Law Library News

We are excited to welcome 163 new students, and welcome back many more. This summer, we created several new spaces for individual study, group study, and private phone conversations. We also have a new second floor entrance. We hope you enjoy these changes and continue to thrive in a place where every student has a home. To show off the new space, we invite all to join us for an Open House on Friday, September 7 from 2 to 4 in the afternoon. This part of the library remains a quiet study space, so be mindful of fellow students when admiring it or walking through.

Labor Day has passed, so summer is officially over. It’s time to immerse yourselves in law school. If we can do anything to help, don’t hesitate to ask.

Sincerely, Roger Skalbeck, Associate Dean

Oh, the Places You'll Go!
If you're looking for a little career inspiration or an infusion of Spider pride, check out the new “Oh, the Places You'll Go!” display outside the Merhige Room.

New E-Books!
We have thousands of titles in our e-book collection.

Take a Movie Break!
Need a break from law school? Check out a movie ... about law school! Our DVD collection is located near the big TV in the atrium, and if you need a DVD player for your laptop, you can check one out at the circulation desk.

New Writing Contests
There are a number of new legal essay contests on the contest catalog page, including contests on bankruptcy, regulatory, and administrative law.

See the MuseNews Blog to learn how to subscribe to the Student Event Calendar – all events going on in the law school will show up in your gmail calendar so you will be “in the (daily) know” and can easily plan your day, and not miss any exciting programs.

Office 365 and OneNote
Microsoft Office is required for law students. The MuseNews Blog provides instructions for downloaded and installing these programs.
