The University of Richmond celebrates the 100th anniversary of the birth of May Lansfield Keller,
a very revolutionary lady.

Twentieth Century Revolutionary

On August 27, just one month and one day before the 100th anniversary of her birth, May Lansfield Keller was honored by the Richmond chapter of the National Organization for Women. Observing both Women's Equality Day to celebrate women's suffrage and the Equal Rights Amendment Walkathon, NOW members recognized 25 notable women in Richmond's history.

What is the magnetism that caused NOW to group the diminutive dean of Westhampton College with Ellen Glasgow, novelist, Rose O'Neal Greenhow, Confederate spy, and Lila Meade Valentine, president of the Equal Suffrage League? What is the magnetism that caused Westhampton alumnae to remember her with fondness and students to know her almost as well, though she died some 13 years ago?

Born September 28, 1877, May Keller graduated from Goucher College in Baltimore. After her doctorate, magna cum laude, from Heidelberg University in 1904, she chaired the German department at Wells College and later was professor of English for eight years at her alma mater, Goucher.

In 1914, the day World War I was declared, Dr. Frederic W. Boatwright offered Miss Keller the position of dean of women and professor of English at Westhampton "at a salary of $1800.00 together with an apartment in the women's college and board."

Eyebrows raised following the landmark appointment of Virginia's first woman dean, who during her 32-year tenure became known as the "iron dean." Miss Keller's life was an adventure—a crusade for women. She lived and fought in a war of the sexes that revolutionized women's rights, women's education and women's role in society.

Courageous. Determined. Indomitable. Hardly the adjectives one would usually ascribe to a four-foot, eleven-inch woman. But what May Keller lacked in stature, she counterbalanced with scholarship, perseverance and womanliness.

Showdown at the UR Corral

by Tom Stenzel, R'77

"No one knows how dinosaurs became extinct. We know only that something changed, and dinosaurs did not. Maybe some universities have something in common with dinosaurs."

Theodore M. Newcomb
from "Campus Environment as a Factor in Admissions"

Over the past few years, change has come to the world of higher education as abruptly as an ice age engulfed the dinosaurs of the prehistoric era. Though many private universities around the country are trapped in the route to extinction, the University of Richmond is swept through gates of promise. The curious phenomenon of ever-increasing applications for admission springs from a steadily decreasing pool of potential students.

The 1960s were the "golden age of higher education," says Donald R. Eastman, assistant to the chancellor of the University of Tennessee. "Thousands of new students produced by the post-World War II baby boom entered college year after year, and the rising prosperous national economy generated new dollars to support the seemingly insatiable demand for a college education."

Experts, now examining the outlook for the rest of the century, see a period of retrenchment in higher education and the inevitable declining national college enrollment. By 1990, they estimate that colleges and universities will have to draw from a student pool, 18-21 age group, which is 25 percent smaller than that in 1975. The Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that enrollment may drop as much as 50 percent for private institutions.

Coupled with the generally grim national picture of college admissions over the next few decades is the unique position of the University of Richmond. The number of applications in 1977 was up for the second consecutive year with an incredible 31 percent increase in the number of women seeking admission to Westhampton College. Approximately 2,500 persons competed for approximately 750 places. Not only quantity, but quality mark this year's freshman class. UR's college board scores have been rising steadily, although the national average has been declining for the last decade. The average combined college board (SAT) score of the entering class is 1062, an increase over previous years and well above the national average in the mid-800s.

"We are a reasonably selective institution," says Thomas N. Pollard Jr., director of admissions for the university. While selectivity has long been a primary measure of academic quality in universities, Leon Botstein, president of Bard College in New York, dismissed selectivity as the all-important criterion it used to be.

"Recruitment, rather than selection, will be the task of admissions officers in the years ahead," Botstein wrote in a recent issue of New York Times Magazine. Apparently, now that enrollment has begun to decline, students are able to choose where they will attend, instead of having to go where they could "get in."

Several years ago, this could have posed a problem for Richmond. In an analysis of the freshman class of 1975, Pollard found that UR was the first-choice school for only about 40 percent of the students. Last fall, a more extensive analysis of the freshman class was performed as part of a research program of the American Council on Education and UCLA. The University of Richmond was then found to be the first choice of about 70 percent of the class, showing a marked increase in just two years. UR is losing its unwanted status of "insurance school."

Richmond's success in the student market, and perhaps some of the problems that accompany that success, are the result of its ability to adapt to the changing climate.

One must begin with the crucial step taken 10 years ago to follow that adaptation. In 1967, the university made its first overt efforts at out-of-state recruiting. Over the 10-year period, out-of-state students have multiplied. They now represent 50 percent of the 1977-78 freshman class. The reason for such a dramatic shift in the student population can be explained, for the most part, financially. Cost is a big factor.

The expansion has been mainly into the Middle-Atlantic states and the Northeast, where public colleges are comparable in cost to Richmond, with many private schools more expensive. Of those persons accepted from out of state this year, but enrolled elsewhere, about 60 percent went to more expensive schools. The vast majority of Virginians who were accepted but did not enroll will attend state schools, where tuition will average $2,000 less than UR. The cost is important in Virginia, but is not apparently a determining factor out of state.

Without cost as an obstacle, Richmond is proving to be an attractive institution to students from Maryland, New Jersey, New York and New England. Pollard says the physical impact of UR's growth and development has helped the school become known as "action-oriented."

"When we first sought meetings with students in some other states," he admits, "they (guidance counselors) wouldn't even let us in the back door. Now they are calling us to come visit students who have expressed an interest in the university."

Students from the Northeast are looking at UR as a quality school with an excellent location. "I really liked the Richmond area and the idea of living in the state capital," says Peggy Lawlor, a native of Paoli, Pa., and a third-year student at T.C. Williams School of Law. Richmond is on the southern end of the Boston-Washington megalopolis, just far enough South to get the weather break, says Pollard. "We are not shutting out the South, but Southern students are not traditionally migratory in their college education."

Although the influx of out-of-state students is helping to fill Richmond's freshman rolls each year, Pollard thinks the traditional UR student from Virginia is being outpriced by the state. Subsidies to higher education are setting tuition costs artificially low. Financial aid, scholarships and work-study programs can help alleviate some of the hardship, but are presently inadequate to solve the problem. "We simply don't have the scholarship resources," Pollard admits.

The $20 million second phase of the Our Time in History campaign lists scholarship revenue as a high priority. "We hope to be able to say in the future that no qualified student who wants to attend should have to turn us away solely because of money," he adds.

The future, nonetheless, is rapidly becoming the present. Students, clamoring to enroll at the university, point out other advantages to attending UR, not the least of which are its good location and small size.

"I went to an extremely large high school and wanted to come to a private, small school," says Laurie Heshman, a Westhampton senior from Clifton, Va., who is editor of the Collegian. Similarly, Martha Stockstill, a Westhampton junior from Richmond, came to UR primarily because "You tend to get lost and shuffled around in a large college," she says.

For many, like Doug Sauer, a Richmond College sophomore from Chatham, N.J., and John Curtin, an RC senior from Winnetka, Ill., Virginia's moderate climate was a major factor in their selection of a college.

Admissions counselors report that most students like the atmosphere of a small college but with the opportunities and facilities of a large university that UR offers. The coordinate structure is also a popular factor in choosing UR, although more so for women.

Lisa Lauria, a WC senior from Turnersville, N.J., says she was "looking for a girl's school that offered coordinate education. It's an environment where women can take leadership roles."

Though there are an abundance of reasons why students choose this university or some other, the main criterion rests with academic quality and reputation. The evidence indicates that Richmond is expanding in recognition. Last year's study shows more than 50 percent of the freshmen listed good academic reputation as their main reason for attending UR. Special educational programs were a close second. With the Second Phase of the Our Time in History campaign seeking support for endowment, scholarships, professorships and other additions to the academic curriculum, that reputation should continue to grow.

The years ahead promise to be crucial ones for private colleges and universities throughout the country. But unlike many institutions, the University of Richmond is faced, not with the problem of survival, but with the challenge to further its excellence. Extinction fails to have a part in UR's future. Unlike the dinosaur, both prehistoric and contemporary, Richmond will continue to grow and to adapt to the ever-changing educational environment. ●

Alumni Meetings•Alumni gather for chapter meetings in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 27; Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 6; Charleston, W.Va., Oct. 13; Petersburg, Va., Oct. 27; Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 28; and Peninsula Bay Club, Nov. 16. For Virginia alumni chapter meetings in Fredericksburg, Greater Emporia, Lynchburg, Martinsville, Roanoke, Southside Virginia, Western Tidewater and Winchester this fall, consult with your local club or call the Alumni Office, 804/285-6281.

Turkey Shoot•A myriad of events greet alumni when they return for Homecoming, Oct. 21-23. Tennis tournaments, the Bogle Open and a special music concert at 8 pm in Cannon Memorial Chapel are scheduled for Friday. A special guest speaker kicks off Saturday with a breakfast for all divisions at 8:30 am in the Robins Center. West-hampton alumnae hear selections from the oral history project in Keller Hall at 10 am while alumni swing to bluegrass band tunes at a tailgate party in the pines parking lot behind Ryland Hall at 11. E. B. Potter, R'29, the author of Nimitz, autographs copies in the university bookstore from 10-12. The football game at 1:30 pm in City Stadium, Spiders vs. Virginia Tech, is followed by a postgame party in the University Commons Multipurpose Room from 5:30 to 7:30 pm. The University Student Union sponsors a Saturday night rock concert with performers Dave Mason and Kenny Loggins at 8 pm in the Robins Center. Tickets are $6.50 and $5.50. Dr. Jack Noffsinger, R'40, pastor of the Knollwood Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, N.C., and former pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, Richmond, preaches at the Homecoming worship service at 11 am Sunday in Cannon Memorial Chapel.

Arts•Their Time in History. Step back in time and visit the university as it appeared 100 years ago. While the Valentine Museum undergoes renovation, a room reflecting styles at the university during the 1800s is on display Sept. 18-Oct. 1, in Marsh Gallery I, Modlin Fine Arts Center. Manikins with period costumes, furniture and other memorabilia are on view.

Alumnae painters Theresa Pollak, W'21, Lisa Hummel, W'67, Mary Watt New, W'63, and Ammye Hill, W'34, present their works in Marsh Gallery I, Oct. 2-21. Marc Harriman exhibits photographs in Marsh Gallery II, Modlin Fine Arts Center.

Handmade furniture by Tom Wessels of Norfolk is on display in Marsh Gallery I, Oct. 23-Nov. 9, while Jon Bowie, VCU professor of communication arts, exhibits brush and ink drawings in Marsh Gallery II, Modlin Fine Arts Center.

Photography by Michael Siede, a graduate student at Temple University, is on display in Marsh Gallery I, Nov. 13-30. Matthew Thompson exhibits drawings and watercolors in Marsh Gallery II, Modlin Fine Arts Center.

A collection of paintings by Randi Tamas, a graduate student at VCU, is on exhibit in Marsh Gallery I, Modlin Fine Arts Center, Dec. 1-22.

Peanuts and Popcorn•Season tickets for the University of Richmond home football games are now on sale at the Robins Center. Watch the Spiders tackle Appalachian State, Sept. 24; North Texas State, Oct. 1; Virginia Tech, Oct. 22; Furman, Nov. 5; and University of Maryland, Nov. 12. All games begin at 1:30 pm at City Stadium. Season tickets are $35, individual game tickets $7, with the Virginia Tech and Maryland games, $8. Call the Robins Center Ticket Office for more information, 804/285-6363.

The 1977-78 basketball season begins with the second annual Spider Classic, Nov. 24-25, with St. Joseph, William and Mary, VCU and the University of Richmond competing. Home games for November and December include George Washington, Nov. 30; VCU, Dec. 3; Auburn, Dec. 21; and Boston University, Dec. 31. Tickets for the Spider Classic are $8 and $10, with individual game tickets, $3 and $4, and season tickets, $50. Call the Robins Center Ticket Office for more information, 804/285-6363.

Annual Meeting•The Baptist General Association of Virginia will hold its annual meeting November 14-16 at the Parkview Baptist Church, 604 Hilton Road, Newport News, Va.

Theatre•Curtain time for University Players' productions is 8:15 pm in Camp Memorial Theater. To order season tickets see the ad on p.33. For further information call the box office, 804/285-6397.

Pygmalion—A George Bernard Shaw comedy which provided much of the situation, characters and dialogue for "My Fair Lady," is the first University Players' production. Directed by William Lockey, assistant professor of speech communication and theatre arts, the show runs Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 6-8.

No Exit—Jean Paul Sartre's theatrical exercise in existentialism deals with three selfish characters who die and descend into a personal hell they create for themselves. Directed by Jack Welsh, associate professor of speech communication and theatre arts, the show runs Thursday through Saturday, Nov. 17-19.

IBCD•The Institute for Business and Community Development of the University of Richmond announces four business-oriented seminars. For further information contact the IBCD, 601 N. Lombardy St., Richmond, Va., 23220, or call 804/358-8401.

Management by Objectives for Results—In a three-day seminar, Oct. 11-13, participants work with their own data to develop skills for implementing management by objectives programs. The fee per person is $300 and includes materials and luncheons.

Strategies for Managing your Time—A two-day seminar, Oct. 12-13, to develop techniques and skills for time management and to study behavioral approaches for timely and appropriate use of delegation and teamwork. The fee per person is $200 and includes materials and luncheons.

Essentials of Purchasing—For newly appointed buyers, this how-to-do seminar, Oct. 19-21, equips new buyers with the thinking, knowledge and skills necessary to produce results. The fee per person is $395 and includes materials and luncheons.

Report Writing—Anyone whose job is as much as one-fifth report writing can benefit from this two-day seminar, Nov. 21-22, which includes lectures, discussions, exercises and individual critiques. The fee is $250 per person and includes materials and luncheons.

Concerts and recitals•sponsored by the University of Richmond Music Department include faculty artist Claudia Stevens, piano, Oct. 2, 4 pm, Keller Hall; faculty artist Diane Rivera, piano, Nov. 6, 4 pm, Camp Theater; senior recital by Doreen Parsons, soprano, Nov. 18, 8:15 pm, Cannon Chapel; University Orchestra, conducted by Alan Stein, Nov. 30, 8:15 pm, Camp Theater; University Band, David Graves conducting, Dec. 9, 8:15 pm, Camp Theater; Candlelight Service with the University Choir, James Erb, conductor, and Chapel Choir, Doreen Parsons, conductor, Dec. 11, 4 pm, Cannon Chapel.

Tucker-Boatwright Festival•Music and dance will be featured in this year's festival. For further information call the Music Department, 804/285-6335.

Richard Rephann, harpsichordist, and director of the Yale University Collection of Musical Instruments and Associate Professor of Organology, performs in concert, Oct. 24, 8:15 pm, Camp Theater. Admission is free.

The Amade Trio, Trio-in-Residence at Cornell University, is composed of three outstanding artists, each of whom has devoted many years to the study of seventeenth and eighteenth century music and instruments. The trio performs in concert on an eighteenth-century fortepiano, violin and cello, Nov. 13, 8:15 pm, University Commons Multipurpose Room. Admission is free.

Travel•The University of Richmond is sponsoring trips to Acapulco, Dec. 26-Jan. 2, for $449 plus 15 percent tax and service charges; Tahiti, Feb. 28-Mar. 7, for $539 plus 15 percent tax and service charges; and London, England, May 22-29, for $449 inclusive. For more information contact Louis M. Markwith, director of alumni affairs, University of Richmond, Va., 23173, 804/285-6281.

Alumnae Fund Kick Off•Class fund chairmen come to campus on Saturday, Oct. 29, to discuss plans for this year's $100,000 campaign. The 1977-78 Alumnae Fund, chaired by Ann Dickson Booker, W'66, will emphasize support for the May L. Keller Scholarship, a full-tuition scholarship to be awarded to a junior or senior woman demonstrating academic excellence. For more information call the Alumnae Office, 804/285-6455.

Annual Giving Kick Off•Volunteer leaders meet for a briefing on the 1977-78 Annual Giving Program, which has a projected goal of $749,500. The Saturday morning program is followed by a luncheon and football game, UR Spiders vs. Appalachian State, at 1:30 pm in City Stadium. For more information call the Development Office, 804/285-6281.

Lost and Found•University of Richmond man's ring, Class of 1959 with red stone and initials E. P. N. and fraternity symbol KΣ, is being held at the Virginia Beach Department of Police, Municipal Center, Virginia Beach, Va. 23456. Owner should contact the police, who will be happy to mail the ring. A University of Richmond man's ring with a red stone and no initials or fraternity symbol was turned in at the information desk at the State Capitol and is being held by the Capitol police.

Happy Birthday•Celebrate the 100th birthday of Dean May Lansfield Keller on Sept. 28.

Gala—Westhampton alumnae will sponsor a dinner for alumnae and students in the Westhampton College Main Dining Hall on Wednesday, Sept. 28. The program includes student and alumnae leaders honoring the accomplishments of the late dean.

Heidelberg—Westhampton College is sponsoring the Dean May Lansfield Keller Heidelberg tour, Oct. 2-10. The tour, led by Westhampton Dean Stephanie Bennett and Director of Alumnae Relations Jane Thorpe, will take participants to the city where she earned her PhD degree. For $679, plus 15 percent tax and service charges, the trip includes roundtrip jet coach fare from Richmond to Frankfurt, roundtrip motorcoach transfers from Frankfurt to Heidelberg and seven nights in the Zum Ritter Romantik Hotel in the heart of old Heidelberg. Tours include the City of Heidelberg, the Rhine Valley with a Rhine cruise, the Black Forest, Baden-Baden and the Romantic Road to Rothenburg. A special event is planned at the University of Heidelberg. For further information call the Alumnae Office, 804/285-6455.

Cheers•Alumni combine Spider football with a chapter meeting in Augusta, Ga., preceding the University of Richmond—University of Georgia football game, Saturday, Oct. 29. For more information consult your local club or call the Alumni Office, 804/285-6281.

Alumni Awards • Winners of the 1977 Alumni Distinguished Service Awards have one thing in common—accomplishment. In the courtroom, the company board room or on the University of Richmond campus, each has made significant contributions in their respective fields—education, law and business.

Described by her colleagues as “controversial, hard-nosed and just plain tough” Frances Farmer, W’31, L’33, H’76, has seen the law library at the University of Virginia grow from 30,000 to 250,000 volumes and the staff from three to 25. University of Virginia President Edgar F. Shannon Jr. believes she is the “leading law librarian in the country.” She is recognized by students and faculty as the driving force behind what Law School Dean Monrad Paulsen calls “an extraordinarily good collection.” The Phi Beta Kappa graduate who earned her bachelor and law degrees from the University of Richmond has published two books and numerous Law Library Journal articles. She is a former president of the American Association of Law Librarians and the Virginia Council of Legislative Women.

The winner of the O.H. Berry Medal in 1929 as the best “all-around law graduate of the year” met expectations. First serving as a trial justice in Henrico County and judge of the 10th Judicial Circuit, Harold F. Snead, R’25, L’29, H’58, was appointed to the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, now the Supreme 1969, he is a past president of the Judicial Conference of Virginia and a former member of the Executive Council of the National Conference of Chief Justices.

Another T.C. Williams Law School graduate, Albert Philpott, R’41, L’47, represents the counties of Henry and Patrick, and the city of Martinsville in the Virginia House of Delegates. A member of the House since 1958, Philpott has sponsored numerous legislative programs. His law practice includes a brief stint as Commonwealth’s Attorney for Henry County from 1952 to 1957; he is a member of the American, Virginia and Martinsville-Henry County Bar Associations.

The former dean of Averett College, Mary C. Fugate, W’22, “personally touched the lives of thousands,” says Averett College President Conwell Anderson. Dean of the College and acting president are just two of the hats Miss Fugate wore during a 45-year tenure at Averett. Upon her retirement in 1968, a new women’s residence hall was named in her honor. A former member of the Executive Board of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors, Miss Fugate has been active gathering letters, prints and documents of historical value to Averett.

Three presidents are next on the list of distinguished service award winners. Warren M. Pace, R’43, is president of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, Overton D. Dennis, R’10, heads the Dennis Corporation, Standard Paper Manufacturing and Duplex Envelope Company and Robert T. Marsh Jr., R’22, H’61, is former president and chairman of the board of First and Merchants National Bank. Besides directing major corporations, each man has served on the University of Richmond Board of Trustees. Marsh, who served as rector from 1958 to 1973, came on the board in 1953. Dennis served from 1937 to 1971 and Pace was elected in 1969. Pace made his mark on the gridiron as co-captain of the university’s 1943 football team, while several campus buildings—Marsh Hall and Dennis Auditorium in the School of Business Administration give tribute to the other men’s contributions.

The final recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award is Joseph E. Nettles, R’28, H’77, alumni secretary emeritus, responsible for recording alumni accomplishments during his 37-year career at the university. Nettles organized and directed the university’s annual fund, the General Association of Alumni, and founded and edited the alumni magazine and university news bureau. The recipient of an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from the Snead is one of eight recipients of the Distinguished Service Award.

Court of Virginia, by Governor Stanley in 1957. He served as chief justice of the Supreme Court from 1969 until his retirement in 1974. Justice Snead received an achievement award from the Virginia Trial Lawyers Association in 1972 for “outstanding contribution to the advancement of the administration of Justice in Virginia.” A university trustee since university last May, Nettles, a former reporter for the Newport News Daily Press and Associated Press, taught journalism until his retirement in 1973.

Short Stops•Dr. W. Allan Powell, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department, was chosen the recipient of the 1977 Distinguished Service Award given by the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society . . . Dr. Thomas W. Jodziewicz, instructor in history, recently published Birth of America: The Year in Review, 1763-1783, a two-part chronological history of the Revolutionary period with an accompanying collection of micro-filmed colonial newspapers . . . Dr. Ernest C. Bolt Jr., associate professor of history, recently published Ballots before Bullets: The War Referendum Approach to Peace in America, 1914-1941, the first published account of the war referendum movement in America . . . Dr. Willie M. Reams Jr., professor of biology, will present a poster session on research in pigmentation at the Tenth International Pigment Cell Conference at Harvard Medical School, October 12-17, and his research manuscript will be included as a chapter in the symposium volume .

Cellmates•New grants enable two University of Richmond professors to research heart disease and iron deficiency anemia in the new Science Center this fall.

Under an $80,000 National Institute of Health grant, Dr. Richard W. Topham, associate professor of chemistry, continues to expand his research of a blood protein, Ferroxi-dase-II, which he earlier identified and analyzed. He will now concentrate on the protein's physiological impact. Topham, who began his study in 1970, employs undergraduates for research because they are not biased by expertise and often make significant discoveries.

Dr. David W. Towle, associate professor of biology, began probing the secrets of heart cells while on sabbatical leave at the Medical College of Virginia Department of Biophysics last year. By determining what causes the heart cell membrane to break down under stress, he hopes to discover new ways to treat heart attack victims. In his study, funded by the Virginia Affiliate of the American Heart Association, Towle will examine the effects of reduced blood flow and oxygen levels on isolated membranes to pinpoint the loss of strength during a disease situation.

A Boon for Athletics•After a selection committee review of 30 nationwide applications, Assistant Athletic Director Charles S. Boone, R'60, emerged as the unanimous choice for University of Richmond athletic director.

Boone, appointed interim coordinator of athletics upon the death of Athletic Director Clyde Biggers last December, says he is committed to excellence in the overall athletic program, which "means playing the best possible competition." In the traditional revenue-producing sports, football and basketball, that commitment is evidenced by future schedules. "Not only are we playing tougher schools (Georgia, Tulsa), but we are beginning to bring them to Richmond," says Boone. This fall, Maryland will play here; next year it will be the University of North Carolina.

Chuck Boone is committed to UR playing tougher schools.

Another example of the university's commitment to an overall sports program, says Boone, is the appointment of Carol Reese, a 1969 Westhampton graduate, to the newly created position of assistant athletic director for women's sports. "I expect Carol will provide excellent leadership for the Westhampton program," he says.

A native of Covington, Va., Boone signed with the New York Yankees following four years as an All-Southern Conference catcher, playing in their farm system for six years and managing for one.

An All-Southern Conference selection in both football and baseball during his undergraduate days, Boone joined the university as director of promotions in 1967. Since then he has served as baseball coach and assistant athletic director. As baseball coach at the university, he earned the 1971 Southern Conference Coach of the Year award and a Southern Conference championship and three state titles.

Record-high temperatures failed to dampen President Heilman's enthusiasm over the USA victory.

US vs. USSR•A Russian athlete jumped higher than anyone in the world at the University of Richmond this summer. Vladimir Yashchenko, a member of the USSR junior track and field team, cleared the high jump at 7-7³/₄ on his first try to break Dwight Stone's world mark by an inch in the US-USSR junior track and field meet held on the Richmond campus for the first time.

In the US Olympic Committee-sponsored meet, the Russians, winners of seven previous championships, were favored to win, but the US team compiled an impressive 214 points to top the USSR's 163. US men turned in record meet performances in the 400-meter hurdles and the 8,000-meter, 10,000-meter and mile-runs. The American women won 79-67 over the Russians.

For one week before the event, 78 Russian and 74 United States athletes, age 19 and under, lived in Jeter and Freeman Halls and practiced on the track daily. "The kids had no trouble relating," said UR Track Coach Fred Hardy. "Often members of the opposing teams practiced together."

Athletes from both countries took a tour of Busch Gardens in Williamsburg and spent the week swapping souvenir T-shirts. Russian athletes bought out a local store's supply of blue jeans, which are unavailable in Russia, and purchased 200 to 300 packs of bubble gum, another scarce commodity. "The Russians love American dances," said Hardy, and the university hosted a celebration dis-cothèque after the meet.

No vacancy•Soaring temperatures did nothing to deter a record number of visitors who filled university dormitory and meeting rooms this summer. The campus population swelled as over 7,000 visitors attended 30 summer conferences and programs. Women were the first to focus attention on the university as 5,000 jammed the Robins Center for the Virginia Women's Meeting. Others traveled to campus to participate in weekend seminars on "Improving Management Effectiveness" and "To Be a Woman."

Russian and US athletes, members of the US and USSR junior track and field teams, spent a week on campus preparing for an international meet on the University of Richmond track. Not to be outdone, Virginia high school all-stars staged football and basketball games in conjunction with the Virginia High School Coaches Conference.

College admissions counselors found their way to campus for the Potomac-Chesapeake Association of College Admissions Counselors meeting. Other visitors argued the merits of national health care in a university debate clinic, while student missionaries braved the heat to train for work in ghettos, institutions, parks and drama and revival teams.

Families communicated at a one-week Christian family conference sponsored by the Richmond Christian Fellowship. A continuing round of sports camps, clinics and tournaments occupied athletes and even the Virginia Kennel Club put in an appearance.

Trustees•Recently elected members to the University of Richmond Board of Trustees include Paul W. Duke, senior correspondent for the Public Broadcasting System in Washington; Max H. Goodloe, chairman of the Board of the General Medical Corporation, Richmond; L. Howard Jenkins Jr., a retired Richmond business executive; and Dr. Chester L. Brown, pastor of the Hampton Baptist Church in Hampton, Va.

A native of Mississippi, Max Goodloe came to Richmond in 1950 and organized the Richmond Surgical Supply Company, now General Medical of Richmond. A member of the board of directors of the Health Industries Association, he served on the President's Task Force on Improving Small Business.

A 1937 graduate of the university, L. Howard Jenkins is the former president of L. H. Jenkins, Inc., a printing and binding firm which the family once owned. His father, L. Howard Jenkins Sr., was a member of the University of Richmond Board of Trustees for 48 years and Jenkins and his wife recently established the Trustee Suite in the University Commons in his memory.

Dr. Chester L. Brown, R'52, has been pastor of the Hampton Baptist Church since 1962. He has served as chairman of the education committee of the Virginia Baptist General Board and earned his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. The recipient of an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from the university in 1975, Dr. Brown has done graduate work at New College of the University of Edinburgh.

Paul Duke, a 1947 graduate of the university, moderates the national PBS series "Washington Week in Review," the recent winner of the DuPont Award for outstanding television public affairs programming. Duke is president of the Radio-TV Correspondents Association. He received an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from the university in 1973.

Paul Duke elected to Board of Trustees.

ing. In August, 11 manufactured units were hoisted into place across from the Athletic Field. Seventy Richmond College and 40 Law School students will occupy the temporary quarters this fall.

Graduate Dean•Arthur B. Gunlicks, associate professor of political science, takes command of the Graduate School this fall. As the new dean of graduate studies and associate dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, he directs a school which offers 15 degree programs and enrolls over 200 students.

Gunlicks, a two-time Fulbright Fellowship winner, plans to spend his first year generating faculty discussions and feasibility studies to formulate new directions for the school.

Joining the University of Richmond faculty in 1968, Gunlicks served as chairman of the political science department from 1971 to 1975. During the 1976 academic year, he studied local government reforms in Germany on his second Fulbright Fellowship. A German Fulbright Fellow from 1964 to 1966, Gunlicks graduated from the University of Denver and earned his doctoral degree from Georgetown University in 1967. He then taught at East Tennessee State University before coming to the University of Richmond.

Life Saving

by Susan Grayson

Ken is determined to follow in the footsteps of his successful father. It wasn't difficult getting to the top in high school, but college is a different story. He's working harder than ever—but feels pressured. Lately he has had terrible nightmares about drowning.

Sandy thought college would be a big social whirl—a round of parties, dates and good times. She knew everybody in her small town, but so far the big campus overwhelms her. She hasn't made any close friends and thinks she may be flunking out.

Ever since he and Diane broke up, Tom has been unable to do anything. His grades are in a tailspin and he broods constantly, wondering what went wrong. He can't seem to motivate himself. Without Diane, life just doesn't seem worth living anymore.

"The college environment is a big stresser," says Dr. Matthew Jaremko, assistant professor of psychology and a part-time counselor in the University of Richmond Center for Psychological Services. No matter how confident or how well put together, students go through situations they have never before faced. Or what they used to believe, they cannot believe anymore. These are crisis situations and they need someone to help them.

At the University of Richmond students are seeking help and finding it. Ninety percent of the students who come to the Center for Psychological Services are self-referred or referred by other students. "We find students are coming in sooner," says Center Director Jean Dickinson. "They seem to have an acceptance that problems can happen and seek answers."

New registrants at the center are up—144 in 1976-77 as compared to 115 in 1972-73—but not dramatically. The reason is an increased number of university counselors at the grassroots level, says Dickinson. Offices around the campus—the Chaplain's Office, the Center for Career Counseling and Placement, the Deans of Westhampton and Richmond College, the Director of Student Activities, the Center for Psychological Services—are taking steps to provide students with the tools to cope before the problem arises.

One person students are turning to is Chaplain Dr. David Burhans. The university's first chaplain, Dr. Burhans came to the university three years ago. He counsels four to six students daily and sees his office as an alternative to no help for the student and the professional services of the psychological center.

"The single greatest problem for students is the feeling of inadequacy or loneliness," Dr. Burhans believes. Constant tests and examinations challenge students to measure up, touching vulnerable spots of fear that they cannot meet their own or other's expectations.

A student problem inventory, administered by Dr. Jaremko to a random sampling of Westhampton College, Richmond College and School of Business Administration students, confirmed Dr. Burhan's findings. Thirty-eight percent indicated they felt distant from others, 23 percent felt lost in their present surroundings and 29 percent expressed suspicion of others.

"The Lonely Crowd, a book by David Riesman, sums up what many students feel," says Dr. Burhans. "Lots of students function and cope on campus, but don't have any experiences or personal relationships that provide a support system."

To provide that support, Dr. Burhans encourages students to join a group to share a common interest such as religion, sports or music. To help students express their feelings, both Dr. Burhans and Dr. Warren Hopkins, assistant professor of psychology, have instituted group situations, where students bolster each other's self-esteem and learn to relate to others.

Academic pressure takes its toll. Lately it has emerged as the single biggest stress on the student psyche, reports writer Don Akchin in Nutshell, a handbook for college, 1976-77. "Not the worry about flunking out—if anything failure rates are decreasing—but about being employable on graduation day."

University of Richmond students have similar reactions. Responding in the problem inventory, 43 percent expressed concerns about career options, 30 percent viewed competition as a significant problem and 35 percent felt pressured to succeed.

To combat this problem, this year freshman orientation incorporates sessions on life planning. "We want students to think of a career as more than just a job," says Westhampton Dean Dr. Stephanie Bennett, "to realize it determines a way of life."

As the pressures build, students find their way to the Center for Psychological Services. Whether it involves teaching relaxation training to help a student overcome test anxiety or developing coping skills to ease the freshman adjustment to college life, the staff of four psychology professors, who counsel on a part-time basis, emphasize the self-management of stress.

But even with center staff expertise available, the university community can intensify a personal crisis. One inventory statistic that startled Dr. Jaremko was the number of students voicing concerns about suicide—20 percent. Nationally, 10,000 students attempt suicide annually; 1,000 succeed. While there has never been a case of suicide on the University of Richmond campus, Dr. Jaremko does not plan to ignore the possibility. He hopes to schedule a workshop this year to help students overcome those feelings.

Other students find escape by another means—alcohol or drugs. Students from the Northeast often bring drug problems with them, says Dickinson. These students may resort to drugs when new problems confront them. With a changing student population (50 percent of this year's student body is from out of state), Dickinson has seen an increase in drug use in the last two to three years. "But at the University of Richmond, the problem is still five to ten years behind what other colleges and universities are experiencing."

Alcohol is a different story. Max Vest, director of student activities, believes it has the potential to become a serious problem at the University of Richmond.

No longer confined to the middle-aged businessman escaping his pressures, the largest incidence of alcoholism and problem drinking now occurs among young men in their twenties. And national statistics indicate that the rate among young women is on the rise.

"If we don't encourage responsible drinking, we are doing our students a disservice," says Vest, who plans to launch an alcohol education program this fall.

The University Student Union recognizes the problem says Vest, and is concentrating on programming activities, not alcoholic beverages. A new policy Vest instituted calls for an alternative soft drink to be offered at each event. More activity nights, such as casino nights, where consumption is low, and events with food are planned. The Richmond College Student Government Association is encouraging responsible drinking with a brochure they published last spring, "I'm Not So Think as You Drunk I Am."

Burhans thinks loneliness is the root cause of the alcohol and drug problem and a contributor to another one, sexual permissiveness. "I fear students are taking sex too casually," he says.

On the Richmond campus, "more and more students are coming in and questioning their sexuality," says Dickinson, where a few years ago even the question was taboo. Because students have expressed a need for more information on human sexuality, psychology professors Dr. Joanne Preston and Dr. Warren Hopkins sponsored a day-long seminar on human sexual physiology and contraception last spring—the first of its kind at the university.

Another first for the university is the Omnibus Personality Test, administered to entering freshmen and juniors in the School of Business Administration within six hours of their arrival this fall. The 300-plus-question test reveals potential problem areas to the center staff and aids in program planning. For example, if students score low on the academic orientation section, we need to make available programs on study habits, study skills and library use, says Dickinson. If their emotional-social level is low, they may have more difficulty coping, so we need to provide a program of general adaptation and coping skills.

"The same group will be retested as seniors," she says, "to see what the university has done to them and what they have done to themselves."

Large doses of freedom and responsibility can often be difficult for the college student to handle. "One of the advantages of going to college is being exposed to a variety of viewpoints. A lot of kids," says Dr. Clifford Reifler, president of the American College Health Association, "particularly those from isolated areas get a severe culture shock on being exposed to divergent views and positions they have thought were inappropriate at best or immoral at worst. Some have considerable stress from this."

To help students cope with this constant tug-of-war between old and new ideas, 40 Gray Court dormitory residents share ideas in an experimental Women's Option Hall on the Westhampton campus. In evening sessions throughout the semester, the center staff conducts sessions on decision making, issues of responsibility and freedom, values clarification, assertiveness training and life planning.

This same new approach dominates freshman orientation. To prevent an overemphasis on social concerns, Dean Mateer of Richmond College and Dean Bennett plan to spend three-fourths of a day acquainting students with academic aspects of the university. During freshman week, a faculty panel discusses lifelong learning, and new students attend sessions on life planning, academic skills and assertiveness training.

Even the faculty is not immune to the growing concern about student problems. "We have an obligation to do more than present academic information," says Dean Bennett. "Because students live here, we must help them deal with their conflicts and insecurities." As a result, faculty members attended a day-long workshop led by Dr. George Bright, a specialist in adolescent medicine at the Medical College of Virginia.

Throughout the university, those responsible for the quality of student life are taking action. The Kens, Sandys and Toms are no longer left to flounder and muddle through their problems. If they want help, the number of places and people they can turn to are increasing. Even the Billikopf Learning Resources Center in Boatwright Library stocks materials students can read on their own for answers to questions and concerns.

The University of Richmond compares favorably with other institutions in the student services it provides, says Dean Richard Mateer. But he echoes a common phrase on the campus: "Who wants to be average?"

"Any really great college or university must address the quality of student life," says Dean Bennett. "Not just the quantity but the whole gamut—from the atmosphere in the residence hall to helping students develop their own strengths and potential."●

Senator Garland Gray
 Senator Garland "Peck" Gray, R'21, of Waverly, Va., died July 9, 1977. A trustee of the University of Richmond since 1949, Sen. Gray was an influential member of the General Assembly for 29 years. At the time of his retirement, Gray was chairman of the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee, which deals with election laws and reapportionment, as well as a member of six other committees, including Rules, Finance and Education.

After graduating from the University of Richmond at the age of 19, he became active in building the family business, the Gray Lumber Co., one of the largest manufacturing companies in the state. A major Democratic fund raiser and past chairman of the Senate Democratic Caucus, Sen. Gray was active in the Ruritans, serving as national president in 1949. An officer of the Bank of Waverly, he was president at the time of his death.

Among the most loyal and generous of the university's alumni and friends, Senator Gray gave the university the Gray Court dormitory, a memorial to his first wife, Agnes Taylor Gray, W'23. He was known throughout the alumni as one of the most avid Spider football fans and supporters. It was his generosity that made it possible for many young men to attend the university, both athletes and nonathletes.

A big man with a strong personality, he was liked and admired by those who knew him. His long-time friend and classmate Dennis Hartz said of Senator Gray: "Peck Gray did so much for so many persons, things that most people don't know about. He will be sorely missed in this community."

Senator Gray's long service as a trustee and his interest and support of the university was recognized in 1964 when Alma Mater conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.●

Friends of the Boatwright Memorial Library

Tasteful and inviting, the new Boatwright Memorial Library is service-oriented. Those who appreciate this handsome facility as the heart of the University of Richmond wish to see the library realize its remarkable potential.

The Friends of the Boatwright Memorial Library organized themselves in 1971 with the purpose of uniting people who enjoy libraries and their collections while furthering the development and promotion of library services on campus. The Friends recognize that a library cannot achieve excellence without contributions beyond a limited operating budget.

Friendship is reciprocal, and in return for your investment in the Boatwright Memorial Library you will share in the use of the library's resources; you will be invited to lectures, receptions and exhibits; you will be informed through the Friends newsletter and other publications.

Come and be a part of the heart of the University of Richmond; become a Friend of the Boatwright Memorial Library.

UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND REPORT OF GIFTS, 1976-77

An Enduring Investment

F. Carlyle Tiller, R'48
General Chairman
Our Time in History Phase I

Building a dream toward a reality is the summation of the "Our Time in History" Campaign Phase I. With confidence founded on sound planning and deep commitment, the University of Richmond Board of Trustees in early 1972 launched the bold $50-million development drive to fulfill the dream of the E. Claiborne Robins family. That dream, expressed at the time of their magnificent gift, was "to build at the University of Richmond upon the strong foundation of the past, one of the finest small private universities in the nation."

After four years of active campaigning, one year short of the planned schedule, the initial goal of $30 million was exceeded. Simultaneously, an impressive array of campus improvements provide vivid testimony to the generosity of literally hundreds of University family and friends. Trustees, faculty, staff, parents, alumni and other volunteers financially committed to the University themselves, spread the message of its ambitions throughout our nation. Everywhere they went, they found reservoirs of good will to the University for its great contributions of the past, and a genuine commitment to its goals for the future.

No general chairman has ever benefited from such an effective response from both those who asked and those who gave as have I in this campaign. While my personal expression of gratitude is most sincerely extended for all that you have contributed, your most deserving appreciation will flow from the satisfaction you will always retain. Your gifts are a commitment to this day and age. The enduring investment will pay dividends through the enhancement of the lives of young men and women who will walk on our campus, live in its dormitories and worship in its halls for generations to come.

But the reality is not yet complete and the fulfillment of the dream lies just a little further in the future. The great new structures that now grace our campus must come alive with a myriad of educational ingredients and programs from professorships to scholarships, from books to visiting scholars, from teaching aids to research funding. To meet these needs and achieve the ultimate goal will be the purpose of The Second Phase of Our Time in History.

Great new leaders, who will carry us to the first meeting, are being assembled. They will succeed, since, I know, the generosity so recently displayed will greet them. I look forward now, as do each of you, to supporting them enthusiastically, just as you did me during the past four years.

FROM THE STAFF

On behalf of those who work at the University in the area of University Relations, I want to share with you our sense of pride and achievement as Phase I of the Our Time In History development program concluded.

To see the new facilities, to work in an improved environment and to sense the upbeat spirit of the University today makes our work very rewarding.

I cannot express enough appreciation to all of the volunteers who have worked with us over the last five years. Their interest, dedication and good humor have been the vital factor in the University's successes. A special word of thanks goes to Mr. E. Claiborne Robins, who is always ready to serve; Mr. Lewis T. Booker, our retiring rector; and to Mr. F. Carlyle Tiller, the general chairman of Our Time In History. Their special leadership has been inspiring.

Thank you for your gifts, your service and your interest.

Sincerely yours,

H. Gerald Quigg

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees continued to provide special leadership in all areas during 1976-1977. It is appropriate to especially recognize all trustees in this report because of their leadership, dedication, boldness and confidence in the University by approving the Our Time in History development program in 1972. Without trustee support, the program would not have achieved its current level.

A special thanks to retiring Rector Lewis T. Booker, R'50, for his personal support and efforts on behalf of the development program.

BOARD OF UNIVERSITY ASSOCIATES

The Board of University Associates has grown to 47 members since its formation in 1971. Many services in the area of fund raising, admissions and public relations have been performed.

A special tribute is due Dr. MacEldin Trawick, R'34, who established the MacEldin Trawick Professorship in Psychology in February 1973. Dr. Trawick, who died in June 1977, had a longstanding interest in the University and the Psychology Department.

UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND FELLOWS

For any institution to prosper it must have strong leadership. Members of the Richmond Fellows provide leadership gifts to the University of Richmond. Gifts by alumni and friends for $100-$499 (Century Club), $500-$999 (President's Club), $1,000 or more (Rector's Club) levels are recognized and appreciated by the University in a special way.

A new level of giving was established in 1976. This is the Anniversary Gift Program. It encouraged alumni to make gifts of $147 in 1976-1977 and increase them by one dollar each year to culminate with a $150 gift in 1979-1980 in honor of the University's 150th anniversary. Hopefully, all $100 gifts will increase to $150 to celebrate this event.

The Richmond Fellows provide the highest standard of support. The University of Richmond applauds those listed below for their commitment to private higher education.

THE T.C. WILLIAMS SCHOOL OF LAW

The Law Annual Fund had its most successful year. The theme of the program was to increase the endowment of the George E. Allen Memorial Professorship in Law. The Allen Professorship was given by George E. Allen Jr. L'36, Ashby B. Allen, R'43, and Wilbur Allen in memory of their father, a noted Virginia trial lawyer. The Allen Chair is the first endowed chair in the Law School.

The graduates of T.C. Williams School of Law responded generously to the program and contributed $36,842 to the Law Annual Fund, a 55 percent increase. The campaign attained this increase because of the dedicated volunteers such as James A. Eichner, L'56, Fund Coordinator; Richard C. Rakes, L'51, Association President; and Emanuel Emroch, L'31, Special Gifts Coordinator. These men and countless volunteers worked on phonathons and projects to increase the level of support.

Significant support from T.C. Williams graduates truly strengthens the educational program of the Law School. We are pleased to list the names of the men and women who have contributed generously to the Law Annual Fund.

WESTHAMPTON COLLEGE

Annual Fund

The Westhampton College Annual Fund surpassed its ambitious goal of $83,000 because of significant increases in alumnae participation and total amount of gifts.

We are particularly appreciative of the outstanding leadership of Charlotte Hines Forrester, chairman, and for the successful efforts of her committee members: Mary Sue Terry, Louise Wiley Willis, Carolyn Wiltshire Webb, Corrine Henry Hill, Cynthia Lowe, Marcia McMullin Cantrell and Elizabeth Ramos Dunkum.

Class Fund chairmen played an important role in achieving a 35 percent participation rate among our alumnae and to them we give a hearty thanks.

Above all, it is the generosity of Westhampton alumnae and friends for which we are grateful. We are proud of their active participation in the Our Time in History campaign and of the total gifts to the University that have been generated by alumnae of Westhampton College.

PARENTS

The parents of the University of Richmond students continue to be a source of encouragement and strength. Because of their vested interest in the success of the educational process, they contributed $17,520 to the Parents Annual Fund. The theme for the year's program was "filling the half-full shelves" in the new addition to Boatwright Memorial Library. Parents were asked to give $35 for a book.

This year's campaign was directed by Edward M. Klein, R'42, and parent of a law student, Tom. Through his efforts and those of dedicated student volunteers, the program increased the level of giving by nine percent. This year, the Parent's Phonathon was staffed by over 75 young, enthusiastic men and women students. They raised over $10,000 in gifts, the largest amount ever pledged by parents.

The University wishes to express its sincere appreciation to the parents and students who supported the program and strengthened the library and the educational program.

ASSOCIATES

Friends of the University other than alumni, corporations, foundations, parents and trustees are individuals and organizations identified as associates. This year, associates listed below made either restricted or unrestricted gifts for current scholarships, book funds, memorial funds and special projects. The University extends deepest appreciation for each of these special gifts.

as more and more alumni, alumnae and parents take advantage of this type of giving to the University. The following list represents corporate matching gifts received between July 1, 1976 and June 30, 1977.

CORPORATE AND FOUNDATION GRANTS

While a sluggish economy and a depressed stock market adversely affected voluntary support to higher education in 1974-75, this year's economic recovery stimulated on voluntary support from corporations and foundations in 1975-76. On a national basis, giving from these two constituencies to higher education rose 12.5 per cent and 8.7 percent, respectively. The University of Richmond continues to be deeply grateful to the local business community for the overwhelming corporate leadership support they have shown during the University's fund raising efforts. Foundation support on a local level has enabled the University to attract several major national foundation grants as well. We express our deep appreciation to all corporate and foundation donors listed below.

BAPTIST GENERAL ASSOCIATION OF VIRGINIA

The University of Richmond maintains strong ties with the Virginia Baptists who founded this institution 147 years ago. Through the years, the Baptist General Association has supported the current operating budget of the University. This year, Virginia Baptists increased their support $17,000 over last year. For this, and for continuing loyalty and support, we express our sincerest appreciation.

THE VIRGINIA FOUNDATION FOR INDEPENDENT COLLEGES

The Virginia Foundation for Independent Colleges, the fund raising organization which seeks resources for 12 Virginia private institutions of higher education, continues to be an important source of support for the University. The VFIC increased its contributions to the University by $18,000 this year.

GRANTS AND RESEARCH

This year the University of Richmond received grants for research and other purposes totaling $316,235.30.

ANNUAL REPORT MESSAGE — REPORT OF GIFTS

It has been said that pessimists are often right but that optimists have more fun! I am glad that the University of Richmond Board of Trustees was optimistic and bold in 1972 as it approved the "Our Time in History" development program for $50,000,000.

As we concluded Phase I of the development program in December 1977, with $30,580,000 committed, we can reflect favorably upon the accomplishments of the campaign. Briefly they are:

1. More people are informed about the University of Richmond today than ever in its past history. Speeches by volunteers, films and literature have presented the University of Richmond story in all parts of this nation.
2. Over $40,000,000 has been expended since 1971 in order to improve existing facilities and to provide the best possible new educational facilities.
3. The position of the University has improved on all fronts: Improved faculty compensation, greater visibility among the high school population, stronger financial position and wider recognition in educational circles.
4. A larger number of volunteers are involved with the University than ever before. Groups such as the Board of University Associates, alumni boards of directors, the Rector's Club, The Lake Society and The Spider Club are making valuable contributions to the progress and strength of the University of Richmond today.

Now, as we enter The Second Phase of the development program, we are more optimistic, more confident and more committed to success. The University is well on the way to achieving the Robins family mandate ". . . to become one of the finest small private universities in the Nation," and this is a goal we will achieve.

Thank you for your role in the University's success.

Sincerely yours,

E. Bruce Heilman

Deaths

William W. Goldsmith, L'13, of Charleston, W. Va., December 15, 1976.

Professor A. W. Kay, R'18, of Goochland, Va., June 4, 1977. Professor Kay was a retired superintendent of Goochland County Public Schools.

Gustav H. Wescott, R'23, of Whitestone, Va., April 22, 1977. Mr. Wescott was a retired research chemist for DuPont's Marshall Laboratories.

Col. Harry M. Waldron, R'26, retired headmaster of the upper school at Fork Union Military Academy, April 12, 1977.

Charles C. Broaddus Jr., R'31, of Chatham, Va., March 15, 1977.

Dr. MacEldin Trawick, R'34, of New York City, June 20. Dr. Trawick, who established a $350,000 chair in psychology at the university in 1973, was the first person to endow a professorship to support a professor during the lifetime of the donor. Before his death he knew of the university's intention to offer the professorship to one of the nation's leading psychologists, Dr. Arthur L. Irion. Dr. Irion is a pioneer in the human learning field.

Dr. Trawick had a distinguished undergraduate career at the University of Richmond, where he served as president of Kappa Alpha Order social fraternity in his senior year. He also won membership in Phi Beta Kappa national scholarship fraternity and in Omicron Delta national leadership and scholarship fraternity before his graduation in 1934. After earning the MA degree and PhD degree at Columbia University, Dr. Trawick taught at the University of Hawaii. He was commissioned in the Navy in August of 1941 and served in several assignments in the U.S. and the Pacific area before being discharged as a Lt. Commander in 1946.

After a brief association with a management consulting firm, he was employed by Standard Oil of New Jersey, now Exxon, as an industrial psychologist. In succeeding years, he was concerned with organizational research and the development of methods for the selection, placement and promotion of company personnel at all levels. He collaborated in the creation of a seven-hour test instrument designed to identify management potential early in an employee's career. Dr. Trawick was an Industrial Diplomat of the American Board of Professional Psychologists and a member of the American Psychological Association.

Richmond Alumnae Club

Tucker Smart Paxton, president
2749 Stratford Road
Richmond, Va. 23225

The Richmond Club is very proud of the past year, and the many successful activities it sponsored. The first event was the Sundae Party for new students, given by the executive board. Be sure to look for the sale of calendars and other events. All area alumnae are invited to join the club by sending your dues to Brownie Sales Tucker.

The officers for this year are: Tucker Smart Paxton, president; Kakki Elmer Rogers, first vice-president; Ann Hurd Wilson, second vice-president; Suzanne Ivey, recording secretary; and Brownie Sales Tucker, treasurer.

Roanoke Alumnae Club

Betty Scruggs Jones, president
3745 Hummingbird Lane, S.W.
Roanoke, Va. 24018

Anne Ferguson was hostess at her home for a Sundae Party for alumnae on Sunday, April 17.

For our spring meeting we had a luncheon at Hidden Valley Country Club, and filled Exam Goodie Boxes for our 17 area Westhampton students. Elizabeth Neill delivered a monologue of Miss Turnbull's book about Dean Keller; Miss Turnbull, Jane Thorpe and Elizabeth Dunkum were guests.

The Roanoke Alumnae Club purchased three copies of Miss Turnbull's book and presented them to the local libraries: Roanoke, Salem and Roanoke County.

Barbara Branch was hostess for last fall's party for alumnae and students. A trial bazaar.

A mid-winter meeting, held jointly with the Lynchburg Club in January, was a luncheon at the Peaks of Otter Lodge, Bedford, Va. Dean Bennett brought us news of Westhampton.

As Anne and Nina Byrd, vice-president, leave their offices with thanks from all of us for a job well done, we welcome our new officers: Mrs. Frank C. Jones, president, and Mrs. Allen Saville, vice-president. Our club again enjoyed filling Goodie Boxes for our 19 students.

Washington Alumnae Club

Gayle Goodson Butler, president
4631 Seminary Rd., Apt. 303
Alexandria, Va. 22304

On May 13, the Washington Alumnae Club held a joint dinner meeting with the Richmond College Alumni at the Arlington Country Club. Dean Bennett was one of three university speakers and many of us were pleased to meet her for the first time. Alumnae officers elected included Gayle Goodson Butler, '73, president; Em White Zehmer, '71, vice-president; Kelly Hardy Ross, '73, corresponding secretary; Nancy Srb Lowry, '69, recording secretary; Judy Metcalfe Turner, '63, treasurer; Esther Wendling (Wendy) Cline, '42, representative Associated Alumnae Clubs of Washington.

A coke party was held this summer to honor the incoming Westhampton freshmen from the Washington area. On September 25, we are looking forward to having Dean Bennett speak to us at the Goodwin House in Alexandria.

Ruth McEwen broke her hip, but is back in her apartment after a stay with Eloise.

Kitty Vaughan Willis spent two summer months at Lake Willoughby, Vt., with Clodius and their children.

Marie Crowder Anderson and husband Jake are revisiting many points of interest in Virginia and the Carolinas.

Frances Shipman Sutton's granddaughter, Cynthia Oliver, an honor graduate of Newport News High School, enters Westhampton this fall.

Anna Lee Willis Eppright's husband and brother were hospitalized in the spring, but they are now joyfully awaiting a visit from a sister and brother from Texas.

Jeffries Heinrich enthusiastically recommends Westminster Canterbury House as a retirement home. One may be as active or as quiet as she wishes. Other Westhampton "girls" are there too.

Narcissa Daniels Hargrove, enroute to the American Baptist Convention in California, attended the Boatwright Society dinner where she saw Jeanette, Leslie, Edith, Rachel, "Rat", Eva and other friends. While in Richmond, Carney preached at the 70th anniversary of Weatherford Memorial Church where he had his first pastorate.

Rebekah Lawson McReynolds had a wonderful tour of the Hawaiian Islands with an AARP group. In California she visited relatives and Yosemite National Park. She then traveled to Maryville, Mo., and to Washington, where she visited Hilda and talked with Alice Garnett Thomas.

Hilda Lawson Jecklin and her husband were at Everglade City, Fla., in December and had fun fishing and boating around the many islands. Later they enjoyed a week with Rebekah and an overnight visit with Elva McAlister Berrey in Charlottesville.

In January, Dorothy Winfrey Couble lost her sister, Sally, who attended Westhampton and had a successful career teaching until she retired in 1971.

Gladys Booth Bentley had a visit with her daughter at Myrtle Beach during the late summer. She has two daughters, one in Clearwater, Fla., and the other in South Carolina. She does all the art work for a new department store.

Louise Duke Brantley of Tampa wrote from Rochester, N.Y., where she was visiting her two grandchildren, their mother and step-father. (Louise lost her son in 1960.) The grandson is a senior at Cornell, and his sister a sophomore at Princeton. Louise, who lost her husband four years ago, still teaches art and only thinks about retiring every year.

Virginia Moncure died in June. A memorial service for her was held at St. Mark's Church in Richmond. She had not ridden her bicycle for about a year but was active until a few days before her death. She was devoted to her church and spent most of her time helping others. She will be greatly missed by many and even at death she gave her body to the Medical College of Virginia.

Ruth Wallerstein Thalheimer's husband, Mr. Morton G., died in the spring. Not only for her and their family but for the state of Virginia, this was a great loss.

Zola Hubbard Leek, in Nashville, after a broken hip in 1974, a blood clot in her lung and the loss of a daughter in 1975 is at her home and in good health. She has to use a cane, but is able to work inside and out. She attends church regularly and belongs to DAR and has many friends. Her other daughter who lives in Nashville is married and has three children. She has six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mary Fugate continues to be active in church, AAUW, the Danville Historical Society and other groups.

Mary Bristow Thompson and her husband attended commencement exercises at William & Mary.

Jeanette Henna, who keeps busy with her activities at college, church, the State Farm for Women and others, was happy to report that we had gone over our quota to the Alumnae Fund, which totalled $1336.

Leslie Sessoms Booker spent time in the spring nursing a sister-in-law, who was very ill. They are delighted to have Constance, her husband and children back from Germany and stationed at Ft. Eustis.

Eva Timberlake West enjoyed the Boatwright Society dinner meeting and the commencement activities at FUMA. She works with a church group and enjoys the activities of a senior citizens group.

Rachel Newton Dickson and Edith Newton Eakes were having their usual stay at Ridge Crest, where they always enjoy having members of their family with them.

Celia Levinson Myers was in St. Luke's hospital recently, for an operation to relieve some back trouble.

I had another granddaughter graduate from VPI and another finish high school, who will go to Longwood.

The Boatwright Society dinner in April was well attended this year and it was a most enjoyable occasion. Guy Friddell was the speaker of the evening, remembering some of the giants who have taught at the University of Richmond. He started with Miss Keller and spoke of so many who were there when we were. He is an excellent speaker, has a good sense of humor, and his reminiscences took us back to our college days.

Mabel Allen had ear surgery. I know you join me in extending sympathy to her in the loss of a cousin, who was like a brother to her.

Inez DeJarnette Hite has been in the hospital. An old injury to her back flared up, but she looks and feels fine again now. Though she and Oscar had their annual trip to Florida in March, they gave up a trip to Greece because of Inez's illness.

Joanna Savedge Ellett's daughter, son-in-law and two grandchildren came from Buffalo for a visit at Easter. One weekend last winter, Joanna's son-in-law and her grandson left home on a short errand and returned over 24 hours later! They had been taken in by a family and when they were finally able to return to their own home, they found a stranded family installed there!

Louise Wilkinson Morton has had visits with her children: her daughter Jeanne in New York, and her son and his family in Houston, Tex.

Graham and I had a June visit to our daughter and her husband in Atlanta.

I know you will be as saddened as I was to hear of the death of Margaret Smith Hewett's husband.

Virginia Gregory has been having trouble with her eyes, but they are in a stable condition. Virginia has been redecorating her room at her home in Clover, so it sounds as if she plans to stay there. Lillian Woodyard Lipscomb has some arthritis problems, but her many friends get her out to play bridge and do church work.

Agnes Jones is our Alumnae Fund chairman but this past winter she was ill. Norma attended meetings for her and got out an excellent letter about the alumnae fund drive. The goal for our class was $767; we exceeded that amount and increased our number of contributors. We had 25 contributors and a total of $1500.

Harry and I had a delightful trip to California recently visiting friends we had known in Cuba. On our way back we stopped in Colorado Springs to visit my niece and family who took us to the Air Force Academy and The Garden of the Gods—both spectacular. We spent a day in Cripple Creek, "The World's Greatest Gold Camp."

Before going to California I had written to two 26ers.

Thelma Phlegar Owens lives in Napa, Calif., where she has been doing considerable writing. Her book Love, Honor and Hang On was just published and is selling steadily. Copies may be obtained from the Napa Book Company, 1134 Main St., Napa, Calif. 94558. It sells for $5.95.

Eddie Soyars Swanson and her husband, Chester, had a lovely dinner party for us when again we saw Thelma Owens, this time accompanied by her husband, Grafton. After dinner Chester produced a bunch of old annuals and snapshots taken fifty years ago.

Mary Louise McGlothlin Friebele lives in Clearwater, Fla., where they moved from New York after her husband suffered a heart attack. Before the rough times set in, however, she did quite a lot of writing—"the very successful Golden Role Readers, and coauthored five others, plus articles for both children and adults." In Florida she was president of the Clearwater Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, dealing with, "a group of prima donnas in art, music and letters." The Friebele's one son, a PhD in physics, works for the National Research Lab in Washington.

Margaret Harlan Hilton's oldest granddaughter, Peggy, was married in June. It was because of Margaret and her husband, Sidney, that Harry and I decided to retire to Tappahannock.

On a trip to Richmond in June I was lucky to find Frances Anderson Stallard at home. She had located the Round Robin with the help of Virginia Pleasant Robertson and had learned from Jane Thorpe, Westhampton alumnae secretary, dates for the 1978 Alumnae Weekend.

Our class will be guests of the university on Friday, April 14, for the Boatwright Society reception and dinner, and of the Westhampton Alumnae Association at noon, April 15, for the luncheon. That afternoon the bus tour of the campus will end at Dr. Heilman's home for a reception.

In April Susie Powell Moore and Elnora Hubbard Robinson drove to Virginia together from Green Valley, Ariz., where Susie now lives and where Elnora had visited friends from Goshen, N.Y. On their two-week trip East they visited Southern antebellum homes and gardens and relatives.

Kathleen Hagood Hough sailed on the Queen Elizabeth II June 8 for England. From there she traveled through the Scandinavian countries.

Buckner Fitzhugh Pannill wrote on 50-year-old Westhampton stationery, which she said indicated her love for Westhampton and her habit of hoarding. Her letter was brief; this was the first day her broken right wrist had been free from a splint.

Louise Eubank Gray is happy that the history of Middlesex County, Va., is ready for fall publication.

When Hazel Anderson Carpenter and her husband returned to Lynchburg last Easter from Florida, they found the spring flooding of the James River had done considerable damage to their cabin and grounds on the river.

Ethel Pond Brinkley and her husband also spend much time working in their yard in Suffolk.

Wish there were space for Helen Covey Milius' entire letter; this is typical of the whole: "Last year, in all the Bicentennial's Revolutionary restlessness. I brought down from the attic my collection of old geographies started years ago when I was at National Geographic. I want to write an article about them. I got out notes for an ecological calendar, recording the bloom or fruiting time of wild plants on our land. Counting skunk cabbage and mosses and trees, we have something starting to bloom every month of the year, and possibly every week."

Agnes Peters Nolan and her husband, Bob, find gardening excellent therapy. They were invited to show their place in Wilmington, Del., Garden tour last year, but had to decline because Agnes was still busy on the historical book, which she edited and which has been published, raising $7000 for worthy historical causes.

Lois Frayser wrote from Seattle, Wash., that while we in the East were experiencing the "deep freeze," she was basking in the sun. Lois wrote good news; Thelma Cheatham, who was ill for such a long time, is back in Richmond.

Cecelia Hunt Wight "got through" the Cecelia Wight Honor's Night at Cairo High, Ga., presenting the citizenship award to the daughter of parents she had taught.

Ruth Bishop Dailey, Margaret Willis and Cecelia keep in touch with Elizabeth Hale, at her mission station in Kedah, Malaysia.

Virginia (Billie) Prince Shinnick has been serving on the board of the Alumni Association of the Collegiate Schools for the past three years and this year is chairman of the Alumni Day. Billie's favorite hobby is painting in water colors. She belongs to the Tuckahoe Artists' Association and displays in various shows. In May, she left for a three-week trip to Greece and Egypt in the group organized by Edward and Mary Peple.

Frances Cake (Cakie) spent most of April teaching a Red Cross class for water safety instructor candidates in the Alleghany County. In May, Cakie and four other Virginians took a three-week cruise in the Mediterranean.

Elinor Bell Camper and George have moved back to their old hometown, East New Market, Md.

Cornelia Ferguson Underwood and Wilson go to their cottage in Pennsylvania every weekend and are frequently joined by sons John and Charles.

Pat Kirkpatrick Millea is planning a one-month trip to Norway and Yugoslavia.

Ed and Frankie Overton's ninth grandchild, David Young, was born August 13, 1976, to Dr. and Mrs. Gene Overton, who live in Reston, Va.

We regret the death of Dorcas Hooker Herthel, Dorothy Jo Gwaltney Peters and Gladys J. Smith. We shall remember them with love.

Those who did not attend our class reunion on April 22 and 23 were truly missed, but you also missed a wonderful time!

Twenty-two of us met for dinner at Helen Pollard Deck's lovely home on Friday night. A delicious dinner, including an appropriate '32 cake, had been prepared by Muriel Jones, assisted by Helen.

Katherine Hesby decided to retire as our president because she is not feeling well and has had several severe falls in the past year. So, Zephia agreed to be our new president, and Eleanor is keeping the secretary's job.

Some class members wrote they would regretfully be unable to be with us. Mary Templeman Marshall was leaving on a trip to Salzburg, Vienna, Corinth, Athens, Egypt and the Holy Land. She retired in June 1976.

"Cappy" (Elizabeth Capitaine Beaty) was in Colorado Springs for the birth of her first grandchild, a girl. Then she travelled to Dallas to visit her other two girls and their husbands.

Almarine was leaving for Europe. Dee has been to Guatemala; she retired last summer. Helen took a trip to Hawaii, Japan, Southeast Pacific area and Java; she will retire this year and then plans a trip to South Africa. Jane travels every summer to far-away places, and went to Alaska and the Arctic Circle in June. Anne is going to Italy in October.

Others who have retired are: Geneva, Almarine, Olga, Phyllis, Bertie, Valerie, Anne, Jessie Miller and Virginia Pharr. Eleanor plans to retire at the end of this year. Muriel lives in a "house by the side of the road" and is a friend to animals.

After dinner, we learned some interesting facts. For instance, Olga has 12 grandchildren! Valerie's son, who is professor of history at Middle Tennessee College, has written a book, Tennessee at the Crossroads. Mary Mathew's son is a Fellow in American College of Physicians. Geneva will be an officer in the Every Monday Club next year. She took a picture at Virginia Beach, and it is now at Westhampton College. Zephia has been in and out of the hospital in the past five years, and has had spinal surgery. Since retirement, Miss Wright goes to the UR Library twice a week to work in the rare book room. Bertie has taken a class in oil painting. Katherine Brugh has been in a nursing home since a stroke. Kay Burroughs died about two years ago. We have lost 10 of our members. Ruth Hale died April 4 after a massive heart attack.

Other interesting statistics about our members are: 15 taught school and three were school principals; Bertie taught school for 40 years; six members have MA degrees, one is an MD and one a PHD; five have children with MAs, four have children with MDs, two with PHDs and one child a lawyer.

A total of $46.30, the amount left from that contributed for our reunion dinner, was given to the Maude Woodfin Scholarship Fund.

Unravelling the travelling: First, Frances the faithful, with a card from Kinderdik, Holland; the van Heuveln's visiting relatives there.

Traveling vicariously with Helen Hulcher on an English Speaking Union "Tour around Britain" on the Argonaut; each day leaving the ship for islands.

Frances Gee joined a segment of an around-the-world tour, flying to Southampton and boarding the Royal Viking. She also sailed around, and stopped, at British Isles, going on up to Bergen, Norway.

Helen Cunningham Laney joined friends this spring from Baltimore for a tour of Charleston, S.C. This summer she visited a friend who has a place in Maine.

We were saddened to hear of the illness of Virginia Watkins Ellenburg's husband, Lloyd.

Governor Godwin has appointed our son, Tucker, director of the Virginia Historic Landmarks Commission and state preservation officer.

Special congratulations to Alice Turner Schafer for being honored with the coveted Distinguished Alumnae Award for 1977. This is the same award bestowed upon Helen Falls in 1976. Alice is full professor of mathematics at Wellesley College.

Ruth Parker Jones has returned from her long-anticipated and extended holiday in the British Isles.

Alice Pugh Bartz and family celebrated Alice's mother's 90th birthday with a successful lunch party in Petersburg early in the summer. Alice is working in a new Library Services Center in Philadelphia.

Marjorie Pugh Tabb's son, Randy Jr., received his law degree from T.C. Williams Law School in May, following graduation from Hampden-Sydney and four and a half years in the Navy Air Corps. Her daughter, Nancy, had a second child in June.

Anna Castelveccchi Del Papa's daughter, Regina, was married in July, after graduating from Madison College last spring.

Helen Denoon Hopson's son, Stephen, is associated with the Richmond law firm of Hunton & Williams.

Sue Bonnet Chermiside's daughter, Florence, works in the insurance business.

Lou White Winfree and husband Westwood's home was one of six open for the annual James River Women's Club tour last May.

Helen Falls writes of her ever-increasing teaching load at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. Helen finds time to write magazine articles and the text for an extension course, and to travel throughout South America and elsewhere. She fell last winter and shattered her right shoulder.

Our sincere sympathy is extended to Bobby Brock Clevenger and her family upon the sudden death of her husband, French, last spring, and to Dot Harrison Enslow upon the death of Hamilton about the same time.

Just before Christmas a year ago Alice Pugh Bartz and Warren, Paul and I went to Bethlehem to visit Rae Norford Hess and Cal.

We are sad to report that Ethel O'Brien Harrington died in April. Our sympathy to Dorothy Duke Madden in the loss of her son; to Alice Warren, her mother; Saddy Sykes Williams, her sister and her brother.

Mildred Gustafson Donohue and Lucy Baird talked with a number of the class of '40 over the telephone during the fund-raising drive in spring. We learned that Eileen Lloyd Mader teaches school, Virginia Dennis McGee's husband died two years ago; Emma Lou Mallory is a proud grandmother with granddaughter living in Richmond; Hilda Batten Starkey has a son and a daughter and three grandchildren, all living nearby; Evelyn Smoak Lewter is fine; Marion Sibley Parham is secretary for a local church. Lucy Baird left in June for two weeks in Spain with the Mediterranean Society.

"Student Accolades," circa 1940s.

Our 35th reunion was a great success. We met at Ann Pavey Garrett's on Friday night. There were 21 of us present. Kay Gilliland Crutchfield had come the farthest, having just returned from an extended visit to Australia, although she lives in Virginia Beach. She has five grandchildren. Mary Grace Scherer Taylor has recently completed a book on the history of her late father's church. Frances Calisch Rothenberg's daughter Martha lives in Brazil with her husband, an American representative for his company. Frances and Bill have had two interesting trips to South America.

Anne Gwaltney Harwood, whom I see once in a while at special education conferences, is a vocational rehabilitation counselor for the Richmond Public Schools. Jean Beeks Marston's oldest daughter, a graduate of Westhampton Class of '76, is taking medical boards. Her younger daughter is a rising sophomore at Westhampton.

Clarinne Cunningham Bergren is involved with her three sons and is president-elect of the Greenville, S.C. Woman's Club. Evelyn McCaully Harris has recently moved to Richmond after 25 years in Danville. LaVerne Priddy Muse and husband Cal are free as the birds. Jane Blake Longest, who still lives in Gloucester, has one son who is a rising UR sophomore. Her parents have lived with them for three years. Mary Duane Hoffman is still Mary, complete with her beloved puppets and senior citizens. Ada Moss Harlow has retired from teaching; she and her husband raise smooth fox terriers. I am department head of special education at Liberty Junior High School in Ashland.

On Saturday night, we met with the Richmond College Class of '42. It was loads of fun with Dr. Wheeler, Dr. Modlin, Professor Williams making it complete. With husbands and wives we were over 100 strong.

Our new officers are Class Secretary Jayne Maire Massie and Treasurer Rosalie Want Jacobs.

We suggest that your annual gift to Westhampton be designated for the Keller Scholarship in memory of our classmates: Sally Gonzalez Seavers Breathed, Lila Wicker Hunt, Virginia Mayo Dalbey and Nancy Davis Parkinson.

Ellen Mercer Clark Maxwell's husband, Keith, was given a pacemaker for Christmas. He had planned to retire in December 1978.

Now they have changed their plans, expecting to be moved home to Keysville, Va.

We extend our sympathy to Dee Dee Howe Kirk whose father died last January.

We have much news of children, so I'll begin at the beginning with our Baby Cup baby. Ann Burcher Stansbury's daughter, Barby, has her master's degree in French from Middleburg. She lived in Paris last year and is now in Williamsburg as chairman of the language department of Lafayette High School, and has taught a course at William & Mary. Beth Stansbury married Bruce Lee Baines May 7 at the tiny Episcopal Church in Yorktown. They are living in Norfolk, where Bruce works in respiration therapy. Susan Stansbury Leslie and Randy are living in Blacksburg, where Randy is with the telephone company and Susan is a special education teacher, after receiving a master's degree in special education from VPI. Ann's youngest, David, graduated from Rappahannock Community College in June.

Billy Jane Crosby Baker, Ann Burcher Stansbury, Ann Thruston Filer, Rita Muldowney Copley and Rita's mother lunched together. Rita was fine but still a little bruised from a March accident and is not driving yet. Rita's daughter, Beth Copley Powers, got a master's degree in urban planning from the University of Michigan.

Ann Thruston Filer's younger son, Jon, graduated from Haverford May 17, was married June 3 and is planning to study geology in graduate school at the University of North Carolina this fall. Ann's older son, Randy, is working on his dissertation for PhD in economics from Princeton. Billy Jane's son, Bill, who has just finished his second year at UVa, worked for Randy Filer this summer, coding information for the Princeton computer in connection with Randy's research.

Gene Shepard Keever's son, Mac, graduated from T.C. Williams School of Law in May. Her daughter, Susie, is a senior at Westhampton this fall and president of North Court.

Millie Cox Goode's older daughter, Courtney, married Bill Rogers January 1. They live in the Washington area and Courtney teaches in Northern Virginia.

Juanita Tiller Elmquist's son Rand completed his second year at UVa, but is staying out this semester. He and a friend are biking the Appalachian trail from Maine to Georgia.

Dot Ihnken and Billy Jane represented '44s at the April alumnae luncheon.

Evermond Hardee Daniel is a grandmother again as Hannah Chappell Cox, Penny's daughter was born in February.

Millie Cox Goode joined the ranks of grandmothers last September, when Carol's daughter Erin Leigh Nugent was born in Atlanta.

Betty Biscoe Tibbott lost her father recently. Betty has two married sons: Johnny, 27, who lives in Colorado, and Bruce, who lives in Phillipsburg, N.J., and attends night school at Lafayette College. Betty's daughter, Beverly, attends Fairleigh Dickinson University in Pennsylvania.

Anne Jones Parker's daughter, Liz, is a senior at UCLA, where she majors in music.

Virginia Lambeth Shotwell had "a pleasing surprise" when her husband Ralph was included in Men of Achievement, an international directory. Ralph has also been recognized in Who's Who in the East and Who's Who in Religion. Their daughter, Jo Ann, is a May graduate of the University of Virginia Law School. Ding taught summer school at Indiana University (English) and at Prairie State College (global history). Ding describes their trip to view the Mayan Ruins in the Yucatan as "captivating."

Peggy Macy Chevins and husband Tony announced the marriage of their daughter in April.

Amy Hickerson Dalton and Addison celebrated the wedding of their son Steve on June 25. Steve and his bride will live in Richmond, while he studies law at T.C. Williams.

Leila Phillips Toone and Bob have a son, Bobby, graduating from high school in Ashland, Va. Bobby enters VPI.

B. J. and I enjoyed an extra bonus at our son Robert's graduation from Winston Churchill High School in June. Bob Hope, "entertainer and humanitarian," was the guest speaker. Robert is a freshman at N.C. State in Raleigh this fall.

This summer Marion Lawton Kinzey vacationed in Blue Hawaii.

Jackie Hodges Walker is delighted that her daughter Ann and her family are moving to Richmond from Atlanta. The Walkers' daughter Jackie received a master's degree in education and learning disabilities from VCU last spring.

Dottie Davis Whittenberger attended two graduation ceremonies last spring. Dottie and Dick's son Randy received his bachelor's degree in finance from Indiana University and is now a financial analyst with RCA in Indianapolis. Son Rick received his master's degree in electrical engineering from Purdue. He is a design engineer for Delco Corp. in Kokomo, Ind.

Our next deadline for class news is January 1.

Jean Brumsey Biscoe continues to work for the state and is standards specialist in the Division of Youth Services. Julie, 11, and Jeb, 13, keep them busy.

Pat Fuller Gatlin and son Bill stopped by to see us in January on their return to St. Louis from Newport News. Pat's husband, Tom, had major surgery shortly after our visit, but is able to get out and doing well.

Pam Burnside Gray and Elmon have a new granddaughter, Pamela Gray Herbert. Proud parents are Pam's daughter Kay and Carrington Herbert.

Russell Elliott Wiley's son David became ill during his last semester at Ohio State and spent several weeks in the hospital. Russell says that driving in Columbus is unbelievable, and when she went there to be with David wrecked the car upon her arrival in town in the five o'clock traffic. No injuries, and both mother and son are fine now.

My daughter Margaret was tapped into Mortar Board last spring and will be chairman of the Honor Council this year. Ralph and I went to the ring dance at the Jefferson in March—all of those Scarlett O'Haras descending that lovely old staircase. It was a little different from 30 years ago!

Bettie Lane Barnhill Bragg owns a successful mountain crafts, gift and antique shop in Townsend, Tenn. She has taken classes in tole painting, Chinese cooking and dried-flower arrangements.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Marianne Beck Duty in the sudden and unexpected death of her father last May.

Bea Covington O'Flaherty fell on the ice in mid-January. She underwent surgery in January and May on her knee and leg. She and husband Bill have spent enjoyable periods with friends in Florida, Kentucky, Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, Tennessee, California and a theatre weekend in New York.

Jeanne Schanen McKenry's oldest daughter had a son last October. Another daughter is a junior at the University of Delaware.

Hilda Moore Hankins' daughter Hilda

Anne, was married in Newport News on June 25. She is a Westhampton graduate, too.

Barbara Beattie Fanney's son, Rick, has an appointment to Annapolis Naval Academy, Class of 1981. He was nominated by Senator Lowell P. Weicker.

Mokey Rounds Holloway's son Ric was married May 28. The Holloways spend as much time as possible during the summer at their cottage on the beach.

Kitty Rosenberger Garber's son Chip will enter Auburn University to study engineering.

Barbara Coleman Augustine and husband Jim went on a trip to Cape Cod.

Vivian Betts Lewis and family enjoy their cottage on Queens Creek in Mathews County. Oldest daughter Susan attends Longwood College. Youngest daughter Beverly just learned to waterski.

Joyce Gustafson Crawford and husband Doug are in Roanoke. Daughters Kim and Kay have both graduated from college. Kim is working for a bank near home; Kay is married and living in Miami, where she works as chemist.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Betty Finney Tuttle in her father's death January 12, 1977, after a long illness. Her son, Arthur Norman III, is now a sophomore in the University of Oklahoma. He received a scholarship last fall.

Continued cold weather and prolonged snow made Joanna Maiden Owens' medical duties heavier this winter. She enjoys her new family immensely. Her 22-month-old grandson bats a ball and runs whether he hits it or not!

The 25 of us who were together for our 25th reunion had a great time but wish more of you could have been there. Our sincere thanks to Sue Peters Hall and Claire Carlton and all the Richmond girls who made it a most memorable weekend.

The new officers are Claire Carlton, president; Marian Lacy Mahon, fund chairman; and I'll be struggling with the secretary job. We all thank Sue Peters Hall, Dru Marshall Waring and Mary Ann Coates Edel for their outstanding work the past five years. Those present at the dinner awarded geraniums to: Jackie Gerson Lowenstein—longest married; Nina Landolina Byrd—youngest child; Isabel Sanford Rankin—first to have a married child; May Ann Coates Edel—traveled the longest distance; Lou Tull Mashburn—most degrees; Bettie Snead Herbert—the grayest; Anne Brehme—thinner than in '52; and Joyce Bell Cody—twins. Quite a few of us had four children and no one claimed any grandchildren.

Saturday, 12 of us attended the alumnae luncheon at Keller Hall where we watched with pride as Lou Tull Mashburn was honored as a distinguished alumna. Lou, the class of '52 is very proud of you and your accomplishments.

We thank the Richmonders and especially Betty Edmonds Dunn and Elmer for a fun cocktail buffet on Saturday night at the Dunn's lovely home on the James.

Eleanor Persons Hayes sent us greetings from Japan. After five years, they are heading back to the States. They have enjoyed their stay in Japan and have travelled to Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and the Philippines. On the way back to Virginia, they will stop in Hawaii for a week and drive across country to Texas for daughter Linda's wedding. Linda has been a college student in Texas. Son Bobby graduated this year from Salisbury State in Maryland. Bob will be working for the Navy.

Jeanne Hootman Hopkins lives in Richmond and teaches second grade in Chesterfield. Her son Jim is a senior at Hermitage High and Betsy has finished her second year at Longwood. Emily graduated from VCU in '76 after three years at Westhampton.

Isabel Sanford Rankin's daughter Ann was married last summer (1976). Ann and her husband are graduating from college this year.

Bettie Snead Herbert and May Scott went on the UR trip to Brazil in January and had a marvelous trip. Bettie's mother is with them in Boynton, where Bettie is busy with the Welfare Department. Bettie Scott Herbert graduated from Mary Baldwin in May.

Jackie Gerson Lowenstein shared the pictures of our 20th reunion with us. We hadn't changed that much! Son Lee will be a senior at VPI and Molly Ann has finished her freshman year at VCU.

I saw Betty Crews Watkins in South Hill in April when she was snowed under with income tax forms. She works part time, but it is full time as the deadline approaches. Betty and Earl's daughter Scottie graduated from pharmacy school at MCV-VCU this spring. Anne attends William and Mary and Christie, 15, will be in tenth grade.

Sarah Barlow Wright is principal at Hillton School in Newport News.

Send your news. I'll be keeping a scrapbook so share pictures and news articles that you want included. Mary Ann did such a terrific job as secretary; we appreciate all the hard work she did.

Jo Sue Leonard Simpson is teaching fourth grade at the new solar-heated- and cooled Teraset School in Reston. Jo Sue's daughter Susan will attend UVa. this fall.

Nancy Graham Harrell and Walter will spend eight days in London in October.

Betty Rosenberger Allen lives in Dover, Del., has two girls and does substitute teaching. Her husband runs a tourist agency.

Barbara Moore Flannagan, "Flat," son Warren, George and I enjoyed the UR trip to Switzerland in June. Barbara and Flat were unexpectedly hailed by Peggy Brown Hantzmon, while on a side tour to Grindelwald. Peggy, her husband and two boys had rented a house and were touring.

On June 4, exactly 21 years to the day since our graduation, I attended the lovely wedding of Helen Melton Lukhard's daughter Lindsay and Brian Nicholls. The bride and her mother looked like twins—Helen every bit as beautiful as she was in our May Court.

A newsy letter from Brigitte Zickmantel Reimer in Kelowna, British Columbia, Canada, arrived early in May. The Reimer family moved to this western Canadian city of 60,000 three years ago, when husband Howard accepted a teaching position at Okanagan College. Previously they had lived in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, while Howard was getting his PhD in English at McMaster University. During that time Brigitte taught English and history at a large high school. She admits that she now engages in less intellectual pursuits, like cross-country skiing and tennis. The Reimer children are Doug, 16, "a real sports nut," Liz, 14, the musician (piano and clarinet); and Neil, 9, an avid reader. Brigitte and Howard spent a month in Europe alone in the late spring.

Ruth Jackley Cranford retired in June after a number of years as guidance counselor at Hermitage High School in Henrico County. She planned trips to Cape Cod in June, to North Carolina to dig for rubies in July, and around the world this fall or after Christmas. She will leave from California and visit Asia first. While in Hong Kong she will look up Carmen Wong, W'55, who is a doctor.

Edith Borjis Greer writing about her family in their new home in Woodbridge, Va., is full of praise for the year-round school system in Prince William County. Cindy, 15, is in tenth grade and plays soccer. David, 13, bowls and has a coin collection.

This news may be out of date. It comes from a December 1975 letter to Margie Kantner Snader. To quote Jeannie Branin: "I finally made it to Broadway!" It seems she is employed by Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, Inc., as secretary to the associate director of education. Her office is at 61st and Broadway. She has little time for singing and is proudest of her accomplishments in swimming and diving.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Edna Wagstaff Warncke and Betty Lou Kendall West, each of whom lost her father shortly after Christmas. Betty Lou writes that her family is taking advantage of Colorado's great outdoors. Even her young children, Becky and Glenn, ski downhill and cross-country, swim and ride horseback. Last summer they took an exciting nine mile backpacking trip into a wilderness area.

In May Ann Peery Frederick served as tour director for a group of 16 on a trip to Paris. From there they took day trips to see various chateaus in the nearby countryside. The tour was so successful that plans are already being made for another next summer. Ann's daughter Mary Helen, 17, spent six weeks this summer with a French family who are friends of the Fredericks in Rennes, France.

Winkie Gray Stettinius's daughter Elizabeth, 18, graduated in June from Collegiate School in Richmond with the highest average in her class for her senior year. Beth, a member of the National Honor Society, received early acceptance and will attend UVa.

The Garnett family's newest toy is a baby blue Chevrolet pick-up truck, which we plan to enjoy on the beach at Hatteras, N.C., during the fall fishing season. Daughter Anne, 17, in her senior year, is editor of the annual at Chickahominy Academy.

Send us your news for the spring issue to Ann Carol Yeaman Malcolm, R.D. #1 Box 310, Sunbury, Pa. 17801, before Christmas. After the first of the year, please let me hear from you by the middle of June.

Becky Branch Faulconer and husband Harold enjoyed a week camera safari into Kenya and Tanzania National Game Preserves.

Carolyn Moss Hartz's son Jim, 16, spent a month in Europe with the Spanish Club from Douglas Freeman on an American Leadership Study Group Youth Tour.

Elinor DeLong Belk served on the National Alumnae Board this past year.

Violet Moore Neal and Jack recently moved into a house in South Boston.

Lola Hall McBride's son Tal, 16, has become an Eagle Scout; her other children are Ginger, 14, and Sally, 12.

Kay Crawford Trimble's son Todd, 16, will be a Richmond College freshman this fall.

Our son Bruce, 14, received an award for being the outstanding boy student in eighth grade at Chester Intermediate; two years ago our son Jim, 16, received the same award.

Nancy Madden Simmons lives in Lakeland, Fla. She and husband Banks have three children David, 14, Bowman, 12, and Julia, 8. Nancy has been active in PTA and League of Women Voters but in a "moment of madness" decided to run for a school board position in Polk County, which is larger than Rhode Island. She won.

Dodie Tyrrell returned in June from a vacation in the mountains at Big Bear Lake to find that she had been reelected a director of The Opera Associates of Los Angeles and will be in charge of membership.

She mailed a copy of an article which appeared in the May issue of People magazine featuring Gloria Greenfield Harris. Gigi (as we knew Dr. Harris) is teaching assertiveness to female employees of the federal government in Washington, D.C. She and husband Jay took three weeks off in July to vacation in Yugoslavia and Turkey.

We celebrated our 15th reunion the weekend of April 22-23. Many thanks to all who helped with the dinner Friday night, which twenty-one of us attended at the home of Tucker Smart Paxton. The class elected circa 1955.

Student Center
Slop Shop,

Pam Koch Fay as president; Sandra Nunn Wallace; fund chairman; and Judith Carpenter Rabenold, secretary for the next five years.

Saturday evening eight couples attended a cocktail party at Pam's. A special thanks to Toni Cousins Ewell for the work she did to make this a memorable reunion.

Margaret Taylor Sheldon and family have moved from Detroit to Tacoma, Wash. Her husband, Robert, is on duty with the Second Infantry Division in Korea.

Shirley Easter Maize has been living in Kansas since 1963. Her husband, Aubrey, is a manufacturer's representative, and Shirley is a testing coordinator for their school district. She is also active in politics.

Sad news comes from Edie Graves Jones in Hawaii that her husband, Joe, passed away. Edie is busy with her two boys, Jim, 8, and Ray, 6, and with her work on the school board.

Margaret Lee Strawhand Young in Rome, Ga., enjoys working for her husband, Ray, a cardiologist, and keeping up with her twin sons, now 10.

Lucy Hardy Johnson loves living in Atlanta. Her husband, Dan, is an internist-rheumatologist, and Lucy spends her days "providing taxi service" for her three children: Lisa, 9, Laura, 7, and Dan, 6.

Barbara Harrell Holdren returned to teaching in 1976. She is head of the English department at Goochland High School and teaches a journalism class that publishes the yearbook and newspaper. Barbara and her husband, Jim, attended the Olympics in Montreal.

Dale Boatwright Griggs and family have settled down in Huntsville, Ala., after living in Tacoma, Wash., where they rented a house from Margaret Taylor Sheldon.

Diane Light Riffer's family is happy and thriving. Chris, 7, is a second grader, and Lisa, 3, enjoys a play group and nursery school. Diane puts her extra time to use as a volunteer and is taking courses in library science.

Pam Koch Fay is working as a college counselor and director of testing at St. Catherine's School in Richmond. Daughters Beth and Martha attend school there.

Betty Morris Blankenship and family last fall spent two weeks in Hawaii and then in Florida for a week. At home they are busy with baseball. Scott, 10, is playing, husband Doug is coaching, and Betty is player agent for 400 boys.

Judith Acree Hansen reports that Dick is chairman of his department at Mary Washington College. Judy is teaching part time and children Carter, 5, and Kendal, 3, are enjoying their school experiences.

Libby Wampler Jarrett is directing a chorale for a select group of children in third grade and up.

Nell Gracey Jones lives in Chesterfield County and teaches science in a private school. She and her husband, Wesley, enjoy sailing and along with daughter Lou, 7, spend most weekends at their beach home at Fishing Bay.

Nancy James Buhl and her husband, John, took a trip to Europe last summer with the William & Mary Alumni Association.

Sylvia Brown Pond and her family took a trip to Florida this spring. She said Richard, 9, and Douglas, 7, were just the right age to have a wonderful time at Disney World, Cape Kennedy, Sea World and Circus World.

Julie Perkinson Crews is living "a stereo-typed suburban life"—swimming and baseball for the two boys; tennis and golf for Julie and Bill; lots of community involvement and trips on their boat.

June McVey Goodall sends news from Houston, Tex. She has one son, 11, and a foster son, 4. They plan to adopt him this summer. Her husband, David, who is a minister, sent a letter along with June's.

Nancy Vaughan Downey is teaching high school and working on her master's degree. Her husband and sons, 3, and 7, keep her active, and "life is getting better the closer I get to 40."

Shirley Kell DeRoco enjoyed having husband Al home for 15 months in the Philippines as staff communications officer. He is scheduled for sea duty as executive officer in the summer. Chris, 5, and Teri, 3, think it's great having their father home.

In July 1976, my husband, Bob was transferred to the Joseph E. Seagrams office in New York City. He commutes by train from Darien.

Madeline Crenshaw Bulls is director of day care at Grace and Holy Trinity Church. She has obtained a master's degree in early childhood education.

Elizabeth Schools Geiger worked for a year and wrote the Sunday School quarterly for Senior Youth—the Life and Works Series—for the Baptist Sunday School Board in Nashville. The publication will be coming out in April, May and June 1978. She and her husband have two children: Terri, 8, and Ken, 6.

Bill and I are still involved in the development of Christ Community Church, where he is an elder and I am president of Maranatha, the women's organization. We are also Sunday School superintendents. I recently had a fabulous trip to the Holy Land and Rome.

If you have any news, send it to Jane Bibb Ranson, P. O. Box 505, Fork Union, Va. 23055.

Jeannette Elgert McCormick wrote of their first born, Robbie, weighing in at 9 lbs. 7 oz. Jeannette left the teaching profession in 1973 to recoup after surgery. The following February she became a program assistant for the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service of USDA, a position she held until last October when she resigned to wait for Robbie. She is now a full-time housewife and mother. She is also a part-time student at VCU working on a master's degree in guidance and counseling and visiting teaching.

I received a short note from Pat Diggs Gravely, who announced the birth of their second daughter, Mary. She wrote that they are living in lovely Charleston, S.C., where Lew is an ophthalmology resident at the Medical University of South Carolina.

Mary Kerns Kotz remarried on March 26, 1977. Her husband, Ed, is a New Castle County policeman. In addition to the two daughters Dawn and Bobbie Jo, they have two boys, Ed's sons Mark, 6, and Eddie, 11. They spent an evening with Bob and Bonnie Nelson (Bonnie Bowman) in December.

My husband, Chuck, was promoted to head of the design group at the David W. Taylor Naval Ship R&D Center.

Linda McIntosh Wauchope has returned from a year and a half of foreign service in Kenya with the state department.

Becky Waggoner Beck has a new job with Media General as a programmer/analyst.

Nancy Manning Knight and her husband will be vacationing in England.

Marilib Henry Price's husband is due to end his tour of duty with the Army in October. He will then set up his law practice in Luray.

Betty Lee Toler was administrative assistant to the treasurer of the Andrew Miller gubernatorial campaign from February through the June primary.

Mary Kay Reynolds taught summer school. She is saving her money, so that she may visit her brother next year in Austria. He will be serving with a church-related international youth organization.

Julia Bergamo Ganzert, after having her baby in June, will be substitute teaching at Hatcher Christian School.

Sallie Stone Cook started her residency in pathology at MCV in June.

Lucy Bone Orgain and Ricky moved to Farmville in early June. Ricky set up practice as an optometrist.

Greg and I are taking courses at VCU. Greg is a third-year student in the doctoral program in clinical psychology. I am taking a course in treatment of athletic injuries to aid in my basketball coaching. I also began a new job with Medical Data Services in downtown Richmond in May as a programmer/analyst.

News from our fifth reunion. On Friday, April 22, approximately 45 people attended a get-together in Julia Bergamo Ganzert's home. On Saturday April 23, 60 alumnae and husbands or escorts attended a banquet in the Commons. New officers were elected for the next five years. They are: Betty Gammon Fulgham, president; Katherine Anna Kirk, fund-raising chairperson; Gwendolyn Fletcher Duncan, secretary.

Several members of our class have moved into their own homes. Ellen Early Lusk and Pat have bought a big two-story frame home in Mechanicsville, Va. Ellen is teaching a class of four-year-olds at Derbyshire Baptist Nursery School. Pat is in product development in pharmaceutical research at A.H. Robins Co. He still does relief work at Peoples Drug on weekends to stay familiar with the community health field of pharmacy.

Clemmie Williams Lankford and Harvey moved on Dorchester Road in the Westover Hills section of Richmond. Clemmie attended the American Chemical Society meeting in Montreal in the spring as a representative of Reynolds Metals Co. She and Harvey have also traveled to the British West Indies. Harvey is a resident in internal medicine. Nancy Wilkin moved into a larger apartment in Covington. This summer she was a counselor for Upward Bound.

Tina Marston received a transfer from IBM to Providence, R.I., and lives outside of Boston. Maria Valdez Casto and Dan have moved from Pompano Beach, Fla., to San Antonio, Tex., where Dan begins his residency in medicine. Judy Owens Hopkins and "Hop" graduated from the University of Virginia School of Medicine and have moved to Winston-Salem, N.C. They will begin their residency training at North Carolina Baptist Hospital.

Anne Draine graduated from Lake Erie College in Ohio with a degree in horsemanship and is training horses for a private stable in Middleburg, Va. Anne also rides the stable's horses in horse shows around Virginia. Fay Ehrenstamm graduated from the T.C. Williams Law School. Grace Robinson den Hartog has started UVa law school and will commute from Richmond to Charlottesville. Ruth Clemo is in graduate school in anatomy at MCV and works in the MCV Blood Bank on weekends. Anita Garland is working on her MBA at VCU. Debbie Guyton attends graduate school at VPI where she is working toward her doctorate in statistics.

Julia Donohue Higgins is a volunteer for the Forest View Rescue Squad in Richmond, where she is certified in advanced first aid. Julie drives the ambulance and rides along with certified cardiac technicians on calls. Susan Lindler Stevenson resigned her job and enjoyed the summer. She and Ned live in Richmond.

Diane MacIroy Moncure tutors in math for the One-to-One Tutoring School in Bon Air. She worked in the alumnae office through June, and now will be substitute teaching for Patrick Henry High School. After ten months in Phoenix, Ariz., Cindy Nunis returned to Virginia in August for two weeks. While in Richmond she stayed with Diane and Henry Moncure in their new home. Cindy also visited her parents in Lynchburg. Carolyn Ridgeway visited Bev Harper Folds in Sarasota, Fla.

Sallie Lucas is married and in her final year of medical school at MCV. Sallie's husband works in the department of microbiology at MCV. Betsy Ray and Tony Bailey were married on June 12, 1977. Tony is in dental school at MCV. Beth Woody and Dr. Herbert J. I would like to start off by apologizing to Ginny Boswinkle. In the last class letter I wrote the incorrect name of the company where she works. She is a designer trainee at Liebherr-Crane Co. She has recently moved into an apartment in Hampton which reminds her a great deal of Westhampton except that everyone there is over 65. If anyone wishes to purchase any of Ginny's art work, contact the Peninsula Savings in Hampton.

Ann Thompson is the coordinator-corporate procedures for Textron, Inc., in Providence, R.I.

The "first floor gang" had a blast with lots of family, food and Italian music when they got together for the wedding of Ruthanne Giammitorio to Norman Ladato on June 4, 1977. Rudy is teaching music in two grade schools and keeps her organ job on weekends.

Leigh Garnett is roughing it at home in Charlottesville and working with National Bank & Trust.

Brandy Powell Bammer and Bob live in Atlanta, where Bob attends Emory University and she works for Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association as an account representative for the mobile home loan department.

Liza Pitzer and Kathy Magee spent a fabulous summer in Europe. After returning, Liza moved to Williamsburg where she works at the toymaker of Williamsburg. This past winter she had a four-month internship at the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Collection. Starting in July she began a graduation program in the administration of historic sites that is cosponsored by Colonial Williamsburg and William & Mary.

Cindy Peake went to Ithaca, N.Y., for a Psychology of Sport Conference in May. This summer she was back at Penn State for some more courses. The official title of her thesis is "An Investigation of Relationship Between Sex-role Orientation, Achievement, Motivation and Undergraduate Major."

This past year Beth Brim was a scholarship student at Bryn Mawr College in a PhD program in modern foreign languages. Beth has been offered a fellowship at Bryn Mawr for next year and is looking forward to returning. She worked in Madrid during the summer as secretary to Dr. E. Pauker at the Centro de Estudios Hispanicos.

Helen Ellsworth does a great deal of traveling in her job with Civil Service. She spent two months at Fort Benjamin Harrison in Indianapolis taking a course at the Defense Information School. This summer she worked at Fort Lewis in Washington State. All of this is part of her training as an intern at the TRADOC public affairs office at Fort Monroe. She is busy helping write and produce a local radio news show "Fort Monroe Reports." She is also writing articles and helping to layout the Fort Monroe newspaper, The Casemate Chronicle.

Marcia Andrews Swenck and George, R'73, live in Richmond. She is working for Heritage Savings and Loan Association. She will pursue the management program this fall.

Marcia wishes to extend a personal thanks to all of those who participated in the Alumnae Fund Drive. "I'm sure our class will surpass the goal established for us. Hard work and enthusiasm still seem to be a part of the spirit of '76!"

Kathy Boepple began work at the Dumbarton library in Henrico. She works in adult services and lives a couple of blocks away.

Paula Dillard has been working for Aetna Life and Casualty in their claims department. In June she moved to their Philadelphia office.

Andi Eichberg Dameron and Stan live in Richmond. She started a new job with Xerox, as a marketing support specialist with the office systems divisions.

Karen Joy Jamuis is with Colonial Management Consultants, a personnel firm in Richmond.

Katherine LeRaye Bunn continued courses at VCU and J. Sargeant Reynolds in psychology and art. She joined the St. Mary's hospital auxiliary as a volunteer in their psychology occupational therapy department. She taught for the lower school of St. Catherine's for the last seven weeks of their spring term. In July she was in Europe with the UR tour. This year she will be at the University of Louisville, Ky., in their graduate school of expressive therapies and majoring in art therapy.

Mary Anne Deane attended VCU as a special graduate student and this summer went to Europe with Drs. Ryle and Rilling of the UR history department. This fall she began work on her master's degree in fine arts at Vanderbilt.

Susan Ladd taught first grade in Henrico County schools. Last summer she was in Columbia, South America, on a mission tour with Hatcher Chorale, a singing group, for two weeks. She is also in a new chamber group, the Cathedral Singers of Richmond.

Sue Irwin coached her high school softball team to a great 6-6 finish.

Holly Gronn and I had a great time playing volleyball this winter with a team from St. Johns Woods. Holly liked it so much that in June she moved over to St. Johns Woods and now lives with Liz Mitchell. This fall she is teaching a self-contained fifth grade in Chesterfield County.

Last fall, while living with Holly Gronn and Anne Hankins in Richmond, I began my working career as an extra for Universal Studios in the movie Rollercoaster, which was filmed at Kings Dominion. It was fascinating to see what goes on when they film a picture. It has been released and, believe it or not, I actually saw myself. The rest of the winter I spent playing volleyball, substitute teaching and having a good time. On March 26, 1977, I married Kenneth L. DeHaven, B'76, in Charlottesville, We now live in Suffolk, Va.

No Luck

Dear Editor:

Usually the UR MAGAZINE is a joy when it arrives and I read it from cover to cover. But somebody pulled a boo-boo when they labeled the class picture on page 26 of the Summer '77 issue as Westhampton College Class of 1923. I have a copy of this picture and I can name them—and I am the second one from the right in the wicker rocker.

It really is the class of '24!

I'm sure all loyal members of 1923 have risen up to protest that this picture is not them. At any rate—better luck next time.

Keep 'em coming!

Anna Hardaway White, W'24

Thank you for bringing this error to our attention. The photograph was marked Class of 1923 with a note that it "is probably Class of '24." Since our research to resolve this discrepancy proved fruitless, we were simply faced with choosing "The Lady or the Tiger."

Gutter Rats

Dear Editor:

"On a Clear Day" (UR MAGAZINE, Summer 1977) brings back vivid memories of my freshman year at Westhampton in 1921—reference: photo page 7. The year 1921 had an overabundance of freshman applicants, and a section of rooms over the old classroom section was readied for our use. As the upper classmen were already ensconced in quarters of their choice, beyond the Tower Room, the so-called Rat-Alley became a busy fertile area of very young adults, lightly supervised.

My parents had taken a single room for me. I soon discovered that outside this cell was a beautiful outdoors perch. Soon we were using it during free daylight hours for drying hair and other easily hidden unmentionables (pre drip & dry), reading and just sunning.

Then one night of insufferable heat, some of us moved our pallets out into the gutter and slept under the stars. Someone ratted on us, and Miss Keller was awakened with the announcement, "The gutters are full of rats." My memory book, which I left for the archives when 1925 had its 50th reunion, has pictures of us there—showing us, considering the 56 intervening years, truly sisters under the skin—but with ours slightly more covered!

We were able to locate your memory book and a photograph of you (above) in Rat Alley, 1922.

Great

Dear Editor:

Enjoyed the Summer issue of UR MAGAZINE. It was great! . . . Keep up the excellent work. Am looking forward to the Fall issue!

Business Meetings

Dear Editor:

The Spring issue of your magazine just arrived. Browsing through—among the pictures and letters I stumbled on this sentence (page 10): "Meetings come in all shapes and sizes, from the monstrosity called a political convention to a quick huddle in an office hallway."

I listened in on both of those "monstrosities" a few months ago and shuddered at grown people clowning around and shouting slogans until it was almost impossible to do business. One wonders if the business had not all been tended to in those "office hallways." Then I came to the "Classnotes"—with one exception, all in 1920 and before (a veteran of '13—he and his wife living in a Baptist Home.) Surely I should keep my mouth shut and enter a rest home also. But I was ever a breaker of tradition.

I suppose my rating was '15—all my records were destroyed when our home was a victim to "Scorched earth policy" during the World War—in S.W. China, 1944.

When we retired from the Mission Field in 1958, with 38 years for me and 34 for my wife, we went on the road: Schools of Missions; R.A.—G.A. Camps—Missions in depth for a week's study in some church . . . for the past four years I have been riding the G.A. Trail. Over a thousand of these wonderful young people have written to me—a total stranger—just because they found my name in their Discovery magazine. Many write me over and over—I received two letters yesterday, another today—I have written well over 2000 letters to these young people—letters—not form letters.

As often as possible I visit in their homes and churches—yes, in their schools also. During the terrible five months—October to April, last, I drove some ten thousand miles and spoke in scores of churches and homes and schools—visiting the homes, churches, schools, camps, etc. of these wonderful young people.

Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas . . . sliding on the ice, plowing through the snow, needing jump cords every time I let the engine stop for more than an hour or two! It was lots of fun—Praise God.

On retirement the Board asks all missionaries to “Write your story”—they collect the manuscripts, bind them and place them in the archives—for future historians. Being a third-generation missionary myself; and our daughter, now on the field—Mrs. B. E. Evans, Singapore—the fourth generation Bausum in the Orient—I thought it might be worth it to get my story published. The Board gave me their blessing—Dr. Cauthen kindly gave me an introduction for both volumes; I added a booklet of photographs, family trees, etc.—copies of the pages of the old Family Bible, autographed by Grandfather Bausum in Singapore in 1845—the story is thus put together.

I wonder if somebody—maybe the library where students can read of one sample of mission work—from the beginning up to now—Grandfather Bausum was a late contemporary of William Carey; Grandfather Lord was among the very first missionaries to get out from under the colonial flags—even Carey did not do that. Dr. E. C. Lord was in Ningpo, China for 40 years from 1847. All of my nine grandparents lived and died on the mission field (they didn’t retire in those days) and all but one of them is buried in China or S.E. Asia. . . .

Unreadable

Dear Editor:

I will admit to being out of college over 30 years—which makes me blind and senile.

Nevertheless, I must tell you that this issue, Volume 40, Number 3, (Summer issue) is the first one that I have been unable to read since 1946. It looks fine—but I just could not force myself through all that un-leaded type.

Sorry about that.

Better luck with the next redesign.

Jacqueline Barnes Wolf, W’46
Teaneck, N.J.

After analyzing the type, we think the tight letter-spacing and not the lack of space between lines is causing the strain. We hope we have found the solution by loosening the letter- and word-spacing in this issue.

Notice of Delight

Dear Editor:

On page 14 of your Summer issue was a short sentence regarding Homecoming on October 21-23.

Normally, I receive some sort of notice about one day prior to the actual happening; so I’m delighted to be able to “make plans now.”
