Morningside Lane
Alexandria, Va. 22312

Last summer Mimi Hill Boynton and Doug entertained a young woman from India.

Anne McElroy Mackenzie and Mac went to Ro for a winter vacation with son Doug, his wife, and first baby.

Ann Buxton Stansbury and Warren were in Portugal in April. They celebrated the birth of their first granddaughter, a boy, to daughter Beth.

In July Molly Warren Stephenson, Dot Monroe Hills and their husbands cruised the Caribbean.

Lois Hester Blackburn took a sabbatical from her athletic director position at Mary Baldwin to write a third edition of a book she wrote in the mid-seventies.

Fifi Smelhurst operates her consulting firm in sales and marketing.

Gene Shepard Keever is on the lecture circuit.

Cheers and please write!

Corinella Reid Routhett
8831 Tuckerman Lane
Potomac, Md. 20854

Patricia Husbands Berton and Bill were in San Francisco in August to celebrate her mother’s 90th birthday. They stopped on the way in Seattle to visit with daughter Pam and her husband.

Amy Hickerson Dalton sent a postcard in June from Thailand. Amy also visited Hong Kong and Singapore. B.J. and I enjoyed seeing Amy and Marion Lawton Kinzey early in June when we were all in Atlanta as messengers to the Southern Baptist Convention. Marion sent me an article and picture from The Richmond News Leader of Joyce Eubank Todd’s husband Howe who has retired as Richmond’s acting city manager after nearly 40 years of public service.

Twenty-eight of us attended our 40th reunion in May. There were 12 male escorts coming to our chatter. Joyce Todd was elected president. Joyce has offered to serve also as our fund-raising chairman. Please write Jane Thorpe, Director of Alumnae Relations, UR, Va. 23173, with your concerns about the condition of North Court. Our special thanks to Jeanne Yeamans Baxter, Amy Hickerson Dalton, Marion Lawton Kinzey, Joyce Eubank Todd and Leila Phillips Toone, for a well planned 40th celebration! Thanks also to the others who came: Jackie Barnes Wolf, Irene Taylor Martin, Frances Newman Stevens, Frances Bleight Elliot, Jeanne Peabworth Gammon, Frances Ann Beale Goodie, Jackie Hodges Walker, Barbara Richie Branch, Gale Abbott, Marie Peachee Wicker, Alta Ayers Bower, Caroline Goode Jackson, Cora Lynn Chaffe
3506 Noyes A., w., S.J -

Sally seems always to be on the go. They are still traveling for the Board of Global Ministries of the Methodist Church. They have moved to Huntsville, Ala., and family in England. Judy Barnett Sechriston, Sally during one of her visits there.

Coker's sister and Miss Coker came to call and show their black labradors. Bobbi and Family are away and to Monty Elliott Ownby and friends in the Carolinas.

Elizabeth attends The T. C. Williams Law School. Daughter Ann, who is an assistant attorney general for Tennessee, has a new baby. Betty Rackley Root reports the birth of her first grandchild. Betty's son Tom was married in April. Daughter Tina is assistant legal counsel at the U. of Miami.

Seth Darrow Jewell and Corwin are building a home. Still enjoying the real estate business, Seth also continues to train and show their black labradors. Bobbi Rodewold Forrest has taken up flying. Beth Chambliss Holcomb has a fourth grandchild in Roanoke. Hannah Barlow Bain's son graduated from James Madison U. and is working for an investment firm in Richmond. Robin has entered North Carolina State U., Raleigh, N.C.

Maria Carter Satterfield and Sat sailed their boat from their new home at Harbour Island, Bahamas, to Maine. Ginny Smith Kynett and Gerry sailed their 42-foot from Florida to Bermuda. Jo Hoover Pittman and Bob traveled New York, Washington, en route to Georgia, being hosts to some of Jo's visiting Dutch relatives.

Sincere sympathy goes to Betty Hengeveld Bradshaw whose father passed away and to Monty Elliott Ownby and Russell Elliott Wiley who lost their mothers.

Sally Taylor DuBose and Bill have moved into the home they built in Harts Creek, Va. Their next-door neighbor is Hannah Coker's sister and Miss Coker came to call on Sally during one of her visits there. With family spread from California to New Jersey, Booy Kollukian Cowles and Sid seem always to be on the go. They spent vacation in Colorado. Ginny Hernandez Pugh recently visited family and friends in the Carolinas.

Rosemary Lawson Stickman received her bachelor's degree in art history from Hofstra. Arthur retired and they have moved to Palm Springs, Calif. Janice Connant McCoy spent the Thanksgiving holiday in New York. She, her youngest son and his family visited her daughter and family in England. Judy Barnett Seelhorst has a new grandson. She continues to be an academic coach at her high school.

Janie Clark Little had a pacemaker implant. She joined her two daughters in Virginia to attend the wedding of the daughter of Peggy Clark Bowdler '46, and in October vacationed in Spain and Portugal. Emily Smith Powers teaches English to recent immigrants. Jane Belk Monroe is the grandmother of Lauren Elizabeth Monroe. Chevrolet closed the zone office here in Charleston and I am no longer working.

Elizabeth Givens Pierce Box 67

Hudgins, Va. 23076

A word of appreciation goes to Barbara White Balderson, Jean Tinsley Martin and Gene Hart Joyner for compiling the summer newsletter while Bucky and I were moving to our retirement home overlooking the Chesapeake Bay in Matthews County.

Lee Reeves Childress traveled to Boston for a Meals on Wheels Convention and then vacationed in Canada. Lee is president of the Richmond Club, Westhampton Alumnae Association. Joanne Waring Karring went to West Point for a nephew's wedding, to Florida in the spring, and to Nags Head with Barbara Coleman Augustine and husband. Also at Nags Head were Jean Tinsley Martin and Roy.

Frances Sutton Oliver and Raymond flew to Vienna, Austria, for a cruise on the Danube River with a UR tour group. Frances' daughter, Cynthia, and her husband have moved from Texas to Richmond where Cynthia has joined a law firm. Mary Sullivan Allen and Wes are still traveling for the Board of Global Ministries of the Methodist Church. They spent two months in Louisville, Ky., last fall.

Helen Lampathakis Kostyal and Dick took a trip to Gettysburg and the Pennsylvania Dutch country while Libby Givens Pierce and Bucky were on a tour bus of Nova Scotia and Quebec.

Mary Sue Mock Milton and her husband were at Montreat, N.C., in their vacation home with daughter Julie. Their son graduated from the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. Susie is a freshman at Salem College.

Susie, daughter of Barbara White Balderson and Les, was married in August 1896. In July, Helen Lampathakis Kostyal and Libby Givens Pierce had a picnic at their homes in Mathews County honoring Susie. Seven members of our class were there with their husbands.

This spring Rosa Soles Johnston's and Mandley's daughter was married in Kilmarnock. The oldest son of Margaret Buck Wayland and Bob was married in May. Margaret is teaching calligraphy at the community colleges in Danville, Va., and Yanceyville, N.C. In May 1986 Katherine, daughter of Louise Hickerson Wiley and Doug, was married.

Vivian Betts Lewis and W.P.'s daughter Susan had a baby girl. A second grandson has joined the family of Ruth Morrissey Bain and Tom who have five grown children.

Bea Covington O'Flaherty and Billy have a new grandson, William, son of Jeff and Paula O'Flaherty. Bea's sister Elinor was with her in the spring after the removal of a lung.

Ellen Largent Perlman's husband retired from the American Embassy service in June and they are living in Winchester, Va. Lou Covington Randall and Harry have retired and moved to Vera near Appomattox, Va.

Marjorie Parson Owen and Ralph's son Joie is a UR freshman.

Bettie Lane Banner Bragg was a finalist from Tennessee in the Southeastern U.S. Cooking Contest sponsored by the Dairy Association. Honors came from the Rotary Club to Marianna Holloway Rounds for work with bereaved families in Salisbury, Md.

We extend sympathy to several class members whose mothers have died. Doris Balderson Burbank's mother passed away in May. Gene Hart Joyner's and Barbara Taggart's mothers died in August.

Win Schanen Mitchell's husband, Bill, had a heart attack in May. After bypass surgery, Bill is exercising in a rehabilitation program. Jeanne Schanen McKenney and Bob have a granddaughter after five grandsons.

Libby Rowe Wilson is doing evening computer work for Bank of America. Son Gary is in college evening classes and daughter Liz lives in Salt Lake City with son, Bobby.

Hilda Moore Hankins spent time in Texas with her daughter, Anne Hankins Moore '76, who had major surgery in September.

Barbara Taggart is working for the Presbyterian Church in Zitacuan, Mexico.

Maryanne Bugg Lambert took an academic leave from teaching to return to school for certification as a special education teacher with the learning disabled.

Gateway Holland Stone's son Edward attends VCU and son Allan is at VMI. Daughter Susan is in her second year at The T. C. Williams Law School.

The John Marshall/Thomas Jefferson High School reunion this fall was an opportunity for Audrey Lynn Moncure. Mary Sue Mock Milton, Dee Haskins Brawley and Jean Tinsley Martin to be together. That evening, Tucky Bellows Reed's daughter was the soloist with the band.

Wilda Whitman Oakley returned to Portsmouth for her high school class reunion in October.

Nola Texley Breckenridge 4865 Oakcrest Drive Fairfax, Va. 22030

Eleanor Persons Hays, Arnold and Mari-anne Shumate Jensen, Sarah Barlow Wright, and Kathleen Cooke O'Bier and

31
Juny had a reunion at Skyland Lodge in Shenandoah National Park in July. Eleanor Persons Hays and Bob moved from Arlington, Va., to Long Beach, Calif., in September. Bob is with the government in the Naval Purchasing Department.

Sarah Barlow Wright is the new principal at Saunders Elementary School in Newport News. She was principal at Hillsboro School for the past ten years. Sarah and her mother, Gladys Holleman Barlow '17, took a trip to South Carolina last summer. Sarah's daughter Janet is with Professional Realty at Virginia Beach, Va. Marianne Shumate Jensen, Arnold and daughter Kate left in August for a month in Europe. Arnold and Marianne have worked with international students for several years.

Kathleene Cooke O'Brien and Juny live in the Northern Neck of Virginia. They moved to Lottsburg in 1975 where Juny is food consultant with the State Health Department. Kathleene works part time at the Health Department, is a member of the county library board and conducts a diet class.

Mary Anne Coates Edel and husband Don are moving to Hong Kong. He has been appointed director of the K-Mart Corp., Far East Import Department, with his headquarters in Hong Kong. All three of Mary Anne's children are married and living in Richmond and the Washington, D.C. area. Daughter Cammy was married in April 1988 and she works for David Brinkley at ABC News.

I was in California this summer moving my parents from Sacramento to the retirement home, The Virginian, in Fairfax. While there, I saw Dizzy Stuart-Alexander. She retired in June, sold her Los Altos home and moved to Aptos.

Please write me a short note.

'54

Linda Goodman Lewis
210 Thomas Heights
Martinsville, Va. 24112

Susie Kegan Nuttal and Bill's son Bill has earned a Ph.D. in civil engineering from MIT and began teaching at U.Va. in the fall. Susie is still an official in the Maryland Savings and Loan Association.

Sue Leonard Simpson is no longer teaching and helped husband Rem through surgery in the fall. They spent much time at their cottage on Kent Island. They and Barbara Bull Tull and Dick get together occasionally.

Edie Jackson Jones' husband Winston is building houses in Greensboro. They have three grandchildren. The Joneses visited with Betty Rosenberger Allen and Joe in Dover, Del.

Bev French Dunn was with friends whose son was graduating from Randolph-Macon with my son Robert in June, and Ann Powell Oast and Townsend were in Martinsville for a wedding in October.

In the summer, Mary Jane Miller, Nancy Lay, Alice Creath McCullough and I visited Bobbie Cronin Lovell at her Maine cottage.

Please share your news with me.

'56

Patricia McElrroy Smith
19 Pine Tree Lane
King George, Va. 22485

We had a great 30th reunion! The Friday night party hosted by Ann Peery Oppenheimer was attended by 32 classmates. The Saturday night party at the Deeney was fun, especially with so many of our former teachers attending.

Our new reunion co-chairmen are Dottie Stiff Price and Carol Brooks Jennings. Janet Knobel Jones has just moved back to Richmond.

We would like to express our sympathy to the family of Shirley Evans Hart: her husband Douglas, her daughter Valerie, her mother Louise M. Evans, and her sister Diane E. Glenn '52. Shirley was our past secretary and we will miss her and her love of her college and classmates.

My daughter Pam dined with Bobbie Jenkins Keville and Red at their ranch home in Catati, Calif.

Eliza Hubble Severt served for four years on the Martinsville City Council—the last two as vice-mayor.

Carol Brooks Jennings is the president of the Westhampton Alumnae Association. She is a recent graduate of Christopher Newport College with a bachelor's degree in business administration with concentration in real estate and finance. She traveled in Yugoslavia and Switzerland.

Thelma Flynn Helm enjoys her work in book copywriting and publicity. She was ordained a deacon at Immanuel Baptist.

'58

Carolyn Moss Hartz
301 Wood Road
Richmond, Va. 23229

MOVING?

University of Richmond
ALUMNI SEARCH

If so, please fill in the space shown and attach your address label from this magazine. Send both to:

University of Richmond Magazine-
Address Correction
University of Richmond
Virginia 23173

Keep in touch. We don't want you to miss a single issue. And remember, by mailing us this form you can help avoid unnecessary costs.

'60

Peggy Gore Sykes
806 Meadow Lane, SW
Vienna, Va. 22180

Nancy Rae Taylor Baker has taken a position this year as assistant principal at J. R. Tucker High School. Nancy "Jenks" Marrow holds a new job as head of the bridal registry at a suburban Richmond Thalhimers.

Jeanette McWilliams Welsh's daughter Murray is a 10th-grader at Collegiate School in Richmond and husband Jack continues as head of drama at UR. Steve Key, son of Emelyn St. Clair Key, is also a Collegiate student. He is straddling high school/college life by taking math classes at UR.

Paige Lemmon, daughter of Linda Morgan Lemmon, is a Westhampton College senior, living in the Cloisters, an apartment complex housing 200 UR students. Becky Grissom Van Audall's daughter started at St. Mary's College in North Carolina in the fall of '86.

Millie Bagley Bracey continues to teach in South Hill, Va. This year, son Tommy is in one of her classes. Millie, husband, Penny, and Millie's mother spent two weeks touring California in June.

Ruthi Greenfield Zinn reports that her daughter is working as an investment banker in New York City. Ruthi's own business is expanding in office space and personnel. She is going to be spending some time in Longboat Key, Fla., and would like to hear from classmates in that area.

Our son graduated from James Madison this year. He has taken a job teaching music near Roanoke.

Miriam Rothwell Livermon and husband, Bill Tom, decided to return to their hometown of Martinsville, Va. Bill Tom, a chaplain, retired from the U.S. Army in September 1985. Daughter Christy is a nurse in Williamsburg; Kathy teaches third grade in Chesapeake; and Randy is an architecture student at U. Va. The Livermons live 45 minutes from the Blue Ridge Parkway and welcome visitors.

Libby Wampler Jarrett completed her master's in counseling at Lynchburg College in May. She is teaching music and counseling in a school and four other women established this year for children with learning disabilities and emotional problems. Harry Jr. was married in August, Lori is a junior at James Madison U., and Amy is a junior at E.C. Glass High School in Lynchburg.

'64

Emily Agers Gray
5308 Archer Drive, SW
Roanoke, Va. 24014

Judy Barnhart Parr lives in Springfield, Va., and does personnel work in the Manpower Office. Daughter Lisa is a freshman at Wake Forest U. and son Arthur is 12. Husband Jerry is still in the service as a Russian expert, currently working at the Washington Navy Yard.

Sally Abel Taylor and family have returned to the United States after living in Brussels, Belgium, for two years. Husband John was working with NATO there and is now with the War College in Washington, D.C. Sally is supervising the construction of a home in Clifton, Va. She has done freelance writing and is looking for a job in this field. She has two daughters, Jaclyn, 7, and Kary, 13.

Connie Zeno Rigel lives with her two children in St. Louis, Mo. She has obtained a master's degree in social work and is the adoption coordinator of the Children's Home Society of Missouri. Son Mark is a junior in high school and daughter Julie is a freshman.

Helen "Hecky" Henderson White has received an associate degree in interior design from St. Louis Community College in St. Louis. Daughter Ginger is at the U. of Missouri and Jeanne is a freshman at Northeast Missouri U. Husband Toby is the international marketing manager for the Ethyl Corp. They spent two weeks in Europe last summer visiting friends and the families of two German exchange students who had lived with them.

Mary Rainey Chappell is the chairman of the science department and teaches biology and advanced placement biology at a high school in Virginia Beach, Va., where she piloted the Marine Science Program. Husband Earl is an instructional specialist. Both spent the summer in Bath, England, in a special program comparing British and American science education.

Sara Ruschhaupf Crippen, husband, Gilbert, and two sons, Marc, 10, and Matthew, 7, live in Newport News, Va. Sara teaches math and Gilbert teaches geography in high school.

In Towson, Md., Kathy White Bredbenner has three boys: Todd, 16; Jay, 13; and Dan, 10. Husband Lee is a staff engineer at Johns Hopkins. Kathy coordinates the drivers and visitors for Meals on Wheels and puts out her church newsletter.

Frances Mayer Arehart, husband and sons, Mark, 12, and Steve, 13, have lived in Farmville, Va., for 13 years. She works in the president's office at Longwood College where her husband teaches computer science.

Joyce Stevens Boldt and sons, John, 12, and Steve, 14, live in Herndon, Va. She works as a real estate agent in the Washington area.

Nancy Loughridge Lowe's daughter Molly, a Westminster College freshman, shares a room with Jane Bibb Ranson's daughter Molly. Nancy still lives in Virginia Beach, Va., with husband Fred, a lawyer in private practice, and daughter Susan, a high school sophomore.

Walker Glenn Wiegell teaches math at U. of North Carolina-Greensboro and is taking classes. Husband John is a lawyer in Greensboro, daughter Charlotte is 9 and son Fred is 13.

Katha D. Massey has spent the last 18 years working in the library of the U. of Georgia as head of the catalog department. She received a master's degree in library science from Rutgers.

Jean Carrison Bell has taught second grade for ten years. Husband Frank is a psychologist in private practice in New Port News, Va. Twins Peter, in the Marines in Hawaii, and Laurie, a student at Old Dominion U., are 21. David, 19, is a student at Mary Washington College and Matt is in the 10th grade.

Connie Burke Fiewlass remarried three years ago. She received a master's degree in music education and teaches music. She is working on a master's in library science. Husband Jack is the chief ranger at Valley Forge National Park.

Linda Fridley Betof and family live in Philadelphia, Pa. She has a master's degree in social work and is a children's therapist in a private school. She has two daughters, Jo Anna, 10, and Liza, 12. Husband Bob is an artist and the aquatics director of the YMCA.

Pat Banks King works in Boston, Mass., as a legislative liaison for the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering. Son Thaddeus is a high school senior and daughter Stacy is a sophomore.

Lucille Phillips Lebold has lived in Williamsburg, Va., for two years where she teaches math at Danbury High School. Her husband is a supervisor of math and directs the talented and gifted program.

Glenda Nicholas Burke has a custom design jewelry business which she operates out of her home. Son Geoff, 21, is majoring in marketing at VCU. Husband Pat is the director of nuclear medicine at Stuart Circle Hospital in Richmond.

Elizabeth Schools Geiger lives in Chesterfield County with husband Michael; daughter Terri, a high school senior; and son Ken, a 10th grader. Elizabeth has a master’s in Christian education and is a former English teacher. Her husband is principal of Thompson Middle School in the City of Richmond.

'66

Leona Lawrence Porter
1060 Sanford Avenue
Virginia Beach, Va. 23455

Our 20th class reunion in May ’66 was a great success with 28 class members in attendance.

Twenty classmates live in the Richmond area and ten of these women work in the broader context of education.

Betsy Spenser Townsend is a business school instructor (children: Danny, 17; Kelley, 13). Sandra Gross Schneider completed her law degree and has returned to Westhampton as a professor (children: Andy, 20; Jill, 18; Jonathan, 15). Classroom teachers in this group include Beth Booker Wilson (child: David, 15); Brenda Ellis Nusara (children: Amy, 13; Diana, 9); Patricia Schultz Joy (children: Suzzannah, 12; Sterling, 9); Eugenia Henderson Schutt (children: Melissa, 11; Anne, 8; Frederick 4); Patricia Carol Simpson Todd (children: Chuck, 16; Cliff, 12); Eileen Ford is a program specialist for English (Anne Dixon Booker is an admissions director in a private school (children: Will, 15; Elizabeth, 12); Quita Tansey Collins is the Westhampton housing coordinator and has her office in the Deaneary.

Three women noted homemaker as a primary occupation. They are Judy Eastman Brooks (children: Melissa, 15; Pamela, 10; David, 8 months); Beverly Breitstein Hurowitz (children: Randy, 18; Jason, 14); Barbara Ruscus Thompson (children: Joseph, 15; Paul, 13; Virginia, 9; Chris, 7).

Other women in the Richmond area include: Lou Wrenn, an assistant publisher of an architectural magazine (children: Mary, 17; Ben, 15); Mabel Bailey Carr, an actuarial associate (children: Jimmy, 15; Shannon, 11); and Mary Dutrow Emerson, a computer systems analyst. Faye Dixon Taylor is a packaging specialist (child: Claire Elizabeth, 20 months). Joan Miller Hines is comptroller and co-owner of a mechanical corporation.

North Carolina is now home for four classmates. Two live in Greenville: Carol Bashaw Collins, a business/math consultant, and Lynne Griffith Marks, a music teacher and performer (children: Chris, 15; Brian, 12). Caywood Garrett Hendricks lives in Asheboro where she is a business manager in a dermatology clinic (children: Ginger, 8; Carrie, 5). Julia Elliott lives in Charlotte. Martha Daughtrey Colston Glass, who lives in Cary, is a senior energy information specialist (children: Lynne, 24; John, 21; and granddaughter Samantha, 2).

Janice Mays Kaylor is a government development specialist in Bethesda, Md. (children: Tony, 16; Jennifer, 14). Trisha Grizzard Tola lives in Charlotte Hall, Md., on a 68-acre horse breeding farm. Greenville, S.C., is home for two classmates: Mimi Proctor Games, a clinical social worker in Columbia (children: Mimi, 18; Meghan, 14), and Patricia Culbertson Traynham (children: Britt, 15; Laura, 14; Lynsey, 7). Betsy McIntosh Taylor lives in Savannah, Ga., and is owner of an antique shop. Nancy Saunders Kaplan, who lives in Marietta, Ga., does part-time convention services (children: Erica, 14; Brittany, 12). Mary Ann Biggs Furniss lives in Memphis, Tenn., where she is a director of corporate information services.

Millie Kaiser Fleetwood is a Bloomsburg, Pa., resident where she is a clinical immunologist and an educational director at a medical center (children: Millie, 9; Stephanie, 7; Seth, 5). JoAnn Jamison Webster lives in Stillwater, Okla., and is a research technician in biochemistry at Oklahoma State U. (child: Karen, 15). Harriet Mann Tomlinson lives in California (children: Susan, 19; David, 16).

Our two ”international” classmates are Ginger Blanton Bailey, a homemaker in Australia (children: Catherine, 13; Lee, 9) and Carol Hendricks Buskirk, who lives in East Africa.

There are seven Virginia residents outside the Richmond area. Tucker Hilley Maney, an assistant professor of mathematics, lives in Fairf ield (children: Alison, 16; Kristin, 14). Also in Fairfax is Margaret Jennings McMichael (children: Heather, 14; Megan, 10; Keith, 7). Sherry Dillion Friend in Brookneal listed her occupation as minister’s wife. Charlotte Grove Smith is a consultant for computer software in Lovingston (children: Casey, 10; Parker, 6). Elizabeth Wells Atchley is a teacher in Roanoke (children: Ann, 16; Allen, 13). Linda Hyman McMakin is an actuary (children: Diane, 14; Michael, 7). I am a social worker in private practice part-time; I do psychotherapy with individuals, families and groups (children: John, 7; Elizabeth, 5).

'68

Susan Lee Harris
2525 Health Place
Reston, Va. 22091

It is with regret that I report the death of Margaret Anne Byrn Tucker in California in the spring of 1986. Our deepest sympathies to her husband and son Geoff. We will miss her as a cherished friend and classmate.

Please keep in touch.

'70

Corrine Henry Hill
2740 Williamswood
Richmond, Va. 23235

Penny Chappell Westbrook’s husband Dan has a new position as attorney for American Airlines in Dallas, Texas.

Sally Andrews married Stephen Cobles in Richmond in October 1986. They live in Varina and Sally is working in personnel at MCV. JoAnn Russell Nicholson is now teaching third grade at Watkins Elementary in Chesterfield County. JoAnn and Bill’s daughter Catherine started kindergarten in the fall.

I went back to work full time at the Highway Department in the same job from which I took an 11-year maternity leave in 1975. Trip, 11; Cori, 9, and Sarah, 4, are well.

Please write with news!

'72

Susan W. Clarke
729 Holten Place
Richmond, Va. 23225

Elizabeth Reynolds is living in Takoma Park, Md., with her twin daughters, 8 years old. She has bought a 60-year-old bungalow and commutes each day to her job as associate editor for a weekly newspaper for the American Public Transit Association. Her daughters have won a scholarship to the Cynthia Warner School for academically talented children.

Kathy Kirk writes that she is in England for an indefinite period with the Youth With a Mission group. This is the third time since January ’84, and after completing the Leadership Training Program in August she will be leading a small mission trip. She had been doing substitute teaching in Richmond and umpiring field hockey and lacrosse before leaving.

Lucy Bone Origain and Ricky have been busy with two of their three girls in school and Ricky starting an optometry practice on his own. They are building a new office for his practice.

Sallie Stone Cook and Marshall are busy with their three girls, Sarah, 10; Elizabeth, 5; and Susan, 1. Marshall has left private practice and is working in the office of Attorney General Mary Sue Terry. Sallie is medical director of the MCV Blood Bank.

I have been to visit my sister, Sandra Clarke Hart, B’75, and her husband Chet Hart, B’75, and their two boys, Riggan, 2; and Bennett, born Sept. 15, 1986. They are in Terre Haute, Ind. I have also been busy serving on the sorority implementation committee which helped select six sororities to colonize at Westhampton College this year.

THIS IS OUR FIFTEENTH RE-UNION YEAR AND OUR REUNION HAS BEEN SCHEDULED FOR MAY 29-
30, 1987. MARK YOUR CALENDARS!

We are trying to locate the following people so that they will receive information on the reunion. If you have an address for these people please notify me or the Alumnae Office: Dr. Martha Key Bradley, Linda Bond Burnett, Mary Elizabeth Robbins DeBergh, Margaret Hoffman Armstrong, Ellen Hoffmann Cunningham, Shirley Ayne Seitz, Susan Blankenbaker, Beverly J. Livesay, Carroll A. O'Donnell, Barbara Jeanne Simmons and Elizabeth Rhett Thompson.

'74

Linda Fernald Honaker
2500 Cromwell Road
Richmond, Va. 23235

Terry Sue Almarode continues to teach physical education at Fairfield Middle School in Henrico County. Sarah Hopkins Finley is a practicing attorney with a Richmond law firm and is currently on maternity leave. Esther Hopkins Barnes and Ken have pooled artistic and woodworking talents to make crafts and children's toys to sell.

Janet Ferrell and Mark are in Richmond and she is a senior systems engineer with IBM. Ann Gordon Barone and Langdon are residing in Arlington, Va., where she is learning Turkish in preparation for her work in Turkey as a junior diplomat in the Foreign Service of the U.S. Dept. of State. Continuing with IBM, Tina James Marston is in Brookline, Mass., and is serving on the board of directors with Vision Inc., a clearinghouse for assisting people with vision problems.

Susan Brock Harley and Jim continue to reside in Lexington, Ky., with son, John Daniel. Betsy Ray Cobb and Wes are in Richmond and she is with the personnel department of United Virginia Bank. Jonathan, Will and Grace Robinson Denhartog keep busy with both Mom and Dad practicing law in Richmond. Pat and Ellen Early Lusk have opened their own drug store on the “Shore” and are raising daughters, Meredith and Erin.

Susan Lindler Stephenson is in Tappahannock with Ned and their three girls. Hope Armstrong Erb and Martin are involved musically at St. Christopher’s and elsewhere in Richmond. Carolyn Ridgeway Cook and Dick are living in Topping, Va., and she is commuting daily to the Virginia Education Association in Richmond. Paul, Stephen Thomas, 2, and I live in Richmond. I am teaching two and one-half days a week.

'78

Margaret Ownby Milby
4117 Stuart Avenue
Richmond, Va. 23221

Mildred Coates is working on her Ph.D. in chemistry at the U. of California. She moved to Riverside, Calif., about four years ago after receiving a master’s degree from U.Va. She was married to David Hagerman, 1985. She is a research assistant coordinator at the Lougdon County School system.

Betsy Wacker Gianaetta and husband Bill moved to their home in Hollis, Maine, to visit in Richmond this past August. Carolyn Steere Cockrell, Ruth Littlejohn Gemmell, Margaret Ownby Milby and their husbands were able to get together with the Gianettas for dinner at the Cockrell’s new home in Chester.

Lynne Deane, husband Chuck and son Travis are living in Charlottesville. Chuck is in U.Va. law school.

Cathy Powell Brennan has “retired” from teaching to be at home with daughters Courtney and Jennifer.

Planning is now underway for our reunion. Please let me hear from you!

'80

Julie D. Wyatt
641 W. Oakdale #3
Chicago, Ill. 60657

Lisa Landau is attending graduate school at George Washington U. She is studying hospital administration after working for three years as a medical technologist.

Betsy Skinner is in graduate school at UR, studying history.

Nancy Garnett Osborne and husband Bob work for CARE in Kenya.

Joan Gilmore is in Tampa, Fla., and is on the last leg of her associate development program with GTE.

Kathy Wormley Barret and husband John are living in Virginia Beach, Va., where Kathy works for Virginia Power and John for Sovran Bank.

Cheryl Forrest Land and husband live in Virginia Beach, Va., where she continues to work as a marketing representative for Xerox and he constructs residential homes.

Vicki Schultes and Matthew live in Richmond. Vicki is a marketing representative for Sherwood Medical Supply.

Cheryl Lawrence is a Virginia Beach, Va., resident and a stockbroker with Wheat, First Securities.

Bunny Wilks bought a home in Richmond, where she works for Southeastern Institute of Research.

Anne Stanton Knoff is with Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Va. in Richmond, involved in health maintenance organization marketing.

Elizabeth “Buddy” Joyner completed work for her master’s degree at U.Va. in 1985. She is a reading resource coordinator for the Loudoun County School system.

Elizabeth “Lil” Holt Jefferson and Perry, R’80, have relocated to Tidewater from Danville, Va. Perry is with Upjohn Pharmaceuticals.

Ellen Adair Udovich received a master’s in social work from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in May 1986.

Vicki Faherty Pines was appointed chairman of the professional education committee for the Southern Association of College Admissions Counselors; she will also serve on the board.

'82

Daryl Ritchie
1001 St. Paul St. #5F
Baltimore, Md. 21202

Marcy Anthony
3230 Wisconsin Ave. NW #210
Washington, D.C. 20007

Soon after returning to Richmond, Ruth Graninger Travis and husband Richard had a boy, Kellan St. Clair. Ellen Gentille Kibler and Jimmy had a boy, James Granville Kibler III.

Carla Young was married to F.B. “Win” Harrington III in May 1986 at Fredericksburg Baptist Church in Frederickburg, Va.

Cathy Snegrove was transferred to the East Coast branch of the computer software firm, INS. She is a sales representative for INS in New Jersey.

Carol Gennings Harsh is now residing in Washington, D.C., and is working in the Sights Department at the Smithsonian Institute. Chris Gennings is an instructor in the biostatistics department at MCV where she will receive her Ph.D. in June 1987.

Valerie Vaughn was married in October 1985 to Michael A. Letavic and they are living in Newark, Del. She worked at E.I. Du Pont de Nemours last summer and is working toward her Ph.D. in chemistry at the U. of Delaware.

Susan Austin has attended the P.A. program at George Washington U. School of Health Science and is working as a physician's assistant in internal medicine in Baltimore, Md.

Claudia Kasales was awarded the M.D. degree in May 1986 by the Pennsylvania State U. College of Medicine. She is in an internship year in internal medicine at the Bryn Mawr Hospital and will have her residency training in diagnostic radiology at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, Hanover, N.H.

Amy Heller has left her post at Prentice Hall Publishing for a sales representative position at Times Mirror/Mosby College Publishing Co. Her home office is in St. Louis, Mo., though her territory is in Atlanta.

Sue Van Wicker Heckel is a corporate travel agent for Omega Travel in Chester, Va. She and Jon live in Richmond.

Ginny Griffiths McConnell is in her second year of law school at The T. C. Williams School of Law with her husband, Mickey, who is returning also to T. C. Williams for his third year. In their wedding in May were Caroline Crawford Swanson, Chris Cleary, ’84, and Liliane Speiden ’75.

Leslie Clark is a marketing assistant with Market Strategies Inc. in Richmond, a hospital-HMO advertising/marketing firm.

Lee Ann Chapman Critz and husband Blake live in Salem, Va., where Lee Ann is a case manager at Roanoke Valley Alcohol Safety Action Program.

Kelly Harless is in her first year of the master's degree program in nutrition at the U. of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. Cindy Eckenrod is the communications and special events coordinator for the YWCA in Richmond.

Elizabeth Smith Conwell and husband Benjamin have returned to Charlotteville for Ben's second year in the MBA program at U. Va.'s Darden School of Business after spending the summer in Richmond. Elizabeth did some free-lance advertising copywriting while in Richmond and is now the student coordinator in Darden's placement office.

Cammie Whisnant Dodson was recently named account executive at the advertising firm of Howard, Merrell & Partners in Raleigh, N.C.

Carie Maddox works in the financial department of the Student Loan Marketing Association in Washington, D.C. The class extends its sympathy to Mickey and Ginni Griffiths McConnell on the death of Ginni's father, a retired surgeon.

Please continue to write with news!

‘86

Lola Franco
28 Elm Road
Braircliff, N.Y. 11050

Sandi Nef is working as a paralegal for a real estate law firm in Boston. Wendy Newman is living in New York City and working for Young & Rubicam in their media department.

Carol Fieri is working for Ogilvy & Mather, an advertising agency in New York City. Tracy Lankow is working for Random House in New York City. Greer Cochran is living in Baltimore and working for Matsay, Jay doing computer work for the law firm. Marcia Paulson is working as a sales representative for WRVA in Richmond. Gwen Lichtenstein is working for The Equitable in New York City.

Susan Mannion is working for Philip Morris in New York City. After spending the summer in Atlanta, Pattie Clarke is living in San Francisco, Calif. Lisa LeVan has completed the Macy's executive training program and is currently sales manager at the store at Garden State Plaza in Paramus, N.J. She and Greer Williams '85 are chairmen of the UJ New Jersey alumni/ae chapter.

Dina Lisner is a UR admissions counselor. Cindy Elliott is a paralegal in the health care division of the Mezzullo, McCandlish and Framme law firm in Richmond. Both are class representatives to the UR Young Graduates Committee.

Eileen Felling is enrolled in the college administration program at Va. Tech. Cathy Hicks is living in Richmond and working for This End Up Furniture Co. at their corporate headquarters. Maria Iamundo is working in New York City for Taigon Industries. Beverly Stallings is working for Xerox in Richmond.

Carol Francolini is working for Saks Fifth Avenue in New York City.

MARRIAGES

Marcia Jones and Joe Walsh, R'85, Aug. 30, 1986.

BIRTHS

1974/Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm H. den Hartog, R'73, L'77, (Grace Robinson), a daughter, Mary Douglas (Mattie), March 16, 1986.

1978/Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Berbert, (Sally T. Lloyd), a son, Taylor Lloyd, May 1986.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Cockrell, (Carolyn R. Steere), a son, Stanley John Hunter, June 17, 1986.

Franklin R. Ellsworth and Lynne P. Deane, a son, Franklin Travis, June 30, 1986.

1984/Mr. and Mrs. Blake Critz, (LeeAnn Chapman), a daughter, Sara Catherine, Aug. 23, 1986.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey M. Cowan, B'83.

(Melissa Millar), a daughter, Caitlin Mae, Oct. 2, 1986.

DEATHS

1918/Eleanor B. McCarthy, of Richmond, a former high school teacher, Aug. 21, 1986.

1920/Edith G. Sydor, of Richmond, a retired high school teacher, September 1986.

1922/Jeannette Henna, of Richmond, a Distinguished Alumnae 1980, manager of various Westhampton Alumnae Association special funds and a retired math teacher, Oct. 1, 1986.

1926/Lila Crenshaw, of Richmond, a past teacher of languages in the Richmond public schools, June 20, 1986.

1928/Helen C. Moon, of Richmond, a retired teacher, October 1986.

1932/Belvedour Stone, of Roanoke, Va., a retired teacher, October 1986.

1936/Lila Crenshaw, of Richmond, a past teacher of languages in the Richmond public schools, June 20, 1986.

1940/Marie Keyser Jordan, of Berkeley, Calif., a member of Mortar Board and a former teacher of languages in the Richmond public schools, Sept. 2, 1986.

1941/Lee Ann Chapman Critz, a former teacher in the Richmond public schools, June 20, 1986.

1956/Grace Schneckenburger and Craig Harrison Parker, Aug. 9, 1986.

Marcia Jones and Joe Walsh, R'85, Aug. 30, 1986.

Alumni can make a difference with the Key Career Consultants Network

Working through the Key Career Consultants Network at the University of Richmond, alumni can help guide students to majors and careers that suit their interests and needs. (See feature article on page 2.) If you're interested in becoming a Key Career Consultant, mail in the form below.

Date __________________

College __________________

Name __________________
Academic major __________________

Home address __________________

City __________________ State ______ Zip ______ Phone (______) ______

Job title __________________

Employer __________________

Business address __________________

Business phone (______) ______

Job specialty __________________

Years of experience ______

Other fields in which you can advise __________________

Please check preferred contact:

____ Home
____ Business
____ Either

I can help UR students in the following ways: (Please check below)

☐ Help a student develop an internship opportunity in my organization. A student would work on special projects for a specified number of weeks. The goal is to develop more in-depth knowledge of a field. Interns usually work part-time during a semester. Summer interns may work full-time.

☐ Accept inquiries from students wishing to learn more about my job specialty/career field.

☐ Visit campus to speak to groups of students about my job and career field.

☐ Accept inquiries from students seeking employment in my city and/or company.

☐ Host a student as a house guest for a day or two as he/she job seeks employment in my city.

☐ Help a student develop a non-paid externship in my firm lasting a day to a week.

☐ Forward literature/annual reports about my employer for the Career Planning and Placement library.

☐ Direct UR campus recruiting materials to the college relations/personnel officials of my organization.

☐ Encourage my organization to advise the UR Office of Career Planning and Placement about current openings.

Please complete (or photocopy and complete) this form and return it to:

Joanne C. Patton, Director
Office of Career Planning & Placement
University of Richmond
Richmond, Virginia 23173

Questions or comments? Contact: (804) 289-8139.

Please help us keep our records up-to-date. If you change employers, let us know.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR INTEREST AND INVOLVEMENT!