PAULINE TURNBULL

Pauline Turnbull has taught her last class in Latin and in art appreciation at Westhampton College, has edited her last catalogue, has made her last transcript of minutes of a faculty meeting.

In retirement she will continue to live with her friend of many years, Miss May L. Keller, in their sequestered cottage on the Westhampton campus.

Pauline Turnbull was good for Westhampton and she was good for May L. Keller, the little dean whose insistence on sound scholarship and solid achievement is largely responsible for the school’s eminence among women’s colleges.

As secretary to the dean and as registrar for many years, Miss Turnbull took care of the mass of detail that was necessary for the operation of an efficient office. And she took care of the mass of detail necessary for the operation of an efficient household. (Miss Turnbull had the inside responsibility; Miss Keller the outside responsibility.)

Although no one would begrudge Miss Turnbull the title of the most efficient woman at Westhampton, she was no machine. Hers was a sensitive soul, one that was awake to beauty. She opened the eyes of her students to the beauty about them, in nature and in man’s creation.

As a teacher of Latin and a student of the classics, she was interested in all that was hallowed by age, but she was always willing to examine the new and to embrace which that she found good. Her appreciation of certain of the modern art forms brought snorts of derision from Miss Keller.

They never came to blows about that or anything else, but the secret of their long friendship was expressed on one occasion by Dean Keller: “We always felt free to talk back to each other.”

That’s probably an overstatement because Miss Turnbull usually deferred to Miss Keller’s judgment but on occasion (again quoting the little dean), “she could be as stubborn as a mule.”

Miss Keller was attracted to Miss Turnbull when she met her at a convention of Pi Beta Phi sorority of which the former was national president. She persuaded the young and very beautiful graduate of the University of Syracuse to come to Westhampton as her secretary. That was in 1916. Later Miss Turnbull was advanced to registrar and, after earning her master’s degree at the University of Pennsylvania, was made a member of the faculty. She taught Latin and later art appreciation.

She made beautiful color slides, her subjects ranging from cathedrals snapped on her trips abroad to May Day and commencement ceremonies.

She’ll take her camera with her when she and Miss Keller tour France and Spain this fall. They are already arguing vigorously about the itinerary.
A hundred University of Richmond teachers seated on the grassy stage of the Luther H. Jenkins Greek Theater on a balmy night in June nodded with approval as the commencement speaker said they were not "eggheads" but rather the most important members of their community.

Dollars, a great many of them, Dr. Theodore A. Distler said, are needed to build up the educational system but, more than money, there is a need for universal respect for scholarship and learning.

The first beep of the first Sputnik, the executive director of the Association of American Colleges said, all but panicked many Americans. When it became apparent that America's supremacy in science and technology was in jeopardy, the American educational system was made the scapegoat. There were demands for "crash programs" to turn out more and better scientists.

Distler felt that such criticisms were "substantially unfair" because they "put the blame on our schools and colleges for what are essentially defects of our society as a whole."

"Is it the fault of our schools," he asked, "that the pursuit of excellence is not among our national sports?"

"That we do not value knowledge for its own sake but only for its practical uses?"

"That our standards of achievement are almost wholly material?"

"That we pay lip-service to the true and the good and the beautiful, but act on the conviction that it is dollars and cents that count—that they and they alone will buy what we really want: pleasure and comfort, power and prestige?"

He recommended that parents teach their children to put first things first: "physics before football, history before hot-rod-ding, principle before popularity, decency before dollars."

Repeatedly he emphasized that there must be a respect for learning and for those who guide the learners in their pursuit of knowledge—the teachers. Citizens must be prepared to pay the cost of upbuilding the educational system "even if it means giving up the country club, a second car or color TV."

Exactly 300 members of the class of 1960—four fewer than the preceding year—were prepared to launch their careers in a world that was in need of their services. Almost half of the Richmond College men were going into graduate and professional schools, and a number of graduates of Richmond College, the School of Business Administration and the Law School were ready to fulfill their military obligations before embarking on their careers.

For those who were ready to go to work immediately, particularly those who were in the upper echelon of their class, there was a brisk demand for their services. The salary range was from $350 to $565 a month. The top figure of $6,780 a year for a young graduate in physics was above the level of some of the teachers who had helped prepare him for the job.

The brisk demand for teachers, particularly in the sciences and modern languages, resulted in an upturn in salaries which for the most part were in the $3,800 to $4,000 range.

The number one man academically in the class, John B. Polhill, also winner of the Alumni Council Medal as the outstanding graduate, became the third student in the University's history to establish a straight-A record. He is enrolling this fall in Southern Baptist Theological Seminary to prepare for the Baptist ministry, possibly on the mission field.

John was in the audience that heard his father, Dr. Lucius M. Polhill, the baccalaureate preacher, urge the graduates to put their lives "in the orbit of God's will." Dr. Polhill is executive secretary of the Baptist General Association of Virginia.

In addition to the degrees in course, the University conferred honorary degrees on six of her distinguished alumnus.

On E. Claiborne Robins, '31, president of A. H. Robins Company, pharmaceutical manufacturers, the University bestowed the degree of Doctor of Laws. Dr. Robins is a member of the University's board of trustees and a leader in the civic life of Richmond.

Dr. Carroll M. Williams, '37, chairman of the department of biology at Harvard, received the degree of Doctor of Science, and Dr. David J. Carver, '05, of Baltimore, business man and philanthropist, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. The degree of Doctor of Commercial Science was conferred on William M. Bassett, '18, president of Bassett Furniture Industries, Inc.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on Kenneth E. Burke, '21, treasurer of the Baptist General Association of Virginia, and R. Inman Johnson, '15, alumni secretary at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and a member of the faculty.
Alumni-Alumnae Funds Reach $100,000; Westhampton Meets 1960 Pool Quota

Giving to the University of Richmond through the Alumni and Alumnae Funds will reach a record total of more than $100,000 in 1960. This is in addition to other alumni giving which did not clear through the fund. All alumni giving for the year will total more than $150,000, according to University Treasurer Charles H. Wheeler III.

With the help of an anonymous gift of $15,000, announced at the Alumnae Day luncheon, the Westhampton fund hit its goal of $40,000, as for the second consecutive year the old grads met their quota for the Swimming Pool fund.

Similarly the Alumni Fund assured of its goal of "$60,000 in 1960," coined a new slogan, "1960 Contributors in 1960."

ALUMNI FUND

Alumni giving of $60,000 was a good $7,000 above last year when a record high of $52,935 was contributed.

With this goal safely achieved, Alumni Council President Reed I. West looked around for new worlds for the alumni to conquer.

"Something from Everybody." the Fund to more than $440,000, a figure which should grow to matching programs, giving dollar for dollar what their employee.

Many, many, alumni gave to the very utmost of their ability, the faculty and the Westhampton students all pitched in (Westhampton students gave $1,425.07), but on Alumnae Day, June 4, the total which had been received was $23,000.00. At the luncheon that day, Mrs. Frank Epps, president of the R.F.I.-W.C.R. Alumnae Association, presented us with a check from her group for $12,000.00 which bolstered our spirits and boosted our total to $24,000.00. The climax came at the end of the luncheon when Dr. Wheeler, University treasurer, turned over to us a check for $15,000.00 which had been sent us by an anonymous donor. Thanks to this gift, we have achieved our goal for the second year, with a total of $41,453.52 from 1,007 contributors received in the Alumni Fund by the time the fiscal year ended on June 30. JUDGE MALCOLM RAY DOUBLES, '26, be­loved former Dean of the Law School, was honored by his former students and associates on Law Day, April 23. His portrait was unveiled in the courtroom of the Law School building that was his dream while dean at the old Columbia Building on Lombardy Street and for which he raised funds the year he was president of the Law School Association.

The portrait by Hugo Stevens was formally presented to the University on behalf of the alumni by Robert R. Merhige, Jr., '42, whose admiration for "the Dean," acquired as a student when he worked in the Law School office, has remained unaltering through the years. In presenting the portrait, Bob hit the high points in the life of Dean Doubles who was born in Michigan but has been a Virginian since the age of three. He was graduated from John Marshall High School and from Davidson College, where he majored in chemistry. He was a member of the Davidson College basketball team.

His plans to become a chemist were abandoned as a result of summer work with his father in the insurance field. While studying and working with insurance contracts, he became interested in law, and, as a consequence enrolled in The T. C. Williams School of Law.

He graduated from law school in 1926, having passed the Bar the year preceding his graduation. During his last year in law school, he practiced law with the late Carter Crawford Redd. Upon his graduation, he was given the award as the best all-round graduate and became an associate professor.

Dean Doubles subsequently took a leave of absence from the faculty and attended the University of Chicago, where he received his Doctor's degree in 1929. He returned to the law school and was appointed Dean in 1930, at which time he was reputed to be the youngest law school Dean in the country.

Shortly after Doubles became dean, our law school was approved by the Association of American Law Schools. During his service with the law school, he was the author of books on Legal Bibliography, Criminal Procedure and a casebook on contracts.

During World War II and for a short time thereafter, along with his duties as Dean, he performed the duties of Assistant Attorney General of Virginia until he was appointed Judge of the Hustings Court of the City of Richmond, Part II, in November, 1947.

Merhige, a Richmond attorney, brought a burst of laughter when he said:

"While my respect for the Dean has remained constant throughout the years, honesty requires that I state that my affection for him has fluctuated from decision to decision."

More sincerely, he added:

"To the present student body of the law school, I can only say that you have missed an exhilarating and sometimes frightening experience by not having had the opportunity of being a student under Dean Doubles. Many of us here today, I am sure, were subjected to his at least once a year walkout. I still vividly remember the Dean leaving a class with the statement that he had no intention of wasting time attempting to teach those who did not desire to be taught. I can assure you that the after effects of such a statement were such that there wasn't a man in his class for the next few weeks, who, even if he did not desire to be taught, did not give every objective manifestation of such a desire.

"His love and grasp of the law is tremendous. He instilled in all of us who were fortunate enough to study under him the feeling that ours is a profession of service. Preparedness in the law was his keynote, as it is today in his Court.

"The Dean has frequently been referred to as a man's man, he was a law student's teacher, and now he is a lawyer's Judge. We are all very proud of him and ask that the University may be graciously pleased to accept this portrait, with the thought in mind that it will inspire all students who enter here to strive to greater attainments."

Religion vs Materialism In West Germany

By C. BAILEY JONES*

I was one of nine ministers—Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish—who visited West Germany last November. We were guests of the West German government in a cultural exchange program. I was the only Baptist and the only Virginian among the nine.

I have been asked what we saw, what we heard, and, particularly, what is the status of religion in West Germany at the present time. My own conclusion, reluctantly reached, is that the material progress of Protestant churches there is far outstripping spiritual advances. We found magnificent church buildings but few really active church members. We found problems that West Germany's religious leaders are well aware of.

As Protestant Bishop Otto Dibelius of West Berlin put it, "The receptivity for the message of the church has not grown but diminished."

Apart from sports, economic affairs and entertainment of all sorts, the bishop said, there are only two things that grip the attention of his countrymen—technical progress and politics.

"Religious life," the bishop told us, "does not get a look-in. This is a severe judgment but true. There are too many things, many very urgent, that claim the attention of the people."*

In the principal cities of West Germany, we visited universities, theological seminaries, seats of government, refugee centers, schools and settlements. We had conferences with university faculty members, leaders of the three major religious faiths and five Evangelical (Protestant) bishops. We also visited places not on our itinerary, including the Palace of Justice at Nuremberg and two former Nazi concentration camps.

The Protestant church (Protestants make up 52 per cent of the total population) is an association of Lutheran, Reformed and United churches, but they have no common creed. Protestant church members pay a church tax which is deducted from their wages by the government, and most every church is new or restored by government money. The local churches could never have such magnificent churches if the members alone had to pay for them. Churches generally are larger and more elaborate than most in the United States.

Another problem seems to be the selection of ministers. To the question, "How do you recruit men for the ministry?" one churchman replied, "Why, we go to the..." (Continued on page 40)

*Mr. Jones, a graduate of 1945, is pastor of the West End Baptist Church in Suffolk. He was one of nine religious leaders who visited West Germany at the invitation of the government of that country. He extended his tour to include Switzerland, France and England.
The Philippines is a land of contrasts. Modern cities, with every convenience of the western world, alongside of exotic isles of coconut palms and nipa huts. Suave, sophisticated Spanish, living on huge haciendas, and squatters living in packing box barong-barongs. Graduates of the finest universities in the world and the “bajaus” or “zoos” of the primitive in the almost impenetrable jungles.

We have visited tribes where headhunting is only one generation in the past and where the blowgun and the bow and arrow are in daily use. We have seen a village industry where a bamboo tube and a coconut plunger provided a blacksmith forge identical to those used to make the first iron objects in this area of the world many centuries ago. The most used boat continues to be the banca, constructed by hollowing out a log. The log is most often a mahogany canoe and is made quite seaworthy by the use of bamboo outriggers.

The confusion of time as one travels to the Philippines and the confusion of history, the place where their national hero, Jose Rizal, was executed by the Spanish Government in 1896.

You would expect schools in such an environment to be unique and quite foreign to an American visitor. But they are not. They are very like our American schools. This also produces mental confusion in the American schoolman until he has time to refresh his memory of history and remember that the public schools of the Philippines are a creation of the United States government and pioneer American teachers.

The Spaniards for three hundred and fifty years had been in control of the government of the Philippines and the Catholic Church had provided a few schools for the local Spanish resident and a few native children. But there was no system of public schools and probably fewer than one in every several thousand native children had any access to education. Filipino leaders had recognized this great injustice and it was a major grievance of the people against the Spanish regime. When our government, as a result of the Spanish American War, took over these islands in 1898, one of our very first acts was to establish a system of public schools. Several major educational decisions had to be made, which have greatly affected the course of cultural progress since that time.

How could a system of public schools be established when there were more than a hundred dialects being spoken and when there was no written language for many of these dialects and no materials of instruction in any of them? There was no easy answer, and the solution was probably the only practical one. It was decided to establish a school system on the American pattern in which English was to be the medium of instruction, even though it was a foreign language to all the students involved. This decision made the provision of textbooks, instruction materials and a uniform language a possibility, but it created other major problems.

How could teachers be provided for such a public school system where the language of instruction was completely foreign to the inhabitants? The solution of this problem engendered the greatest missionary achievement of the American public school teacher. This chapter in American education is little known, but is truly a monument to the courage, unselfishness, pioneering spirit and creativity of the American classroom teacher. Our government appealed for teachers for schools of the Philippines in the early years of the 1900s. In 1902 a United States Army Transport, the USS Thomas, arrived in Manila with more than 2500 teachers on board. Others came later but this was the largest group to arrive at any one time and it so captured the imagination of the people of the Philippines that these early American teachers were called “Tomatis.” The “Tomatis” spread to all the islands and began to pioneer in education in the Orient.

We were talking to a leading lawyer of the Philippines recently. He was saying that he owed his education to the early American school teachers. We asked him to describe just how these early schools operated. He said that he was a boy of ten and had never been to school or had even heard of a school until it was spoken around the barrio that they were going to have a school and that it would be taught by an American teacher. On a certain day, a board painted black was hung up under a mango tree and the teacher appeared with some paper, pen and plier. There was no easy answer, but most of them have died, retired or returned to the States. A number of them were leaders in the guerrilla forces of the last war. A few suffered torture and death (Continued on page 40)

ALUMNI ELECT TOM YEAMAN GENERAL SOCIETY PRESIDENT

Thomas C. Yeaman Jr., '30, who served as Student Government President thirty years ago, has been elected president of the University's General Society of Alumni.

Yeaman, a member of the Richmond staff of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, succeeds Dr. Edward H. Pruden, '25, pastor of Washington's First Baptist Church.

Yeaman's election was announced at the annual Alumni Day luncheon in Millhiser Gymnasium, mid-point of a day-long program that came to a hilarious climax with the "Faculty Frolics," a takeoff on new-fangled education. It starred a number of the veteran members of the faculty, including two emeritus members, Dr. R. E. Loving, '96, physics, and Dr. Solon B. Cousins, religion. The script was written by Dr. Samuel W. Stevenson, a professor of English.

In addition to electing Yeaman president of the Alumni Society, the alumni chose A. W. Goode, '42, and William F. Kayhoe, '40, Richmond businessmen, and Robert W. Ferrell, '54, of Toledo, vice presidents; Jack B. Willeourne, '39, of Richmond, secretary, and Dr. Edward H. Pruden, '25, and P. Paul Saumier Jr., '40, both of Washington, as members of the executive committee.

Wilmer L. O'Flaherty, '11, a Richmond lawyer, was chosen president of the Alumni Council. Other Council officers elected are Malcolm U. Pitt Jr., '42, of Richmond, and William T. Bareford, '36 of Saluda, vice presidents; Joseph E. Nettles, '30, secretary, and Robert M. Stone, '30, treasurer. Reed I. West, '30, S. Frank Straus, '35, and John W. Edmonds III, '53, all of Richmond, and R. L. Lacy, '18, of Halifax, were elected to the Council's executive committee.

ALUMNI ELECT STUART CARY

Stuart B. Cary, '50, secretary-treasurer of the Via Contracting Co., Inc., in Richmond, was elected president of the School of Business Administration Alumni Association on Alumni Day, May 14.

He succeeds Edward L. Kurtz, his classmate.

Other officers are C. Ralph Martin, '52, vice president; Russell W. Miller, '57, secretary, and Frazier B. Hoover, treasurer.

The election was held at the Alumni Day breakfast which was attended by a turnout of more than 100 alumni. The meeting was addressed by John Pershing, general manager of the Richmond-Petersburg Turnpike Authority.

HOMECOMING—OCTOBER 15
Gridmen To Launch Expanded Program

By WALT P. DREWRY, JR.

RICHMOND civic and business leaders—a committee of 100 for the betterment of intercollegiate athletics in Virginia’s capital city—have pledged their support to a program that should vastly improve the Spiders’ fortunes on the football field and basketball court. It is believed that the new program will bring teams of national prominence to the city by 1962 or 1963.

The University has no Big Ten athletic level aspirations. The program proposed, however, has the endorsement of President George M. Modlin, the board of trustees and the faculty. Dr. Modlin has emphasized that the plan will not weaken the academic standards of the University.

The program calls for an additional expenditure of $50,000 for each of four years that would increase grants-in-aid for 41 to 66 for Coach Ed Merrick’s football squad and from 13 to 20 for the basketball teams of Coach Les Hooker. The additional scholarships would enable the Spiders to overcome a depth handicap which has hampered their athletic teams for the past several years.

Under the proposed football schedule five games would be played at home each season (gate receipts should carry the program after the first four years). Opponents would include:

- Five games against major Southern Conference teams such as West Virginia, Virginia Tech, VMI, The Citadel and William and Mary plus a game on a rotating basis against Furman, George Washington or Davidson.

FAMILY TICKET PLAN

A new Family Ticket Plan for University of Richmond’s home football games is available this year for season tickets and individual games.

If a parent or parents buy reserved seat tickets at the regular price, they may obtain reserved seats for their children in the same section at half price.

Tickets under this plan will be on sale only at the University of Richmond and family tickets for individual games will be on sale only through Thursday prior to that game.

Coach Mac Pitt, fielding his 26th University of Richmond baseball team, produced another winner in 1960. The Spiders posted an 8-2 Southern Conference mark to tie The Citadel for conference honors and Richmond's 7-0 record against State Big Five foes enabled it to capture the Old Dominion collegiate crown for the third straight year.

The Spiders' 13-3 overall record this Spring gave them a 16-10 won-lost ledger for the past three seasons. Over that three-year stretch Richmond has dropped only two of 22 games to Big Five opposition.

A couple of right-handers, Charlie Revere and Berry Swilling, did practically all of the pitching for the Spiders, figuring in all but one decision. Swilling, a senior from Richmond who also could be called upon for duty in the outfield or first base, won six games without defeat and paced the club at bat with a .465 average. Revere, a junior from Middlesex, turned in a 7-2 mark on the mound.

Chuck Boone, veteran catcher from Covington and center on the football team, was followed closely by scouts all season and signed a pact with the Richmond Virginians of the International League at the close of the season. Boone, a fine receiver and handler of pitchers, batted at a .265 clip to earn All-Southern Conference laurels for the third straight season.

Slender Alan Cole, playing his final season for the Pittmen, and Doug Martin, who still has another season of eligibility, again provided the Spiders with an excellent Keystone combination. Cole, rated by his coach as one of the finest shortstops in Red and Blue history, finished the year with a .242 batting mark. Martin batted only .212 but delivered a number of timely blows.

First base and third base figured to be trouble spots at the beginning of the year with J. P. Vass and Mickey Marinkov missing from the 1959 club. Mel Rideout and

HOMECOMING OCTOBER 15

October 15, the date of the football game with The Citadel, has been selected for Homecoming. The Citadel game is the first of three contests on the home schedule.

Plans call for a big celebration on the campus in the morning with a freshman football game, the joint luncheon in Millhiser Gymnasium, and the big parade preceding the feature contest in City Stadium.

ator may become a UR booster by membership in the Red and Blue Club, and continued alumni support is urged. Won't you help?

The 1960 University of Richmond football squad will number only 11 lettermen among a small squad of 39, so lack of depth will be the big problem. An incoming freshman group which Merrick regards as his "finest ever" should help overcome that difficulty in future years.

"This year's FIRST team will be about as strong as that of last year," says Merrick. "We'll have a little better speed but our passing and running game will depend on the development of Mel Rideout (a sophomore) and Dick Curl (a third stringer in '59) at quarterback."

Rideout showed up well in spring practice and has the edge over Curl at present. They'll team with such experienced hands in the backfield as Halfbacks Earl Stoudt, Art D'Arrigo and Ron Ridenhour and Co-captain Johnny Boggs and Jim McGimmes, fullbacks. Brent Vann is regarded as an "excellent sophomore halfback."

Junior Don Christman moves into the No. 1 center spot with Bob Sizer and Joe Pesansky, providing he recovers from a knee injury, at the guard posts. The first three tackles will be Co-captain Bob Buffman, Joe Trefrey and Bill Daughtery. Bob Coolbaugh and Art McGee return at the ends with Sophomore George Rapp regarded as "a real prospect."

The Spiders posted a 4-5-1 record last season. Merrick regards the "team in November (when UR beat George Washington, Furman and William and Mary) as my best."

Missing from that club's No. 1 unit are Quarterback Frank Gagliano, Halfbacks David Ames and Bob Dunnington, Center Chuck Boone, Guard Frank Vecchio, Tackle Pat Lambert and End J. P. Vass. From the No. 2 unit Quarterback Joe Rossetti, Guard Joe Arcudi, Tackle Fred Cavaretti and Ends Carmen Cavalli have departed along with Center Tommy Stearns, Guard-Tackle Gene Fox, End Ed Wood and Fullback Mel Horowitz.

Dunnington and Lambert, an All-Southern Conference selection, signed with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League. Ames, also an All-Southern selection, and Gagliano plan to play Canadian football at Montreal and Hamilton, respectively. Oakland of the new American Football League signed Cavalli.

The 1960 schedule:

Sept. 17-Florida State, away (night); Sept. 24-Open; Oct. 1-VM1, away; Oct. 8-West Virginia, away; 15-The Citadel, HOMECOMING; 22-Davidson, away; 29-Virginia Tech, home; Nov. 4-George Washington, away (night); 12-Furman, away; 19-East Carolina, away; 24-William and Mary, home.

William H. King, a Richmond attorney, has been elected president of the Virginia State Bar.

King did undergraduate work at Dartmouth University and received his LL.B. from the T. C. Williams School of Law in 1936. He has been practicing in Richmond for 24 years.

He has served as president of the Richmond Bar Association, a member of the executive committee and as president of the Virginia bar association and as president of the Richmond Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Oscar Fary Named School Principal

Oscar W. Fary, Jr., '28, has been named principal of the new George W. White High School on Richmond's South Side, which will open next September.

Mr. Fary, a commander in the naval reserve and a former professional baseball player, joined the city school system in 1942 as principal of Bellemade School.

He later taught at Bimford Junior High School and served successively as principal of Summer Hill school, Bainbridge Junior High, Franklin School, East End Junior and Nathaniel Bacon Junior High. He became principal of Albert Hill Junior High School last fall.

In a newspaper interview sometime ago, Mr. Fary said he is broadminded in his theories on education.

"I believe you've got to have the fundamentals, yes, but I also feel you've got to try new things," he said then.

He added that he felt teachers, parents and students all must have a voice in this new school.
MEN OF 1910 CELEBRATE

Viewed from one angle, fifty years is a long time. It sounds even longer when referred to in terms of half a century. Sound or reality, fourteen stalwarts survived the vicissitudes of two score and ten years after graduation and came back on June 5 and 6 for a class reunion.

Normally, the reunion would have taken place in May along with other class gatherings. However, because of the inability of one member of the 1910 group to arrive from Europe in time, the gathering was held at the later date.

Excellent preparation on the local level had been made by Frank Louthan. Although living in Atlanta, "Jasper" Ackiss rendered yeoman service by means of long distance communication. This cooperative planning explains the smoothness with which the functions were executed.

The first get-together of the series, appropriately enough, was of a religious nature. The Second Baptist Church was the scene of this fellowship for the reason that two of the members of the class are prominent personalities in this church. A third, the president of the class, had been identified with Second during his student days.

In addition to the worship service, there was a period of refreshment and picture taking at the home of Frank and Mrs. Louthan. In the evening, still guests of the Louthans, members of the group enjoyed a sumptuous supper and engaged in numerous reminiscences. During this happy period, Dr. R. E. Loving presented "Golden Legion" certificates "in recognition of a half century of devoted service to the University of Richmond." The full Sunday ended for the 1910ers with the Baccalaureate in Cannon Memorial Chapel.

The crowning feature of the series was a delicious Monday breakfast given by the class president, Dr. E. L. Ackiss and Mrs. Ackiss. The pleasure of this occasion was enhanced by the recounting of numerous incidents, many of them amusing, of by-gone days.

Apparently on the basis of longer travel, more talk, George Sadler was given a larger place on the program than was accorded his fellows. He used his time to tell of his recent European observations and experiences.

Frank Louthan shared with us interesting information about activities of class members since college days. Of the fourteen who attended at least one of the functions, five hold law degrees. One of these is a circuit judge, another is a state Senator, a third is a patent attorney, one is a title specialist and one is the retired executive secretary of the Virginia Manufacturers' Association.

Of the three clergyman, one, now retired, has spent his life chiefly in rural pastorate. Two hold graduate degrees plus honorary doctorates of divinity. One of these served as Captain in the Chaplain's Corps of the Navy. He is still active as a Home Missions official, the other has been a Foreign Missionary and a Foreign Missions administrator.

In the realm of medicine one has made his contribution as a dental surgeon and another as a specialist in diseases of eye, ear, nose, and throat.

The field of education has claimed one and the world of business has been enriched by another. One has engaged in educational and diplomatic service.

Inspired by rich fellowship and still looking to the future, the lads of yesterday agreed to come back in 1965 for the next reunion. Let us hope that during the interim, time will deal gently with the members of the group.

Law Day

The portrait was unveiled by Judge Doubles' granddaughter, Catherine Ray Nau mann. It was accepted for the University by President George M. Modlin.

After luncheon in the refectory, alumni assembled in the courtroom for presentation to the Law School by Claude W. Anderson, president of the Student Bar Association, of a plaque inscribed with the names of the school's winners since their entry five years ago in the National Moot Court Competition. The names of future winners will be added annually.

Following acceptance of the plaque by Dean William T. Muse, '28, brief but informative talks on current topics and problems in Virginia law were given by Professors James H. Barnett, Jr., '17, Ellsworth Wiltshire, James W. Payne, Jr., '52, and Harry L. Sneed, Jr., '47.

Law Day was concluded at the Hotel John Marshall with a dinner, dance and the customary business session. Elected officers for the coming year were: A. Scott Anderson, '31, of Richmond, President; Judge Benjamin L. Campbell, '36, of Petersburg, Vice President; Carle E. Davis, '34, of Richmond, Treasurer; Virginia Ivey, '48, of Richmond, Executive Secretary. New directors elected for a three-year term are M. Donnell Aldridge, '50, E. Ballard Baker, '47, both of Richmond, and Walther B. Fidler, '49, of Warsaw.

BAR FEES

Any Virginia lawyer who fails for two successive years to pay his State Bar fee will lose his license. This license can be restored only upon payment of all delinquent fees, in addition to a $100 fine.

This action was taken by the last General Assembly of Virginia.

STILL FULL OF PEP. The class of 1910 whoops it up in the garden of reunion chairman Frank G. Louthan as they celebrate their 50th anniversary. Leading the cheers are Dr. George W. Sadler (far left) of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board who came all the way back from Switzerland to be with his classmates; Virginia State Senator M. M. Long (second from left) of St. Paul, Va.; Captain Ernest Lee Ackiss (far right) of the Naval Chaplain's Corps, president of the class; and Mr. Louthan (second from right). Kneeling (from the left) are Stiles H. Ellyson, Edmund Belfort and G. Stanley Harding, all of Richmond. Standing (from the left) are Joseph F. Gulick of Washington; Circuit Judge Leon M. Bazile of Hanover, Va.; Dr. R. E. Loving, '36; Dr. William H. Powell of Wilmington, Del., and the Rev. Henry B. Jennings of Weems.
Alumni In The News:

Thomas L. Binford has retired from the active ministry after 36 years. He has held pastorates in Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio. His longest pastorate was at Arlington Street Baptist Church Akron, Ohio, where he ministered for a little over twenty years.

He and his wife, Ethel, have just moved to San Antonio, Texas, where their son lives.

A. L. Shumate is serving as interim pastor of Cave Spring Church where he was pastor for four years. He moved away eight years ago.

1912—
E. P. T. Tyndall is retiring after 36½ years in the physics department of the State University of Iowa.

1913—

James J. Coleman writes from Florida that "After trips to Alaska and Hawaii last year we have now visited all fifty of our states, and are looking forward to visiting my native state of Virginia this spring."

Ryland T. Dodge, who is now living at 709 Princeton Drive, Alexandria, retired a year ago and is now supplying for various churches.

John W. Elliott, Jr., has become associated with Program Associates. In addition to talks at dinners and conventions he spoke at seven high school commencements.

E. Norfleet Gardner retired from the regular pastorate on January 1 and returned from Laurinburg to Henderson, N. C., where he had formerly served as pastor for nearly 14 years. Since February, he has been acting editor of Charity and Children (circulation above 50,000) and is to continue in that capacity until the arrival of the new editor.

1915—

E. V. Peyton writes that he is kept busy supplying pulpits and holding revival meetings.

John A. Ryland took off some time for a fine vacation in Sarasota, Fla., and "enjoyed swimming in the Gulf of Mexico and sightseeing."

1917—

After 35 years as SBC missionary to the Chinese mainland and Taiwan, Robert L. Bausum and his wife are now retired and settled in Kentucky.

1920—

Forty years is a long time in perspective, but the afterglow leaves us wondering where the years have flown.

Some members of the class met in a memorable dinner and reception in the home of Dr. Clyde V. Hickerson, Richmond, May 13. After dinner we walked down the corridors of the past. Be-

MADISON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NAMED FOR A. WAVERLY YOWELL

An unexpected honor recently came the way of A. Waverly Yowell, ’11, and his reaction was typical of a man who has dedicated his life to serving people.

The Madison County School Board decided to name the former Madison County High School in honor of Mr. Yowell. This decision came when a new high school was built and the older school, formerly a combination elementary and high school, became an elementary school exclusively.

Mr. Yowell was superintendent of schools in Madison and Greene counties for 28 years before he retired 10 years ago to his farm near Etlan. It was during his tenure as superintendent that the school now named for him was built.

After the school board decided to name the school in his honor, a newspaper reporter asked Mr. Yowell how he felt about it.

He replied, "When I was made superintendent—a job I sought—I thought, 'I'm not equal to this job.' I feel that way now. Children should be able to look up mentally as well as physically to the name over the school door. It's a great responsibility."

Mr. Yowell said he got the idea of serving people from Mrs. Edna Buckner Early, his teacher in a one-room Rappahannock county school who gave him the only switching of his childhood.

Mrs. Early was one of the three women in his life. Another was his mother whose influence was so strong that in his mature years "I would think of what mother would have me do whenever problems arose."

Since 1914, the year of his marriage to Mary Elizabeth Hale of Madison County, Va., he has depended on Mrs. Yowell for inspiration and sound advice. Further, she supervised the operation of the farm, no small chore, meanwhile finding time to care for her flower garden which has won her more than county-wide acclaim. She recently qualified for a life national certificate for judging flower arrangements. Mrs. Yowell is a graduate of Lenoir Rhyne College.

In addition to his lengthy service as an educator, Mr. Yowell has several other length-of-service records. He’s been treasurer of the Frank Thornton Baptist Church for 53 years and he’s been a Mason for 52 years.

BRUCE COOK NAMED MANAGING EDITOR

A. Bruce Cook, '21, has been appointed managing editor of the Hudson Dispatch; a morning daily newspaper published in Union City, New Jersey. He has 43 years of newspaper experience, beginning in 1917 when he was a reporter for the Richmond Virginian, forerunner of the Collegian.

Cook has been associated with the Hudson Dispatch for 52 years, having become its assistant city editor in 1928, after having served as telegraph editor in 1927 on the Elizabeth Times. In 1935, he was promoted to city editor and advanced to managing editor in 1941.

A veteran of World War I, Cook has served as advertising and publicity director for a real estate firm in Sarasota, Fla., and also served as telegraph editor on a Manatee, Fla., newspaper. He was a police reporter for the Richmond Times-Dispatch following his graduation from Richmond College in 1921.

HERMAN DIXON HONORED

Herman B. Dixon, '29, recently received an award from the Little Rock, Ark., chapter of the National Office Management Association in Topeka, Kan.

Dixon was president of the Little Rock chapter in 1938-39, but was transferred to Topeka before the chapter was able to reward his leadership. He won the plaque for heading such activities as a "Visitation Day" for Little Rock high school business seniors to tour local industries and a citywide spelling bee for grade school children.

Dixon's leadership was also recognized as an undergraduate at the University of Richmond, where he was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa.

Beginning with an old annual, "THE SPIDER", we reviewed the parade of "the boys" from the hopeful twilight of the twenties to the solemn sixties.

Ministers, doctors, lawyers, business men, educators..."souls tempered with fire, fervent, heroic and good, Helpers and friends of mankind!" We feel that the Alma Mater has played a large role in the making of these men.

Driving down the road that skirts the beautiful lake on the University of Richmond campus, on Alumni Day, I saw the old home of Dr. Geo. W. McDaniel, once pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Richmond, who knew the students by name and often spoke encouraging words to them.

Hard by was the former residence of Dr. W. A. Harris, the popular professor, who taught much more than Greek.

On the campus, I leveled my eyes on the corner of Thomas Hall, and I was reminded of the crate of apples that I brought from home after the Christmas holidays. The fruit was shared with fellow students who dropped the leftovers out of the window.

That incident provoked a chapel service with the Christmas carols, and our thoughtless conduct seems to have contributed some mite to its progress.

Present at the pre-Alumni Day dinner were: Sam T. Bowman, Joe W. DeFarnette, J. Albert Hill, D. W. Charlton, Dr. Clyde V. Hickerson, and the gracious hostess, Mrs. Hickerson.

W. R. Broadhus, Jr., was re-elected a director of The First National Bank of Martinsville and Henry County, Martinsville, Virginia.

W. D. Charlton, chairman of the Niagara Square, has been elected chairman of the Niagara Frontier Section, American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

1923—

Dr. J. Warren Huldikey, chief of medicine at Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia, has been appointed assistant professor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

1924—

Dr. William J. Crowder, Director of Department of Missions and Evangelism, District of Columbia Baptist Convention, has accepted the invitation of the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., to give a course in Southern Baptist Policy. This course for seniors will include a study of the major objectives, principles, structures, techniques and methods used in the denominational program. It is designed to orient a student with American Baptist background to serve in Southern Baptist pastorate.

WELFFORD TAYLOR COMMANDS ORDNANCE RESEARCH OFFICE

The Richmond native secured his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Princeton University in 1930 and 1932, and from 1932-34 was a National Research Fellow at Princeton. He is also a graduate of the Army Command and Staff College and the Army War College.

From 1934-42, when he entered the Army Air Force, Col. Taylor was instructor and later associate professor at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

For the past three years Col. Taylor has been Commanding Officer, U. S. Army Ammunition Depot, Trois Fontaines, France.
Dr. Crowder is in his eleventh year with the District of Columbia Baptist Convention, which has dual affiliation with both the American and Southern Baptist Conventions. His previous service has been in both conventions.

E. H. Puryear has moved to Port Royal. He and his wife plan to attend the Congress of the Baptist World Alliance in Rio this summer and to visit their children and grandchildren in Recife, Brazil.

Waddy D. Street has been picked to set up the Missile Target Section of the Missiles Astronautics and Ammunition Division of the New Bureau of Weapons in Washington.

Emanuel Passamanack has been elected treasurer of the analytical group of the North Jersey Section, American Chemical Society.

1925—

Henry G. Chesley, Jr., president and treasurer of Wilson Paper Box Company, Inc., was re-elected president of the board of trustees of Richmond Memorial Hospital in January.

G. F. Bernard Mullin began the 18th year of his pastorate at Beale Memorial Baptist Church at Tappahannock this past March.

William R. Pankey is now in his tenth year of vocational evangelism. He carries on this specialized ministry in cooperation with the American and Southern Baptist Conventions. He lives in Richmond.

Guy D. Hicks is a busy man these days, for in addition to his job as Southeastern Sales Manager for Curtis Publishing Company he was elected First Reader in the Fourth Church of Christ, Scientist, at Atlanta, Ga.

Reade W. Corr is still superintendent of schools for Kent Co., Md. Last year, he served as president of the Chestertown Rotary Club.

J. Taylor Frazier was elected president of Rish Equipment Co., in Bluefield, W. Va., in March.

Dr. G. Cary White, head of the sociology department at Hollins College, has been named national vice president of the Travelers Aid Society, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and District of Columbia are included in his territory.

Dr. J. Maurice Trimmer is the new pastor of Highland Hills Baptist Church in Macon Ga. He writes, "I am very happy to be back in Macon behind Georgia, and back in the Southern Baptist Convention."

Norwood G. Green has been transferred to Richmond by the U. S. Secret Service as special agent in charge of the Virginia district.

Thomas Eugene Cates, who is now president of the Somerville, Mass. Council of Churches, served as general chairman for the National Conference of POAU (Protestants and other Americans United for Separation of Church and State) in Boston in February.

W. E. Cullers has been executive secretary of Dover Baptist Association in Virginia since 1955. He recently became a grandfather.

George W. Taylor has moved from New York to P. O. Box CM, Duke Station, Durham, North Carolina. He is now with the office of ordination research.

Arthur W. Harrison has just retired as founding president of Friends of the Richmond Public Library, an organization dedicated to the improvement of Richmond's public library system.

Edward R. Adams A. P. Gates R. Daniel Smith

Two University of Richmond graduates have been elected vice presidents at Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation, giving UR alumni three of the fertilizer and chemical company's six vice-presidencies and five of the firm's 11 officer posts.

Edward R. Adams, BS, '42, and A. P. Gates, BS, '48, are the new vice presidents. Company attorney R. Daniel Smith, Jr., LLB, '56, also has been elected general counsel.

Other U. of R. men holding down executive posts at V-C are Douglas W. Laird, BS, '42, vice president in charge of purchasing, and R. Clifton Long, BA, '47, corporation secretary whose duties include advertising, personnel, and public relations.

Adams, formerly Controller, will be V-Cs vice president in charge of finance. Gates, will be vice president in charge of fertilizer sales. He has served as general sales manager for the Fertilizer Division since 1956.

Both Adams and Gates, Phi Beta Kappas at U. of R., hold Master's Degrees from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Smith, the new general counsel, joined V-Cs legal department in 1956 and was elected assistant secretary two years later. He did undergraduate work at Roanoke College before enrolling in law school.

John B. Siegel, Jr., '30, and C. Claiborne Robbins, '31, have been elected directors of The Life Insurance Company of Virginia. Siegel is financial vice-president of LICV and Robbins is president of the A. H. Robins Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers.

Dr. Alfred Steiner announces the removal of his office to 630 Park Avenue, New York.

J. Leslie Hart has accepted a call to Pamplin Baptist Church in Pamplin, Virginia.

Peter N. Pastore, M. D., was recently elected a member of the Board of Governors, American College of Surgeons, and a fellow of the International College of Surgeons.

Robert M. Stone has a new granddaughter and a new grandson.

1931—

T. Jack Gary, Jr., has been elected vice-president of the Richmond Chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors.

E. Claiborne Robbins, president of the A. H. Robins Co., Inc., has been named as an honorary member of Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce fraternity at the University's school of business administration. The presentation, which is made to only one man each year by each of the local chapters, was made by the Delta Zeta chapter.

1932—

Lt. Col. Dudley B. Selden, '32, has retired from the army with 25 years service. He plans to attend Purdue University in July to take graduate work in mathematics preparatory to teaching mathematics at the college level.

1935-

Unanimous accord reigned at the 25th anniversary of the class graduation on May 15, 1960, when thirty-one members of the group gathered at the Charcoal House in Richmond. The surprising discovery which sparked this unanimity was the feeling that, while some of those who were not present had aged quite perceptibly, those present showed little wear and tear from their college days.

Bruce G. Dodd, Miami, traveled the greatest distance to be present. Others present from afar were: Waverly Barbe, Tuscaloosa, Alabama; David M. Frazer, Washington, D. C.; Harry C. Hubbard, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Cleveland C. Kern, Durham, N. C.; Roger W. Leverton, Cheverly, Maryland; Allen H. Lane, Jr., West Point, Va.; and Thomas H. Morris, Jr., Galax, Va.

Leverton, Class President in 1935, presided at the very informal occasion, a unique reunion as there were no formal speeches. Socializing and getting caught up on the class news were the main orders of business. University scenes were presented all present, as were a suitably inscribed souvenir card case which carried a picture of the Cannon Memorial Chapel on the front. Copies of a limited edition "Class Roster" were passed around, and checked carefully for personal data on many not present. The promise was made that the Roster would be considerably improved for the 50th reunion.

HOME COMING—OCTOBER 15
WALTER REID DEVELOPS TUNGSTEN PLATING METHOD

W. E. Reid, '49, a member of the electrodeposition group at the National Bureau of Standards, has devised an easy and rapid method of plating high-purity tungsten on metal surfaces.

The method, involving a vapor deposition process, makes it possible to coat such surfaces as rocket and missile nozzles and jet engine parts. This technique also lends itself to the fabrication of tungsten articles of complex shapes which can not be formed by other means.

Tungsten is one of the few metals that possess structural strength at temperatures above 2000°C (3632°F). Its extremely high melting point 3140°C; 5684°F), hardness, and corrosion resistance make it a desirable material for high temperature equipment. However, its brittleness and hardness prevent its being machined by conventional methods. With the development of this new vapor deposition technique, the high-temperature properties of tungsten can now be effectively utilized.

Executive Assistant to the President, Mr. Charles Watson, of the International Machine's World Trade Corporation is David Basil Morrissett, Jr., Richmond '49. He deals in corporate management such as negotiating labor contracts, as he did recently in Japan. Later Basil traveled to England to purchase I.B.M.'s minority interests there.

Traveling out of his office at 821 United Nations Plaza, New York City, Morrissett flies to Europe and the Far East on assignments. Mildred Irene (Tucky) Bellows Morrissett, Westhampton '50, went with him on his last trip to France, England, and Germany. Such journeys have allowed this Phi Delta Theta to meet with world figures Charles de Gaulle, Prime Minister Menzies of Australia, David Rockefeller, and Henry Cabot Lodge, who impressed Basil greatly. It is the highlight and most impressive of the things I've seen in Berlin. The difference between the communist world and the free world is like night and day. You don't need a borderline between the two sectors to know where you are. It is so clear that the free world has concentrated on the well being of the individual, whereas the Russians have stressed the state and propaganda and have not made the strides industrially and other ways. I find it hard to believe that anyone who sees Berlin could subscribe to the communist doctrine.

"Japan is clearly the most progressive country in Asia, and the Australians are much like Americans," Basil finds.

The University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School in 1950 gave a Master of Business Administration degree to this product of Thomas Jefferson High School, Eagle Scout, and alumnus of the finest professors to whom I was ever exposed. I will always remember Doctors W. W. II. and O. D. K. born in Richmond December 19, 1925. He served in the Army's Air Force in W. W. II.

"Tucky," formerly of Norfolk, and Basil live at 17 Vine Street, Bronxville, N. Y. with their five children: David, "Toddy" (9), Holly (6), Katie (5), John Douglas (3), and Bradford (2), and Joyce Rine Welch. Their five children: David, "Toddy" (9), Holly (6), Katie (5), John Douglas (3), and Bradford (2) often visit them in the city.

"It's hard to believe," says Basil, "that any school in the south gives a better business education than the University of Richmond. The City of Richmond is fortunate to have this school, and I hope as the years go by the city becomes more aware of this and takes more advantage of its graduates.

"The University of Richmond has an outstanding president in Dr. Modlin, who was one of the finest professors to whom I was ever exposed. I will always remember Doctor Loving, Thomas, and McDanel.

New York Chapter

The first meeting in 1960 of the New York Chapter was held on April 7th at the Phi Gamma Club on 106 West 56th Street.

Dr. Robert F. Smart, Dean of Richmond College, Edwin F. Comunale, '51, C. Norman Woerner, '52, Robert R. Storm, '52, leage, came up from Richmond to be our guest speaker. A well-attended audience enjoyed his inspiring remarks. He discussed how the University was meeting the various problems brought about by the increasing number of applicants. After his talk he answered many questions by a most enthusiastic group.

Bill Gaines and his nominating committee presented their recommendations and the following were elected to office: "Bo" Gillette '40 President, Matty Nathan '42 Vice-President, Al Dickinson '37 Vice President, Ralph Moore '38 Secretary, Sid Knips '42 Treasurer.

The group suggested that another meeting be held this year and the officers were asked to plan a fall meeting.

Anyone wishing to meet with this chapter should get in touch with W. B. Gillette, MU 6-6470.

Peninsula Chapter

The spring meeting of the Lower Peninsula Alumni Chapter was held on April 29, 1960 at the Warwick Hotel, Newport News, at 12:30 P.M. The meeting was called to order by the President, J. S. Phillips, Jr. Dr. John Garber, Pastor of the Hampton Baptist Church and a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Richmond, pronounced the invocation.

It was announced that all officers and members of the steering committee had met and drafted proposed by-laws. These will be presented at the fall meeting.

Alumni Day plans were discussed. Members were urged to attend all functions to be highlighted this year by a stag show presented by members of the faculty.

Carl Wise, Assistant Football Coach, spoke to the group on the athletic program at Richmond. His interesting and informative talk was followed by a question and answer period.

Roanoke Chapter

A meeting of the Roanoke Alumni Chapter was held at the Patrick Henry Hotel, April 29, at 12:30. The meeting was called to order by President B. F. Skinner, and the invocation was given by Rev. W. H. Connelly.

There were 26 members present at the meeting and, after a brief discussion of chapter business,

Mr. Warren A. Stansbury presented Coach Edwin J. Merrick, from the University Athletic Department.

Coach Merrick discussed the prospects for the 1960 football season at the University of Richmond and announced that certain business leaders in Richmond were organizing to raise $50,000 a year to put the Spiders on the athletic map.

Following Coach Merrick's presentation, a question and answer session concerning the athletic program ensued.

Metropolitan Washington D. C. Chapter

In spite of an after Easter recession, together with the usual conflicting engagements, and all the other pitfalls that bedevil an alumni meeting the greater Washington Area Chapter got its meeting off the launching pad on Thursday, March 21, 1960 in the Crystal Room of the Officers Mess Naval Gun Factory.

It was a joint affair with the Westhampton alumni who, although not nearly so numerous as the preceding year, certainly added to the attractiveness of the surroundings.

The featured speakers were all from Alma Mater and acquitted themselves nobly.

Ed Merrick, our coach of football who rounds the banquet field with the same finesse that he used in his player days at U of R led off the speakers. He scored from scrimmage again and again and thoroughly endeared himself to the local alumni. Bill Muse, the Legal Joshua who is as Dean, leading the Law School into the land of milk and honey followed up with an excellent statement of the case as regards U of R and you. Alumni Secretary Joe Nettles, who as director of alumni activities keeps us all together by a common bond, reported on our elder statesmen and stateswomen who still by their mere presence on the scene add dignity and prestige to our school.

After a delightful meal and equally delightful speakers, the following officers were elected for the year 1960-1961.

Frank R. Alvis Jr. '38 . . . . . . President
Richard W. Stone '51 . . . . Vice President
Glenn O. Grimmel '50 . . . . Secretary
George A. Terry '49 . . . . . Treasurer

Plans are still on the board to make the coming year an even better one. Should any of you stray alumni or alumnae ever get located in this area by all means get in touch with the above parties or if you were educated across the lake with Nan Manning (Mrs. J. Lawrence) or Libby Alvis (Mrs. Frank R. Alvis) and all will be glad to welcome you into the fold.

by the Richmond, Va., Recreation Department before entering the Army. He and Mary Anne Barker have become engaged and plan a summer wedding.

Melvin C. Burton, Jr., has left the Naval Air organization and taken a position with the IBM Corporation in Richmond.

Edgar B. Cahoon, Jr., writes, "I received an appointment to the grade of Second Lieutenant in the Army Reserve and took oath of office on Jan. 15, 1960. I am assigned to the Staff Specialist Branch under the Chaplains’ Corps. This program leads to a commission in the Army Chaplains’ Corps after I have completed my seminary training here at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary."

James Leslie Blackwell was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Blackwell on February 17, 1960. He is now attending Midwestern Theological Seminary and he and his wife live at 2029 Pennway Terrace, Kansas City, Missouri.

Theodore Davis Nordenhaus has moved from Switzerland tobegin work in the graduate department of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland.

Philip Francis Kahal is a graduate student at Yale Divinity School in New Haven, Connecticut.

Ruth Hoover Lide went to Florida for several weeks this winter. Leonora Dorsev Kilby is teaching Math at Mary Washington in Fredericksburg. Theresa Pollak, Mae Collins Robinson, and Frances Vaughan Fugile represented us at the gathering of Alumnae in April. They with Gladys Lumsden McCutcheon and me have contacted each of you about gifts to the all important Swimming Pool Fund. "Ladd' reported that fourteen of you had responded—it is really fifteen since mine hadn't gotten there then. It is fine to see some names we've not heard from for a long time. Please do drop us a line of news about yourself.

My Kitty Little DuPuy Alfriend has a new daughter (Lucy Peyton) born the last of January. This is her third daughter. I hope all three will be interested in Westhampton College.

Wish all of you could see the picture of Lillian Woodyard Lipscomb receiving a silver bowl as outstanding teacher of the year for her county. She looks just as cute and young as ever. Just heard that another teacher from our class has also received recognition of her fine teaching ability. Wilhelmina Wright will be head of the Math Department of the new John Marshall high school in Richmond.

Graduation time is again upon us and several of '24s children will be awarded the coveted sheepskins. Ruth Lazenby's daughter graduates from Westhampton. Inez Hite's from William and Mary, and several others will graduate too. My own daughter receives her diploma from Simmons College in Boston and her husband his doctor's degree from Howard Medical. They will go to Salt Lake City, Utah, where John will intern, but will pay her family a visit before they go.

I heard, fourth hand, that Virginia Gregory and Woodyard Lipscomb are getting a silver bowl as outstanding teachers. I'm delighted to be back. Last month the company had quite a fanfare for me, complete with a white orchid, to celebrate my twenty-five years of service.

MRS. YEAMAN HEADS PTA GROUP

A 20-year hobby (the PTA) will become a full-time responsibility this year for Mrs. Thomas C. Yeaman (Virginia Perkins '29), the new president of the Richmond Federation of Parent Teachers Associations.

The class room holds a special charm for her because it was there she met her husband in a chemistry course at the University of Richmond. Ever since college days she has kept her finger in school activities both as a teacher and a parent. Even now, with a married daughter and a high-school son, she has a dual role when she substitutes as a biology teacher.

Mrs. Yeaman is known by today's Westhampton girls who see her frequently in the snack bar and book shop which she oversees in her capacity as Alumnae Association chairman of the College Campus Shop. The new president's other activities include the AAUW, the League of Women Voters, and service during the past year as a member of the legislative committee of the Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Come, is enrolled in Westhampton for the next term. Isn't it nice to have a daughter of '27 at Alma Mater?

In April, Eleanor Waters Ramsey attended the National Council of Teachers of Math in Buffalo, New York, as a representative of her school. Eleanor reports it was a stimulating experience which put new pep in her teaching. Her daughter, Louise, is finishing her first year of junior high school.

You will note from the above address I've moved back to Atlanta—still with American Telephone and Telegraph Company. I'm more than delighted to be back. Last month the company had quite a fanfare for me, complete with a white orchid, to celebrate my twenty-five years of service with them.

HOMECOMING—OCTOBER 15
Reunion Day 1960, Saturday, June 4, saw one of the largest crowds of alumnae in Westhampton’s history assembled on campus. Topped in attendance only by the year in which Westhampton celebrated her nae in Westhampton’s history assembled on campus. The year in which Westhampton celebrated her fortifith anniversary, this year’s group of returning alumnae with their spirited marching and singing was without question foremost in enthusiasm.

The day began with registration accompanied by coffee and doughnuts at 10:00 A.M. in Keller Hall. The annual meeting started at 11:00 and included reports by Antoinette Wirth Whitted, Alumnae President, and representatives of the local clubs. Speaker of the morning was Mary Ann Guy Antoinette Wirth Whitted, Alumnae President. The day began with registration accompanied by coffee and doughnuts at 10:00 A.M. in Keller Hall. The annual meeting started at 11:00 and included reports by Antoinette Wirth Whitted, Alumnae President, and representatives of the local clubs. Speaker of the morning was Mary Ann Guy Franklin who gave a talk on “Asia at Home” and showed most interesting slides taken while she was in Thailand last year on a Fulbright Fellowship.

Luncheon was preceded by a grand march of reunion classes who were led off by the Class of 1925 and marched in order each class bearing a sign with its numerals, into the gym where the other alumnae had already taken their places at the tables. The invocation was given by Dr. Charles H. Wheeler, University Treasurer. Following the meal (which was delicious) Toni Wirth Whitted welcomed the guests who had come the greatest distance to attend including several alumnae from California, and introduced those sitting at the speakers table. General singing was then led by Jody Weaver Wampler, who also played songs popular during the graduating years of the reunion classes.

Elizabeth Darracott Wheeler recognized the Westhampton professors who had taught at the school five years, or multiples of five, and red carnations tied in blue ribbon were presented to each. Miss Sadie Engelberg then introduced two members present who had attended Richmond College fifty years or more ago. She presented a certificate to Miss Clara Gary who graduated in 1910.

Anna Hallett Sniffen took the speaker’s stand to read selections from letters, reminiscent, gently humorous, or deeply sincere, all written by various alumnae paying tribute to Miss Pauline Turnbull who retires this June. Miss Turnbull was presented with a gift of matched luggage.

Then, shades of student days, there was a song contest staged between the reunion classes. 1925 again led off with a dashing original number about the swimming pool wing. Various proclamation songs were rendered, beautifully too, by the other classes. After serious deliberation judges Hannah Coker, Louise Thompson Chewing, and Henrietta Sadler Ellwanger announced the winner, the Class of 1950, who were then given their well-earned prize, a large box of candy. A similar prize was awarded to 1940 for having the greatest percentage of members attending the reunion luncheon.

Mrs. Frank Epps, President of the RFI-WCR Alumnae, then spoke briefly and presented a check for $1,000.00, contributed by members of her group for a memorial window in the swimming pool wing.

A hilarious skit wound up the program. Adapted by Evelyn Boatwright Lynch, it recounted the trials of the alumnae group that had too much of everything, too many glamorous alumnae panting to serve on committees and too much money (the swimming pool fund committee was dissolved because the University had announced a buried treasure was found with several million dollars all earmarked for Westhampton’s special project). After a rousing conclusion, accompanied by many chuckles, Dr. Wheeler stood up to announce that he was indeed sorry that there was no buried treasure; however, he went on, he did have a “little check” which an anonymous donor had sent to the University as a gift toward the swimming pool fund. Leslie Booker, accepting the check, reported the “little” gift amounted to $15,000.00, enough to make this year’s goal of $40,000 a reality. After such an unexpected and thrilling climax, the program closed with the singing of “Tell Me Why” and “Alma Mater”.

The luncheon was immediately followed by tea served by the RFI-WCR Alumnae in their room at Keller Hall.

The day’s festivities closed with a beautiful reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Modlin at the president’s home on campus at five o’clock. The delicious food, the lovely setting, and the gracious host and hostess, made this occasion the perfect climax for a memorable day.

90 seniors in tow. She got to see a couple of shows—also had a chat with Maude Everhart Tremper.

Last summer, Maude was laid on the shelf temporarily when she had to have an operation on her foot. But all that was relegated to the limb in October when her eldest presented her with a gorgeous new grandson.

And Jean Wright Woodfin is a grandmother! Congratulations, Jean. Her older son is the proud father. Her younger son is in his third year at VMII. And I hear via the grapevine he’s a mighty good-looking youngster and, in the words of the grapevine, he’s as “cute as he is good-looking.”

MARY RYLAND BABCOCK

Westhampton College lost one of her most loyal daughters in the recent death of Mary Ryland Babcock, Westhampton '32.

In college she had been May Queen, a member of Mortar Board, and an enthusiastic participant in many other student activities. After graduation she continued to serve Alma Mater faithfully—as Vice-president of the national Alumnae Association, in various offices of the Richmond Alumnae Club, and as Chairman of the Emily Gardner Memorial Fund. In addition she had been always active in her church, Second Baptist, Richmond. Most recently she had been teaching at St. Christopher's School, Richmond. Her life was saddened by the death in 1952 of her husband, Alvin J. Babcock, Richmond '25.

In spite of her duties at home to four young children, she was never too busy to give cheerfully of her time and talents to any who asked. Mary's infectious good spirits, her fine sense of humor, and her great personal charm will be sorely missed by a host of friends.

center around '30s children, with the following exception:

Elise McClintic heads west this summer to attend the Democratic Convention in Los Angeles. Margaret Lowe Logan acquired a new daughter and another granddaughter this past year—her son Harry's wife and daughter Pri's baby girl, born a year ago in March.

Margaret Flick Clark will bring her daughter, Charlotte (a potential Westhamptonite), to our reunion. Lina Light has a niece, Janet Page Light, and a new granddaughter this past year—her son Christopher's School, Richmond. Her life had been filled with duties at home to four young children, she was never too busy to give cheerfully of her time and talents to any who asked.

All of us are truly saddened by the death of one of our most beloved classmates, Mary Ryland Babcock. From a young age, she had been an integral part of our Westhampton family. In her memory, we will always remember her as a kind and compassionate person who was always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

Hazel Weaver Fobes left with her family by jet on June 27 en route to New Delhi, India. Her husband accepted an assignment as assistant to the Minister of Economic Affairs, ICA. He will work closely with the Indian Government to aid in their economic development, to be a part of the technical assistance program. Patti, who graduated from high school in June, will spend a year with her family in India. Having learned French while her family lived in France and being fluent in that subject, she will continue her studies at the University of Richmond in New Delhi. Hazel attended a Foreign Service course for wives in preparation for her stay in India. She has been asked by national headquarters of A.A.U.W. to send them articles on India, and the suggestion has been made by her local school system that she write a book. We too look forward to hearing of her experiences.

Mary Harrington Mekler and her family have bought a large, old house at 900 West Franklin St., Richmond, Virginia. They enjoy the winter sports and all the pleasures of New England living.

Nannie Harris Fuqua found time to attend our reunion after a hurried return from Oklaho, where she attended the graduation of her son-in-law. Our reunion coincided with the year she should have been coming to the University of Richmond for her son's graduation. Bill Fuqua died in November 1958. When I last saw Nannie, in about 1944, she was bringing her son to Richmond for treatment for diabetes, which he had developed at the age of six. In spite of this condition, he lived a well-rounded life, and many people did not know he was diabetic. Although a number of memorials have been established in his memory, Nannie treasures most a letter from Dr. Cousins in which he said that Bill was in all ways a gentleman. Nannie's daughter, Mary Frances, attended Averett and graduated from Pennsylvania State with an average of 3.5. Nannie's address is 1110 Pinewood Drive, Fredericksburg, Maryland.

Margaret Gravitt Varkentine was in Richmond in May to attend her aunt's funeral. She and her family have our sympathy.

Mary Pat Early Love enjoyed a brief visit a few months ago in Margaret's home in St. Petersburg. Tess Carter Hawkins, who now lives at 2037 Sherwood Avenue, S. W., Roanoke, stayed with

ALUMNAE HONORED

Congratulations to:

Mrs. May Thompson Evans, ’21, for receiving an official commendation and incentive award from David E. Price, assistant Surgeon General, Chief of the Bureau of State Services, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The recognition came for her “superior performance” as co-editor of the "Executive Memorandum" series, an official communication sent to key officials. The citation commended Mrs. Evans for the “sustained high quality” of the series.

Theresa Pollak ’21, for placing among the top ten in the Fifteenth Irene Leach Memorial Exhibit of Contemporary Virginia and North Carolina Painting at the Norfolk, Va., Museum. Miss Pollak won a fifty-dollar award and her painting, "A Mountain Lake," was one of three from the show purchased for the museum’s permanent collection.

Mrs. James L. Deck (Helen Pollard ’32) who was recently elected president of the Richmond Council of Women’s Organization.

Mrs. Beecher Stallard (Frances Anderson ’28) who won first place in the lyric poetry category in the annual contest of the Tuckahoe Woman’s Club.

Miss Elizabeth M. Angle ’37, who has been named manager of the research department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. A member of the bank’s staff since 1949, she holds a master’s degree in statistics. In addition to her work at Westhampton and the University of Richmond, Miss Angle has studied at the College of William and Mary, Richmond Professional Institute, the University of Michigan, Oklahoma State College, and North Carolina State College.

Bev Bates while attending our reunion. One of Tess’ daughters is named for Bev.

Rhea Talley Stewart was invited, along with 16 other newspaper and magazine writers, to attend the opening ceremonies of the new capital of Brazil, but they did not reach Brasilia in time for the formal opening. Their plane landed in Caracas, Venezuela, for a routine stop, but a rebuff leader from Colombia took this time to cross the border, and a revolution ensued. The airfields were closed down, and Rhea and her party were taken to a nearby hotel, where they remained until the situation calmed down. In addition to the revolution, a strike was going on, and so Rhea says that there was a certain informality about the service in the hotel. Two days later, mid-barricades and soldiers, they boarded their plane for Brasilia. President Juscelino Kubitschek opened the Palace of the Down, the president’s palace, and entertained the group with strong Brazilian coffee. Rhea states that Brasilia was not made from the jungle but from a flat plateau where nothing will grow but a few distorted trees and some clumps of grass; in order to raise anything in that acid soil, quantities of lime must be flown in. The information I have given you about Rhea’s trip came from an article she wrote for The Hartford Courant.

Betsy Cannon Kimball wrote me from The Pentagon, where she is supervisor of the Unclassified Correspondence Control Unit in the Immediate Office of the Secretary of Defense. She also represents the OSD on the Interdepartmental Committee which wrote the new Correspondence Manual for the Federal Government, which went to press in June. Her big organization activity is the Women’s Auxiliary of the National Orthopaedic & Rehabilitation Hospital. For the past four years she has been in charge of the Auxiliary’s jewelry project, making and selling costume jewelry. She also shows her basenjis, Kujo Muto, at dog shows where she has a Siberian, and has collected a handful of ribbons and a silver trophy. Not having enough to occupy her, Betsy has taken up sculpture, and she was one of eight finalists whose gargoyles modeled the National Cathedral selected for carving. Betsy’s model was based on her basenji’s. Betsy’s children refer to her as “the Grandmas Moses of Arlington.”

We always thought our class was outstanding, and the activities of some of our members make us gape for breath—more next time!

We offer congratulations to John and Edith Stumpf Covert on the birth of a son John, Jr. in February. With one daughter finishing at George-town Visitation College in June and three others at home, Edith will surely have a busy summer.

The last newsletter from Jessie McElroy Junkin from Florida reports that in addition to all the usual missionary activities, she is “teaching English to a 7th grade in a Chinese Junior High.”

While Anne Scott Campbell Jacobs will continue teaching at Primaries at St. Christopher’s, Pete is leaving that school to become Athletic Director and Business Manager for the Collegiate Schools. They hope to be in their new home which they are building near the Collegiate Schools in October.

Our sincerest sympathy goes to Garland Wilson Brookes whose mother is in the hospital in Richmond.

Briefer: I am very much moved by the news that the AIB is planning a national convention of the AI&B which would be held at Boston the week prior to our reunion.

Vacation time is here again and we’re headed back to Nags Head, North Carolina, for a bit of lazy living by the sea. Lots of good sunshine and good fishing along the Outer Banks makes for a grand season for us.

In March, Margaret Brittingham Cartice had a luncheon for former Westhampton girls who now live near her, and she is hoping to start a Westhampton Alumnae Chapter in that area. Margaret’s address is 3802 The Alameda, Menlo Park, California, and she would very much like for you California —irls to get in touch with her. She had hoped to have six at the luncheon but Kitty Wick er Hunt and Marie Keyser Jordan were unable to attend. Margaret says she found Ine Schott Barnhart ’43 most attractive. Her husband, Bill, is an engineer for AMPX and was sent by his company to the Fair last summer, where he took some part in recording the Nixon-Khrushchev debate. Both Ise and Bill take an active interest in music.

Virginia Parker Dozier '43 is with her husband who is stationed at Moffett Field, California, as a member of a Jet Squadron. They have three sons and one daughter. Lucy Burke Allen Meyer '43, has three children, and is reading seriously in the Behavioral Sciences. I imagine a great number of us feel the need for such literature at times. Phyllis Cook Wilkinson and Estelle Greenbaum both live in Van Nuys, California.

Down in Florida, Cecile Gaddis Smith has completed work on her teacher's certificate with prac­tice teaching at the P. K. Yonge Laboratory School of the University of Florida. She is president of the A.A.U.W. and was elected to Phi Lambda Theta, honorary women's educational fraternity.

Frazier and Stuart Catron were in Richmond in March for the Stoneburner Lectures at M.C.V., and Lib Henry Belcher and "It's" Holden Slipek had a delightful visit with Frazier at lunch. "It's" and Ed have another precious little girl, Margaret Dillard, born January 10 of this year.

ALUMNA HOLDS THEOLOGY POST

The fact that Helen E. Falls, '36, is the only woman in a Southern Baptist seminary teaching in a school of theology is proof enough of her superiority in a field usually dominated by men. Further evidence that she holds her own in this unusual capacity at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, is a recent class taught by her with an enrollment of 104 students, 99 being men.

Miss Falls came to the seminary in 1945 and presently is associate professor of missions and counselor of women. The latter post offers her an opportunity to advise the female students not only on curriculum, but on personal problems as well. In addition to her teaching and advisory duties, she is faculty sponsor for the Mission Volunteers Organization and the campus YWA.

In 1955 Miss Falls visited the mission fields in South America, Africa and Europe travelling along during most of the 27,000-mile jaunt. This summer she will do research on a book to be published next year by Broadman Press. Beginning in September, 1962, she will take a year's sabbatical leave which she plans to use for further study.

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

By RHEA TALLEY STEWART and GLADYS SMITH TATUM

When the day of reckoning came after 25 years, and the class of 1935 gathered in reunion, we were gratified to find out we had produced, not only 72 children among 47 of us (and only seven of us had put ourselves out of the running by remaining unmarried) but an impressive list of accomplishments. Twenty-five returned for the 25th, celebrated with a delightful dinner at the Colony Club of the Hotel Jefferson, arranged by class secretary Gladys Smith Tatum, who is a secretary with the Richmond Department of Public Safety, and in the intervening years has worked as secretary for Dean May L. Keller. A successful businesswoman in our class, Dorothy Chewning, who has her own real estate and insurance business in Richmond, is a member of the Colony Club and sponsored us there.

We were flattered that the Alumnae Day speaker was one of ours: Mary Ann Guy Franklin, who showed slides of the Orient, where she spent eight months on a Fulbright Fellowship. Mary Ann is television consultant of the Richmond Board of Education, and has been an exchange teacher in the British Isles.

Hazel Weaver Fobes was learning Hindustani as a prelude to setting up housekeeping in New Delhi, India. Her husband is assistant to the minister of economic affairs under E.C.A. and will be in India as part of the technical assistance program. The Fobes family already has had the experience of living in Paris.

Hockey played at Westminster, made a world tour of Harriet Walton, who has played on all-star teams in Africa, Australia and Europe, and is one of 32 honorary members of the U.S. Field Hockey Association. When at home, Harriet teaches biology at St. Catherine's in Richmond.

The new capital of Brazil, Brasilia, had been the recent goal of Rhea Talley Stewart, who was in a party of newspaper writers invited by Real Airlines to visit Brasilia for its opening. Rhea, who is represented in a college textbook on creative writing, lives in Manchester, Conn., but goes often to New York in her work as correspondent for several newspapers.

A Woman of the Year is in our midst: Nan Owen Manning, who was named Arlington's outstanding woman of the year by the Cathedrals service. The numerous offices Nan has held include presidency of the Greater Washington Chapter of Westhampton.

Mary Mills Freeman is a member of the board of trustees of the University of Richmond, an eminence that dazzled us to think of when we were in college. Mary is one of Richmond's civic leaders and shares with Margaret Walker Knowlton (who couldn't come from Claytonmont, Del.) the record of size of family, five. Our class president, Helen Caulfield Ballard, who looks prettier than the day she was our May Queen, continues to lead, and is especially active in school work in Norfolk.

The spirit of enterprise is alive in us. Beverly Bates is conducting a pioneer program for senior citizens in Richmond, directing the Senior Center which the Junior League has established in Richmond. Bev went overseas with the Red Cross during the war and until last year directed occupational therapy at the Medical College of Virginia.

Betsy Cannon Kimball was a fine example of enterprise when, in her home in Alexandria, she realized the need for Americanization classes for gargoyle, and without previous experience in sculpture she modeled a gargoyle after her basenji dog. Hers was one of the entries to make final judging, and at the dinner she was awaiting the ultimate decision. Beverly works for the Pentagon for pay and in many organizations as a volunteer.

Teaching has occupied many, and we were impressed by the number who have gone back into teaching after taking time out to raise a family. Betty Marston Sadler has returned to teaching in Richmond. Estelle Veazey Jones wrote from Hermosa Beach, Calif., that she was teaching home-bound students, and in St. Petersburg, Fla., Margaret Gravatt Varkentine is teaching again, she writes.

Billie Rowlett Perkins teaches physics and mathematics at Richmond Professional Institute and simultaneously is a graduate student at the University of Virginia. Billie holds the distinction of having the first class daughter to enter West­hampton. Connie Vaden Moore was a principal during she deserted teaching to be a Richmond homemaker.

Some teachers who did not make our reunion were Katherine Grace of Port Washington, L.I.; Marion Alport of the University of Richmond; Gertrude Lewis of Culpeper, Va., Margaret Taylor Galloway of Richmond, and Laura May Thomas­son Leach of Annapolis, Md.

One who concentrates her teaching background on P.T.A. work is Lottie Brit Callis of Richmond. Sue Whittet Wilson also is active in many organizations of Richmond, as is Lulu Williams Pearce. In Roanoke Tess Carter Hawkins is occupied with the A.A.U.W. and other groups, while Jacqueline Johnston Gilmore is prominent in Richmond's church and garden clubs.

Anna Hallett Sniffen of Newport News displayed her Madam Chairman technique on Alum­nae Day when she presented a scrapbook to our retiring (at both senses of the word) Pauline Turnbull. Peggy Brown Dixon keeps busy in Norfolk.

Government has taken Mary Pat Early Love's interest; she is with the Department of Internal Revenue in Richmond. In Hyattsville, Md., Mariejorie Puryear Carwile is in charge of payroll and personnel for a large U.S. company, and Jean Shafer, one of the missing from our reunion, is a technician with the Virginia Board of Health.

Scattered over the country, many others of '35 report. Sue Cook McClure Jones sent us photographs of her glamorous California house (swimming-pool attached) in Palos Verdes Estates. Annette Wulff Alton is Miss America of 1953 and resides in Nashville. Another Californian is Tackie Lowe van Rose of a small place in Santa Barbara. Others in our class are Jessie Neale Jensen of Urbana, Ill.; Alice Oberle Harris of New Haven, Conn.; Dorothy Nalle Gerzemy of Palmer Heights, Ohio; Otelia Francis Bodenstein of Crownsville, Md., who made her home on a boat for some years; Minnie Smith of Delaplane, Va.; Alice Harrington Hunt of North Augusta, S. C., and her sister at the other end of the country, Mary Harrington Meeker of Barre, Vt.; Evelyn Wycoff Eure of Drexel Hill, Pa.; Helen Wilson Akin of Richmond; and Jean Nelson Deck Pugh of Williamsburg; Mildred Epes White of Blackstone, and Elizabeth Clary Brolddus of Arlington.

One thing that is a pleasure to see two girls who entered college with our class but withdrew before graduation: Nannie Harris Fuqua of Fredericksburg, and Susie Anderson Ackerman of Richmond.

And there is the member we lost, Margaret Whitesel Martin, who was drowned in 1950, in which memory we are making our gifts to the Alumnae Fund.

Twenty-five years... and to each other we looked as we did in 1935, and it seemed that we had kept pretty good faith with Alma Mater.
MEMO TO WESTHAMPTON DAUGHTERS

There's a third generation on the way! At "Brightwood" in Barnesville, Ga., the home of Dr. and Mrs. George T. Henry (Pamela Carpenter '43) there are eight youngsters, five of them girls. Their grandmother, Mrs. Webster L. Carpenter (Juliette Brown) was in the Class of 1919.

All of us have been so pleased to read of the stage and television successes of Laurence Hugo, Carolyn Gary's husband. Both the New York critics and our local papers say he is of star quality, and to watch for him again. Another star, in a different field, whose achievements were lauded in the New York Times, is George Shackelford whose wife is the former Betty Ann Petinger. Shack is now vice-president in charge of life, health and accident departments of Travelers Insurance Companies.

Antoinette Whittet, Mrs. Booker and Miss Crenshaw went to New York to speak to the New York Club. Sue Trussell Wright and Mary Bonifant and enjoyed hearing about her new born son, Crenshaw went to New York to speak to the P.-T.A. meeting.

Mayme Stone attended the fund-raising drive for the New York Club. Sue Trussell Wright and Mary Bonifant and enjoyed hearing about her new born son. Kitty Crawford Lindsey is now living in Hawaii where she will work for a Master's degree at the University of Hawaii. Her address is Mrs. Catharine Lindsey, 1520 Halekoa Drive, Honolulu 16, Hawaii.

1946 Secretary

MRS. GILES E. WOOD, JR. (Mary Frances Bethel)
972 Hugo Street, Norfolk 13, Va.

This will be my last letter as class secretary. I have thoroughly enjoyed hearing from all of you during the past two years. Now, Barbara Richie Branch will take over as secretary, and I know everyone will keep her well supplied with news.

The Abbots, Gale and Don, have been transferred back to Cincinnati, Ohio, from Indianapolis. They have bought a new split-level house which they love. Their new address is 5687 Woodhaven Dr., Cincinnati 11, Ohio.

Anne Jones Parker and Don also have moved to 1235 E. Howard St., Pasadena 6, California. Anne says that it is wonderful to have loads of room and surprisingly, it's easier to care for than a smaller house. We have a new address for Barbara Richie Branch, too. She and David have moved to 1252 Persinger Rd., S. W., in Roanoke.

Ding Lambeth Shotwell says that at long last the doctor feels that she is showing additional recovery from nephritis. Being on a limited activity schedule, she has to pick the one thing each week that she must like to attend. We're all hoping for your complete recovery very soon, Ding.

With all of her children in school now, Peggy Mary Chevins is playing lots of bridge and golf. She's planning to go back to school, too, to brush up on her Chemistry. The Chevins remodeled their house last Summer and say they have it just about the way they want it now. We'd like to express our deepest sympathy to Peggy, who lost her mother last Summer.

Alta Ayers Howard, Dowell and their children had a delightful Summer, Mark, camping in northern Michigan and Canada. They spent a week at Kitty Hawk, N. C., saw Niagara Falls, and had several shorter trips. The children at 8, 6, and 3½ were interested and interesting. Alta and Dowell are teaching Sunday School together as a teacher-observer team in the 8th grade.

Our congratulations to Betty Edwardsen and Frank Neutze whose third daughter, Lisa, was born March 51, 1939.

Jeanne Bebworth Gammon and Charles have a new address: Edward Ave., Route 4, Salisbury, Maryland. Jeanne has been Church Circle Chairwoman, dabbles in ceramics, and acts as chauffeur for her three children's activities—Church Choir, Brownie Scouts, Ballet lessons, etc.

The Bertons, Pat Husbands and Bill, went to California last Summer to visit their families. Bill is now an associate professor, and is enjoying his work very much. Their oldest child is in the 4th grade, Pam is in the 1st grade, and Jimmie, 4, is still at home with Pat.

Joyce Eubank Todd wrote that they have been extra busy getting ready to move. Howie got a new job (still in Richmond) with the requirement that he move his residence within the city limits.

ALUMNA HOLD KEY POST

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is on the job . . . and so is Page Nelson Price, '27. As director of Public Information of the American National Red Cross for the Eastern Area, covering 16 states with more than 1500 local chapters, Miss Price interprets the organization's year-round activities and directs communications during major disasters. In recent years, these have included the Worcester, Mass. tornado of 1953, the New England hurricanes of 1954, the Eastern States floods of 1955, and the Eastern Kentucky-Virginia-West Virginia floods of 1957.

After attending Westhampton, the Red Cross director studied at National Business College in Roanoke, Va. Pursuing a high-school dream of a career in journalism, she went to the N & W Railway as assistant magazine editor. In 1944 she joined the Red Cross as photo and display chief and assumed her present post in 1951. Throughout the years, Miss Price has been active in the publications field, serving as regional vice-chairman of the National Council of Industrial Editors. Specializing in social welfare interpretation, she is frequently in demand for seminars and as a member of governmental conference committees.
So they sold their house and bought another one about 3½ miles distant at 1600 Wilmington Ave. It is an old house, and they have been patching and painting. The Todds have a new daughter, Joy, who joins Gall, 4, and Glen, 2½. Joyce and Howe had a day's visit at Hot Springs, Va., which she said was delightful.

Jackie Barnes Wolf reports her new address: 1085 Magnolia Road, West Englewood, N. J.

Ellen Hodges Proxmire wrote that their life is so hectic and complex that it just seems to be routine to be breathless. In the midst of a very busy March, they had their kitchen remodeled and were without a sink or stove for a week.

In addition to her busy schedule, Ellen writes a column for a Wisconsin newspaper and travels a bit with Bill.

We spent a week's vacation in Chapel Hill recently, and Mary Beechey Wicker and I were able to get together for lunch. Beechey had just finished compiling a yearbook for the League of Women Voters. She is also on the Chapel Hill Recreation Commission, and serves on several other committees; all of this in addition to caring for her family.

I've enjoyed hearing from all of you; thank you so much for your cards and letters. Please remember to keep Barbara up to date on your activities.

Due to the special issue of the BULLETIN, some of the fall news was put aside; so you will find some items current and some of longer standing.

In the fall Verda Sletten Hobbs and Milton moved to 117 N. Roosevelt St., Bloomington, Ind. Milton is teaching American Government at Indiana University and they feel the Bloomington area reminds them of Virginia. Their Debbie is an energetic little girl and keeping her 'unenergetic mother on the run.'

Majie Wingfield wrote that her young sons are just starting to school and "rock along on teacher's word."

From Florida, Dottie James Foster wrote that, although her family is enjoying the warm weather, they miss Virginia.

Betty O'Brien Yeatts and family visited Marie Walthall Leesic and the reports are an enjoyable visit by all.

The Kisers, Howie Bingham and Kent, sent Lena a newsy letter. The church where Kent is pastor has just completed their new building program. They have had their ups and downs with Winter ills, but every one is fine now.

Lena wrote of her family that they escaped the Winter flu and that she finds time to substitute in the schools. The Holmes' visit to the Sandfords, Shirley Davis and Bob and daughters, and to Scottsville to see Nancy Richardson Elliott and John and boys was a highlight for them.

Pat Guild Robertson's Christmas card brought interesting news. The Robertson's receive their mail at 709 North Van Dorn Street, Alexandria, Va. Robby's new title is Maintenance Instructor with Capital in Washington. While undergoing schooling he was sent to Los Angeles. Pat and the oldest two children flew out and back on the TWA Jet. They visited Disneyland and it was fun for parents as well as a child.

From Susie Guard Woody came a newsy letter. She especially requests that you respond to the postcards when you receive them. So many of you never answer our appeals.

Cogie and family have moved into a new home in the Culpeper area overlooking the golf course.

Beth Decker is still busy with her work. At present she is concerned with the hemoglobin development of premature babies. Beth sees them on the first day of life and follows them until they reach five or six years of age.

In addition to this interesting project, she has started seeing patients at St. Luke's Hospital. She works there half the time running a special neurology clinic for children, seeing the problems on the ward, etc. and they have the privilege to see and admit private patients.

Susie and C. L. had a delightful trip to the National Automobile Dealers Association Convention in Washington, D. C. They were fortunate to be there in good weather, for the snows came soon after.

Keeling Coles is fortunate in planning her Florida vacation when she could escape the wintry blasts of Richmond.

At the meeting of the Virginia Junior Academy of Science in Richmond, Gin Ellett of Thomas Jefferson High School was one of the two recipients of teacher-sponsor scholarships. Some of her students and the T. J. Science Club walked off with honors, too. May your success continue, Gin.

Mary Lou Coghill Poland has been busy working on the Ball Committee for the Virginia Museum Council. Busy as a chairman for Alumni Day will be Mary Lou Massie Cumby. Hope some of you are planning to attend the activities even though it's not our reunion year.

I enjoyed a newsy letter from Dottie Hughes Freitag. The Freitags hope to get to Richmond this Summer. They have had flu and are now experiencing the measles, the hard way, one child at a time!

Have a pleasant Summer and send us some postcards while you're vacationing.

At long last we have news of Beth and Ellen! At a recent wedding I saw Mrs. Chambliss and she told me that Beth and Charlie Holcomb are in Roanoke. Their address there is 3729 Thompson Lane, S. W. Their three children are Charlie, Kathy and Paul. Ellen is now Mrs. C. M. McCluskey and lives in Mocksville, North Carolina. She has a daughter named Marilyn.

Jo Hoover Pittman, Bob, and their four daughters have recently moved into a new home in Jackson, Mississippi.

Many thanks to Alice Goodman, Peggy Stone Cunningham, Monty Elliott Ownby, Mary Jane Spivey Snod, Frank Robin King, Sarah Brenner Rubin and Pat Adams Woodhead for their help in the recent drive for our swimming pool fund. We now have 20 contributors from 48. Let's see if we can't double that number.

Our class extends sympathy to Ann Bruner Wood in the recent death of her mother and to Fay Hines Kilpatrick in the death of her father.

This will be my last newsletter to you. According to our plans made at the 10th reunion, Pat Adams Woodhead will become class secretary for 1960-61. Her address is Mrs. Robert G. Woodhead, 1017 Cherokee Road, Richmond, Virginia.

Lynn Gilmer Guilford received from Kitine, Northern Rhodesia, a marvelous letter from Mary Burnett Small. A year ago December, Mary, Tom, and their children, Mary Esther 8, and Tommy, 5, arrived from Africa for their furlough. They visited parents in Virginia and Texas and finally settled in For. Worth, Texas for a few months. Then they returned to Virginia before sailing the following September for Liverpool, England, and "home" again to Rhodesia as expressed by their youngest who was born there. They are busy studying Chi Berin, dominant language of the area. She says "Kitine is a very nice town with about 12,000 European people and more than 80,000 African people. Opportunities for service are great.

More early vacationers were Barbara Belk Tinsley and Jim who left children behind and had a marvelous three weeks in Arizona—Tucson and Phoenix. Another gallivancer is Connie Ayre who wrote Frances Hix of her skiing weekend at Gray Rocks Inn near Mt. Tremblant in the Canadian Laurentians. Lois also sent me a letter from Izzy Taylor Staples who was enjoying Summer in April in Florida.

March she had a slight operation but it didn't work. Her hair is back to normal and she has just been elected a member of First Baptist Church, Richmond, with her, and is tenor soloist at Centenary Methodist Church. The children have been well.

Libba Janes Baskerville and her family moved into a new home early in the year and immediately thereafter they were snowed in. Last fall Libba had a reunion with Ann Rogers Crittenden and her crew, when they came down from Wilmington for a visit.

The last news item comes all the way from East Africa where our own missionary class member now lives. I wish you could all read the two letters I have from Dale and Beulah Johnson Hooper. The first is from Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, where they studied Swahili. They had just taken the government exams and were waiting to be assigned to a permanent post. They were supposed to have three extra months of advanced language study before being assigned, but had to go two months early because the couple were replacing had to go on furlough. So they went to Nairobi, Kenya, April 15, and the second letter was written just as they were about to go.

They will be directing the Baptist Center there. Their house, a year and a half old, is on the same property with the Center in the middle of an African village. Beulah says that the house is very nice and that Nairobi is a very modern city. It's hard to imagine, isn't it?

Beulah writes: "We made a trip 600 miles inland to two of our other stations—Mbeya and Tukuyu. Five of the 600 miles was on dirt roads. Luckily we just missed the rains. Mbeya is the site of our Baptist TB hospital. It's a modern wonder. I don't see how they were able to get such big equipment over those roads that far inland and over such high mountains ... Tukuyu is the most beautiful place I've seen in Africa. The mountainous terrain is very fertile, and plant life is lush and green. There are many varieties of bananas, much coffee and much bamboo. Because of the fertility of the soil, the Kukuyu people have never had to worry about food and thus have time to think about beautifying their houses. Flowers are planted in the yard of many of them and most houses are built attractively out of bamboo and tied together with rope of many designs."

Beulah and Dale mentioned their children, Rollin and Robin, and how much they enjoyed their playmates among the other missionary children in Dar. The Hoopers would love to hear from some of you here at home. I'm sure. Their new address is PO Box 4628, Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa.

The Whits of Louisville have had a rather restful month since school ended May 1. It was a hard semester but we lived through it. Now Don will spend ten weeks in clinical training as a chaplain at General Hospital. He has become so intrigued by pastoral psychology that he wants to try his hand. He even uses it on me! I'll be teaching until August when we hope to go to Richmond to see Mother after she returns from her trip to the Baptist World Alliance in Rio and around the continent.

If you didn't contribute to the Alumni Fund this year, try putting it in the budget for next. It's deductible, you know!

It was good to hear from Bertha Cosby King who is one of our group leaders. She'd like to hear from some of these classmates who have not written lately: Betsy Phillips Pulliam, Jeannie Williams Spencer, Alice Shibley Mandarisk and Isabel Sanford Rankin. Bertha is living at 704 Nace St., Franklin, Va., where Hobson is a process engineer for Union Bug Camp Paper Corporation. The Kings welcomed the arrival of Henry Hobson, Jr., on March 20.

Claire Carlton sailed on April 12 for a two-month trip to Europe, touring Italy, Switzerland, France, England, Holland, Germany, Denmark and Norway.
Fannie Coddock Wood spent a week in late April vacationing in Florida.

Hopewellite Sue Easley Candler writes that she will be Second Vice-President of her Junior Woman’s Club next year.

Welcome to James Bird, third child and first son of Jeanne Hootman and Peter Hopkins, born March 15.

We regret deeply to read of the death of June Bostick Cross in April. Our heartfelt sympathy we extend to her husband, her two children and to the Rev. and Mrs. Bostick.

Dru and Marshall Waring welcomed their first born, Lynn Carol, on September 8, 1959. Across the United States, we hear that Jane Camlin is working in Seattle, Washington. She loves it and has become quite a skiing enthusiast. Through April 8, only thirteen of our class had contributed to the Alumnae Fund. Let’s do better! Monty Wiley Schutte was the hardworking chairman for our class drive and we owe grateful thanks to her and the other volunteers. Bob finished his training in oral surgery in July and we plan to stay in the “Hawkeye” state another year. He has been appointed assistant professor of oral surgery at the State University of Iowa Hospital. I am most pleased to be moving into a house after our “seven” year stretch in student housing. Do come to see us!

The Richmond ’54 group had a get-together one night recently, and to prove that our efforts—those of Jane Betts Schmitt, Mary Lou Gilbert Donker, Jean Bette H. Sider, Betty Roos, President, Marcie Hammock, Bev Burke Dunklee, Bev French, and Nancy Graham Harrell weren’t for naught, here are some of the things we learned.

We were all surprised to hear of Peggy Brown’s marriage on May 7 to Richard Van Emon Hantz–man and his husband will be living in Charlottesville.

High on our agenda also were the travel plans of “Boog”, who is spending a month in Europe this summer. He is traveling in October.—a slightly shorter trip—she and Bill Dunn will be living in Harrisonburg after their wedding.

Barbara Konkle Duke is now attending church at West Hill Chapel, which is just getting organized in their community (near Ellerson, Va.). The pastor is Edward Charles Ffippen, Jr. (UR ’36), and his wife is Peggy Hall Flippin (WC ’55).

Ruby Vaughn Carson, in Richmond on a recent trip to visit her mother, called Barbara Dawson Baker. Bobbie had just returned from a woman’s club convention in Norfolk. The Baker’s son, Skipper, starts first grade in September. Here are more details on Velda Harrell Agee’s son—he’s Douglas Wayne Agee, born September 26.

Barbara Johns and Arthur are planning a trip to Hampton, Va., on vacation, as well as a week in Peterboro, Ontario, Canada.

Only a busy May Day weekend at Hollins prevented my attending the wedding of Doris Jean Johnston, my freshman roommate, to Elwood Arthur MacEwan on May 7 in Orange, Va. Mac is a Canadian. His job in Washington is communications intelligence in the Chairman’s Office of the Canadian Joint Staff. They will be in Washington until ’62 or ’63; then perhaps it will be off to a foreign capital.

Congratulations to Betsy Williams Roberson and Joe. Joe is the new plant manager of the largest Reynolds Metals Printing plant in the mid–west! There are 52 employees in the office and 400 in the plant. Temporary address of the Robersons is 412 Fce Fee Hills Dr., St. Louis County, Hazelwood, Missouri. Betty Kersey Gordon and Bill, with son Neil, have moved to Fairmont, N. C., where Bill is the new chairman of Presbyterian Church.

Thanks to all of you who have put ’53 up among the top classes in the number of contributions to the Swimming Pool Fund. And a special thank you to those 20 or more girls who played an active part in the solicitation!

FIRST LOVE WINS OVER PROMOTION

Thelma Beazley Keene, '27, fell in love with John Marshall High School in Richmond many years ago when she went there as a student. In 1942 she returned as a teacher. This spring, she accepted a promotion as director of curriculum services for the Richmond Public Schools but after thinking it over, she couldn't bear to leave her first love and she was relieved of the commitment. Next fall, when Jayem moves to a new site, Miss Keene goes too.

After receiving an A.B. degree from Westhampton, she earned a master's degree in English at Duke University and took graduate work in education at the University of Virginia. Miss Keene joined the high school faculty as teacher of English and math. In 1951, she was appointed assistant principal and in 1953 she was named principal of the summer school where enrollment has increased from 800 to 2900 students in the seven years.

Throughout the winter months, Miss Keene has the responsibility of the eighth, ninth, and tenth graders. In the summer she supervises the work of students who come here, she says, not necessarily to repeat classes but to enrich and accelerate their knowledge. During the coming months the Westhampton alumna will assist with the reorganization at the new site and, for the first time in her life, she will be able "to walk to school."

Her extra-curricular activities include the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Baptist Federation of Business Women, and a Business Women's Bible Class which she organized. Besides being known by high school students and professional colleagues, she is a favorite of Richmond youngsters whom she frequently entertains with sleight of hand and her magic as a raconteur of Christmas stories.

cal Education at Tuckahoe Junior High School this Winter. She and Claude and their son, Woodie, are moving to Dillwyn this Summer for good.

Jennie Jo Tignor and Milton will spend the Summer in Florida again this year. Jennie Jo planning to finish her last term at Carthayn Junior High School, the 7th and 8th grades.

Peggy Graves Butterworth and Dick are still in Richmond and he is working at M.C.V. this Summer.

Pat Harper Winston and Bob are in Wake Forest, North Carolina, where he is studying at the Baptist Southeastern Theological Seminary. They have a little boy, Jim, who was a year old in April.

Ann Hunter Harris is working as a psychologist at the mobile psychiatric clinic in Richmond. Her husband graduates from M.C.V. in June and will intern there.

Jacqueline Randdette has been teaching Spanish at John Marshall this Winter. She is taking a course this Summer in Spanish at Converse College in Spartanburg, South Carolina, and will return to teach again at John Marshall in the Fall.

Lovey Jane Long Walker is a Research Assistant for the League of Virginia Municipalities, and Randolph is editor and sales promotion assistant for Atlantic Life Insurance Company in Richmond.

Carmen Austin Williams writes that Buddy has received his B.S. from Westhampton University and will complete his M.Sc., next June. She says their main contribution to society since '57 is a two-year-old son, Clot. They plan to live another year in Carrboro before applying for Foreign Mission appointment.

Judy Twyford Davey's little girl, Lynn, is a year old. She thought some of us might remember her. Nedergall, who was at Westhampton our freshmen year. She is now Jane Dall and lives in Montclair. She had her fourth child in September, a little girl. Thus it evens the score. She has two boys and two girls.

Jennie Sue Johnson has been in graduate school at the Carver School of Social Work in Louisville, Kentucky. She has one more year there. This Summer she will be serving as Program Director at Camp Cedars, Marion, Virginia.

Sallie Trice Greene and Jimmy announce the birth of Donna Gayle on May 13, 1960 in Mobile, Alabama. Jimmy is serving as an assistant to the pastor at Dauphin Way Baptist Church in Mobile.

Carol Dickerson Kaufman has just finished one year of teaching at Plymouth Meeting Friends School. She and Chester will spend the Summer working in Eagles Mere, Pennsylvania. She writes that Chester, between studies at Temple Medical School, has taken up golf in a big way.

Ruth Tipton writes that she and Jane Saunders are being sent to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor for a two-week course in advanced numerical analysis, by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory where they work. They are to drive up June 11. She also writes that Lee Field is going to be treasurer for the Washington alumni club and Ruth is recording secretary. Ruth says we would have a hard time recognizing her. She is wearing contact lenses and loves them.

Mary Katherine Davis has just accepted a position with a private company in New Jersey, just across the river from Manhattan. She will be working for International Electric Corporation.

Ann Lee Hines Reamy writes that she and Betsy Turner Wilson enjoyed two days together watching and attending the golf tournament at the Kinderhook Country Club in Clarkesville. They share a mutual feeling since Bo and Charlie enjoy the game. Betsy is still teaching school but plans to leave this year. Ann has been bookkeeping at the Ford Motor Company in Boydton, Virginia, and Charlie is in the bank there. He is also a Boy Scout troop leader and Ann Lee is Assistant Girl Scout leader. They say they enjoy their new home.

I know the entire class of '57 joins me in sending our deepest sympathy to Margaret Foster whose father died recently. Margaret will finish at the University of Wisconsin in June.

Nancy Bertsch Ratchford and Bill will be moving to College Park, Maryland this Fall where Bill will return to school to get his Master's and Doctorate in Political Science at the University of Maryland. Nancy will be an Education Counselor for the teachers of blind pupils in public schools in Prince George County.

For a year now Gale and I have been back in Baltimore and bought a house in March. Gale is with Bethlehem Steel and loves it. I'm still doing research and tutoring but am looking forward to the Summer when I can enjoy our new home and be with F.G., our 19-month-old son, more often.

Loretta Landers Griss has been living in Richmond since June, 1959, where her husband, Ken, has been working with Reynolds Metals. While here in Richmond, Loretta has been teaching the fourth grade at Maude Trevett. They are being transferred to Louisville, Kentucky, in June.

In closing I would like to quote from a letter of '57 pal "I was disappointed to see our class percentage so low in the building fund but hope it will improve." This echoes my sentiments, too. Remember no matter how small your check may be it will be greatly appreciated.

We were happy that, although rain seemed on the brink each moment, our little sisters were blessed with a dry day for May Day. Back for the first time from Mississippi was Frances Gray and her New Jersey fiance, Harry Marks. Harry received his doctorate at Duke University in June. Mrs. Stokes, also at May Day, reported that her young son, Claiborne, Jr., is doing quite well. Carol Brie and her doctor friend came back to campus from Washington for the weekend. Nancy Goodwin Hill and her husband were there to see Nancy's freshman sister, Aleta, serve as page in the queen's court. Also seen at May Day festivities were Cora Sue Elmore Spruill, Jeanne Jones, Carolyn Moss Hart, among others.
interrupt her father's plans to play in the Varsity-Alumni game, but that he did arrive at the game in time to distribute cigars.

Much of the talk at May Day centered around wedding plans. Mary Trev Biddlecomb, Sibby Haddock (who, incidentally, looked very tan from her trip to Florida over Spring Vacation), Anne Norris Meyers, B. B. Harvey, and Elizabeth Ramos had much common excitement to share. Jo Edwards, whose wedding date is June 4, is in that group and the most noticeable is Jonie Duvall, whose wedding was engaged in April and is being married in July or August. Her fiance is stationed at Fort Lee.

Patsy MacDonald Allen and Dick recently received the good news that Los Angeles, California, will be their new home as of August 25. Dick will be resident counselor for one of the new dorms while he finishes his master's degree requirements in psychology. Patsy is hoping to secure a position as a Youth Coordinator for a Los Angeles department store. Their apartment is only 5 miles from the Pacific Ocean.

Becky Keller and LaVerne Watson are sailing for Europe on June 10. Theirs is not a sponsored tour, but one that they have arranged largely on their own. They will both study French at a university in France for a month, and spend the rest of their time travelling.

Marian Gates is now teaching general math and algebra at Maury High School in Norfolk while Ed finishes his service obligations with the Coast Guard. He will begin practicing law there when he posts his discharge in June, so Norfolk will be their permanent home.

Cynthia Patterson enjoys her work at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville. Shirley Gordon Hightfield and Jerry will probably be moving to Charlottesville sometime this summer so he can continue his graduate work. Shirley, who has been teaching 5th grade in Norfolk this year, will teach in Charlottesville while he is in school.

Sue Kaufman Wilson is not working at MCY, as was erroneously reported, but for the Richmond City Health Department instead. She is thinking about teaching in Richmond next year. She and Arlene Olson are going to be taking courses this summer at Richmond College this summer. I'm going to have to cut this short in order to be able to include the following address changes in my space limitation. Make the corrections on your lists, and if there are any further changes, let me know. There ought to be much exciting news for that portion of the news (those that will be on July 7 that I know of), and new operations by the Fall Edition, so I'll be looking forward to hearing all of it.

The meeting was opened with prayer by our president. Our guests were then introduced, after which each member introduced herself, telling a little about her activities and fields of activity. Some of the pleasure was gone from the day, however, when we learned that our co-hostess, Idaline McVeigh Ratcliffe, was in the Staten Island Hospital with four broken ribs. (She was there about a month, in all.) Harriet Willingham took her place as co-hostess with Louise Arnold. After a discussion of plans for the future it was decided that we should have at least one meeting in New Jersey, that preferably in the spring. It was agreed to plan our next meeting for January, in the middle of October. Our president was asked to attend the General Alumnae Meeting in June.

Leslie Booker and Tony Whitsett spoke to us; Leslie about the changes at Westminster, the growth of the student body, the scholarship and of the faculty. and brought us up to date on affairs at the University; Tony talked to us about the plans for the new wing for Keller Hall, its need, the Swimming Pool Campaign, and the methods by which pledges are being made.

Tea was then served, and, in spite of the fact that our ladies covered a span of years from 22 (Leslie) to 59 (Eileen Mattick), we had a wonderful time.

New York Alumnae, PLEASE TAKE NOTE!! Join us in October!

Louise Fristoe Arnold '23, Pres.

Richmond Club
President: Mrs. James L. Deck
(HeLEN POlLoRD)
8914 River Road, Richmond, Virginia

The Richmond Club enrolled 204 paid members this year. This is an increase of 40 over last year's total.

On May 30, following lunch at the Willow Oaks Country Club, we held our Annual Spring Meeting and fashion show. On this occasion Mary Hodnett Mathews read a brief prayer as a memory to Mary Ryland Babcock, class of '32.

New officers were elected. Those serving for the coming year are: President: Mrs. John S. Pierce, Jr. (Joyce Betts) First Vice President: Miss Gladys Tartary Second Vice President: Mrs. Jack Wilbourne (Sara Bishop) Recording Secretary: Miss William G. Bruce Corresponditing Secretary: Miss Myrtle Young Treasurer: Mrs. Rawley K. Lukhard

The Richmond Club was quite proud to present a check for $500 to Mrs. Becher Stallard for the Swimming Pool Fund.

Since the Annual Meeting, funds from our White Elephant Booth at the college May Day have been added to the treasury and in closing our records for the year we will add $310.03 to our previous gift making a total of $630.03 contributed to the National Association this year by the Richmond Club.

We are grateful to the members of the Richmond Club for their active support during the year. We look forward with confidence to further progress under the guidance of our new officers.

Roanoke Club
President: Mrs. David W. Branch
(Barbara Richie '46)
1323 Persinger Road, Roanoke, Virginia

The Roanoke Chapter of the Westminster College Alumnae Association met January 30 at the Oasis Restaurant. There were eighteen persons present including five guests from the Martinsville Chapter. Mrs. Frank Epps of Richmond, the Woman's College Alumnae Association president, and Mrs. E. P. Petticrew of Roanoke also attended the meeting.

The guest speakers for the meeting were Mrs. Leslie Booker, president of the Alumnae Chapter, Miss Frances Stallard, the Chairman of the Swimming Pool Campaign. Listening to both speakers brought back many old and new memories of Westhampton as well as thoughts toward the future for Westhampton. Mrs. Stallard outlined the personal visitation program for the Swimming Pool Campaign and the Roanoke Chapter of the Westminster College Alumnae Association with the distinction of being the first of the Alumnae Chapters to participate. Mrs. R. M. Jones was appointed as chairman of the Roanoke Chapter Swimming Pool Campaign Fund.

The Roanoke chapter has, for the first time in a number of years, been an active club this year. Our activities have included a party for club members at the University, a meeting for members of the Roanoke alumni chapter, and the annual business meeting at which we have plans for our coming year.

Suffolk Area Club
President: Mrs. Gordon Barlow
(Gladys Hollerman)
Smithfield, Virginia

The Suffolk area club held a tea at the Smithfield Baptist church on April 2. The High School students and their mothers, the students of the area, and their mothers were guests of the club.

The program directed by Miss Ruth Haverty was enchanting. It was called "Past, Present, and Future." The early years of the college were portrayed by an opaque projector and pictures from annuals belonging to alumnae.

The present was given by a round table discussion from local Westhampton students.

The high school girls were given the responsibility for the future of the college.

In the business session a gift was voted to the Alumnae of the following officers elected to serve two years:

President—Ruth Haverty
Vice-President—Sue Perry Downing
Secretary-Treasurer—Virginia Scott Dillon

Tidewater Club
President: Mrs. Sidney Cline Shafer
(Mildred Hare '38)
178 Canopy Road, Norfolk, Virginia

Once again it was the pleasure of the Tidewater Club to entertain all the students enrolled in Westhampton this year at a tea held at the home of Elizabeth McKee Dudley on September 11. The students seemed to enjoy this opportunity to become acquainted and to hear the latest news from old friends.

On November 11, a small but enthusiastic group met for luncheon at Burroughs' Restaurant. Pecans were distributed to those present to be sold to raise money for the Swimming Pool Fund. Plans for the remainder of the year were discussed and it was decided to plan a supper meeting for January to include our families and interested friends. Helen Caulfield Ballard and Mildred Pope Anderson agreed to do the catering and the use of the Larchmont Baptist Church was requested.

This meeting did take place on Friday, January 22, at the Larchmont Church with seventy-five enjoying a delicious supper. Included among our guests were alumni of other colleges and an exchange teacher from England. Rev. O. Edwyn P. Lewis, pastor of the church and a loyal Richmond alumnum, gave a delightful and enlightening lecture on Germany which he illustrated with beautiful color slides he had made during his travels there last summer.

At the final meeting of this season, held at Burroughs' Restaurant, Saturday, May 21, Miss Lutz spoke to us on the subject, "Art at Westhampton," and challenged us as only she can do. Mrs. Booker brought latest news from the Alumnae Association president, the fund-raising campaign. The club voted to send a contribution of $100.00 to the Alumnae Fund and elected the following officers for the coming year:

President—Mrs. C. L. Jennings, Jr. (James L. Anderson)
Secretary—Miss F. T. Given (Jane Ozlin)
Librarian—Mrs. G. E. Wood (Mary Ingle Bethel)

Jane Van Leeuwen and Connie Luttrel will continue to serve as Vice-President and Secretary respectively.

Washington Club
President: Mrs. J. Lawrence Manning
(Ann Byrd Owen '57)
1617 N. Jackson St., Arlington, Virginia

On April 20 a joint Alumnae dinner was held at the Naval Gun Factory Officers' Club. Dean William Muse of the Law School, Coach Ed Merrick, and Alumni Secretary Joe Nettle's, in an informal setting following dinner, brought us news and information from the University. Old friendships were renewed, new ones made, and a good time was had by all, with a midnight hour preceding the dinner. Westhampton elected the following officers for two-year terms at the business meeting following the dinner:

President—Virginia Ingram Guest '36
Vice-President—Alice Shepherd, '47
Treasurer—Lee Field '57
Ruth Tipton, '57, was elected recording secretary for one year to finish the term of Seager White, who had resigned during the year.

Our spring luncheon was held on May 7 at the Little Tea House with Libby Johnson Alvis, '40, as chairman. (Libby's husband, Frank, is President of the Richmond College Alumni of the class of '47.) It was a meeting given to fun, fellowship, business, and the installation of officers conducted by Estelle Butler, '18, in her lovely and gracious manner. She inspired the new officers, the old officers, and the members a determination to make the coming year a fine one for the club. $200.00 was voted as the club's gift to the Alumnae Fund this year.

During the past year the Washington Club has participated in the activities of the Associated Alumnae Clubs in the College Night project held in November with Anita Knapp, '59, as our chairman, and in the Scholarship Fund Discount plan with the merchants in the area. Frances Burnette, '27, served as the Westhampton chairman.

Marty Lowery Greene, '50, has served as our representative to the Council, and Ellen Acker Rodley, '26, has been a member of the Executive Committee. Westhampton has been most ably represented by these alumnae and through them has contributed much to the Council.

Wilmington Club
President: Mrs. Roy Soukup
(Lucille Angell '52)
1928 Thomas Road, Fairfayl
Wilmington, Delaware

Our club had a luncheon last October at which Miss Rivenburg was our speaker. We enjoyed hearing from her, not only about the needs at Westhampton and the marvelous progress that is being made, but also the latest news concerning those whom we remember and love on the campus. At our last meeting held in the middle of June at Mary Bass' home. We hope to have a nice social hour together.

Unfortunately several of our members have been transferred. While Du Pont just can't seem to leave them here very long. Edythe Grimes, Netta Whisnant and Barbara Evans are leaving our number. We shall miss them.

Religion vs Materialism

universities and pick out a group of the top students and say to them they have been highly honored and chosen for the ministry." When asked about a sense of call to the ministry, he shrugged his shoulders as if to say that was not a very important matter.

What is the Protestant church doing and what can be done about these problems?

Bishop Hans Lilje of Hannover, who admitted that materialism is a great problem in West Germany, said Christians must show that they mean their Christianity "by precise thinking, real conviction of faith and spirit of sacrifice."

One church now requires that every candidate for the ministry work either in a factory or a social welfare program for at least six months.

Another church in Hannover has a strong program of what we call visitation evangelism—they call it stewardship. Germany must stop receiving aid and give to other people in the world, Bishop Lilje said. The Evangelical church is now engaged in a program called "Bread for the World."

The bishop said the greatest and most effective program is that of the Evangelical academies. West Germany now has 19 such academies with the avowed purpose of presenting the Christian Gospel to the changing communities.

Founded in postwar Germany, the academies are tackling the task of bringing together people who have become strangers to the church. Many people from many walks of life see the need for reorientation of their Christian faith.

More than 100,000 persons have attended the 10-day courses offered by the academies. The participants discuss a wide variety of subjects ranging from international affairs to the problem of children living in today's world without parents.

Interest in the church is also being stimulated by church-owned and operated hospitals, orphanages, rest homes for tired, overworked mothers and refugee centers and homes.

Bishop Otto Dibelius said that when the Protestant church reaches the public with a stirring debate, "it is usually about political matters, such as the use of atomic weapons or the role of the church in the armed forces."

"The church must search for new ways to propagate the Gospel and to be a better undershepherd to the people. It must seek to rouse religious feeling once more. It appears that the 'path' leads away from the popular church and toward a voluntary church where the core of the membership are real believers. A national church is on the decrease in Germany."

Remember, America...

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."
—Thomas Jefferson—

In the historic land served by Virginia Electric and Power Company, this warning is not easy to forget. On every hand, contrasted with the landmarks of this progressive, growing area, are the monuments to America’s unending fight for freedom.

But freedom cannot be preserved in stone or defended by monuments. Freedom must exist in the heart of the individual. It must be championed by the living.

The freedom to build . . . to create . . . to grow as free individuals in a free nation is our priceless heritage from the past. Its cost is our eternal vigilance.
