It's Our Team

Let's face it, alumni have not been giving their full measure of support to the football program of the University of Richmond. As we see it, this is no time for an argument of the merits of big-time football as opposed to little-time football. The University is committed to an expanded program that is being subsidized to the tune of $200,000 over a four-year period by friends in the Richmond area. In addition, an enthusiastic and already fruitful effort is being made to promote the William and Mary game through the Thanksgiving Festival.

Richmond's Spiders this season face what is unquestionably the most ambitious football schedule in the University's history, a schedule that includes Army, Alabama, Florida State and seven Southern Conference foes. The home schedule is the most attractive in a number of years, including the Homecoming contest with V.P.I. on November 4.

Let's talk about that home schedule (V.M.I., George Washington, Davidson, Virginia Tech, and William and Mary). Fourteen dollars will buy a season ticket to all of the contests (a savings of three dollars). In addition there is an attractive bonus of a child's season ticket right beside the holder of the adult's season ticket. Alonzo Alumnus and son Junior can see all of the home games from prime seats in the reserved section for a total cost of $14.00. For a total of $28.00 Alonzo and his wife can go to all the home games and take with them two children. That brings the cost down to $1.40 per ticket.

On page 7 there is a blank which all alumni can use for ordering tickets. Take time now to run over the attractive schedule, see how many games you can attend, and send your order on to Fred Caylor, business manager of athletics. Again we commend to your attention the advantages of a season ticket.

If we are to expect the support of the citizens of Richmond (and we are receiving very substantial support) it behooves us as alumni to give our support. It's our team, representing our University.
Largest Class Since 1949 Receives Diplomas

LEAD paragraphs in articles about college commencements have a tendency to labor the good old American "bigger and better" theme but there is reason to believe that the 1949 class will have a copyright for a number of years on this claim: "the largest graduating class in the history of the University of Richmond."

The above is the first paragraph of the article in the Summer 1949 ALUMNI BULLETIN. 1949's copyright has now expired.

By a transposition of the last two digits the 1961 class topped the 1949 class: 354 to 345. But, unlike the situation in 1949, there is reason to believe that the 1961 record will be erased fairly soon. The 1949 class was swelled to record proportions by the veterans of World War II who comprised a majority of the male graduates. After 1949 the veterans began to decrease.

The 1961 total—exactly 54 above the preceding year's even 300—reflected the rising birth rate following the great depression of the 1930's and the further fact that a larger percentage of high school graduates are continuing their education at the college level.

Both Dean Robert F. Smart at Richmond College and Dean Marguerite Roberts at Westhampton College have pointed out the fact that admissions are growing increasingly competitive and this trend can be expected to continue. The moral for high school students: Study hard; apply for admission early in your senior year.

The upswing in applications has pointed up the crying need for dormitories. "There is an increasingly urgent need for more dormitories for men to meet the growing demand from non-Richmond students," President Modlin told the board of trustees in his annual report. He added: "The temporary wooden structures erected after World War II are becoming less habitable with each passing year and should be replaced with permanent buildings at the earliest possible time."

At Westhampton College where the admissions problem is particularly acute, the record enrollment of 608 during the past session represents "the capacity for both dormitory and commuting students."

As he addressed the board, workmen were moving ahead with the construction of the new $600,000 building to house the School of Business Administration. The structure will be ready this fall but probably not by the start of the first semester in September. Westhampton's bumper enrollment was reflected in a bumper graduating class of 120, just two less than the 122 at Richmond College. There were 69 graduates in the School of Business Administration, 32 in the Law School and 11 in the Graduate School.

In addition to these graduates in course, the University conferred degrees on five distinguished alumni, including the rector of the board of trustees and president of the First and Merchants Bank of Richmond, Robert T. Marsh, Jr., '22, who received the Doctor of Laws degree.

The Rev. Fred T. Laughon, Jr., '37, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Gainesville, Fla., who preached the baccalaureate sermon, and the Rev. Horace L. Ford, '37, pastor of Richmond's Broadus Memorial Baptist Church, received Doctor of Divinity degrees.

Dr. Ralph P. Johnson, '29, vice president of Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, Inc. in California, received the degree of Doctor of Science and the commencement speaker, Dr. Claudius O. Johnson, '17, professor emeritus of political science at Washington State University, received the degree of Doctor of Letters.

Dr. Johnson said there had been many "setbacks to freedom" since the Second World War and asserted that "good Americans have been put in fear."

"In our entirely legitimate concern for the national security," he told the audience that packed to overflowing the Luther H. Jenkins Greek Theater, "we have restricted and, in my opinion, very foolishly and unduly restricted, the activities of millions of loyal and supposedly free Americans."

He emphasized that he was not saying that "the spies and those guilty of such crimes as espionage should not be put away." But, he asserted, "we go far beyond that when we arbitrarily remove public employees on disloyalty grounds, hedge our teachers and (Continued on Page 8)

ALUMNI ELECT ROBERT ALLEN

Dr. Robert W. (Bob) Allen, '34, is the new president of the Alumni Society.

Bob’s election was announced at the Alumni Day luncheon to a sizeable crowd of old grads who came to the campus despite the early morning drizzle that kept less hardy folk at home.

The rain almost caused the cancellation of the baseball game with William and Mary on Millhiser Field. Coach Mac Pitt, '18, who pushed his ground force hard in order to get the field in playing condition was rewarded with a 9 to 2 victory that pushed his team one game closer to its ultimate Big Five championship.

There was a varied program, beginning with classroom visitation at 8:30 and continuing to the last laugh of the Faculty Frolics at the close of the annual dinner in Millhiser Gymnasium.

The Glee Club under the direction of Jim Erb and the band under the direction of Bob Barker were warmly applauded by the alumni who were present for the pre-luncheon concert on the Student Center Lawn.

From the concert the alumni moved across the campus to Millhiser Gymnasium for the luncheon at which Thomas C. Yeaman, '30, presided.

Alumni Secretary Joseph E. Nettles, '30, was given a surprise gift of cash and a watch in recognition of his 25 years of service. In making the presentation Alumni Council President Wilmer L. O'Flaherty said the cash was to be used for a month's vacation authorized by President Modlin. Nettles, a native of Newport News, was a staff writer for the Associated Press in Richmond when he went to the University as Alumni Secretary and Public Relations Director in 1936.

Recognition was given to students who were chosen as the outstanding members of the senior classes of Richmond College and the School of Business Administration: Emory D. Shiver, president of the Richmond College student government, and Donald Davis, president of the senior class in the Business School. Shiver and Davis, as well as Thomas Scott Word, Jr., who later was chosen as the outstanding member of the Law School graduating class, were elected to represent their class on the Alumni Council.

Dr. Ralph C. McDanel, '16, announced the election of Dr. Allen as president; Malcolm U. Pitt, Jr., '42, William Blackwell, '35 and Davis T. Ratcliffe, '24, vice presidents; Frederick J. Vaughan, '35, secretary, and Warren M. Pace, '43, alumni representative on the Athletic Council. Dr. W. Tyler Haynes, '22, and Howard P. Falls, '33, were chosen members of the executive committee.

President Allen, principal of Woodrow Wilson high school in Portsmouth, is a past president of the Virginia Education Association and an honorary Doctor of Science of the University of Richmond.

The Alumni Council, the Alumni Society’s fund raising organization elected Malcolm U. Pitt, Jr., '42, as president.

William T. Bareford, '46, and John J. Wicker, Jr., '13, were named vice presidents; Joseph E. Nettles, '30, secretary and Robert M. Stone, '30, treasurer. To the executive committee the Council elected Wilmer L. O'Flaherty, '11, the retiring president; S. Frank Straus, '35; Howard P. Falls, '33, and G. Fred Cook, Jr., '25.

'61 MEETS ’02. Clarence H. Dunaway [center], who is living in retirement in Lancaster County after a long career as a school teacher, congratulates Emory D. THE BAPTIST COLLEGE IN THE WAR

By WOODFORD B. HACKLEY

Martial music, colorful uniforms, drill-soldiers, just faded away. Most of them were gone by April 22nd. A statement of President Ryland in the Religious Herald, dated May 31st, reveals that 500 Confederate soldiers were already stationed at the College, meaning, presumably, that all the students are now gone. However, the graduates for 1861—seven B.A.'s and the first two M.A.'s ever conferred—were not approved by the Trustees until August 16th, their first meeting since January 17th.

On August 16th the Trustees passed a motion that "It was expedient that the duties (Continued on page 31)

About the Author

Woodford B. Hackley, professor of Latin, is the oldest member of the University of Richmond faculty in point of service. He is also an Unreconstructed Rebel, as readers of his article on this page will agree.

He joined the faculty in 1924 after serving as principal of Jefferson High School in his native Culpeper County, Virginia.

His interest in Latin has been coupled with an interest in archaeology and genealogy and in the history of the Baptist denomination in Virginia. He is secretary of the Virginia Baptist Historical Society, a position in which he succeeded his friend and former colleague on the University of Richmond faculty, Dr. Garnett Ryland.

His scholarship has been recognized by a number of professional organizations. He is the author of a number of publications in history and allied fields and some years ago wrote the pageant for the celebration of Culpeper County's bicentennial and ten years later for the bicentennial of the town of Culpeper.

He made an important contribution to the University of Richmond by successfully locating in a virtually abandoned cemetery in Marengo County, Alabama the grave of Edward Baptist, founder of Dunlora Academy which grew into the University of Richmond. As a result of his efforts the University placed a marker on Baptist's grave.

Details about the closing of the College in 1861, after a very successful session to date, are a bit hazy, to put it mildly. Indeed, it would appear that at "The Baptist College," as it was locally known, confusion reigned supreme, or else there was no time to make proper records, or a shortage of paper, or something.

It seems that the student body, like old

Prof. Billy W. Sloope, '49 (Physics), who is retiring from the faculty come July to become a full-time Senior Physicist at the Virginia Institute for Scientific Research, was elected Secretary of the Astronomy and Mathematics Section at the May meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science.

Prof. Sloope and Calvin O. Tiller (of the Institute) read a joint paper at the meeting which shared the J. Shelton Horsley Award for merit and originality with a paper read by Irving R. King, '49 of Texaco Experiment Incorporated. The Sloope-Tiller paper was concerned with thin metal films, which are the memory cells of the newest computers, especially the formation conditions and structure of thin epitaxial silver films on monolayer. Up to now physicists have thought that a specific (so-called "epitaxial") temperature was necessary for the deposition of very thin metal films under ultra high vacuum. Messrs. Sloope and Tiller demonstrated that a single epitaxial temperature does not exist. On the contrary, the minimum deposition temperature for the formation of single-crystal films varies according to the rate of deposition.

Miss Helen Monsell (Registrar emerita) is reported to be having a grand time in the far West, and sent a true Monsellian card to Miss Floss Miller (Business School) from an Indian reservation, recently. Miss Monsell will offer Education 512 (Children's Literature) during the first term of the 1961 Summer School.

Prof. Alton Williams (Speech and Dramatic Arts) spent several days at Hollywood, California, early in June as guest of the leading motion picture companies. Prof. Williams, in addition to his duties at the University, is amusement critic for the Richmond News Leader.
TEN YEARS ON THE AIR

When Richard Henry Lee Marks of Lee-Davis high school of Hanover County won the grand scholarship prize of $2,500 in the tenth year of the University of Richmond's radio scholarship quiz, he was following in the footsteps of a long line of young men and women who were later to distinguish themselves at the University of Richmond.

No fewer than 21 of the scholarship winners have won Phi Beta Kappa keys at the University and two of them—Nathan Safian, '56, now a medical doctor in New York, and John B. Polhill, '60, now enrolled in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville—made perfect straight-A averages.

A perfect score has been achieved by only three alumni—Clyde Francisco, '39; Safian and Polhill. Dr. Francisco is now a member of the faculty of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Among the feminine winners of scholarships in the Radio Scholarship Quiz is Katharine W. Borum of Norfolk who will graduate in Summer School with a straight-A record—unless she trips in the final accounting.

All of the scholarship winners excelled in extracurricular activities and one of them, Polhill, won the Alumni Medal last year as the outstanding graduate in Richmond College.

In addition to those named above, other "alumni" of the quiz who won Phi Beta Kappa recognition are Leta May Tucker, '56 (Mrs. Edward Dunn Hodge); Aimee Lee Raveling, '57 (Mrs. William F. Cheek); Margaret Foster, '57; Evalene R. Green, '60; Elizabeth Ann Brown, '60; Mary Rogers Burroughs, '60; Bonnie Ann Cox, '61; Martha C. Rogers, '61, and Richard Lee Gage, Jr., '55; John D. Millar, '56; John B. Odell, '57; Sidney W. Finley II, '56; Kenneth E. Burke, '58; Walker H. Campbell, '59; Jared Sharon,

'60; John E. Donaldson, '60; Theodore S. Jones, '59, and William D. Seward, '60.

The Virginia Journal of Education saluted the quiz in its April issue, pointing out that from a modest beginning 10 years ago, it has grown in interest and in importance. During the past year the University gave $16,000 in scholarship awards to winners in 27 districts of Eastern Virginia.

WRNL, the originating station, did an excellent job of producing the show and, in addition to airing it over its own facilities, offered it to a network of seven other participating stations. Dean of Students C. J. Gray, '33, the genial quizmaster, kept the show moving at a fast pace, as he has been doing for eight of the ten years. The late Dean Raymond B. Pinchbeck was quizmaster for the first two years.

The quiz intends to return to the air next February for its eleventh consecutive year. The reason that it has gained in popularity over the years is due to the fact, as one radio executive expressed it, "it's good entertainment as well as good education."

LAW DAY 1961

FIFTY-EIGHT alumni of the Law School who are representing the federal, state and local government were honored on Law Day, April 22. In an address in the courtroom of the Law School building that afternoon Francis C. Lee, '51 Assistant Attorney General of Virginia, paid tribute to these lawyers in public service. He pointed out that in a broad sense every lawyer is engaged in public service for he is the shield of the rights of the citizen, the curb to power in the hands of those who govern, and the watchdog of liberties and rights. In addition to being a counselor and advocate of his private clients, he must take an active part in community service. These are the lawyers in private practice.

Mr. Lee estimated that one-half of every graduating law class will choose public service and will have as his client the government, whether he be attorney general, commonwealth attorney, city or town attorney, judge, or lawyer in legislative and administrative branches of the government. These are positions of responsibility, he said, adding that a capable government lawyer finds that his first obligation lies not in winning cases but in impartially considering every case or problem and determining not only can the government be sustained, but should it be sustained. The government attorney is usually the first to admit when the government's position is unsound or unreasonable. If an accused has been convicted through innocence, or the judgment is clearly erroneous, the government attorney should have the integrity to admit the wrong and confess error. Foremost in his mind always is that justice is the desired end.

His client is the public and he cannot refuse an assignment; he must know the history of constitutional provisions, statutes, or ordinances and their interpretations; he must know the law as it is, and the lawyer in public service must have some convictions as to what the law should be and the courage to speak his convictions. The role of the attorney in government service is a special one, not one of privilege or preference—it is a role of responsibility.

At the conclusion of Mr. Lee's talk each of the honored alumni was introduced.

During the morning alumni gathered in the lounge for registration and a social hour where the Law Wives Club served coffee. Later luncheon was served in the refectory.

For the first time this year ladies were in attendance.

RAYMOND A. BUTLER, '30, drives 26 miles a day from his home in Prince William County, Va., to his work in Washington with the United States Antarctic Projects Office. That much commuting would bother many men but not Ray Butler. He's a man on the go and distance is no barrier.

In the past two decades Mr. Butler has been on three expeditions to Antarctica. He calls the frozen continent "an ice desert, one of the most beautiful places in the world," and wants to go back with future expeditions.

His long association with the earth's coldest climates hasn't been confined to the continent at the bottom of the world. In World War II he led an expedition to Alaska to test survival equipment in mountainous Arctic areas, and for three years during the 1950's he worked on Greenland projects for the Army Transportation Corps.

But his first love has been and is Antarctica.

As a boy, he became interested in the frozen continent, and as a college student he prepared his thesis at Syracuse University on Antarctica. Some friends told Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd of Mr. Butler's interest in Antarctica.

This resulted in an interview with the admiral and an invitation to join Admiral Byrd's 1939-41 Antarctic Service Expedition. As a cartographer on his first visit to Antarctica, Ray Butler prepared flight and trail maps.

His second trip to Antarctica in 1957-58 was as a United States exchange observer with the British and his most recent expedition was in 1959-60 as an observer for the U. S. Antarctic Projects Office for Operation Deepfreeze 60.

Today many nations are interested in Antarctica. In a recent interview, Mr. Butler was asked to pinpoint the significance of Antarctic explorations. "Of first importance," he said, "is the scientific aspect. He described the continent as a "tremendous outdoor laboratory" and said "many questions in science can be answered only after Antarctica is studied and analyzed. Then this information must be correlated with what we already know."

In the fields of meteorology, glaciology and geology, he said, the Antarctic findings are helping man to better understand the world in which he lives.

Another importance, Mr. Butler feels, is that Antarctica "is one place in the world in which all nations and all people can work on a common problem in harmony." Noting that he and other Americans have corresponded successfully with Russian scientists about the Antarctic, he observed: "If the lessons learned here could be applied to other areas, it would make a significant contribution toward world-wide peace."

In Mr. Butler's view, two words—proper planning—are the key to successful expeditions in Antarctica. Admiral Byrd, "one of the finest men who ever lived," did not lose a man in his first three expeditions to the Antarctic. "He was a genius at organizing and leading expeditions."

In a land where the temperature sometimes goes as much as 70 degrees below zero and rarely rises above freezing during the summer, proper food and clothing are necessary.

Diet must be high in carbohydrates, and a diet containing 5,000 calories a day is not unusual.

To work in the cold, the recommended attire is heavy wool underwear, a suit of Dacron, heavy wool trousers and shirt, heavy parka, heavy socks, ski boots, wool mittens and fur mittens. Without the mittens, bare hands would stick to the icy metal surfaces of equipment.

From a morale standpoint, the hardest period in Little America is from April 21 to August 21. It begins with a deep twilight and slips into a long, black night. "The main thing," Raymond Butler said, "is to have interesting work to do." Life goes on in an organized routine and expedition members, in their leisure time, enjoy books, musical records, crafts (building model (Continued on page 18)
COACH Ed Merrick's University of Richmond football team—deeper, faster and more versatile—faces the 1961 campaign with its largest squad and toughest schedule (Army and Alabama replace Furman and East Carolina) in the history of the school.

Sixteen of the 21 lettermen from last year's unusually small squad of 29, which finished with a 3-6-1 record, will be on hand along with a fine crop of interesting sophomores (14 figure in the first three units with three likely to start) to swell the squad to over 60.

So the Spiders will be much deeper, although Merrick reminds that it will be "sophomore depth"—and sophomores make mistakes.

Rifle-armed junior Quarterback Mel Rideout, who ranked 15th in the nation and second in the Southern Conference last season when he completed 85 of 182 passes for 904 yards and four touchdowns, and Sophomore Bill Sommers, who runs the option play exceptionally well, should help provide a more versatile attack. Rideout, a 6-2, 200-pounder, is a harder but slower runner than the 5-11, 177-pound Sommers, who also is an adequate passer. Holdover Dick Curl is the No. 3 signal caller. Letterman Dick Huffman will be the "wild card" replacement for the quarterbacks on defense.

The Spiders' greatest asset is their depth at halfback. Earl Stoudt, All-American candidate and a great all-round back who has averaged 4.4 yards during his three-year career, is a fixture at left half. The 173-pound All-Southern whiz scored 27 points and gained 101 yards in 17 carries in the North's 33-15 triumph over the South in the Spring intra-squad game and should experience his greatest season.

Stewart Percy (165), a much improved junior, returns at right half. Running behind Stoudt is junior letterman Brent Vann (183), a fine defensive back who is developing into a hard runner. Bob Hodgson, shifty 164-pound sophomore who was the leading ground gainer on the freshman team, backs up Percy. Also available are Steve Stevenson, non-lettering junior, and Ron Ridenhour, senior letterman hampered by injuries much of last season.

Jim McGinnis, who signed with the Washington Redskins, and John Boggs the first two fullbacks last season, are missing. However, hard-hitting Larry Deco (215) and Tommy Peacock (205), a pair of sophomores who also block well, promise to provide the Spiders with an "up-the-middle" threat. Letterman Billy Nix is the No. 3 fullback.

Art McGee (200), co-captain with Stoudt,

Alumni who buy a season ticket for the five home games will pay only $14.00 and thus save $3.00. Further, there will be issued free a child's season ticket which will enable the child to sit with the owner of the adult season ticket in the reserved section.

SEASON TICKETS $14.00

SEASON TICKET BONUS — For each season ticket purchased one child's season ticket adjoining your seats will be given without charge.

To receive bonus tickets, purchase must be made by Sept. 15.

University of Richmond, Va.
and junior letterman George Rapp, a dash man in track, are the likely starting ends, but Merrick believes you'll hear plenty from John Hilton, a glue-fingered, 6-5, 210-pound sophomore end who was the pass-catching sensation of the freshman club. Sophomore Ken Labik and Bill Ventura, non-lettering junior, also are expected to see considerable service. So the loss of Bob Coolbaugh, All-Southern flankman who signed with Oakland of the American Football League, should not feel too keenly.

Senior Don Christman (215), one of the conference's top linebackers and rated a pro prospect along with Stoudt, returns at center with junior Jack Yaffa (200) to back him up. Sophomore Jim Helvin (175) showed up well in the Spring game, so Merrick has no worries at center.

With Bob Sizer having completed his eligibility, junior right guard Ben Davis (200) is the lone returning letterman guard. Gerald Lofstead (208) held the edge over Joe Kessel (185), a converted center, at the end of Spring practice for the starting role at left guard. However, Fred Mancuso, a fine 6-3, 215-pound prospect was running first string at this position until he suffered a hip dislocation and undoubtedly will be heard from again. Tom Bondurant (210) and George Karpoff (202), two other sophomores, run behind Davis.

Although Bob Buffman is the lone letterman tackle not returning, Merrick was not too pleased with tackle play during Spring practice. He believes the Spiders will be better and thinks they'll be considerably improved if the tackles come through. Senior Joe Pesansky (223), starter at left tackle, showed signs in the Spring game that he intends to hold his job. Senior letterman Tom Daughtrey (210) and Bob Klinger, non-lettering 218-pound junior back him up. Al Mitchell, promising 217-pound sophomore, appears to have the edge over senior letterman Joe Teefey (215) and Ed Northrop, 211-pound junior who lettered at guard last season, for the starting role at right tackle.

Discontent among the students about with disclaimer oaths and other loyalty tests, assume that an individual's exercise of his constitutional right against self-incrimination is a proof of guilt, label persons who are unorthodox in their politics or economics as un-American, and even denounce as tainted those completely American stalwarts who defend the liberties of others.

Dr. Johnson chose his subject, "None to Make Him Afraid," from a quotation of George Washington who said in an address to the Hebrew congregation at Newport: "everyone shall sit in safety under his own vine and fig tree, and there shall be none to make him afraid."

His charge to the graduates:

"Find your tongues . . . speak up. Use words that will help make a better life for those . . . who live in our good land under the shadow of fear. We can speak words of caution, or warning, of advice, of encouragement, and, on a proper occasion, words of denunciation and condemnation."

Ninety-eight members of the School of Business Alumni Association heard John S. Lanahan, president of Richmond Hotels, Inc., speak on "What the University of Richmond can do for the City of Richmond" at their annual Alumni Day breakfast May 13 at the William Byrd Hotel.

Dean David W. Robbins told the group that the new building will probably be completed by Homecoming Day in November.

SPIDERS WIN BIG FIVE TITLE

Coach Mac Pitt's University of Richmond baseball team captured its fourth straight State Big Five championship by defeating the University of Virginia, 7-3, in the final game of the season at Charlottesville. The triumph was the fifth in seven Big Five games for the Spiders and the first loss in three loop contests for the second place Cavaliers.

A bases-loaded triple by sophomore center fielder Bobby Stewart and a single by senior third baseman Don Falls got the Spiders off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning. Pitcher Mel Rideout's two-run homer over senior third baseman Don Falls got the University of Virginia, 7-3, in the final inning.

The victory over V.M.I. was Revere's sixth of the season against three losses (two by one-run margins) and brought his collegiate career record to 22 games won against only seven set backs. The big right-hander worked 73 1/3 innings on the hill this season and finished with an earned run average of 1.96. Dick Haymore, Richmond's junior shortstop who led the club at the bat with a .400 average and 14 runs batted in, singled across Tom Booker with what proved to be the winning run against the Keydets in the seventh inning.

The surprising Spiders were in the thick of the fight for the Southern Conference crown until West Virginia won a double-header from V.M.I. on the last day of the season. The twin victory enabled the Mountaineers to finish with an 8-2 conference record and edge the Spiders and Furman, both of whom finished with a 7-3 Southern Conference mark. The Spiders' overall record for the season was 11 wins and four losses.

Actually, it was a 3-2 loss to George Washington at Washington and a 9-1 defeat at the hands of Virginia Tech at Blacksburg that knocked the Pittmen out of the SC title, for the Spiders bounced back with a 9-2 win over William and Mary and their triumph over the Keydets to keep the pressure on West Virginia.

After defeating Ohio Wesleyan, 6-2, and Colgate, 4-3, and dividing a pair with Harvard, 10-8 and 0-10, the Spiders got off on the right foot in the SC race with a 4-3 triumph over The Citadel. Revere lost a heartbreaker to Virginia Tech, 2-1, but the Spiders walloped Furman, 21-11; Revere blanked V.M.I., 5-0; Rideout did a masterful relief job in a 7-3 victory over George Washington, and Richmond outlasted William and Mary at Williamsburg, 10-8. Then came the losses to GW and the Gobblers.

No one expected the Spiders to do so well this season, for Coach Pitt started the season without an experienced catcher and shortstop and with no pitching depth. Revere and Rideout, coming through as a pitcher after a slow start, solved the hurling worries. Falls started the season behind the plate but later was shifted to third base where he divided playing time with Lewis Armisted, a newcomer. Sophomore Brent Vank and junior Ron Ridenhour worked with the mask and mitt.

Senior Doug Martin again turned in remarkable plays around second base, established himself as one of the better fielders in the area and acted as a steadying influence in the infield. Haymore plugged the hole at shortstop and his big bat helped overcome his deficiencies in the field in a strange position. Rideout batted .304. When he moved from first base to the mound, sophomore Charley Cloe took over the duties at the initial sack.

Senior Tom Booker had a fine season in left field, batting .346, hitting a pair of home runs and driving a dozen runners across the plate. Stewart finished with a .274 mark but led the club in total bases (52) and home runs (3). Senior John Boggs in right gave the Spiders three fine outfielders.

Booker was selected on the All-Southern team with Revere and Martin being named to the second team. Haymore and Rideout received honorable mention.

The Spider golf team finished its season with a 3-5-1 record. Captain Larry Dixon, Richmond's No. 1 man, won five matches and lost four. Dixon shot a 76-77—153 in the Southern Conference tournament at the Country Club of Virginia's James River course to finish four strokes behind the medalist in a tie for eighth place. The Richmond team finished sixth.

Bill Ventura, Richmond's shot-put star, was undefeated in dual meets for the winless Spiders. Ventura, who had tossed the shot 48 feet 8½ inches to win the Southern Conference indoor shot-put title at Lexington, managed only 44 feet 2½ inches in the SC outdoor meet at Norfolk and finished fifth. . . . The Richmond tennis team also failed to win a match.

Coach Les Hooker's Spider freshman baseball team played four games, splitting decisions with Bullis Prep, 5-6 and 4-2, and Frederick Junior College, 0-4 and 8-3.

LUMPKIN PREACHES

Preaching missions to distant places are becoming a familiar feature of American Christian denominational activity. W. L. Lumpkin, ’37, recently joined 60 Southern Baptist preachers and musicians in a two-week evangelistic mission to Baptist Churches in Scotland, preaching at rallies in eight Scottish cities.

The April crusade offered several features which struck the Rev. Mr. Lumpkin, pastor of the Freemason Street Baptist Church of Norfolk, as being unique.

“First,” he said, “while the usual evangelistic mission abroad is organized by American churches for the purpose of strengthening churches in ‘mission’ areas, this crusade was undertaken in cooperation with churches having longer histories than most of the American communities whose ministers went to Scotland. The Christian tradition of Scotland is, of course, very old. Baptists have been at work there since around 1636.

“Second, the ministry undertaken in Scotland went beyond the basic task of preaching the Gospel.” There was a genuine sharing of religious culture and fellowship.

“Third, the plan of organization was noteworthy. Preachers were assigned to 32 particular churches for the 10-day period of evangelistic ministry. I had the good fortune of being the preacher assigned to accompany the choir. The churches were filled wherever we went for the rallies.”

Mr. Lumpkin said that the men encountered no resentment at Greenock, where the atomic-powered American submarine Nautilus was anchored.

“The Scots are sincerely our friends,” he said. “They betray no jealousy at American leadership of the free world, but they glory, rather, in the strength and ideals of our country.”

Receiving honors might well become a yearly event for Johnson. Last June at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Section of the Association, he was awarded the George Warren Fuller Award for “outstanding accomplishments and service in the water works field.” In 1953, he was elected president of the New Castle Camp of the Gideons, a group of men and women dedicated to the distribution of Bibles.

Louis D. Rubin, Jr., has published his first novel, The Golden Weather, which was very favorably reviewed in the Richmond News Leader by classmate Guy Friddell, who says: "The book is concerned with the weather only in the sense of the warm, golden climate that envelopes childhood. The book picks up young Omar Kohn as he is finishing the Spring semester of his last year in elementary school and follows him through a memorable summer in Charleston, S. C., climaxing with a hurricane and a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the firing on Fort Sumter. Mr. Rubin does everything with gusto, whether it is writing editorials for the Richmond News Leader, or teaching in the Hollins College English Department, which he now heads. He was the easily the worst left-handed first baseman and the best humor columnist ever to attend Richmond College."

FREDERICK GRAY APPOINTED VIRGINIA ATTORNEY GENERAL

Frederick T. Gray, '49, is Virginia's new Attorney General.

Mr. Gray began his new job April 30, taking over from Alberts Harrison who resigned to devote more time to his race for governor. In naming Mr. Gray to fill the post until next January, Governor J. Lindsay Almond called him "one of the ablest lawyers I have known.

Before his appointment Mr. Gray was associated with the Richmond law firm of Williams, Mullens, Pollard and Rogers, but now he's head of an office he once served in five years. He had joined the staff when Governor Almond was Attorney General in 1948, and in 1953 he had become first assistant attorney general. Then he entered private practice in 1954.

Son of a Hopewell barber, Mr. Gray turned to the practice of law following his discharge as an air force navigator during World War II. His service, he said, was "unspectacular."

Winner of the Chesterfield Junior Chamber of Commerce award as the county's outstanding young man for 1954, Mr. Gray has served as president of the Chesterfield Lions Club, president of the Old Dominion Young Democratic Club, president of the Enon Parent-Teacher Association, and county chairman of the Red Cross. He is chairman of the church board of his Methodist congregation and a coach of Little League baseball and football. He even helped to organize a local volunteer fire department.

From November, 1959, to May, 1960, Mr. Butler was an observer for Operation Deepfreeze 60. He joined this expedition in New Zealand where he boarded the powerful icebreaker, Glacier.

The Glacier picked up supplies left at Little America V, a base which had been closed, and then rode on to McMurdo Sound where it broke up channel sea ice so cargo ships could come in and unload their supplies.

After a return trip to New Zealand for repairs, the Glacier cruised the Bellingshausen Sea and became the first ship ever to reach the coast of Antarctica in that area.

The cold and hardships don't bother Ray Butler. His one misgiving about an Antarctic expedition is the time he must spend away from his family, Phyllis, and their three children, David, 17; Pamela, 13, and Keith, 6.

When he's in Antarctica, the only word he has from his family and the outside world is ham radio and when supply ships bring in mail. The news from loved ones is as welcome to a man as the food, fuel and other supplies necessary to keep him well and alive on the frozen continent.

We are elated and honored as a Class that Helen Monsell was recognized for her service to the University when an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters was conferred; and she was also recognized by the "military" and the Athletic Department. She "made" the front page of the newspapers twice and her photographs with her swester letter and in other receptive scenes appeared some five or six times. Then, Helen went off on a long western tour. Congratulations from the papers twice and her photographs with her appeared some five or six times. Then, Helen went out in mid-June to attend the wedding of aottie in-law, Mrs. August Dietz, Jr., who as Elsie Jean Miller was a former Westhampton student—I flew to Europe May 18 (returning in mid-June) to attend the wedding of cousin in Germany and the opening week of the Spring Music Festival in Vienna. No tour group this time, but in October I am taking a group either to Europe or Mexico.

MRS. BARTLE CORPREW
(Justice Burr)
101 Gates Ave.

Life, your life, my life, is like a book with many chapters. You read on, turning a page to find a new chapter with the same characters but with new experiences. And so it has been with me. I've closed many chapters but am still opening new ones with interesting and challenging opportunities.

Several years ago I wrote a sketch of my activities since college days so will dwell only on the latest chapters. This autobiography is being written at the request of Juliette Carpenter with a promise that all members of the Class '19 will be asked to contribute an article about themselves. I am looking forward to reading each one.

As many of you will recall I lost my husband, John W. Wright, in December, 1940. Subsequently I was appointed Postmaster of Roanoke, but a serious illness forced me to retire in 1955 after serving fifteen years. Those years were challenging years, interesting with plenty of hard work.

The first two years after retirement I had few activities for I was concentrating on regaining my health and have made full recovery and am enjoying my retirement to the fullest extent.

But who said retirement was a period of rest and relaxation? I seem to be as busy now as I was while working, with increasing demands for church and civic activities. One big difference—no pay check.

In 1959 I joined my sister-in-law and her husband, Dr. and Mrs. Preston W. Slaxon of Ann Arbor, Michigan, on a trip to Europe. They took their car and spent almost three months driving over five countries in Europe, England and Scotland. What a wonderful experience! I took my camera along (photography has become one of my hobbies since retirement) and returned with several hundred colored slides. I have had much enjoyment telling of my trip and showing my pictures.

In 1960 I had a wonderful trip to Mexico, truly a fascinating country. Again I brought back pictures and have given quite a number of talks to clubs and organizations about Mexico, demonstrating it with colored slides.

I live in an apartment, found a big house too much for me, enjoy cooking and entertaining my friends.

I am now serving on the Official Board of the Raleigh Court Methodist Church; a member of the Altrusa Club; on the Official Board of Roanoke Tuberculosis Association; serving as Parliamentarian on the Board of Managers of the Mary Louise Home (a home for aged ladies, a project of the King's Daughters); member of the Thursday Morning Music Club; member Roanoke Camera Club; serving as Treasurer, Wednesday History Club and a member of the Roanoke Unit of National Association of Parliamentarians.

OUTGOING PRESIDENT REPORTS PROGRESS

Community awareness of Westhampton as an unsurpassed educational center heightened the annual report of Antoinette With Whittet (Mrs. R. McLean, Jr., '41) outgoing Association president.

Stressed as one of her aims when she took office, Mrs. Whittet's term produced tangible results in this direction. Increased attendance at the annual Faculty-Alumni Lecture Series and at College-sponsored Fine Arts events indicate wide community appreciation. Further evidence of this fact was noted by the record breaking gathering of 250 Richmond area high school students who attended the annual tea given by Alumnae, students, and administration.

Other home-front activities of the Association included the traditional Open House at the Hotel John Marshall for Alumni and Alumnae attending the Virginia Education Association Convention, and the Senior Class buffet held this year at the Country Club of Virginia. The third Alumnae College, with Jean Neasmith Dickson '41 as chairman, was enthusiastically received and efforts are being made to select a date that will allow wider participation.

Mrs. Whittet expressed gratitude, not only to members of the Board and the Association for their cooperation, but especially to Leslie Booker, '22, executive secretary, and to Frances Beecher Stallard, '28, Alumnae Fund chairman.

Business transacted by approximately 250 members attending the annual meeting, included a recommendation from the board to elect class presidents for five year terms coincident with reunions. The measure received hearty endorsement and will relieve class secretaries of some of their responsibilities.

Upon recommendation of the Board, Mary Grace Shearer Taylor, '42, is assisting in preparation of material for The Bulletin. A resident of Richmond, Mrs. Taylor taught high school English and Drama before entering journalism. During 1944 and 1945, she was Woman's Editor of The Richmond News Leader and for a short time after her marriage was publicity director for the Community Chest in Greensboro, N.C. She will be happy to have your suggestions and especially information about activities of sister alumnae. Address information to the Alumnae office or to her, at 1201 Dirwood Ave., University Heights, Richmond.

Recently I served as Co-Chairman of the Citizens Committee working for the passage of a bond issue for $2,200,000 for building an auditorium for Roanoke. The Committee put on a vigorous campaign but lost by 800 votes. I was keenly disappointed over the outcome.

Future plans? Oh, yes. I will join my sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carl Steinhardt, Franklin, Virginia, on a trip to California starting in June. I am looking forward to this trip with eager anticipation.

Virginia Lake (Mrs. John Lake)—March 19, 1961, Apt. C, 1414 Heulu St., Honolulu, Hawaii writes as follows:

"After my husband's going, the girls and I returned to Wake Forest to make our home with my parents. After their passing, Virginia married and Rose came with me to Hawaii, thinking she would visit here and then return to the mainland. However, she found work here and stayed on and then attended business college. She was married December 17th in Olivet Baptist Church (Honolulu) Virginia and her precious little year old son came for the occasion. Rose is living in Kentucky and Virginia in North Carolina, so I am alone and missing them.

However, furlough days are near at hand so next month I shall return to the mainland and am looking forward to seeing all my children and friends and loved ones. I shall be attending the Southern Baptist Convention, I hope. Our needs here are great. Though we are a state now, we are still a great mission field. Of our 4,000 resident church members, in our 25 churches, the vast majority are young people and children—few adults well established, financially. More and more now our churches are faced with heavier financial responsibility." A letter from Nellie Saunders Early (Mrs. Earl Early), 4815 Beach Blvd., Orlando, Flori-

HOMECOMING—NOVEMBER 4
OFFICERS ELECTED AT MEETING

Mary Owen Bass, '41, was elected president of the Westminster College Alumnae Association at the annual meeting June 3. Elected at the same time as vice-president was Margaret Leake, '31, a librarian for the Richmond public schools. With the executive secretary, they will direct the affairs of the approximately 3,000 alumnae scattered all over the world.

A resident of Wilmington, Del., where her husband, Dr. Kenneth C. Bass, Jr. (U. of R. '39) is research manager of the textile division of Du Pont, Mrs. Bass is a prominent ambassador for her alma mater.

She is chairman of the Delaware Joint Legislative Council of Women's Groups which includes representatives from all church, civic and clubwomen organizations, and is active in the local branch of the American Association of University Women, having held various chairmanships. This past spring she was on the planning committee for college night in Wilmington.

Enthusiastic about her new post, Mrs. Bass regards her election as an opportunity to pursue one of her favorite pastimes: "stimulating interest in Westhampton throughout the country."

"The common tie of Westhampton is binding wherever we live," she says, "and I hope to see maximum participation in Westhampton affairs, both of the financial and fellowship nature. No matter what our circumstances, each of us can give something of ourselves to the alma mater whose name we so proudly bear."

She practices what she preaches. In Delaware, she is the frequent host to University officials, and this past year she made extensive arrangements for the local concert of the college Glee Club. Her husband recently represented the University at the inauguration of the new president of Dover State College.

A drama major in puppetry, (which she has put to good use in scout work) President Bass has actively participated in college and community affairs ever since her graduation when she entered the teaching profession. Upon her "retirement" to full-time homemaking in Richmond, she rapidly assumed responsibility in educational, church, and civic groups. In the local branch of the AAUW, she served as chairman of numerous committees and was president at the time of her departure from the city in 1954. She was appointed by Governor Thomas B. Stanley to the State Commission to study Juvenile Delinquency, and at one time was the first woman ever to be appointed to the Henrico County Electoral Board. On the political front, she served as a district chairman during the 1953 primary and as vice-chairman of the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. In addition, she was active in the P.T.A. and was a youth counselor for Peace Methodist Church.

While admitting to a busy schedule, she gives home precedence over everything else. At 402 Crest Road, Carrick, Kenneth III, 17, and Mary Katherine, 4, receive her undivided attention. This recently paid dividends when her son was named one of 18 recipients from the entire nation of the Angier B. Duke Scholarship at Duke University, where he will matriculate next fall. He was also a finalist in the General Motors and the National Merit Scholarship programs, and was awarded a Yale scholarship as well. He and seven friends, all advanced math students, operate a popular band called The LogaRhythms.

Heartened to hear of the organization of an Alumnae Club in San Francisco, Mrs. Bass hopes to see increased interest in many areas. Further plans include, of course, emphasis on the important 1962 target for realization of the swimming pool.

Through The Bulletin, the new president relays to each member her desire to be of service, and her request for your support.

Margaret Carlton and her husband had a most enjoyable trip to Fort Jackson, South Carolina to see their son finish his basic training, then to escort him home for a two weeks' leave. Inez and Oscar Hite have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne Delannette, to Mr. Merrill Norton Howe, Jr. The wedding will take place on June 24th.

We extend deepest sympathy to Louise Wilkins Morton, whose only brother passed away in March.

My husband, son, and I had a delightful Easter vacation with a friend in her beautiful home in Tryon, North Carolina.

I have had cards and letters from several of our class who have never written before and I was delighted to hear from you. I was terribly sorry that so many of you were writing to say that you couldn't come to the reunion dinner.

Inez Cutchin Kollock was so busy with their several chicken farms that she couldn't get away. Margarette Noffsinger Horn went to the meeting of G.F.W.C. in Miami on June 4th. She wants us all to stop by Vinton to see her when we're in the Roanoke area.

Mary Ellen Herrnstein was baby sitting for her daughter who was having her fourth baby in four years.

Gene Edmondson Barney says she stays terribly busy with church, community and Carroll College affairs, besides doing her job and spending as much time as possible with her young grandson.

Alice Taylor stays pretty close to home with her mother. But she did get to go to the College May Day, which she says was lovely.

Let us hear from the rest of you in time for the next Bulletin. Don't forget to send your contributions to the Swimming Pool Fund.

Two recent letters brought interesting news. Dixie Baker O’Riordan writes that she has her own family and mentioned Louise Eubank Gray, who is her Saluda, Virginia neighbor. Louise is a very busy teacher in their local high school. Dixie and Louise’s and Dixie’s daughter have been ill, and Dixie has experienced recent cataract operations. She is now managing her husband’s insurance business. The Owens have two daughters now in Ohio. Liz’s son Bill is finishing his third year at Woodberry Forest, in Virginia. Both a camp in the mountains of North Carolina. Port Washington, New York, has been busy working on the local Cancer drive. Her daughter, Mary Pat Early Love and Arthur enjoy seeing the running of the Preakness. Rhea Talley Stewart attended the Conference for Women in Radio and Television in Washington and then came to Richmond to visit her mother. While in Washington, she met the Treasurer of the United States, and she gave Rhea some interesting facts which she will probably use in a feature story. Betsy Cannon Kimball’s daughter, Karen, was married in April to Russell Charles Huffman; her older son, Dan, Jr., graduated from the University of Virginia cum laude and as a distinguished military graduate. Her younger son, Andy, is gaining recognition in photography in Arlington. Betsy is battling the problems of the New Frontier at the Pentagon. Sue Whittet Wilson’s daughter, Susan, is following in her mother’s footsteps by marrying shortly after graduating from college. She receives her degree at Mary Washington after making an outstanding record there. Her marriage to William Gerald Bolling, Lt. USMC, will take place in July. Marjorie Puryear Carville is now a grandma, and a glamorous one she is too. Margaret Taylor Gallaway is staying home this summer and thinking about her wonderful trip to Spain last year.

Alice Oberle Harris’ daughter, we understand, graduated from college this year; also, Alice has a new address which we hope to have by the next issue of the Bulletin. Helen Caulfield Ballard is proud of her daughter, Anne, who graduated at the top of her class in Norfolk and will enter Wellesley in the fall.

Cheryl Pierce, daughter of Lola Williams Pierce, won praise for her singing in Finister’s Rainbow; R. G., Lola’s son, enjoyed his work at Peabody.

Almost welcome letter arrived from Dolly L. Hammond. Her oldest son is graduating from Harvard this June. He is a math major and has a teaching fellowship to do graduate work at Hopkins. The second son, Henry Latane, is completing his second year at Brown. Jim, the third son, is at Friends School in Baltimore. Johnny, the nine year old, loves baseball the best.

Marjorie C. O’Riordan writes that she will have all four children in college next winter. She hopes to attend the ’63 reunion as some of her classmates should be out and working by then. Linda Hardy was graduated from Averett in June. She was maid-of-honor to the May Queen in one of the very few May Days held with good weather this year.

Best wishes for a very happy summer.

The Richmond Alumnae luncheon, held recently by six from our class, namely Ann Wood Virginia McIntosh Puckett, Helen Hulcher, Erma Gay Cecil, Virginia Watkins Ellenberg, and myself. We are very proud of Ammye Herrin Hill who won a blue ribbon for a sculpture entitled “Hands,” in the Tuckahoe Woman’s Club annual art exhibit. My thanks to all who have helped, by writing letters or visiting, during the three-year drive for the Swimming Pool.

Mary Pat Early Love and Arthur enjoyed seeing the running of the Preakness. I have had many wonderful letters from our group and I would like to thank each one who has taken the time to write.

Virginia Kirk Lennox and her husband, Paul, are moving to Cape Cod as soon as school is out.

Mary Ellen Stephenson has bought a home in Fredericksburg. The address is 1208 Augustus Avenue.

Martha Riis Moore's son, Jimmy, won a certificate for outstanding performance on the National Merit Examinations. He also won scholarships from the University of Virginia and Randolph-Macon College. He served as treasurer of his junior class and vice-president of the senior class at Patrick Henry High School. He is a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club. Jimmy will attend Randolph-Macon.

Boo Page and Sidney have a celebrity in their family. Jane Page has just been selected to be a member of the National Honor Society, Key Club.

This seems to be the year that our class of '40 will travel. Mildred Gustafson Donohue met her husband in New York after he had been around the world for three months. They left from there to vacation in Bermuda for three weeks.

Laird has gone to Europe on the YWCA tour. We will all be anxious to hear about her trip when she returns.

Our Twenty-Fifth Reunion is not too far off and I am already planning to come.

A letter from Alice Lacy Chalkley brings us news from outside Richmond, for a change. Alice's letter is as follows: "Our daughter, Anne, had a wonderful year ('59-'60) at Baylor University, Waco, Texas. At the end of the school year, she married her Chattanooga "steady" (for five years)—and now Chuck and I are grandparents (the proudest, ever), of the cutest little boy, Robert Phillips III. Anne's husband is finishing his pre-med work at the University of Virginia, so we haven't lost them, yet. I am having a ball with their five weeks old baby and our little Tommy, age 2½.

In case you don't think I have enough to write about, I will mention that our class of '40 had a wonderful year. Scotty and Petey Jacobs. Garland brought her eldest daughter, Betty, up for the Westminster May Day.

Charlotte Saxe Schieberg and I had a nice telephone visit. Charlotte said she and Henry visited California last summer, stopping in Palo Alto and San Francisco. She told me that Henry had traveled a lot this winter to England, Canada, and in the States, while she kept the fires burning.

Dot Sheld Wood and Charlie went down to Vicksville to visit her brother. They also went on to Natchez to visit some of the lovely gardens.

It is distressing to hear that Elizabeth Ashbrook Jackson's mother is in the hospital and is seriously ill.

Do let me know where you go and what you do this summer. I would also like to know where your sons and daughters are going to college. Let's have some news from you girls who live away from Richmond.

ALUMNAE RETURN

Old friends returned to Westhampton for Alumnae Weekend, June 2-4, to catch up on the news, relive fond memories, and hear the unusual experiences of one of their number.

Ruth Latimer, '45, spoke at the annual meeting, using slides to relate her physical therapy work with the Red Cross in Morocco where she served last year rehabilitating paralytic victims. On the lighter side, alumnae became nostalgic when they saw authentic models and heard a skit written by Helen Monsell (B.A. '16, L.L.D. '61) tracing Alma Mater from 1916 to the present. Special socializing was provided by Richmonders for five-year reunion classes beginning with 1926.

Henrietta Sadler Ellwanger, '41, was chairman of the festivities, assisted by: Priscilla Poteat Humbert, '43, coffee and registration; Mildred Cox Goode, '43, garden party, and Methyl Young Bruce, '53, luncheon. Louise Cardoza Long, '43, was in charge of the skit with Jody Weaver Wampler, '55, at the organ and Mary Grace Scherer Taylor, '42, was at the mike.

For benefit of absent alumnae, The Bulletin reprints Miss Monsell's recollections, with photographs of participating actresses, that you too may remember and walk again by the lake.

1916—WE SAW WESTHAMPTON BORN
Bare brick with mortar still damp from the trowel,
Smelling of plaster and fresh-painted doors,
Awkward with youth, she arose on her hill-top
Westhampton, new born, with promise untold.
Long was the way between car stop and dorm door,
Rutty the road for our mule-powered bus.
Who gave a hoot? We were Pioneer Students,
Blazing new trails never trodden before.

1921—WE SAW WESTHAMPTON MOVE
During the war year we gave up the campus,
Classrooms and library, lab space and dorm.
Down into town we moved, kit and kabooble,
Little dean perching atop of each load.

Hospital, post office, freight house and town house
Gave us their shelter, though crowded and bleak.
Proud of our sacrifice, Daughters of War we were,
Gay with adventure while praying for peace.

1926—WE SAW THE SCIENCE HALL FIRE
The first science building, of flimsy construction
With frame walls and beaver board quick to ignite,
Was standing at sunset, at sunrise in ashes,
Its chemicals forcing the heat of the blast.
Up from those ashes arose the new science group
Puryear Hall for Chemistry first of the three,
College Gothic, but tempered a-purpose
To the functional lines that science hall needs.

1931—WE SAW THE CHAPEL BUILT
High above lakeside, new beauty was rising
We saw it—and heard it. The blazing’s loud roar
We bore with mute patience, for progress will always
From those who endure it demand its full toll.
So rose the Cannon Memorial Chapel,
Fitted for worship, but oh, so much more—

For joint convocations, for capped and gowned
Seniors
And also for bridal veils sweeping the aisles.

1936—WE SAW THE BIOLOGY BUILDING GROW
Maryland was the last of the Science Group
Home came the Princess TT Amnry Net.
Here held her court 'mid formaldehyde fragrance
Mingling with flora and fauna galore.
Frogs and cat skeletons, white mice and algae
Gave the new building a tone of its own.
Til its prize specimen outgrew his lab space
And now shows new talents as Richmond's smart Dean.

1941—WE HELPED BUILD KELLER HALL
Slowly Westhampton had outgrown her buildings,
Cramped and confined, we had no space to breathe.
No place for dates or for Phys Ed or frolics.
Nothing but class rooms, and who wanted work?

Fired by ambition to aid our descendants,
We helped alumnæ to build Keller Hall
Fit home for sports and for social activities,
Fine as Dean Keller, for whom it was called.

1946—WE LIVED IN THOMAS HALL
War time again! We were hosts to the Navy!
"Hail and Farewell" we told group after group,
Then came big doings, Look! Thomas Hall beckoned.
To crowded Westhampton "My dorm space is yours."!
Oh how we giggled—and oh, how we loved it!
To room where dear Daddy had once played.
Oh how we giggled—and oh, how we loved it!
Girls will be girls. That's what everyone thinks.

1951—WE MOVED INTO SOUTH COURT
No school can grow when there’s no space to grow in.
Each crack and cranny where beds could be placed
Was filled to the brim. Then South Court was created.
We watched it building—and then we moved in.
Were we impressed with the splendor about us?
Crammed and confined, we had no room to move.
But, alas, no more alcoves where lovers might lurk.
At least—so we thought them, but so felt the Old Grads
About poor old North Court when that once was new.

1956—WE USED THE BOATWRIGHT LIBRARY
High on the hillside across from the chapel
The new Boatwright Library slowly took shape.
Its beauty soft mirrored in still lake below it.
The heart of the college; the well spring of love.
Now there was shelving and space for expansion.
But, alas, no more alcoves where lovers might lurk.
Now there were chimes which would call us to classes.
But, still kept the buzzers to do the real work.

1961—FINALE!
Now here's to the future. We face it with firmness.
We're basing its promise on feats of the past.
When good honest toil brought our dreams to fruition.
So now will our latest dream soon come to pass.
Listen, that liquid and slow, limpid murmur
Is water, soft lapping against glistening tile.
Then a splash. What applause greets the diver
Westhampton's swimming pool's grown real at last.

HOMECOMING—NOVEMBER 4

Chapter meeting. Ethne and her family are now living in a new parsonage after fire destroyed the former one. Speaking of fires, Mildred's husband's lumber business in Pikesville, Maryland was completely destroyed by the last season and he has rebuilt near their home.

Ed and Anne Palazzo and their four children plan to visit us in Falls Church this summer so we can catch up on their news.

In the fall Mildred visited Rosalie Want Jacobs in her lovely new home in Petersburg where Bay is now a City Councillor. They exchanged information about Anne Paven Garrett and Mary Thayer Holt.

Allene Jones Patterson and her family are about to embark for Hawaii. They will be leaving June 26th by jet, no less. Allene says she's ready to go now, and they will be having ample housing on the base at Hickham. Their baby, Jean, now 2½ makes six 'punks' in the family, and don't think things aren't buzzing over there. Send your new address, please.

La Verne and Col and their two boys plan to spend Memorial Day weekend at Nag's Head as a preview to their regular summer vacation. Tom and Will now are almost ten and eight.

Allene also had a letter of Mary Pegram (Piggy) Wilson. After Jimmy's death, Piecy was left with two little boys. She has since remarried a prince of a fellow, Sam Wortington, a widower with a beautiful girl, a boy and a girl and a very nice family, indeed, living in Windsor, North Carolina. They visited Allene and Pat at the Inauguration.

At Easter time Laura Jenkins Cornel and her family (4 children) visited Laura's family in Bethesda, and also got together with Allene. Laura is now doing more work since all the children are in school.

Perhaps not everyone is familiar with Jean Grant Andrews' activities. She and her husband, Justin, are living in Bethesda. Justin is the Director of the Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases at National Institutes of Health. Jean, too has been working until recently. At this writing she was whipping up a cocktail party for 80 guests! Her son now 15 years old attends Landon School in Washington.

Anne Frank Patterson, who looks exactly like she did in '42, and her husband, Justin, are living in Bethesda. Justin is the Director of the Institute of Allergies and Infectious Diseases at National Institutes of Health. Jean, too has been working until recently. At this writing she was whipping up a cocktail party for 80 guests! Her son now 15 years old attends Landon School in Washington.

Kay and Bob Crutchfield have left the Washington area and are now back at Virginia Beach (146 Pinewood Rd.). At present they are having a house built, which will be ready by fall. They've bought a new sailboat, and all's well. Captain Bob (Navy) has assumed his new duties September 1st. He will be the Director of the Anti-Submarine Tactical school in Norfolk. When I talked to Kay recently, she said she planned to be in Baltimore for the Navy Festivities and the Prekness. Sounds wonderful! B. G. and I are in our new house, within shouting distance from the old one, since last fall, and we are enjoying it immensely. Wonderful view of the nature there is now free and fond of kindergarten. We get to see Bob and Ruth Cotten almost every day. They are building a new house near us and their site looks just like a chair. Ruth and Bob have just had a plush week in Nassau and are all tanned and marvelous looking.

Betty and Winifred and Henson have a daughter, Susan, graduating from Annapolis High School this year. "B" will be chartering Susan's sorority for a week at BethoBooth Beach June 19th. Their other daughter, 5th grade Ann, is busy with Girl Scout. So is "B", she's taking her troop of 29 on a two night hike shortly. "B" has been active in Girl Scout organizing for about five years, prior to taking on troop duties.

She's also very craft minded.

Now about our class reunion. LaVerne says to check and see if the town girls have formed committees and actually begun work on this. Have they? 1962 is just around the corner and we really do want to have a zippy get-together.

Please jot down your new year's plans and phone me if you are nearby at Clearbrook 6-1890.

Last fall Bob and I had a delightful weekend as the guests of George Simpson in Bethesda, Maryland. George is a Lt. Cdr. in the Navy hospital there. We enjoyed a wonderful Navy-Air Force game and a mighty pleasant chaty party as well.

I've had two happy surprises since Christmas in the visits of Helen Herrin Fix and Frances Beazley Bell. Hedy came out one Sunday afternoon and then she, Goy, and I had lunch the next week. She had left Jack and the three children in Cincinnati and was down for a brief vacation. In addition to being a Girl Scout Leader and doing the routine household chores, Hedy has a sales promotion job for a New York company. She's worked more or less half-time for four years, but handles such important assignments as the DuPont and the Time Magazine accounts. She looked mighty good and is still her cheerful, bubbling self. Fran and Bob were down with their two children for their annual trek south. We only got to see them for one evening, but the building business seems to be booming and the four Bells looked wonderful. Fran is still a skating enthusiast and they enjoyed many skiing weekends this past winter.

Dolly Dorsey Garwood is in Richmond now while Dave is in Alaska as Commander of an advance radar site. She has a home on the northside and David (13), Ginny (10), and Ruthie (5) are well into the swing of Virginia life. Dolly says she is thoroughly enjoying city life again and goes anywhere anyone asks her. As many of you know, Dolly has been traveling all over the world for many years and reported that it was particularly nice to be with her mother on Mother's Day for the first time since 1946.

Louise Wiley Willis and John have moved into a new home on their farm in Culpeper. When I talked to Puff she was beginning to wind up her first year of teaching at College. This year it was fifth and sixth year science at the boys' school, Puff, Elle Profit Jones, and several others saw Earl Fox at Richmond College Alumni Day. He reported that Reba was in the throes of an opera including a choir of 500. Their oldest son is at Woodberry Forest this year and some day in their trips up to Virginia some of us hope to see or hear from her. Effie's Dahamnton dog tined her 6 puppies just as the Disney picture was released.
Westhampton Swimming Pool
Almost a Reality

With a total of $29,832.04 received in the 1960-61 Westhampton Alumnae Fund by June 23 from 1062 contributors, the success of the Swimming Pool Campaign is virtually assured. "A Dream Come True by '62" is still our slogan, and we are certain of breaking ground for the long awaited pool on Alumnae Day, 1962, that we will begin $32,072.90 towards our goal of $55,000.00.

Still our belief, and we are so certain of 1960-61 Westhampton Alumnae Fund by to draw plans this fall.

During the next fiscal year (June 30, 1961-1962) according to our original contract we are lacking at this point only about $25,000.00 net in order to complete successfully the campaign we undertook. Payments made during the next fiscal year (June 30, 1961-June 30, 1962) will be applied to the fund for the pool, and if the money continues to come in as we believe it will, the pool WILL BE BUILT IN 1962.

Because the Bulletin must go to press before the end of the fiscal year, June 30, our final report from the classes will be mailed to you in the fall rather than reported in this issue. At that time a complete listing of contributors by classes, the membership of the Encore Club, and class percentages and totals will all be given. Meanwhile, our hearty thanks to all of you who by your work and your gifts are making this campaign successful and helping us to make "Our Dream Come True by '62!"

so Effie was besieged with requests for puppies from miles and miles around. Evie Lawson Katz called Effie this spring and hopes to be with us for our "twentieth"—not too far away.

Joni and Bobby Black were in the midst of plans for a Junior Prom when I talked to her. Virginia Delp Ogg was finishing her two classes at R.P.I. and ending the semester of teaching dancing three mornings a week, one at a kindergarten and two at Miss Fry's Dancing School.

Pudge Phillips Starke had quite a scare with her six year old Tommy this spring. He'd had intestinal flu which went into a sudden and unexpected appendix attack and after it took them four hours through the snow to get him to the hospital, things were quite touch and go for a while. It's good to report that all is well now, however. Bob and I have seen Carolyn Babbs Heflin and Bill several times this past year. They are back in Norfolk after several years in California and have bought a lovely home in Lynnhaven.

It certainly would be nice to hear from some of you gals who don't live in Richmond, so do come through with a card or two.

After living 40 miles from St. Louis, it is fun being in a city where we can walk to the concerts, etc., that he covers, and browse among the shops and points of historical interest. This summer we plan to go to Nantucket Island for swimming. Little Julia is learning to swim, and I think the pool will be a hit with the neighborhood children, too."

There isn't an abundance of news but what there is is interesting. Ann and Jim Island have been abroad this spring. I got a card from Ann when she was in Holland. They had been to Paris and London and expected to go to Rome. Liz and Howard Cane also made a trip to Europe and visited Lisbon, Madrid, Geneva, Hamburg, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Paris and London.

Betty Dupuy Adams wrote a long letter just recently which was most welcome. Their Lake Placid trip didn't materialize due to complications in business, weather and children's illnesses. Their young daughter, Davie, flew to Miami for Easter to visit relatives. Betty has been busy with her work as a member of the Scholarship Committee for Tri Delta. Next fall she will be the Chairman of the committee.

I tried to pin Gin Friddle down and find out what awards she had won lately. In the last Bulletin you must have seen that he was awarded two honorable mentions in the annual competition of the Virginia Press Association. However, he's won another one for his radio work. This time it was first place in the state as a news commentator. I think Gin ought to get an award for creating the kind of life home that helps make possible Guy's awards.

Gin told me that Ann Seay Jackson was elected to the Board of the Retreat Hospital. (Ann was too modest to tell me.) But Ann told me that Mary Campbell Paulson went to Atlanta to attend the Junior League Convention. Martha Tucker Bass and her family have just moved in back of Ann and J. B.—7777 Stuart Hall Road. You will be saddened to hear that Ann Clarke Howe's mother passed away recently.

Some of you undoubtedly attended the Thomas Jefferson High School reunion. I hear that Virginia Cunningham Rose was honestly mis-plans for a Junior Prom when I talked to her. Virginia Delp Ogg was finishing her two classes at R.P.I. and ending the semester of teaching dancing three mornings a week, one at a kindergarten and two at Miss Fry's Dancing School.

Pudge Phillips Starke had quite a scare with her six year old Tommy this spring. He'd had intestinal flu which went into a sudden and unexpected appendix attack and after it took them four hours through the snow to get him to the hospital, things were quite touch and go for a while. It's good to report that all is well now, however. Bob and I have seen Carolyn Babbs Heflin and Bill several times this past year. They are back in Norfolk after several years in California and have bought a lovely home in Lynnhaven.

It certainly would be nice to hear from some of you gals who don't live in Richmond, so do come through with a card or two.

Bev Rylander is teaching languages in a new high school in Alexandria this fall. She toured Europe with her mother and father last summer.

Isabel Nunn Snyder spent last summer at Chapel Hill working on her Master's in history of science. She spent Christmas in New York with her brother, Winston, showing Susan the sights. Another busy classmate is Faye Crandall Riddle with her P.T.A., Woman's Club and other activities.

In addition to her own four children, Lola... ver; in April the state convention (medical technology) in Weirton, West Va.; in May a blood bank meeting in Parkersburg, and in June the National Convention in Seattle, Washington. The last sounds so wonderful, for the first week of convention is in Seattle and the second in Hawaii. I agree, Betty, after the awful winter, Hawaii sounds "particularly enchanting."

A lovely picture of the Kelly children came in Ann's letter. Susan Willey Kelly was born June 12, 1950. The Kellys now number six. Ann sent a picture of Kitty 7, Nancy 5, Pat 4 and Susan. Ann wrote, "At present we are so pleased and excited about Commander Shepard's successful space ride. Tom works for the NASA and worked on the research Mercury capsule several years ago and is at present working on more advanced space projects. We feel honored to know so many of the engineers and technicians who are working on these space problems."

The Kellys spent a day with Marie, Claude and Carey LeSteuer during the New Year's holidays. I hope more of you will follow Ann's example and send me some pictures for the scrapbook.

Marion Huske Moomaw's Susan is enjoying the first grade this year. The Moomaws are in Staunton and Ed is in the Research and Development Section at ASR Products. Marion stays busy with the Garden Club, Hospital Auxiliary, Church Auxiliary and PTA in addition to housewife's duties.

Anne Fishburne, who spent several years at Westbrook with us, has a responsible supervisory job at the Bank of Virginia in Richmond.

Our three have just finished a bout with the red measles and we had to postpone our vacation. I have agreed to serve as first Vice President of the PTA this year. Having Marcia in school has opened another vista.

Will be looking forward to hearing from more of you.

The Kilpatrickers, Faye Hines and Bob, sent word of their 5th child, Thomas David, II, born March 8th. Dr. Wilmer Robert Jr., II, Kathy Spencer 8, Lauren Douglas 7, and Tracy 17 months. Faye sent a lovely picture of the four older children.

Faye writes, "Ours is quite an operation at Robin Ridge Farm—two year-old Angus calves, four sheep due to lamb, one horse Santa left, a six year-old Virginia born and named Rebel—and a collie Paladin, who sometimes does travel. Besides reproducing we're constantly at work on the place and love it here in spite of what has been a bitter winter.

Bob has been selected for Commander in the Reserve and is constantly on the go for Connecticut General—usually during four feet of snow and baby deliveries. He is a Senior Renewal underwriter. Faye also finds time to be the secretary of D.A.R. (Green Woods Chapter), PTA Ways and Means Chairman and New Hartford Community Club Publicity Chairman. Monty Elliott Ownby and Ralph announced their new arrival on April 13th, John Gardner Ownby.

March does a B.S. degree help a mother of four? Well, Judy Barnett Sechrist spent most of one morning making a small workable parachute as preparation for her new role of Club Scout Den Mother. Judy was in a bowling league during the winter but has decided to stay out of summer leagues and use that energy working in the yard. She and her four children arrived back in Virginia from Korea in May just a week before the governmental shake-up over there. They won't be settled permanently until August or September when they will move to Alabama.

Bob, the children and I took a trip to Pass-A-Grille Beach, Florida for two weeks in May and had a grand time since Mother was already there and was a willing baby-sitter.

Babies headline the news once again! Bill and Mim Anderson Gill welcomed their son number three, Carter Lee, on April 19, Elizabeth Stuart arrived at the home of Stuart and Jean Moody Vincent March 26, and Dave and Bobbie Redwater Forrest's latest addition was a boy, Roger Redwater. Norman and Marilyn Michener attended their first month old baby boy in March. Rip and Lilibee McNeal Claybrook had a little girl, Helen Elizabeth, October 7.

The class of 1949 wishes Ann Wilson Bryant a speedy recovery. Ann has been sick since December.

Barbara Belk Tinsley has been enjoying her husband's heart attack in the spring. W. P. was a little brother for the two girls. She is running a weaving, hiking, etc. Ann plans to spend the summer in Virginia.

We were sorry to learn of Vivian Betts Lewis' baby's heart attack in the spring. W. P. was in Richmond Memorial Hospital, but is home now. Marjorie Parsons Owen and Ralph had a fire the spring that gutted their new home in Jarret, Virginia. No one was hurt, but other than that we do not know any details.

Next news due in September.

Two babies for this BULLETIN: Joseph Wray Porter was born April 4th to Bishop Porter and Joseph; William Jacob Kapppi, Jr. born March 10th in Madras, Oregon to Joanne Waring Kapppi and Bill.

Tiny Huff Schublenburg and Fred flew from Cologne, Germany to be here for five weeks. They are spending most of their time at the river. Their son, Jerry, has had his third birthday since being here in the states.

Jean Hanson and Clarice Ryland Price were at a party given for Tiny and Fred recently.

Clarice Ryland Price tells me she has been made 1st vice president of Westhampton Junior Woman's Club.

Clare Noren Griffin and Bob have just finished off their upstairs with a bedroom and bath—done by themselves! She wrote to Janice Branchenburg Halloran that Lorraine Chapman was a visitor there in September and Ellen Largent was there in February.

All the group leaders had unhappy news to tell. We understand that Barbara Covington O'Flaherty has had a "bout" with her knee and was in the hospital for an operation on it in February. We are glad to hear that she is now home.

We were sorry to learn of Vivian Betts Lewis' husband's heart attack in the spring. W. P. was in Richmond Memorial Hospital, but is home now. A note from Shirley Robertson told of getting ready for her big trip to Florida in May. Five girls went in her new '61 Plymouth to stay a week in an efficiency apartment at Daytona Beach. We'll likely hear all the details at the reunion.

Jean Booth McKenney is still teaching at St. Catherine's and her husband is teaching in one of the county schools. They live at 1508 Park Ave., Richmond.

Mrs. Nancy Anderson has moved again. Her new address is 4301 Ambler Drive, Kensington, Md., still near Washington.

Our missionary in Africa, Beulah Johnson Hooper, always has interesting items in her newsletter from Nairobi. This time she tells of Vacation Bible Schools, the promise of several churches at a preaching point which draws hundreds of people each week to hear preaching and see films. She mentioned especially "the Nairobi Baptist Church, an English-speaking church" (which) is trying to get a new building up. Our church decided they wanted to help, and did so by giving a gift to the building fund of 700 shillings—half the money in the treasury! We were thrilled at the mission interest on their part.

The Hoopers are well and happy and would be delighted, I'm sure, to hear personally from some of you in the class.

The last bit of news is from this neck of the woods. Don has graduated with his MRE from the Seminary and is ready to go to work. The idea of graduate study seemed a little impractical at the present time, so he is on his way to do just that. At the moment we have made no decision where to go, but he will be doing either education work or education and music. Also, this is the last newsletter I'll be writing since I plan to resign as secretary at the reunion. I've thoroughly enjoyed my five years on this job and hope that my successor will enjoy it as much as I have. My thanks again to the group leaders who have been so helpful in sending the news and to each one who has wanted us to know her news. Best wishes to one and all.

Are you excited over the prospects of seeing the whole class in just one year at our tenth reunion? What fun we shall have! Classmates, we must prepare. You will have pictures of your families, homes and activities snapped during this glorious year and you want to be there with you in June of '62. Start mailing them to me for our class scrapbook. Being out of the state myself, I will need your input when I go home in June. By January, our plans should be completed. Send me your suggestions along with your pictures now. Chat with other classes to ascertain their plans for reunion. As always, the end of the year is the deadling for this year's reunion. Many thanks for the responses to the postals! (The end of June is the deadline for this year!)

Robbie Moyer Rich has added a third child, first daughter, Martha Marie, on April 7. The family still live on the farm but are no longer in the dairy business. Her husband has his own service garage in Bluefield, Virginia. Janice Carroll Baldwin has a son, John Michael, who is almost two now. They live in Hawthorne, California, at 14178 Kornblum Avenue, and are building a swimming pool.

Barbara Konkle Duke and her husband recently attended a bankers' convention in Miami Beach. They stayed in one of those new luxury hotels there. Their son, Kenny, saw snow for the first time in his memory when they spent Christmas in Georgia. (Have you done your best by Westhampton?)

Two Nancies have contributed to Onward and Upward: Nancy Harvey Yushe and Bill now have a second child, second son, Brian Ward, who was born April 16, and Nancy Graham Nalt and Walter have a second daughter, third child, Patricia Nan, born May 7. Has everyone been properly apprised of the fact that I am going to graduate school beginning this summer? I'll be attending class at U. of R. (Please help us all to be proud of our class. Surprise! After ending my last alumnae letter with the statement Nancy Bertsch Ratchford would be providing us with a refreshing change and writing about her new job, I am un­fortunately has had mono-nucleosis this spring and although she is well on the road to recovery it will take several months before she is able to assume her hectic pace once again.
I received a marvelous letter from Carolyn Nau­mann Robertson saying that she and Jim are now living in Garden City, Michigan, where they work with General Electric Co. He is a salesman of plastics molding materials and his territory includes all of Michigan and parts of several nearby states. He tries to keep up with her reading—something a little more intellectual than Johnny the Fireman or Mother Goose. Her little boy is two and has talked more in the past 20 months old but his imagination is refreshing and one day together are such fun. Carolyn mentioned missing all the wonderful people of Westhampton and plans to attend our 5th reunion. Don’t forget it will be the next spring and although we will be hearing more about it next year it’s something to keep in mind and plan to attend.

More news of happy events this spring has been coming in frequently. Lovey Jane and Randolph W. Warnock were married this November in Hastings, III, March 25th and I shall close this short letter with our latest news. Caryl Lee Connor was born June 8th. Let’s hope it will be a little more successful than was the marriage. The group leaders will try and contact you and all we can catch up with all the news that was missed this time.

is a more thoughtful and well mannered addition to her family. She and husband Jim have moved into their home they built in Alamo, Texas.

Two Texas residents-to-be are Nancy Brooks Flowers and Joe. In the fall they will head Southwest to the seminary in San Antonio where Joe will begin his studies in September. Atlantic will be waiting the coming year for another two some moving from Richmond.

Charlie and Susie Brillaman Wiltshire with dughter Beth in tow plan to live in Georgia where Charlie has a special grant to study French for one year. Rumor has it that German , French and English are spoken fluently in this household.

June brought graduation from graduate schools for some. Three husbands of ’58 alumnae are officially doctors—in the dentistry way. Bruce Keener, Curt Hall and Lou Yarbrough (belonging to Margaret Williams Keiner, Annette Ellis Hall and Nancy Prickett Yarbrough respectively) re­ceived degrees from the Dental School of the University of Texas in June. Annette and Curt will make their home at Virginia Beach where he will practice dentistry and she plans to teach in Princess Anne County. Margaret and Bruce are being sent by Uncle Sam to Camp Lejeune, North Carolina for two years while he is in service. In the Navy for the same period are Tim and Lou of Norfolk who received Law and Navy who are awaiting their work’s arrival in September. Harry Garrett was graduated from T. C. Williams Law School in June and Sue Hudson Parsons hus­band, is awaiting his in August.

Jane Gray, who taught in Pittsburgh, has com­pleted a year’s study at Penn State on a fellowship.

Word has it that Jean Anderson Farmer is studying oil painting plus keeping up with teaching duties in Bowling Green, and liking it very much.

Dr. Genie Borum has planned an interesting trip to Europe for the summer of 1961 and her traveling companion will be Mary Garland Cox. 1957 Westhampton grad.
I took a two weeks’ trip to Texas in May and visited my friends in Lubbock near the New Mexico border, in the countryside and to one who had never been west of West Virginia the wide open spaces were amazing.

A great big congratulations to Libby Jarrett Burger’s mother who was chosen as the Virginia Mother of the Year for 1961. This is indeed an honor and well deserved. We are proud of you, Libby.

Another bit of interesting and important news—Suzanne Kidd is due to return from her year abroad in Europe for the summer. She will be a member of the music faculty of the University of Richmond, as announced by Dr. Modlin in April. News has filtered across the ocean that Suzanne has been well received and acclaimed in various European cities where she has given organ recitals.
The annual Spring Luncheon of the Richmond Club of Westhampton alumnae was sponsored this year by the class of 1938. Our class had the largest attendance and found a delicious luncheon and fine talk given by a Turkish stu­dent at Westhampton adding up to an interesting afternoon.

It hadn’t happen again—not so soon anyway—but it did. The rains came on May Day and brought misty and damp reminiscences of May Day, 1958. Those who came enjoyed seeing Queen Mary in pink and blue. Among our class attending were Bev Coker and Mariett Ayers from Alexandria, Linda Lacy and her family, her husband and young son from Alexandria, Fatti and Ash Kessler with 3 year old Debbie from Jacksonville, Florida, and Carolyn Moss Hartz and I from very near the center. Every thing is fit for a fine and smooth style except for the weather and that went on and on in a cloud burst.

Anne Garrett is teaching music at Collegiate Country Day school and seems to be extremely happy in her work.

June Hunter Adams and Lynn are down in the deep South—Mississippi to be exact—where she is completing requirements for his Master’s De­gree.

How we wish everyone of you could have attended our first class reunion in Richmond on June 3rd. It was, we felt, a great success, with 55 in attendance at the banquet Friday night and 19 at the luncheon on Saturday. We even rated a special place on the program Saturday when we sang for the several hundred present our new Reunion Song of ’59 which was written by Sue Kaufman Wilson. The longest distance travellers were Jackie Connell Atkinson and Frankie Magowan, some of the Richmond Reunion from Florida and Oklahoma respectively.

There’s so much news that it’s hard to know where to begin. Eileen Cordie will be moving to Fairfield, Conn, in September and will teach next year. Ruth Adkins will live in Norfolk after she assumes her new name of Mrs. Bob Hill in mid-June. Bev Wine Bowers will be teaching a class of 4th and 5th graders next year in Blacksburg, which should be a new and interesting experience for her.

Eleanor Dickson Campbell will continue with her teaching job at the school where a while anyway. Martha Jordan Chukinas and Elizabeth Ramos Dunkum are both retiring from teaching to be full time housewives next year, which thrills them both no end. Mollie Coleman will continue working as a lawyer's assistant in Bolling Green and Sandy Dew will return to UNC for her second year in the pre-med program of science there. Janey Dowdy is being married in July to Lt. Eddie Briggs and will teach math again at the new John Marshall High School in Richmond. The planting energy of the Mary Boss and Merrill Crews will take place in August, will be heading for Blacksburg in September, while sister Barbara who is doing dentistry interning there.

Jackie Feeman will be in Europe most of the summer but will return to Newport News to continue teaching high school class. Beverly Eubank, who will become Mrs. Tommys Evans as of July 22nd, is looking forward to her second year as a chemistry teacher in addition to learning to cook. Sue Wright reports that husband Jack will be teaching high school math. Beverly Compton, who has been very active in the Tidewater Alumnae Club, and Carolyn Nash Haga, who is looking wonderful.

Bonnie Lewis Haynie will be going home this summer while Jerry is in the Army for six months. Nancy Kipps Hughey and Margaret Rutherford drove from Clinton Forge, Va., to Delano Compton. Their wedding was to take place one week after the reunion on June 10th.

Mary Beth Stibb and Bob announced the birth of their second son this spring. Luke Saunders will accompany his parents home early this summer when Bob will both practice dentistry in a small rural town near Danville. Gary Moore Barnes and Bill are planning a trip to Alabama this summer visit with the many relatives in Montgomery. Jo Edwards Mierec, whose poetic abilities shone at the banquet, will continue to take courses toward her master's over the summer months at night.

Ginger Morgan will leave Front Royal and will return to Richmond next year to teach there. Sue Wright reports that husband Jack will be getting his commission August and B. B. Harvey Strum and Sherwood will be joining the ranks of home-owners. Sibby Haddock Young will teach in Fredericksburg next year, but will be making weekend trips to Wake Forest, where Paige will be continuing her seminar studies. This summer they will be managing Dekker State Park, which is near Clinton Forge, Va.

To complete the news (and I hope I haven't left too many out), I will be doing secretarial work, tutoring, and working on a government contract job during the fall. Here again I am facing 9th grade English students in September.

Elizabeth Ramos Dunkum was elected at our business meeting as Class Secretary. Eileen Cordle will be the Acting President. A Fund Chairman is yet to be appointed. May I take this opportunity to say that I have sincerely enjoyed working with us and I really appreciate all of your cooperation in gathering class news for past two years. The job could not have been done without the loyalty, enthusiasm, and interest of your group leaders.

It's hard to realize that this is the last issue in which our class notes will appear at the end. When the fall issue comes out the Class of 1961 will have taken its place among the Westhampton alumnae.

Many of the class returned to WC for May Day. Despite the rainy weather we really enjoyed a small scale reunion. Walking through the foyer of Keller Hall, we were reminded of May Day, 1958, as we saw frustrated sophomores trying to make a fountain bubble and not flood the gym floor. As we watched and listened to the freshmen coming up the lake path, we couldn't help but whisper, "two, three, four."

This was the fourth membership meeting of the club for the season with an average of sixteen or seventeen at each meeting and a total of twenty-six attending one or more meetings.

Our first club contribution was made to the Swimming Pool Fund at this time. We hope this very meager amount will be an incentive for larger club gifts in the future.

The second get-together of Bay Area Westhamptonites was a luncheon at the home of Margaret Berge, 213 N. 40th Place, Sacramento, Saturday April 8. Hostessing with Margaret, and also from the Peninsula, were Ille Schott Burnhardt ’43, Lucy Burke Allen Meyer ’42, and Virginia Parker Dozier ’42. Mildred Crowder Pickles ’36 took part in the planning but hurt her back and was unable to attend. Fourteen were present including Miss Grace Swanson from Cumberland and Baltimore who is spending the winter with her sister-in-law Eddie Soyars Swanson ’26.

Others present from Berkeley were Marie Keene Shore’s ’40 and Marylandian Mrs. Harry Judson's ’52, and Carolyn Gary Hugo ’40 who is in California for a year while her husband Larry is on a Ford Foundation Grant with the Actors Workshop in San Francisco. A last minute conflict delayed Lila Wicker Hunt ’42 from coming with this group as planned.

Mrs. George A. Gladsby ’40, and her son, Tony, were present, and Mrs. Harry Judson's ’52, whose husband is in the Navy and whose daughter graduated this year from the University of California, came from Yakima. Also present were Virginia Pleasant Robertson ’28 at whose home in Walnut Creek the alumnae were entertained in the fall. Ollie Mentche Sewell ’41 from Concord, Betty Ann Richards ’45 from Danville, and Danville, and Lafayette, Frances Badenoch ’42 who is Physical Education Consultant for the Richmond Schools.

Other alumnae who attended this luncheon and worked on the Cal library but is currently on leave in Brazil setting business affairs after the death of her husband last fall. Warde Hicks ’32 and Helen Strickland ’30 are both with the school department in Auburn which is about one hundred miles from the Bay Area. Mrs. Moores ’52 is in Saigon. Lottie V. Blanton ’45 is now Mrs. Warren Gun Applewhite of 20 Val Vista, Mill Valley. Jean Motter Denison ’45 is with her husband on a month’s visit to Australia. Jeanine Williams Spencer ’52 has a new baby who keeps her too busy for lunches yet. Kit Van der Schalie Pederson ’49 (Mrs. Harry) was located at 453 Miller Creek Road, San Rafael and is anxious to join the group but could not miss a doctor’s appointment on this Saturday for eye surgery. Christine Lawson Pleneker ’42 has a new address—3334 Walnut Street, Berkeley. Can anyone send information about Mrs. Thomas W. Turner who is apparently no longer at her old address in Hayward?

Margaret’s gracious hospitality was enjoyed by all! Warm California sunshine permitted lunching outdoors while much talk in real Virginia accents prevailed. The colored slides that Miss Turnball had had made the trip of dogwood here and there really ‘took us back.’ The alumnae group is planning the next get-together for August or September at which time there should be first hand Westhampton news from Virginia Robert- son’s attending her daughter’s graduation and Margaret Carter’s Twentieth Reunion trip.

Margaret Griffin ’39 showed slides sent by Miss Turnball and also many she had taken herself while at Westhampton. We all enjoyed the pictures very much. The prospective students learned much and we older grads enjoyed seeing familiar scenes and faces. There were twenty-three present including eleven high school girls.

The guests contributed a substantial amount for the Association.

On Saturday, April 9th, the Suffolk Area Club of the Westhampton Alumnae Association held a reception for prospective Westhampton students and their mothers at the West End Baptist Church, Suffolk, Virginia. The reception was presented by present Westhampton students from the Windsor area. Gloria Holland sang some of the favorite songs of Westhampton and led a group sing along accompanied by Mary Jean Atkins at the piano and Nancy Gay Hall, daughter of Marjorie (Rhodes) Hall, showed colorful slides of Westhampton and told about the places and events of Westhampton. Three Suffolk students served as hostesses for the occasion. All present students and parents were invited.

The Suffolk area club voted to send a donation to the Swimming Pool Plans were approved for a fall luncheon to be held early in October in Franklin.

The Washington Club started the year with a tea in September at the home of Louise De Costa, the president of the Senior Class at Westhampton, for the Washington area girls who were attending or about to attend Westhampton.

The fall luncheon was to have been held regret­fully until after Christmas. However in November the Club participated in College Night—a yearly affair planned by the Associated Alumnae Clubs of Washington to enable high school students to meet representatives of the thirty some colleges who belong to the Associated Alumnae Clubs of Washington. This association also sponsors a purchase plan among merchants who agree to give to the college alumnae groups 10% of the purchase price of all articles bought in their stores by alum­nae of the various colleges. This is an easy way of earning money for local clubs in the Washington area. Leslie Booker and two college freshmen from Westhampton came up to College Night and were kept busy answering questions about Westhampton from interested prospective students.

In February we had our luncheon—a very well attended one. Our prize attractions were Miss Keller, Miss Turnball, Mr. and Mrs. Crenshaw, speaking of their travels and giving a pep talk on the Swimming Pool Fund.

In April, we had a joint Alumnae Alumni dinner at the Naval Gun Factory. Leslie Booker came up with two men representing Richmond College. It was nice to see Leslie at a University affair, even though not as many Westhampton graduates attend the dinner as do the alumnae.

In May a spring tea was held at the home of the President, Virginia Guest. The attendance was small, however, the sum of $200.00 was voted toward the swimming pool-alumnae fund for the year. Plans were also made to hold a candy sale in the fall in the hope of making the candy sale a yearly project. Mrs. Simpson agreed to take charge of this project.

The Wilkinson club met for a coffee hour at the home of Mary Bess on February the 24th. We enjoyed visiting together, catching up on news of our families and activities, and plans were made to entertain the University of Richmond Choir the following week. Our guests were the mothers of two Wilmington girls who are sophomores at the college, Mrs. Downs and Mrs. Dooley.

We were happy to be able to cooperate in sponsoring the Choir's tour in the Wilmington area—and how proud we were of them! Under Mr. Erb's expert direction they have developed into a fine chorus and their two performances here, one at Mt. Pleasant High School and the other at the University of Delaware, were truly memorable ones.

It was such fun being with the group and hearing at first hand what was going on "back at the campus." We took them on an early morning tour of the Hagley Museum, the restoration of the original Dupont powder mills along the Brandywine River. A coffee hour was held for them before their morning concert at the high school.

In the past two years our club has had several of our members transferred away, an occupational hazard in Wilmington, among them Nettie Whisnant, Ann Crettenden, Alda Noftsginer, Edith Grimes, and Barbara Evans.

Necrology

Dr. Henry M. Martin, who devoted his entire life to educating young people, died January 28 at his home in Birmingham, Ala. A Phi Beta Kappa scholar who received his Ph.D. in 1907 from Johns Hopkins, Dr. Martin was associate professor of romance languages at the University of Richmond from 1920 to 1925. Before his death he arranged to establish an endowment memorial at the University of Richmond.

As he had told a friend and classmate some years ago, he wished to contribute what he could to the endowment of the University "for culture; and culture, and more culture is our greatest need."

Claude M. Dean, clerk of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond for 59 years, died in January. He was 86 years of age.

Upon his retirement in 1954 he wrote: "Having served as deputy and clerk of this honorable court since July 1, 1895, . . . I have served under seven Chief Justices of the United States; ten U.S. Circuit Judges, there having been only eleven in all; and 41 U.S. District Judges in the Fourth Circuit. . . . I have only missed one term of the Court in 59 years, and I have never been a minute late."

Only the clerk of the Federal District Court in Brooklyn, N. Y. had piled up more service as a court clerk than Mr. Dean.

Leslie H. Drew of Richmond died April 22.

Giles county medical examiner since 1948, Dr. Newton had been medical advisor to the local draft board for more than 20 years. He was on the staff of Giles Memorial Hospital and was a former mayor of Narrows.

of the College be retained on the first of October!" The President was requested to notify the authorities of the Confederate States of a fact, to put the usual advertisements in the newspapers and to put the premises in the proper order. Provisions were made to give the students military instruction. But on August 29th, only thirteen days later, President Ryland reports through the Religious Herald that the Trustees had decided that, in view of the disturbed state of the country and the demand for hospital space, "it was inexpedient to open the buildings for students." Accordingly the premises—al except Columbia—had been leased to two private gentlemen from Louisiana to operate a hospital."

An interesting sidelight on college life following the secession of Virginia is found in this Philological record of April 22, 1861: "The Society adjourned for an indefinite space of time, not knowing when or where we might meet again, since most were going home to fight Black Republicans and Free Negroes."

This note is signed by G. M. Leftwich, president and M. S. Goodman, secretary pro temp. The grim reality of the situation strikes home when we recall that Mr. Leftwich, one of the graduates of 1861, fell in action at Lewisburg, West Virginia, exactly one year, one month and one day after he signed these minutes.

The artillery school was operating before the end of April. On Sunday, April 28th, the Richmond Howitzers marched by way of 8th and Broad Streets to the College grounds, there to remain several weeks, to be drilled and organized into the pioneer battalion of Field Artillery (three companies) in America. The Howitzers were among the first to arrive, but many other artillery units—including the Richmond Fayette Artillery, the Hampton Artillery of Richmond and the Beauregard Rifles of Lynchburg—followed and were instructed and organized at this school. Here many a city lad had his first real contact with country mud, when he washed his cannon by hand.

One of the recruits reported that the College campus afforded an excellent drill ground, and that the College building, though small, was sufficient to house the boys soldier fashion, i.e., "sardine fashion." Colonel (later General) John B. Magruder was in charge of this school. Twelve V.M.I. cadets, experts in gunnery and looking "like so many kildees" in their tight uniforms, served as instructors and did a magnificent job.

The Louisiana Hospital "at the West Terminus of Broad Street," as it was designated, was established presumably in late August 1861. The Trustees decided in late 1862 that they were not getting enough tent. So a committee was appointed to negotiate a more favorable contract. The committee finally reported in late 1863 that they had reented the "College Building" to the Louisiana Hospital Association for $3,000 per annum. Just one month thereafter President Ryland reported to a special meeting of the Trustees that the Surgeon-General had broken up the hospital at the College. So a committee was appointed to take the property back and rent it or not as they deemed best. This must have been a false alarm because President Ryland says in a notarized statement in 1872 that the Louisiana Hospital continued on the campus until the surrender when the patients and nurses were removed.

Dr. W. C. Nichols was the Surgeon-in-Charge at this hospital. The chief medical officer, Dr. Felix Formento, made here a distinct contribution to Therapeutics by his improved methods of treating typhoid fever.
that she often heard soldiers marching by the campus on Broad Street on their way to Camp Lee. On such occasions she and her playmates would run through the garden, climb on the fence and enjoy the fife and drum to the strains of "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Long after hostilities had ceased a lady was entertaining at Columbia a prominent alumnus of Richmond College. The alumnus pointed to a corner in the room and said:

"When I was wounded they brought me in here and laid me on a pallet in that corner. When I was wounded they brought me in here and laid me on a pallet in that corner."

Other colleges in the Confederacy may have played a more colorful part in the war, but "The land they struggled to save for us will not forget what "The Baptist College" did, and the spirits of those who gave their all most surely have said, "Well done!'"
He Fought For FREEDOM

Our fight for freedom has been a long one. We will not forget the men who won what we now cherish.

Nathaniel Bacon was such a man. A hundred years before the Revolutionary War, this young Virginia planter immortalized his name by leading Bacon's Rebellion.

Against what did he rebel? Against the all-powerful royal government of 1676. Against the waste, mismanagement and corruption inherent in an all-powerful government.

There was as yet no constitution to set forth the rights of individuals. There was only the determination of the individual to preserve those basic rights at all costs.

Bacon and his men fought for their rights. Through personal sacrifice they helped obtain those individual liberties that are the basis of our nation and our freedoms.

But our long fight for freedom is a fight that will never end. In our hands, today, rests the heritage of our past.
