The Leadership Library

The Law Library recently acquired direct access to The Leadership Library (sometimes referred to as the “Yellow Books”). The Leadership Library provides online search capabilities for legal, government, business, media, and nonprofit professionals by name, organization, or keyword. Search results can include direct-dial telephone numbers, addresses, career histories, education backgrounds, board affiliations, areas of responsibility, or contact-specific emails. You can also retrieve information about issues covered on the Hill, media beat, job function, office specialty, legal specialty, lobbying specialty, or alma mater.

Librarians will be conducting a training session on The Leadership Library at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, January 29 in Room 114. Please contact a librarian at the Reference Desk at (804) 289-8685 for further assistance.

Study Room Reservations

We are glad that so many students are using the study room reservation system. We have slightly changed one of our policies for spring semester: Anyone not claiming the key to the reserved study room within 15 minutes after the start of the reservation period will forfeit the reservation to another user if the demand is warranted. For example, if you have a 1 p.m. reservation and have not picked up the key by 1:15 p.m., you may lose the reservation. If you don't need the room, please cancel your reservation so that it can be available to others.

Law Library Tables – with Power!

In response to user requests, we have added electrical outlets to tables in both the basement and the second floor. The two large study tables in the middle of the basement and the four middle tables on the staircase side of the second floor now have outlets.

Take One – Leave One Collection

For several years, the Law Library has housed a collection of donated books – both fiction and non-fiction – that users are free to borrow. The collection has moved to a new location, just beyond the swinging doors, near the elevator lobby. Feel free to borrow a book or leave a book for others to read!
