The Alumni Bulletin

IN THIS ISSUE

The Cover—Alumni of the School of Business Administration will recognize the frame building down by the railroad tracks where they literally `sweated out` their classes on late spring and early autumn days. All alumni rejoice with them in the completion of the new building.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Subject</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Homecoming 1961</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Practical Politics in The Jefferson Era</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The New Session</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richmond Gridmen Unpredictable But Good</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50,000 Missionaries</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>With the Faculty</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>That guy FRIDDELL</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alumni in the News</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Westhampton News</td>
<td>19</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local Clubs Westhampton Alumnae</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Necrology</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

DENNIS: Business Doctor

Persons who associate the title, Doctor, exclusively with doctors who heal will make no mistake when they salute Overton D. Dennis, as Doctor Dennis.

When a business is suffering from anemia there is likely to be a hurry call to Dr. Dennis who in a number of cases has seemed to work almost a miracle in effecting the recovery of apparently moribund industries.

Although he modestly deprecated the honor and had to be persuaded to accept the degree of Doctor of Science several years ago, there could have been no more worthy recipient of the degree. A success in his own business, he has helped make many businesses successful by his sage advice as a member of their boards of directors.

Alumni will rejoice in the fact that the auditorium of the new School of Business Administration Building will be named in honor of this gentle and good man, a wise counselor to two university presidents, and a devoted son of Alma Mater. Although his gifts have been accompanied by no fanfare, his benefactions have been constant through the years.

Born in Unionsville, Ala., the son of a Episcopalian rector who was poor in this world's goods, Overton Dennis spent only two years at the University of Richmond—but they were profitable years that gave him knowledge and the moral fortitude for the success he has achieved. His success story is strictly out of the pages of Horatio Alger. He entered the automobile supply business with his brother, Ben, in 1913 and in 1922 formed a partnership with him in the Dominion Oil Company. The corporations he has served as president include the Standard Paper Manufacturing Company, the Duplex Envelope Company, and the Yellow Cab Company of Virginia, which he currently heads. He is vice president and treasurer of the Chesapeake Corporation. He is a member of the boards of more than a score of business enterprises.

He has been a member of the board of trustees of the University of Richmond since 1937 and is a member of both its executive and investment committees. He has served as president of the Alumni Council and for many years as a member of the Athletic Council. It is significant that the University of Richmond's Captains Club gave one of its first distinguished service awards to Overton Dennis, not only in recognition of his contribution to the athletic program of the University but a wider contribution to the recreational life of the community.

The bronze plaque in the new building will be an inspiration to every student who studies there.
Homecoming 1961

Variety at Westhampton

Business Building Dedication

Methyl Young Bruce

William C. Farmer

"Focus on West Germany," as seen through Westhampton eyes, will highlight the program for Homecoming weekend to be held November 3 and 4. In addition, Methyl Young Bruce, '53, chairman, promises plenty of time for fellowship and football with an extensive "coffee break" on Saturday morning to give alumnae a chance to visit with classmates.

Two alumnae and a Westhampton student, all of them recently arrived from West Germany, will give their first-hand views of the world's trouble spot on Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Sharing the platform will be Virginia Garrett Buckler, '41, Suzanne M. Kidd, '58, and Gisela Adeltrud Von Sarkoezy. Preceding this gathering, alumnae will be guests of the University for dinner at 7 P.M. in the Westhampton Dining Room. After-dinner coffee will be served in Keller Hall for homecomers, faculty, and members of the senior class.

Registration will begin at 10 A.M. on Saturday with a coffee hour from 10 to 11:30. Annually, Mortar Board is hostess on this occasion and the chairman suggests that this is the ideal time to bring the whole family and catch up on news of old friends. The University will again entertain alumnae at 11:45 with lunch in Millhiser gymnasium. Escorts and/or husbands, who are not alumni, and offspring may purchase tickets there. The traditional parade and the Richmond-VPI football game will conclude festivities.

In announcing the Friday speakers, Mrs. Bruce points out that they will present varied points of view because each has been living in West Germany under widely differing circumstances. Mrs. Buckler is back in the States after a three-year tour of duty with her husband, Lt.-Col. Philip J. Buckler, U.S. Army Medical Service Corps. During the last year and one-half of their assignment, the Bucklers were stationed in West Berlin.

Miss Kidd, who returned this fall to her Alma Mater as a member of the faculty, left the United States in September, 1960, for a year of organ study and concerts in Switzerland, Germany, France, and Holland. For two months this past spring, she lived near Stuttgart with a German family who spoke no English. After graduation from Westhampton, the talented musician was organist and choir director at Richmond's Reveille Methodist Church and then was awarded a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to the University of Michigan where she received her master's degree in 1960.

The third speaker, Miss Von Sarkoezy, matriculated this year at Westhampton as a sophomore. She comes to this country from a small town near Munich where her father is a teacher.

Alumnae already have received their Homecoming folders, and the chairman urges them to make the necessary plans to revisit the campus, reminisce with friends, and receive an eye-witness account of history in the making.

The dedication of the new building to house the School of Business Administration and the football game with Virginia Tech will be the twin attractions of the 1961 Homecoming program on November 4.

Victory hungry Spiders will discuss their chances for success over the doughty Gobblers in City Stadium as they stroll through the corridors, classrooms and laboratories of the new building at 10:30 o'clock. They will assemble in the building's auditorium for the dedicatory service at which William E. Blewett, Jr., president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, will speak. The building will be presented to the University by Rector Robert T. Marsh, Jr., '22, and accepted by President George M. Modlin.

The building, made possible by a $225,000 bequest of L. U. Noland of Newport News—the nest egg for the $600,000 spent on the handsome three-story structure—is located opposite the Law School across the path leading from the bus stop into the campus. It is of brick construction, limestone trim, in the University's traditional collegiate gothic architecture.

Alumni who attend with pleasure that the auditorium in which the building will be dedicated has been named for Overton D. Dennis, '10, whose generous gifts have helped make possible not only the Business School building but also other structures and University projects.

It will be a great day for alumni of the Business School who remember the years when they attended classes in the green frame building down by the railroad tracks. It will be a great day too for President Modlin whose interest in business training has continued unabated since that day in 1938 when he came from Princeton to the University of Richmond as director of the Evening School of Business Administration and chairman of the department of economics.

Up bright and early for an 8 o'clock breakfast, Business School alumni will join other old grads at the registration desk where a committee from the Quarterback Club will greet the alumni. Coffee will be served from 9:30 to 10:30 o'clock while the alumni are touring the building. There will be students in the hallways and rooms to answer questions.

The dedicatory service will end at 11:30 o'clock. As alumni and their guests move across the campus to Millhiser Gymnasium for lunch they will hear college tunes floating down from the carillon in the tower of Boatwright Memorial Library where Milton Rufly will be at the keyboard.

Luncheon will be served promptly at 11:45 to enable the alumni to rush to City Stadium for a parade that will be led by the Homecoming queen and her court, each riding in an automobile of antique vintage. The cars will be driven by their owners,

(Continued on page 35)
Practical Politics in the Jeffersonian Era

By NOBLE E. CUNNINGHAM, JR.

The word politics tends often to have an ugly connotation, and the label politician is rarely one to be cherished. While recent political leaders, such as Truman or Roosevelt, may be thought of as politicians, it seems almost disrespectful to speak of Jefferson or Madison except as statesmen. This American habit of thinking obscures the fact that in their day Jefferson and Madison were as much politicians as Truman or Roosevelt in their time. The study of politics in the United States in the two formative decades following the adoption of the Constitution reveals much of significance about the development of the American political system, but perhaps it displays most strikingly that practical politics played a far more important role in the history of the era than is generally conceded.

Although not provided for by the Constitution, almost unanimously unwanted, and widely condemned, political parties rapidly emerged to become a fundamental part of the nation’s political structure. Washington’s admonition against the evils of political parties in his farewell address was but one of numerous warnings which came from the press, the pulpit, and the orator’s platform against the innovation of organized political parties. One commentator in 1794 concluded: “The situation of the public good, in the hands of two parties nearly poised as to numbers, must be extremely perilous. Truth is a thing, not of divisibility into conflicting parts, but of unity.” Another writer warned that “Party is a monster who devours the common good, whose destructive jaws are dangerous to the felicity of nations.” Yet despite constant objections to each new party development, parties became more and more deeply rooted in the life of the nation.

The presidency of John Adams, with a Federalist majority in Congress supporting a Federalist executive, brought the first party administration of the federal government; and the defeat of the Federalists by the Jeffersonian Republicans in 1800 produced the first transfer of political power in the national government from one political party to another. Jefferson’s inauguration was proof that political parties had grown rapidly to maturity. With the formation of parties, many patterns of political behavior were established which have changed little in substance in the century and a half that have since elapsed. The growth of parties brought respectability to electioneering. The openness with which a candidate could directly solicit votes varied from state to state according to local custom; but everywhere the growth of parties resulted in more active campaigning, for a candidate could now justify his exertions not as personal ambition but as labor for the party cause.

Political aspirants early demonstrated a mastery of campaign methods of which the similarities to present practices are easily recognizable. In Maryland the campaign tour was well developed and candidates were eager to give speeches wherever a crowd was gathered—at a horse race—a cockfight— or a Methodist quarterly meeting.” “Here,” noted one observer, “the Candidates for political honors or preferment, assemble with their partizans—they mount the Rostrum, made out of an empty barrel or hoghead, Harrangue the Sovereign people—praise and recommend themselves at the expense of the adversary’s character and pretensions.” Everywhere, candidates sought to identify themselves with the voters. A candidate for the Seventh Congress listed himself on a campaign handbill in 1800 as “A real Farmer, and an uniform Friend to the Rights and Liberties of the People.” A party ticket in the same contest presented two Republican candidates for Congress as “Firm Friends to the Constitution and Liberty of the Press, but Opposers of unnecessary Land Taxes.” A slate of party nominees in Pennsylvania in 1808 was designated as the “Republican, Farmer, Mechanic, and Genuine American Ticket.”

Taxes and the national debt were campaign issues which the Jeffersonian Republicans stressed heavily in their efforts to defeat Adams in 1800. A campaign handbill declared: “The important question... is, whether you will at the ensuing Election vote in favour of the present administration, under which your taxes and public debt have been greatly increased, in a time of peace; under which the number of federal officers have been greatly increased, and mercenary armies attempted to be raised. . . .” About the same time, a Virginia Republican was writing to another party worker in the state:

“I hope your friend in your conversations with the people, you frequently recur to governmental expenses—it is an ample field, and one on which the people ought to be well informed. ‘Tis in vain in the present temper of the United States to talk of principle; from that there has been a considerable defection: we ought therefore to bring our arguments home to their feelings. I am sorry to speak so ill of the sovereign people, but they have really become very mercenary, and of consequence opposed to war expenses. Let peace and economy then be our constant theme, and exhibit to them fair statements of expenditures.

After the Jeffersonian triumph in 1800, which was followed by reductions of the national debt and of taxes, the Republicans continued to use the issue to stay in power. As one newspaper editor wrote to President Jefferson in 1803: “The reduction of our taxes and the diminution of the public debt, are arguments which the worst reasoner in the union can justly appreciate.”

(Continued on page 35)
THE NEW SESSION

Eternal God our Father, we unite our hearts in thanking Thee for this day, and this occasion, and this place... for the beauty of it, for the blessings of it, and the promises of it...

Through its long fruitful life, September, 1830—September, 1961, Thou hast been divinely faithful in giving to it Thy protection, Thy provision, and Thy providential care... Make this a good year for the University, pleasing to God and ennobling to man.

The prayer was voiced by Dr. Wade H. Bryant, a Richmond pastor and a member of the board of trustees of the University of Richmond. The occasion was the first convocation of the new academic year. The place was the Luther H. Jenkins Greek Theater.

Into the Greek Theater this bright September morning marched a portion of the largest opening enrollment in the University's history. Even though only freshmen and seniors of Richmond College and Westhampton College and seniors of the School of Business Administration attended the opening convocation they were too many for Cannon Chapel and literally were forced out of doors.

But the elements were kind and the Indian summer sun shone brightly—perhaps a bit too brightly for the perspiring professors in academic regalia.

Pastor Bryant’s reference to 1830 recalled a classroom on a Powhatan county farm where Edward Baptist gave instruction to a dozen students in Dunlora Academy, the first of the University of Richmond's three predecessor institutions.

On this September day in 1961 the original 12 had grown to an enrollment of 4722 full-time and part-time students in the University’s six divisions. The enrollment, the largest on record at this date, almost certainly will grow to 5,000 before the end of the year, President Moldlin said.

The figure could just as easily be 7,000 or 8,000 if the University had facilities to care for all the qualified students who applied for admission. Although President Moldlin has said repeatedly that he has no intention to ask the board of trustees to place a “ceiling” on enrollments in the six divisions, he has emphasized that enrollments will not be permitted to grow to the extent that the quality of instruction will be impaired.

There are physical limitations, particularly at Westhampton where dormitory facilities are limited. Several new dormitories are urgently needed also for University of Richmond men, a great many of whom are forced to live in homes off campus.

There were two new enrollment records reported at the convocation: 600 squeezed in at Westhampton, four over the previous year, and 1,318 at the Summer School. Other enrollments: Richmond College, 1,068; Law School, 183; School of Business Administration, 191 full-time and 1,249 part-time; Graduate School, 113.

An old friend of the University, Dr. Robert F. Williams, executive secretary of the Virginia Education Association, in the convocation address emphasized a theme dear to the hearts of the founding fathers and religiously emphasized by their administrative successors at the University—the virtue of hard work.

He deplored what he termed a “something for nothing” philosophy abroad in the land, a tendency to sit back and let Santa Claus do it. He suggested that the American slogan

(Continued on page 18)

For the 1,000 in the Greek Theater this is an historic occasion—the first opening convocation ever to be held in the Luther H. Jenkins Greek Theater. For many of the students, freshmen in Richmond and Westhampton Colleges, the convocation was the first of their college careers.

At the far right two Westhampton freshmen look up at the stained glass window of the Christ as they will so many times during their college years.
Ed Merrick's men had two victories after four Southern Conference contests and if they had been able to get the Sports Editor Chauncey Durden of the Richmond Times-Dispatch sooner they might have had an even better record at mid-season.

Mr. Durden, a right guy but a wrong 'un as a football picker, lost no time in proving his fallibility by picking West Virginia's Mountaineers to whip our Spiders in the opening game. So Richmond triumphed 35 to 26 over a Mountaineer team that later was to whip mighty Pitt.

Impressed by the Spiders offense against West Virginia and their defense against Army the following week when the Cadets needed a few breaks to run up a 24 to 6 triumph, Durden picked them over V.M.I. the following week. What happened? The Spiders made one mistake—a pass that was intercepted in the first quarter by Andy Tucker and run back 101 yards for a touchdown. That T-D and the two-point conversion stood up for an 8 to 6 victory even though the Spiders almost ran the Cadets out of City Stadium for the remainder of the game (first downs, 18 to 9; rushing 175 to 113, passing yardage, 124 to 37).

What happened to the Spiders shouldn't have happened to a dawg, said dawghouse Durden. So he picked the Spiders the following week to whip The Citadel down at Charleston. They didn't. It was a frustrating afternoon for the players and for the U. of R. coaches on the sidelines. The Citadel 24, Richmond 6.

Next there came to town the Colonials of George Washington, red hot and a contender for the Southern Conference title. They had a versatile offense, a stout defense. Durden picked the Colonials. They started fast, scored a six-point touchdown and a field goal before the Spiders got their first six-pointer. Richmond scored only a safety in the third period while the visitors were scoring a touchdown and the Spiders were behind 15-8 in the middle of the final period.

Then, boom-boom! Brent Vann skirted left end for 29 yards and Earl Stoudt, possibly the best halfback in the Southern Conference, smashed the remaining 28 yards to the Colonial goal.

Now the Spiders trailed by one, 15 to 14. There was never any doubt that the old Army Major Merrick would go for two—and victory. Mel Rideout faked a handoff on a play to the right, hid the ball on his hip, casually rolled around to his left and passed to end George Rapp for the two points.

This time the Spiders led in every important statistic, including the score. (First downs 16 to 8, rushing, 172 to 81, and passing, 95 to 90.)

As the Spiders embarked by air for their game with Florida State they were heartened by the fact that Durden had put the whammy on the Seminoles.

Stoudt, on the ground, and Rideout, in the air, had carried the burden of the Richmond offense through the first five games. Stoudt and John Hilton, a sophomore end who will be getting rave notices before he finishes his football career, had scored half of the Spiders 10 touchdowns. Stoudt had three. Against all opponents the Spiders had a total offense of 1,283 yards to 1,144 for the opposition.

Despite Durden's kiss of death, the Seminoles appear to be too strong for the Spiders. Richmond should be ready for Davidson and V.P.I. (homecoming) on October 28 and November 4. Then comes Alabama on November 11 and William and Mary on November 23.

Captains Club Plans Banquet

The Captains' Club is planning its second annual banquet to be held in connection with the Thanksgiving Festival football classic between the Spiders and William and Mary at City Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. The banquet, honoring three persons yet to be named for distinguished service to the University's athletic program, will be held at the John Marshall Hotel on Wednesday night, November 22.

The persons who will receive the awards are Dr. Theodore F. Adams, pastor of First Baptist Church, Richmond, and a member of the University's board of trustees; J. Vaughan Gary, 32, Third Virginia District Representative in the U. S. Congress, and Dan J. Friedeman, vice president of Friedman-Marks Clothing Co., Inc., and a constant supporter of the University and her athletic teams.
Are We Neglecting to Tell the Story of Democracy and Free Enterprise to

50,000 Missionaries

By ABDULLA H. MINA, '62

Who Thinks We Are.

One of the most logical ways of winning the cold war is to transmit the truth to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain, and to present to the uncommitted peoples the advantages of living in a free society. Entrusted with a major portion of this delicate task is the United States Information Agency, whose personnel and offices are spread throughout the free world. The Agency is doing a commendable job by sponsoring publications in dozens of languages and by broadcasting in as many languages through its main instrument—The Voice of America.

It is interesting to note that, although the United States is making a sincere effort to transmit to the outside world its concepts and ideals, the outside world has responded most often by demanding to know more about the United States' advances in the various fields of technology and social progress. This is illustrated by the presence of more than fifty thousand full time foreign students in American colleges and universities. The USIA reports that in addition to these full time students, a greater number of people visit this country every year for various sorts of training ranging from internships in hospitals to agriculture training.

I have had the opportunity to discuss with hundreds of these students many aspects of the American way of life and to obtain their impressions of this country. Despite the very pleasing fact that a great majority of these students are enjoying their stay here immensely, an alarmingly large number of them are misinformed about this country and its policies. Such misunderstanding can be attributed to many factors: chief among them the specialized interests of the students most of whom came to this country for instruction in science or technology. To such students, a keen interest in the history and government of the United States is of secondary importance. Their primary objective is to master the technical skills of this progressive society, skills which can then be applied in any part of the world since a chemical formula or a mathematical equation is the same in any nation regardless of culture or political disposition.

Unfortunately, even those foreign students whose primary interests lie in the field of the social sciences (there are thousands of them) live mainly on the campuses of the institutions in which they are enrolled and seldom have the opportunity to observe the home life of American families. They are asked to conclude that what they see in their dormitories is typical, or very nearly so, of American society in general. This is hardly the case, as any past or present dormitory inmate can testify.

The question then arises as to what can be done to inspire these inquiring minds to form a closer affiliation with the American Scene. How can they become a part of the great democratic experiment which had its inception in 1776 and continues unabated?

There are undoubtedly many varying approaches to this problem. Its solution is surely a tremendous task, but one worthy of every effort, especially when we recognize that these students will upon completion of their schooling return to their homelands, carrying with them first hand impressions of the United States. Many of them will become the leaders of their communities and their nations. Their observations will be of infinitely more importance to their countrymen than the many publications and broadcasts of agencies of the United States.

I suggest that foreign students be presented with a clear but objective picture of

(Continued on page 35)

About the Author

Efforts to adopt Abdullah Mina have failed. Abdullah has adopted us. This 25-year-old senior from the biblical land of the Cedars of Lebanon will carry back to his people after graduation next June a deep affection for America and the American way of life.

He grieves that not all of the 50,000 foreign students in American colleges and universities share his love for our land of the free. He suggests that we are neglecting these 50,000 birds-in-hand while trying by radio and the printed word to get through to the birds in the African bush, behind the Iron Curtain and throughout the world.

He has written Edward R. Murrow, chief of the USIA to suggest that more be done to indoctrinate these visiting students in the American way, to explain the advantages of democracy and free enterprise. Among those who agree with Abdullah is Spencer D. Albright, Jr., professor of political science, who has written Mr. Murrow a strong letter endorsing Mina’s views.

Abdullah, to whom English syntax and spelling were insoluble mysteries when he first enrolled in Richmond College, gained such proficiency in the language that he became editor of the Messenger. This ability and his maturity are evident in the article on this page. He also has served as president of the Philological Literary Society and as a member of the House of Representatives. He is a member of the board of publications.

He is also a ladies’ man, an accusation he no longer can deny. When Paramount launched a nationwide contest on college campus to select America’s Ladies’ Man, (to promote a picture of the same name) Abdullah was Westhampton’s choice—and ultimately America’s choice. He won a trip to the West Coast and a date with Starlet Paula Lone. Readers will agree that they make a charming couple as they strolled across one of the Hollywood sets.

After completing his graduate schooling Abdullah intends to return to his native Republic of Lebanon and eventually to serve in some political or diplomatic post.
MEMBERS of the University family met the newcomers to the faculty—21 of them—at a reception in Keller Hall in early October. This reporter was impressed with the scholarship of all of them and with the beauty of the new members of the Westhampton faculty.

Now, let me introduce them, in no particular order and in no regard to rank:

Mary Ellen Anderson, the new Director of Admissions at Westhampton College, comes to us from Stetson University, where she holds B.A. and M.A. degrees. A native of Plant City, Florida, Miss Anderson also holds a master’s degree in religious education from Carver School in Louisville.

Joseph Clarke Robert, professor of history, has just finished a field study of teaching practices at universities in various parts of the world under the auspices of the University of Richmond and the Institute of International Education. The son of a dean (same name) at Mississippi State University, Dr. Robert took his bachelor’s degree cum laude at Furman, spent a year at Harvard as a Watauga Fellow, then completed his graduate work at Duke University. After successive promotions to professor of history and associate dean of the Duke Graduate School he took the presidency of Coker College, and later the presidency of Hampden-Sydney College. We note two honorary degrees (Washington and Lee, and Furman), three books (including The Tobacco Kingdom, a “standard”) various essays and addresses, membership in Phi Beta Kappa, ODK, Hand-and-Torch, and several historical societies. Dr. Robert has a Westhampton wife (Evelyn Mercer Bristow), and two children: Frank Chambers, a graduate of Davidson College, and Carol Mercer, a junior at Duke.

Westhampton reports a new assistant professor of German, Jane S. Smith and new instructors in History (Barbara Duvall), English (Virginia A. Crowley), and Music (Suzanne Kidd ’58). Miss Smith is a native of Norton, Va., and is pursuing her doctorate at the University of North Carolina. Miss Duvall is an Agnes Scott graduate who has been studying at Chapel Hill as a Southern Career Teaching Fellow. Miss Crowley, who was born in Louisiana, took her bachelor’s degree at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and her master’s degree at Wisconsin. She has also studied at Colorado, McGill, and Bordeaux as a Woodrow Wilson scholar and a Fulbright scholar. Miss Kidd returns to Westhampton to teach organ and music history after taking a master’s degree at Michigan under a Woodrow Wilson fellowship and giving a series of organ recitals in Europe.

Dr. David C. Ekey, professor of business administration, comes to us from the Georgia Institute of Technology, where he has been professor of industrial engineering and chairman of the graduate committee. A native of Ohio with three degrees from Ohio State University, Dr. Ekey will head the Department of Management, carry on research on the expenditure of human energy in specific tasks, and consult with the Reynolds Metals Company. Dr. and Mrs. Ekey have a son and a daughter.

Dr. George W. Jennings, new associate professor of economics but no stranger to the campus, is a native of Florida who did his undergraduate work at Emory and recently took his doctor’s degree at the University of Virginia. A captain of Army infantry in the Pacific Theatre during World War II and a director of research at the State Chamber of Commerce for several years, Dr. Jennings has a wife (Betty Sovern) who formerly taught at Wesleyan College in Georgia, and two sons: Albert and Thomas.

Dr. Timothy Peters Miller comes from Agnes Scott College as associate professor of music and Director of Music. Born in Amarillo, Texas, and an accomplished pianist at an early age, Dr. Miller earned a magna cum laude at Harvard in English Literature, then took two degrees in music at Yale and a doctorate in the same field at the University of Indiana. He has studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, the Aspen Institute, and the Hamburg Hochschule fuer Musik, and done research on Haydn’s clavier sonatas, Chopin’s mazurkas, and Debussy’s études. Mrs. Miller also taught on the music faculty at Agnes Scott.

Henry Geitz, Jr., new assistant professor of German, has studied at the universities of Pennsylvania and Nebraska and expects a doctor’s degree shortly from the University of Wisconsin.

The psychology department reports a new assistant professor, William H. Luchtewitz, who is returning to his alma mater from Purdue University, where he has been a research assistant for the past two years. Mr. Noel W. Keys, who joins the same department as instructor, was born at Berkeley, Calif., where his father was professor of educational psychology. At present he is (Continued on page 35).

AT THE RECEPTION. Twenty-three newcomers to the faculty were entertained in Keller Hall by members of the University’s administration and staff. President and Mrs. Modlin chat with Dr. Joseph C. Robert, and Mrs. Robert, the former Evelyn Bristow, ’27 (second from left). Dr. Robert, who joins the faculty as a professor of history, is a former president of Hampden-Sydney College. that guy, FRIDDELL

By CHARLES W. HOUSTON

IF SANTA Claus should show up on the Fourth of July and leave an Easter Bunny basket at 525 Cedarbrook Lane in Henrico County three lively boys and their young mother would accept it as a matter of course.

And the neighbors would hardly raise an eyebrow, for this is the home of that Guy, Friddell.

Guy Raymond Friddell, Jr., reporter, broadcaster, professor of English, is a delightfully benevolent eccentric. His unpredictable foibles add an effervescence to the lives of those not only in his intimate little circle, but also to the lives of countless thousands who read his pieces in The News Leader, hear his daily broadcasts, sit at his feet in class, or hear his numerous lectures.

At 40 his life is not just beginning. It's in full cry. His sons, Guy R., III, (Rusty), 10; Malcolm, 8, and Winn (Wink), 8, endure him—and adore him. For them he can transform even disappointment into high adventure.

Gin, his wife, can stand him, he says, "only because her sense of humor is superior to mine."

The University of Richmond never loosed a more haphazard Spider, but his web is wonderful to behold.

His life seems shaped by accidents. But there's an aim, a direction, a destination, a goal to it all, not distant and ethereal, but here and now, attained each day complete as he goes along.

"Gin and I live only for the boys," he explains, "and not a day passes but what one of them doesn't do or say something that knocks me out."

They could say the same for Old Guybo. Certainly his fellow-workers could say it, too.

Nearly always a little late, he arrives on a dead run, often with uncombed hair, socks that don't match, and untied necktie.

"I'm always in a hurry because I start late," is his only explanation.

He reads into the small hours, "not for self-improvement, but in self-indulgence." The result: He rushes, improvising as he goes helter-skelter through another day.

He has commandeered desk mates to screen him for a change of suits in the corner of the newsroom.

His motto: "Live it up!"

"Life," he philosophizes, "never lets you down. Begin to get bored, and it takes a new turn, opens new vistas.

"More and more as I grow older, I try not to say 'No' to anything, because every new experience proves exciting, if you let it, and is in a sense relaxing."

Basically, he thinks, he is a lazy man. It seems a crazy notion for one who does a workaday job on a newspaper, prepares and delivers a daily 15-minute commentary, teaches two long classes each week, and speaks to some group on the average of once a week.

Weather was his first humble assignment, but it was an opportunity. A phrase-loving editor pricked up his ears when Friddell observed an eclipse and wrote: "The sun was a pale coin that slipped in and out of the hand of a magician."

Then politics was reached oddly.

"I was so naive," he explains, "that I began picking up bits of news on Republicans, not realizing their unimportance."

Eisenhower at last decided he was a Republican and not a Democrat. And Virginia went Republican three times in a row. Guybo was in the groove.

Eisenhower planted a pine at his mother's home in Staunton and moved on. Guybo, rushing to follow, stepped on the tiny tree, and then fell upon his knees to replant it. It was typical. If that tree survives it will in a way become a memorial to him, too.

His most amusing assignment was with Lyndon Johnson on his whistle-stop swing through Virginia ("What did the Republicans ever do for Culpeper?")

At each station, Friddell would descend with a wad of copy. He'd hand it to the most intelligent-looking person in view and ask him to call The News Leader collect and dictate it.

At one time four Friddell's were dictating at one time. The city editor was mystified, but, knowing Friddell, not much surprised.

Most significant assignment was a continent-wide trek in the wake of Khrushchev.

"From the moment I saw him," says Friddell, "he was to me the embodiment of the enemy. I think, however, he's less dangerous than Stalin, because K is cunning enough to know our destruction would entail his, while Stalin seemed a mad unpredictable wolf."

Students in his English classes, find him stimulating.

Bobby Burns was the subject. When his students said "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton" was lyric poetry, the kind you sing, Friddell led a gay chorus in the somber song.

Next was " Cotter's Saturday Night."

"This should never have been written; tear it out of your books," said the professor, setting the example.

His students, many teachers of English themselves, demurred, because, they said, if they mutilated their books they couldn't sell them to next year's student.

(Continued on page 36)
A Tribute To A Church and Community Leader—

Dr. BOB

By J. M. H. WILLIS, '18

Robert Franklin Coverlee, of the Class of 1921, has announced his retirement as pastor of Fredericksburg Baptist Church, for reasons of health. This pastorate covered 29 years of fruitful service. Born August 2, 1894, near Huntington, W. Va., Bob Coverlee received his preparatory education there. While a student at the University of Richmond, he served as pastor of Fairmount Avenue Baptist Church, and, during this period, he was married on December 25, 1918, to Lillian Irene Warren of Huntington. They have three daughters: Mrs. James S. Hughes, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Frank Billingsley, Fredericksburg, and Mrs. Thomas H. Schuler, Lynchburg. Following his graduation from the University of Richmond, Dr. Coverlee entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., from which he received the degrees of Th. B. in 1923, and Th. M., in 1924. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by the University of Richmond in 1933.

In 1924 he accepted a call to the First Baptist Church of Logan, W. Va., and served there for eight years, until his call to the Fredericksburg Baptist Church in 1932. Though a comparatively young man at that time, he held important posts, such as president of the West Virginia Baptist Convention for two years; president of the board of trustees and vice president of Alderson Broaddus College, and member of the West Virginia Baptist State Board.

The Fredericksburg Baptist Church was looking for a pastor when his friend and classmate, Morgan L. Combs, president of Mary Washington College, invited him to deliver the baccalaureate sermon in 1932. When Fredericksburgers heard him, they wanted him, and called him; and he started his ministry here in the fall of 1932.

He came to a great old church, which had gone without a regular pastor for some time, and needed inspiration. Bob Coverlee’s vigor, and enthusiasm, and his gentle understanding and lovable nature were exactly what the church needed. During his pastorate there has been a continuous growth of the church in numbers, in contributions, in service and activities, in missionary spirit both for the fields abroad and at home; the church properties have been enlarged and modernized to serve the increased membership, and the gospel has been preached in an inspiring and effective manner. In this period, the church, under his leadership, has directly fostered the establishment of three suburban churches: The Spotswood Baptist Church and Sylvan Heights Baptist Church, in Spotsylvania County, and the Ferry Farms Baptist Church in Stafford County; and has been of assistance in the establishment of other new congregations in the surrounding counties. Seven young people of the church have been sent out into the Christian ministry during his pastorate, and two others are now in training to that end.

In the wider fields of church activities, his abilities and devotion have been notable. As president of the Baptist General Association of Virginia, moderator of the Goshen Association, trustee of Virginia Baptist Hospital, of Fork Union Military Academy, and of the University of Richmond, and as trustee and vice president of both the Baptist Children’s Home at Salem, Va., and the Baptist Home for the Aged at Culpeper, he has contributed in large degree to State denominational activities.

In a very real sense, Dr. Bob, as he is affectionately known here, has been a pastor and counselor to the entire community. His levelheaded and sympathetic counsel have brought comfort to those who mourn, and light to those who sit in the shadows of great troubles. An avid sportsman and conservationist, he has been president of the local Izzak Walton League, and still conducts a radio program entitled, "Dr. Bob’s Hunting and Fishing Corner." Young people have always been attracted to him by reason of his live and unremitting interest in them and their affairs. For forty-four years he served as a Registered Scout, and he has received the Silver Beaver Award. For twelve years he broadcast the high school football and baseball games.

He continues, with twenty-five years of teaching behind him, at Mary Washington College as assistant professor of biblical literature and history of religions; and he conducts an educational program, "Dr. Bob’s Treasures from Twice Turned Pages.”

His active and effective life has earned him a place in the pages of Who’s Who in America and Who’s Who in American Education.

Throughout his career Bob Coverlee has displayed a most remarkable array of qualities which made him a leader of men and a mentor of youth. His boundless energy, his gifted eloquence, his straight thinking, his consecration to the work of Christ, his patient and deep understanding of human nature, his ready sympathy and help to those in trouble, his sharing of the joys and of the hurts of youth, his broad vision and ambition for his church, and his joy of life, have all combined to endear him to his church and to his community. He has truly typified the blessing which the Savior promised, of a joy of living and an abundant life.

While his health will not permit him to carry the constant and heavy load of church administration, Bob Coverlee does not intend to quit preaching and teaching. He looks forward to continuing and enlarging his evangelistic work and preaching, for which he is well known throughout this State and much of the South.

With a devoted wife and family, and surrounded by the love of his host of friends, we bespeak for Bob Coverlee many gracious years of serenity, and a continued effectiveness in his dedicated career of teaching youth and of spreading the Gospel.

Snyder Teacher

IN EAST AFRICA

Mansfield M. Snyder, '49, began teaching in East African schools this fall on a fellowship appointment from the United States Civil Service Commission.

Snyder left during the summer for a six-week training session at Makerere College in Kenya. Before leaving the U. S. he underwent a concentrated study period at the Columbia Teachers College in New York.

A teacher of English and Spanish at Las Vegas High School since 1954, Snyder last year held a Fulbright Grant to Japan where he taught English to Japanese secondary school instructors.

Following his graduation from Richmond College, Snyder received his Master’s degree from the University of Virginia. He is a member of Phi Kappa Delta, honorary education fraternity.
1897—
Dr. W. E. Gibson of Richmond has been twice honored by the members of Broadus Memorial Baptist Church, where he served for 35 years. Two years ago they erected a plaque in his honor and just recently his portrait was unveiled and presented to the church as a testimonial to his Christian service.

1910—
Dr. George W. Sadler, a retired missionary and native of Richmond, has been appointed interim pastor of Downtown Baptist Church in Alexandria. Dr. Sadler was formerly a missionary to Nigeria, secretary for Africa, Europe, and the Near East, and special representative in Europe for the Foreign Mission Board. He also served as interim pastor of the Baptist church in Harrisonburg late last year, and was visiting professor at Baylor University, Waco, Texas, last semester.

PITTSYLVANIA COUNTY’S OUTSTANDING CITIZEN
Col. Aubrey H. Camden, B. A. ’11, is Pittsylvania County’s Outstanding Citizen for 1961. The award was made to the president emeritus of Hargrave Military Academy at the annual banquet of the Chatham Chamber of Commerce.

A native of Bedford County, Col. Camden first began teaching at Hargrave two years after his graduation from Richmond College. Ascending to the presidency of the Chatham military academy in 1918, Camden held that post until 1951.

Col. Vernon Lankford, B. A. ’42, a graduate of Hargrave under Camden told Chamber members at the award presentation that Camden, a “man of average height, is tall in humility . . . in tolerance . . . in courage . . . in justice.”

Deacon Emeritus of Chatham Baptist Church, Camden has served as superintendent of the church Sunday School for 59 years and filled the presidential post of the Virginia Baptist General Association in 1947-48.

Since his retirement ten years ago, Camden has aided in the organization of Shanaberger Homes. He served as secretary of the organization for several years.

1919—
Lloyd M. Richards, who started out as janitor for the State Library in 1910, retired from his office of Librarian for the Virginia Supreme Court on June 30. Mr. Richards held this position since 1929.

Six weeks after becoming a janitor in 1910, Mr. Richards was appointed as assistant to the law librarian, then William W. Scott. When Scott died in 1929, Mr. Richards was appointed to this position. He has also served as acting deputy clerk of the court and as secretary of the Special Court of Appeals.

1922—
After serving the Etrick Baptist Church for 35 years, Rev. D. Edgar Wood plans to retire from the active ministry on January 1, 1962.

1923—
L. Dudley George has been elected president of Richmond Guano Company. Vice president of the firm since 1956, he is a past chairman of the board of National Plant Food Institute.

1924—
Robert R. Reese has been installed as Vice-President of Southern Railway Supply Company. Mr. Reese is also a director of the Richmond Association of Credit Management.

Davis T. Ratcliffe is now teaching insurance at Mohawk Valley Technical Institute in Utica, New York. He was formerly with the School of Insurance in New York City.

1925—
Dr. George W. Easley has been selected to serve as a clinical instructor in surgery at the West Virginia University School of Medicine. Easley, who received his medical degree from the Medical College of Virginia, will instruct students at the Clarksburg, W. Va., Veterans Administration Hospital, which has been designated as a “Y”men’s committee hospital.”

STARS AND STRIPES WRITER FRED BAARS, RETIRES
Fred W. Baars, ’27, has retired from the U. S. Army after a military career which began 38 years ago, and in which he earned nine battle stars.

He is now a member of the editorial staff of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

During World War II he entered the Navy, serving as a chief pharmacist’s mate. He spent 33 months in combat zones in the Southwest Pacific, being awarded five battle stars and the Bronze Star Medal (Meritorious).

In 1946, after discharge from the Navy, he enlisted in the Army and served on the editorial staff of Stars and Stripes in overseas posts. He later was assigned to public information activities with the First Cavalry Division and was awarded four battle stars for combat service in Korea.

His last two years prior to retirement were spent at Fort Monroe, Va., where he served in the information sector.

1928—
Robert W. Edwards, who has been with the C & P Telephone Company since 1928, has been appointed to the position of general staff supervisor in the executive department. In his new position, Mr. Edwards will be the company’s security officer and defense co-ordinator.

Julien D. Martin, an active newspaper man since the 1940’s gave up his brief venture as manager of the Pimlico Coin Shop in Baltimore, and is now assistant wire editor for the Daily Telegraph in Bluefield, West Virginia.

1929—
Dr. John A. Payne, III, of Sunbury, North Carolina, has been elected First Vice President of the North Carolina Medical Society for the 1961-62 term.

1931—
Dr. L. L. Shambarger retired in June from his position as director of specialized medical services with the State Health Department. He joined the department in 1936 and achieved outstanding success in the improvement of health care and facilities for mothers and children in Virginia.

Rev. Paul J. Forysthe, pastor of Sunset Hills Baptist Church in Richmond, is now on a tour of duty as reserve chaplain with the Marines.

1932—
Edward L. Ruffin, former Richmond regional credit manager for Esso Standard Oil, has been appointed regional credit co-ordinator for the Esso region of Humble Oil and Refining Co. in New York. He joined Esso in Richmond in 1952 after his graduation from the University.

1933—
Gary W. Burkholder has been promoted from assistant treasurer to that of assistant financial vice president of Reynolds Metals Company. He has been with the company since 1946.

1934—
Oscar C. Duval, formerly with the Atkins and Pannell accounting firm, is now on the accounting staff of the Joseph W. Biley Funeral Home in Richmond.

1935—
Rev. Gary Bousman has resigned as pastor of Plymouth Church in Fargo, N. Dak., to become chaplain at the Veterans Hospital, Knoxville, Iowa. Mr. Bousman served the Plymouth Church for six years and was active in the North Dakota Mental Health Association.

FIL SANFORD WRITES PSYCHOLOGY TEST
Psychology students at the University of Richmond will be using a textbook written by Dr. Fillmore Sanford, ’35. Dr. Sanford, REUNION ON THE CAMPUSS. The Rev. S. L. Morgan of Wake Forest, N. C., a member of the class of 1899, joins his son, the Rev. S. L. Morgan, Jr., and granddaughter, Cynthia, a sophomore, on the Westhampton College campus.

CHAPPELL ILLUSTRATES CHILDREN’S CLASSIC

Warren Chappell, ’26, has adapted and illustrated Perrault’s classic fairy tale The Sleeping Beauty for children of all ages. This gala retelling (Alfred A. Knopf, 32 pp. $2.95) retains all its original French charm and is accompanied by the main themes from Tchaikovsky’s musical score. Beautiful color illustrations capture the splendor of time centuries ago. At the very end of the book, Mr. Chappell carefully presents the Princess and the Prince in styles exactly one hundred years apart.

The Sleeping Beauty is the newest addition to Mr. Chappell’s distinguished fairy tale series which includes The Nutcracker, Peter and the Wolf and Hansel and Gretel. He has also written and illustrated They Say Stories, a book for youngsters based on favorite proverbs. Mr. Chappell is one of America’s most respected illustrators and designers of both children’s and adult books.

Following his graduation from the University of Richmond, he studied at the Art Students League in New York, the Offenbacher Werkstatt in Germany, and the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center in Colorado. Besides his free lance book illustration, design and teaching in the Graphic arts, Mr. Chappell is a practicing typographer, letterer, and engraver in wood. The Chappells—his wife is Lydia Hatfield Chappell—live in Norwalk, Connecticut.

professor of psychology at the University of Texas, has written a text for general psychology entitled Psychology, A Scientific Study of Man which was published in August by the Wadsworth Publishing Company. The text has been adopted by the U. of R. Psychology Department for use in all of the general sections of psychology.

Dr. Sanford began the text in 1958. That same year he became involved in a pioneering trial of closed circuit television as a method to present psychology lectures. He completed the manuscript of his text this spring. His efforts at teaching via television proved equally successful for, beginning this fall, 11 Texas colleges will teach psychology by means of kinescope recordings of Dr. Sanford’s lectures.

The book’s major emphasis can best be stated by an excerpt from the preface: “Teach the substances, significance and great intellectual challenge of psychology, and teach it with confidence—but remember that psychology is a young science and in many areas incompletely formed; so teach it with humility and, without diffidence or apology, take the student into your confidence.”

Fillmore is not the only psychologist in the famed Sanford family. (Dr. R. Nevitt Sanford, ’29, an older brother is also a psychologist, and has himself written several widely quoted works in psychology. He is currently associate professor at the University of California at Berkeley.)

1936—

Bernard Albert Gilman of Bloomfield, Conn., has received his master’s degree from Trinity College. Mr. Gilman is retired from the Army and a history teacher at Bloomfield High School.

The Rev. Mort A. Cumby, Sr., pastor of Southside Baptist Church in Richmond for nearly four years, has accepted a call as pastor of Amelia Baptist Church, Amelia Court House.

1937—

John W. Russell has been reappointed as Midlothian district’s member on the Chesterfield County School Board, for a four-year term. He became a school board member in 1959. Formerly a teacher, Russell is now pursuing a legal career.

William E. Moore, Jr., is currently working in Mexico as Director of Pharmaceutical Production of Johnson & Johnson. He previously worked for ten years as works manager of the Mexican Branch of the Warner-Lambert Company.

F. Overton Jones, associate editor of the Times-Dispatch, is the new president of the state-wide Richmond professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic society.

We were all saddened to learn of the death of young Berkeley Hancock Martin, III, the 6-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Jr., of Richmond. He was overboard in a swimming pool at a Henrico County Day Camp on July 25.

1938—

Reuben E. Alley, Jr., has been appointed chairman of the Physics Department of Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, New York. He joined the faculty there in 1960.

1939—

Dr. Clyde T. Francisco, professor of Old Testament at Southern Baptist Seminary and author of the guide book for January Bible Study in 1962, led a preparation study for this book at the Association Pastors’ Conference on September 18, in Falls Church, Virginia.

The Rev. Oscar B. Eddleton became rector of Varina Episcopal Church, Richmond, in September. Mr. Eddleton was previously assistant rector at the Good Shepherd parish in Raleigh, N. C.

1940—

Arthur C. Beck, Jr., has moved to Norfolk to accept the position of Director of Sales Promotion and Marketing in the Non-Farm Division of Smith-Douglass Company, Inc. Mr. Beck was formerly the President of Diggs & Beadles Seed Company in Richmond.

Major and Mrs. Allan J. Phua, Jr. announce the birth of their second son, Bruce Boswell, on July 13. Their other son, Allan, III, was three years old in May. Major Phaup is now serving as Director of Administrative Services at the Andersen Air Force Base in Guam. Commander Russell K. Wood, Jr. graduated from the Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island in July. A native of Richmond, Commander Wood was among 400 outstanding military officers from the four service branches attending the College.

1941—

Lester M. Sauer has been promoted from assistant cashier to assistant vice president at the First and Merchants National Bank of Richmond. Sauer has worked with the bank's investment department since 1942.

1942—

Dr. William L. Roberson is currently serving as Deputy Chief of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the USPHS Hospital, Staten Island, New York. Prior to this, he was at the RHS Indian Hospital at Fort Defiance, Arizona.

1943—

Rev. Linwood T. Horne, pastor of Walnut Hill Baptist Church in Petersburg, is the Moderator of the Petersburg Baptist Association in January. In connection with his office as Chairman of the Family Life Education & Counseling Committee for the Virginia Baptists, he attended a Conference in Nashville.

Dr. John L. Decker has been promoted to Assistant Professor of Medicine in the School of Medicine of the University of the Washington.

1944—

The Rev. Preston J. Taylor became associate pastor of First Baptist Church in Richmond in September. A native of Accomack county, he has been pastor of First Baptist Church in Mt. Airy, N. C. for the past six years.

Clifton H. Booker has been promoted to the position of Train Master with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, and transferred from Warwick to Clifton Forge, Va. His former position was that of train foreman.

1945—

The Rev. Willbur M. Sims accepted a call to the Episcopal Church of the Messiah in High- land Springs, Virginia. His former parish was St. Christopher's Church in Fairfax County, which he started in 1955 with only a handful of members. Before he left, it had outgrown the first church building and moved to a second new one.

GENE PEEK NAMED TO HEALTH BOARD

Dr. Eugene G. Peek, Jr., '39, of Ocala, Fla., has been appointed to the State Board of Health and is currently president of the Board.

He is also an officer of the Florida Medical Association and is a member of its board of governors.

Dr. Peek, who has been in the general practice of medicine at Ocala for some 14 years, went to Ocala after two years of duty with the Army at Vint Hill Farm Station, Warrenton, Va. He is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia.

His wife is the former Virginia Bugg, '40. The Peeks have four children, Gene, III, 15; Tommy, 14; David, 11; and Albert, 10.

ALUMNI IN ACTION

Judge Benjamin Logan Campbell of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Petersburg, his home town, serves with four others on the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges. This group is promoting better cooperation with law schools to include courses pertaining to juvenile court law and its related problems.

Campbell says "I think it is advisable that the Juvenile and Domestic Relations court be a separate court presided over by a judge and not be a part of the municipal or county court with the same judge." He doesn't believe that the juvenile problem is any greater than in the past, just more people know of it because of increased publicity. "We have an excellent juvenile court law in Virginia—one of the best—if we just had the tools to carry it out. Virginia needs more probation officers and places like Beaumont because a problem child is released too quickly. More facilities for mentally retarded children are also required."

Ben Campbell received his LL.B. in 1936 from the T. C. Williams Law School. During his undergraduate days he was initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, and the McNeill Law Society. As a centerfielder hitting over 300 he captained the U. of R. baseball team of 1935, which won the state championship. "Best team they ever had out there; George Lacy caught and Herb Hash and Bucky Jacobs pitched."

Concerning Alma Mater: "I am proud I had the opportunity to attend the University of Richmond and of the training I received. I am thankful for the help and examples the teachers like Mitchell, Mac Pitt, Muse, McDani, Barnett, and Judge Doubles gave me spiritually, mentally, and physically."

Campbell is associated with the law firm of Barney and Campbell. (The Barneys are: Jack, '35; Sidney, '40; and Phillip, '52.) Campbell, a bachelor, lives at 923 West High Street. W. V. (Billy) Rennie, '35, a lawyer and C. Pittman (Pitt) Haynes, a chemist with Allied Chemical and an elder in the Church of Latter Day Saints, are two of Ben's College acquaintances who have remained his close friends.

This member of the High Street Methodist Church enjoys fishing for bass and brim, playing golf, which he has just begun, at the Lee Park Golf Club, and reading western or sports stories. Campbell has been president of the Virginia, class D, and the Piedmont, class B, baseball leagues. A twenty-year Rotarian he was once vice-president of the local club, and is a Shriner, Ike, a past director of the Petersburg YMCA, and active in the Boy Scouts. During 1961 he will be General Chairman of his city's United Fund. He has held seats in the House of Delegates and the Senate of Virginia.

Campbell is "a real Democrat, unqualified, down the line, and I have no patience with those who try to be partial Democrats and partial Republicans."

During World War II he entered the army as a private and was separated July 4, 1946 as a captain. He served in the Quartermaster Corps and the War Crimes Trial in Europe. In 1964 Campbell's appointed judgeship terminates. He has no further political aspirations, and hopes to spend his spare time working with young people.

Jimmy Robinson, '49

Dr. C. W. Caulkins, Jr. is serving as president of the medical staff at the Wayneboro Community Hospital.

Dr. Jerome Imburg has been at the U. S. Naval Base, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba since June, 1960, where he is Chief of the Dependents Service at the Naval Hospital. Dr. Imburg and his wife, Julia Silver, have two children, Brian, five, and Elizabeth, two.

1946—

The Rev. Ellis Eldridge O'Neal, Jr., of Newton, Conn., Mass. and Miss Helen Elizabeth Spivey of Richmond were married on August 12. Rev. O'Neal is a former pastor of Chamberlayne Heights Baptist Church in Richmond.

A daughter, Lynn Carol, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Garland Chester Owens of Ardsley, New York, on June 18. Mrs. Owens is the former Mary Elizabeth Wade, of Richmond.

1948—

Herman V. Fleming, Jr., of Arlington, has been appointed as career underwriter in the Fort Worth area offices of C and I Life Insurance Company. The Flemings and their four-year-old daughter now reside in Arlington, Texas.

Dr. John W. Brizendine is visiting assistant professor of religion at Ohio Wesleyan for the current year. Dr. Brizendine received his Ph.D. from Yale University in June. His thesis was entitled "Joseph and History: A study of the
MUSE AND MILES
VA. BAR LEADERS

Spider succeeds Spider will be the story when Waldo G. Miles, '34, president-elect of the Virginia State Bar Association, steps into the presidential post next year. Making way for Miles will be Dr. William T. Muse '28, dean of the T. C. Williams School of Law and current president of the association.

An associate of the Jones, Woodward, Miles and Greiner law firm of Bristol, Va., Miles was named to the president-elect post at the 71st annual meeting of the association in White Sulphur Springs. Muse, who had served as secretary-treasurer of the group for almost 20 years, was installed as president at the meeting.

Miles, a native of Wise, received his law degree from the Washington and Lee School of Law, following his graduation from Richmond College. After serving as an associate in the firm of Carter and Williams of Danville for three years, Miles moved to Bristol where he entered into partnership in the firm of Williams, Miles and Williams, and finally with his present firm in 1948.

Miles and his wife Christine have two children, LaRue, 14, and Christine Mollie, 9.

Joseph Story and Its Relation to the History of Israel.

1949—

Mansfield M. Snyder of Alhavista, Va., on leave from the Clark County School Board in Las Vegas, Nevada, has accepted a scholarship under the auspices of the U. S. State Department and the British Crown to teach English in British East Africa for two years.

William M. Wills, formerly efficiency engineer for the Virginia Electric and Power Company in Portsmouth, was appointed as senior engineer, in the System Power Production Department in Richmond in May.

The infant daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Rolen Bailey of Roanoke died of leukemia on June 20. Nancy Lou was only 7 months old. Rev. Bailey is pastor of Cave Spring Baptist Church in Roanoke.

Harvey R. Cooley is currently associated with the firm of Anderson & Strudwick in Richmond. He was formerly with Fireman's Fund Insurance Company.

CHARLES BECK WINS

Professor Charles B. Beck, '50 of the University of Michigan's botany department was the recipient of the 13th annual U-M Literary and Education Class of 1923 Award given each year to the outstanding faculty member.

Dr. Beck, who received a certificate and $1,000, was cited for his "outstanding qualities as a teacher of undergraduates, a sympathetic understanding as a counselor of students, significant contributions to the educational growth of the college, and scholarly integrity which underlies his service to the college and the University."

MICHIGAN AWARD

Beck, who joined the U-M faculty in 1956 as an instructor, was promoted to assistant professor the following year and to associate professor this academic year.

He took his Ph.D. at Cornell University in 1955, and was a Cornell-Glasgow Exchange Fellow at the University of Glasgow, for the session 1955-56. He already has to his credit ten technical publications. He is a member of the Botanical Society of America, Society for the Study of Evolution, American Society of Plant Taxonomists, Torrey Botanical Club, Sigma Xi, Beta Beta Beta, Gamma Alpha, Sigma Gamma Episilon, and Phi Sigma Phi.

Columbia Cuts Record of University Choir

The accompanying etching is from the cover jacket of the newest album of the University of Richmond Choir which sang to audiences totaling more than a half million during the past year.

The Choir was signally honored by being chosen by NBC for the Voices of Easter program on Good Friday, as well as for three other coast-to-coast broadcasts on the Great Choruses of America series.

The album contains many of the songs sung by the Choir in concerts in Virginia and nearby states and features the first recorded performance of The Betrayal, a composition of the brilliant young teacher and theorist, David Kraehenbuehl of Princeton, N. J.

James Erb, director of the Chorus has termed The Betrayal "a unique contribution to the literature of sacred music, in that it uses a style which is in step with current musical hands." He considers it "profoundly moving, dramatic, frequently acutely dissonant without ever being maudlin."

President George M. Modlin in his annual report to the board of trustees praised the musical organizations on the campus and made particular reference to the Choir. Erb, a perfectionist, has drilled the Choir of 45 voices into a musical team that has won wide critical acclaim.

The recording ranges from The Betrayal to the exuberant spiritual, Cerf'ny Lord.

Also in the album are three English cathedral pieces, two of them accompanied by a small group of strings, and folksongs, among them The Turtle Dove and Long Time Ago.

The pressings are by Columbia Records and sell for $4.00. A limited number is available. It has been suggested that they will make ideal Christmas gifts. Alumni and alumnae are urged to make use of the order blank below:

UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND CHOIR
Box 2, University of Richmond, Virginia

Please send copies of the 1961 Choir Recording to:

Name ____________________________
Street ____________________________
City __________________ State ______
I enclose my check, ______
Signature _________________________

[ 12 ]
Mr. and Mrs. James R. Phipps, of Sewickley, Penn., announce the birth of their second child, Nancy Randolph, on September 8. Their son, Robert Stephen, will be five years old in November.

William H. Garren, of Wethersfield, Conn., was promoted to the position of chief accountant of the Travelers Insurance Company in Hartford. He has been with the company since 1949.

The Rev. George C. Field, Jr., priest-in-charge of St. Augustine's Church in Norfolk, has been appointed by the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church to attend St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, Kent, England. Mr. Field will be among some 40 other priest-students for a year of study, living and working together.

John B. Richardson of Roanoke, general agent for the Virginia operations of the National Life Insurance Company, was one of nine top-ranking representatives of the firm chosen to attend the firm's educational conference in Honolulu, Hawaii in August. Mr. Richardson has earned the title of Chartered Life Underwriter, the profession's highest educational designation, and is a member of the Million Dollar Round Table.

TEACHER BOB FORD ALSO IS BONDSMAN

While many school teachers make it their business to get away from people—large and small—during their summer vacation periods, Robert D. Ford, '49, does just the opposite.

When doors are closed at Chesterfield County's Beulah Elementary School for the summer vacation, Ford, who serves as the school's principal, begins work as a professional bail bondsman. What's more, he likes it!

Ford says the bondsman's work offers a pleasant change from his nine-month duties with young people and gives him an opportunity to study the problems of adult law-breakers. "It's quite an education," he says. A boyhood love of law may provide the answer to Ford's unusual choice of summer occupations. He is considering the possibility of returning to college to obtain his law degree.

A football lineman while at Richmond College, Ford admits the late hours he is required to keep as a bondsman sometimes do become tiring.

Ford, his wife Rosa Lee and their three children live in Bon Air.

LUMPKIN WRITES BAPTIST HISTORY

Dr. William L. Lumpkin, '49, is the author of a new book depicting the growth of the Baptist Church in the South. Released by Broadman Press, the book, Baptist Foundations in the South, begins with the Baptist phase of the Great Awakening in New England and covers the movement of the church into the southern states.

Dr. Lumpkin is pastor of the Freemason Street Baptist Church, Norfolk.

1950—

Dr. Manuel O. Jaffe has set up his private practice in dermatology in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and is also clinical instructor in dermatology at the University of Minnesota Medical School in Minneapolis. Dr. Jaffe received the master of science from the University in June. Richard Allen Claybrook has been appointed principal of the Bon Air Elementary School. He previously served as assistant principal of Walnut Hill Elementary School at Petersburg. Francis C. Martin is currently in the Business office of the Medical College of Virginia. The Martins have two children, James, five, and Shelley, one.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Anderson Weaver of Martinsville, Va., announce the birth of their second child, Milford, II, on July 3. In April Mr. Weaver became the proprietor of Virginia Blower Company in Collinsville.

The October wedding of Harris E. Willingham, Jr., to Nancy Jane Adams of Lexington, Ky., was held in Lexington. Mr. Willingham, formerly of Richmond, is working as special assistant to the Urban Renewal Consultant in Louisville.

The Rev. Ernest Harris is now on the staff at the Beuont School for Boys, near Richmond. He is the former pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Petersburg.

On July 18 the stock delivered William Keith to Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Fanney, Jr., of New Providence, New Jersey. The Fanneys have two other children, Julie Lynn, who will be two in February, and Richard, three.

A son, John Kent, Jr., was born to Mr. and Mrs. Griffin of Richmond in February. Mr. Griffin is employed at Miller & Rhoads, Inc., as manager of the wrapping and packing department.

Carl Barefoot, Jr., assistant editor of the American Institute of Architects Journal, has written an account of the controversy arising over famed Piccadilly Circus in London. The article entitled "The Piccadilly Affair" appeared in the August issue of the AIA Journal.

Lloyd T. Hall has been promoted to supervisor of education at the Beuont School for Boys. Prior to the promotion, he had worked as a case-worker and teaching at the school. As supervisor, he will be responsible for the coordination of academic and vocational programs at Beuont.

ERFFT RECEIVES HONORARY DEGREE

Kenneth R. Erfft, M.A. '36, was honored by Northern Michigan College at the school's commencement exercises. Vice president and treasurer of Rutgers, at New Brunswick, N. J., Erfft was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the Marquette, Mich., school where he received his A.B. degree.

Erfft, who delivered the commencement address, told a class of 259 graduates that they must take all precaution in the increasingly difficult task "to discern shams from truth."

Erfft said "the deterioration of our moral fiber" is the chief threat to America. "There seems to be a growing acceptance of any methods which produce results. The important thing seems to be to get what you are after—honesty, if you can, but reach your goal you must."

Examples given by Erfft of the "constant erosion of our intellectual integrity," included the college basketball scandals, the black markets which make available professionally done papers which students may purchase hand to their professors as their own work, and the TV quiz scandals.

. . . receives an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from President Edgar R. Harden of Northern Michigan College.

Considered an authority on the problems of college and university finance and author of several books dealing with college and university business administration, Erfft began his career in public schools in Michigan and Virginia.

Rev. Kent L. Kiser, pastor of the Grace Baptist Church of Trenton, N. J., has been named president of the Council of Churches of Greater Trenton. A native of Lebanon, Va., Mr. Kiser was ordained at the First Baptist Church of Richmond in 1949 and has served as student pastor of churches in Virginia and New York. Following his graduation from College Rochester Divinity School in 1952, he assumed the pastorate at the First Baptist Church of Ontario, N. Y.

BAMBUCUS NAMED AIDE TO KENNEDY

Joseph S. Bambucus, '50, former U. S. attorney for the eastern district of Virginia, is now serving as a special assistant to U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy. Bambucus will represent the U. S. Justice Department in 'special cases' which it will assign him.

A partner in the Richmond law firm of Heberle and Bambucus, Bambucus has served as chief of the District Attorney's office since 1958.
WATKINS NAMED FABRICON VEEP

The sage advice of Horace Greeley to young Easteners has proved profitable and exciting for John T. Watkins, Jr., '40, a young man who "went West." Watkins has assumed duties as vice-president and general manager of West Coast operations for Fabricon Products, a division of the Eagle-Pilcher Co. New headquarters for Watkins is the Los Angeles office of Fabricon from which he directs the firm's operations for the Pacific coast states. Formerly the general manager of Fabricon's plastics division at River Rouge, Mich., Watkins, his wife Betty Lee and the couple's three children have high on their list of "things to do," a visit to Disneyland. Watkins was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon while a student at the University of Richmond School of Business.

1951—

William M. Claytor, associate general agent for the Virginia operations of National Life Insurance Company, was one of nine top-ranking representatives of the firm chosen to attend the educational conference in Honolulu, Hawaii, in August. Mr. Claytor has earned the title of Chartered Life Underwriter and is a member of the Million Dollar Round Table. Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Houghton, Jr. announce the birth of a son, David Clay, on September 19. Mr. Houghton is a supervisor at Virginia Electric and Power Company. Laurence C. Sullivan was transferred to Manassas as resident partner in the firm of Baker, Brydon, Renold & Whit in August. Samuel A. White, Jr., of Richmond has started his fifth year with the Douglas Aircraft Company in California. During the past two years, his base of operations has been at Vandenberg Air Force Base, where he is involved in the airborne engineering phases of the Discover Space Program.

1952—

Dr. Daniel Lee Kendrick of Richmond left on August 2 for Tokyo, Japan, where he will be in the U. S. Army Medical Command. He was accompanied by his wife and three children and they expect to be stationed there about three years. Charles H. Kelley was recently promoted to manager of the Bag Division of Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corp. He has been with the company since his graduation. Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Storm of Brooklyn, New York, announce the birth of their first child, Gail Robin, on July 11. Mr. Storm is associated with Parke, Davis and Company.

Dr. F. X. Mullins, Jr., was discharged from the Air Force in September, where he was stationed at the Whitman Air Force Base in Missouri. Dr. Mullins has now resumed his studies at the University in pathology at the New York University Medical School, and recently passed the American Board of Pathology exams in certification in Anatomical Pathology. He plans to take the Forensic Pathology exams in the spring.

The Rev. Rex Bennett, former pastor of Totsky Church, assumed duties as pastor of the Marion Baptist Church in September. Rev. Bennett is a native of Altavista, Virginia. Theodore F. Adams, Jr., has been promoted to Traffic Manager General Traffic with the C. & P. Telephone Company of Virginia. Now in Richmond, he was formerly working in Lynchburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Patrick Graybeal, of Christiansburg, announce the birth of a daughter, Sally Katherine, last May. Mr. Graybeal has a law practice there.

Edward Hoge Clarkson received his degree in Master of Hospital Administration from the Medical College of Virginia in June. His administrative residency is now at the Norfolk General Hospital, Norfolk, Va.

1953—

Donald B. Beam, a teacher at Granby High School for three years, was appointed principal of Willard Junior High School in Norfolk. The Beamage family has just celebrated the birth of a third daughter, Lisa Carol, last May. Robert K. Neale, formerly associated with Crane, Thornton, and Jackson in Montgomery, Ala., is now back in Richmond with Baker, Brydon, Rennolds & Whit. He passed the C.P.A. exams in Alabama.

Dr. Robert M. Alley joined the faculty of William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., in September, as assistant professor of religion. Dr. Alley received his Ph.D. at Princeton last spring, where he had worked on Vanderbilt Air Force Base, where he is involved in the airborne engineering phases of the Discover Space Program.

1954—

A third child, Robert Thomas, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Elliott of North Palm Beach, Fla., in June. Eddie, Jr., is now almost five, and Valerie Ann is three.

Dr. Everett Sneed Tombs of Clemson, S. C., received his Ph.D. from Rutgers State University in New Jersey in June. He is an instructor in entomology at Clemson College.

James Earl Brown has been named assistant professor of business administration at Emory University and will teach accounting. Mr. Brown formerly taught at the University of Washington.

J. Vaughan Gary, Jr., of Richmond, played the part of John Adams in the "Common Glory" at Williamsburg this summer.

VIRGINIA IVEY—LEGAL SLEUTH

Miss Virginia Ivey, '48, is regarded as an accomplished "sleuth" by members of Richmond's legal fraternity. As assistant law librarian at the Virginia State Library, Miss Ivey is used to questions, and local lawyers are pleased to find that she usually can bring back the answers in short order.

Miss Ivey's introduction to the law began during World War II when she worked in a government office, Cecilia Boykins relates in a feature article in the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Often puzzled as to the meanings of certain legal terms, she decided it was time to hit the books for a while. At that time the T. C. Williams School of Law held evening classes, and Miss Ivey began her studies there, while working part-time in the school's library.

After finishing her studies at the law school, Miss Ivey became Law Librarian at the School. Later she went to work as a law clerk and secretary for the late Willis D. Miller, Virginia State Supreme Court justice. The job with Judge Miller gave her an opportunity to follow all cases from beginning to end.

Miss Ivey is executive secretary for the University of Richmond Law School Association. This job, she explains, gives her an opportunity to keep in touch with lawyers throughout the state. She is also a member of the Virginia State Bar Association.

Donald Edward Seim received his doctor of medicine degree at the Medical College of Virginia in June. He is currently interning there. Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Mater, Jr., of Roanoke, report the birth of a daughter, Sabrina Ann, last December. Mr. Mater is with the U. S. Gypsum Corporation.

Fred B. Bigger of Richmond was appointed vice-president and sales manager of the real estate division of Paul Gordon Associates, Inc., in May. Previously, Mr. Bigger was regional manager for Raah & Co., Inc.

The Rev. Charles G. Fuller has been named pastor of the First Baptist Church of Roanoke. He left the pastorate of Pine Street Baptist Church in Richmond to accept the call. The Roanoke church is one of the largest in Virginia.

1955—

Carles Barbo received his 1955 master of science degree in physical education from the [14]
University of West Virginia in June. Mr. Barno is a teacher at the Jefferson Morgan Jr. High School in Jefferson, Pa., where he has been since 1955.

Andrew J. Daffron is currently the assistant manager at Seaboard Hot Shops in Richmond. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Ramsey of Richmond report the birth of their first child, Bruce Clark, in June. Mr. Ramsey is with the J. C. Penney Company.

John Wiley Bragg is now the sales supervisor with the Esso-Standard Oil Division in Fredericksburg. John W. Deter has joined the staff of Snelling and Snelling as placement manager of the Sales Division in the Richmond office. He was previously sales representative with the En-glander Company in Chicago, Ill.

Cpt. Henry A. Shockley was recently assigned to the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Vietnam. An Army man since 1955, Capt. Shockley was previously stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Rev. Fred W. Reid, Jr., of Richmond, a former Virginia pastor, has been appointed the first chaplain at North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill, N. C. He has been pastor of Mount Moss Baptist Church near Chapel Hill since 1958.

Dr. J. R. B. (Jim) Hutchinson is now serving in the USAF Medical Corps at Andrews Air Force Base. Dr. Hutchinson formerly had his practice in Richlands, Va.

Wedding bells rang for James Milton Wilson, III, of Richmond and Miss Jacqueline Rose of Alexandria in August. Christian P. Napoli has been named to the post of case work supervisor for the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court in Richmond. A native of Phillipsburg, N. J., he has previously served as a state parole and probation officer here.

Dr. Solomon Frederick Cantor of Richmond graduated from the Kilkire College of Osteopathy and Surgery, Kirksville, Mo., with his D.O. degree. He is now interning at Biscayne Osteopathic Hospital in Miami, Fla.

Edgar Paul Roberson, Jr., of Arlington received the M.A. degree in art from the American University in Washington, in June. Mr. Roberson has been teaching in the Annandale High School since 1958.

1956—

Paul Stouffer would like to hear from Richmond College friends. Stouffer writes from his mission in Sao Paulo, Brazil, that all goes well with him and his family, but a wall that went through the house would not be forgotten. His address is Caixa Postal 552, Campinas, Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Lawrence Donald Hanback, Jr., received his M.D. degree from the Medical College of Virginia in June, and is now serving his residency there.

Milton Rexwood Tignor, Jr., received his M.D. degree from the Medical College of Virginia in June, is now interning at Brooke General Hospital, Ft. Worth, Texas.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Willbur Kersey announce the birth of a son, David Clark, on May 4. Mr. Kersey is pastor of Court Street Church in Portsmouth. They also have a two-year-old daughter.

The engagement of Miss Jo Ann Harre of Tampa, Fla. to Lt. John William Reames, USAF, of Sandston, Va., was announced in August.

Douglas George MacLachlan received his master’s degree in education from Rutgers University in June. Mr. MacLachlan is on the athletic staff of Burlington Senior High School, Burlington, N. J.

Rev. Allie Washington Frazier, Jr., has accepted a call to the Wicomico Episcopal Church, Wicomico Church, Va. Mr. Frazier graduated from Virginia Theological Seminary in May and was ordained into the ministry in June.

Robert E. Winckler of Richmond has answered the “call of the West” and returned to California where he was stationed while in the service. He is staff accountant and comptroller at the Plant Asbestos Company in Emeryville, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Heath of Richmond report the birth of a second son, Geoffrey, in August. Mr. Heath is Division Office of the Binswanger Glass Co.

Frazier B. Hoover has been appointed resident manager of the new office of Dalton & Drinkard, C.P.A., in Charleston. He was formerly employed in the Richmond accounting office of Esso Standard Oil.

Wedding bells rang for James William Stump, Jr. of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Miss Nadine Caroline Kraus of Madeira, Ohio, on August 19. Mr. Stump is publication coordinator at the Jet Engine plant of General Electric in Evan dale.

James N. Lamprom has been promoted to accounting supervisor with the C & P Telephone Co. in Richmond.

Lester Alvin Putre, Jr. recently attended the Home Office Sales Training School administered by the Burroughs Corporation in Detroit.

A son, Douglas Pope, was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Pope (Sandy) Basset, of Maitland, Fla. Mr. Basset is in law practice there.

Phil H. Kistner has been designated branch chief in the training division, department of nonresident instruction, S. U. Army logistics management center at Fort Lee, Va.

Avenue B. M. Constant for the Internal Revenue Service, has joined the legal department of Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corp. A native of Lexington, Ky., Conner was with the Internal Revenue Service four and one-half years.

John C. Allred, Jr. has been appointed as a Metropolitan Life Insurance Consultant at Winston-Salem, N. C.

Walter Allen Hrrow, Jr. of Delaville, a faculty member at King William High School, has been named principal of Pleasant Hill High School in King & Queen Co., Va.

1957—

Preston Grissom, an attorney at Norfolk, and his wife assisted in the direction of the summer recreation program for young people at Center ville Baptist Church in Fentress. Tommy Stearns (60) a former center on the University of Rich mond football team, also participated in this program which provided organized entertainment for the youth every summer for seven years.

Mark Nathan Peirce, of Richmond, has received his dental license from the Virginia State Board of Dental Examiners. He graduated from the Medical College of Virginia in June.

CHAUTAUQUA NAMES HAUG VICE PRESIDENT

Curtis W. Haug, ’38, has been appointed vice president and program director of the Chautauqua Institution of Jamestown, N. Y. He will also serve as acting treasurer.

In announcing Haug’s appointment, Chau tauqua President W. J. Carothers cited the Richmond College graduate’s “organizing ability and demonstrated platform performance” as primary factors in the Board of Trustees decision.

Haug first became associated with the famed recreation-education summer program in November, 1960, when he assumed the treasurer’s duties for the organization. His duties were extended earlier this year when he was given the added responsibility of director of program and education.

A member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, while a student at Richmond College, Haug and his wife Barbara Jeanne have lived in Jamestown with their four children since 1953.

Peter A. Edmunds has accepted a job with the Celanese Corp., of America in Narrows, Va. He has been in Newark, N. J. since June 1957 with the Prudential Ins. Co. of America.

Alfred Burkholder received his master of hospital administration degree at the Medical College of Virginia in June. He is now administrative assistant at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

James W. Cox became assistant manager of the Portsmouth business office of the C & P Telephone Co. in July. He was previously in the Norfolk office. Also, last February Mr. and Mrs. Cox were blessed with a second child, Valerie Ann.

Donald E. Sly received his M.D. from the University of Virginia School of Medicine in June.

The December wedding is planned for Joe C. Sheetz of Winchester, Va. and Miss Carla Sue Frick of Topika, Kan.

Richard E. Wrenn was selected as Ft. Campbell’s soldier of the year. The paratrooper is assigned to the 426th Airborne Supply and Transport Company, 101st Support Group, where he serves as operations sergeant.

The wedding of Homer Simpson Stokes, Jr., of Richmond and Miss Mary Jane Thomas, of Suffolk, was held on August 12. Mr. Stokes is assistant manager of the Single Vision Division of the Tirmus Optical Company.

Rev. Samuel Anthony Nixon, Sr., a teacher in Martinsville, Va., for the past three years, was
FRANKLIN FEDERAL PROMOTES MILLER

Promotion of Russell W. Miller to the position of vice-president was announced today by James Bourne, Jr., '51, president of Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Miller, who had been with Franklin Federal since August 1959 as internal auditor, has been designated to direct the newly created department for home improvement lending.

Miller is a graduate of Butler University and received his master's from the University of Richmond in 1957. Before joining the staff of Franklin Federal he was employed with the firm of Ernst & Ernst.

Miller, a charter member and its first secretary, is currently President of the University of Richmond School of Business Alumni Association and a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, business fraternity and other trade organizations.

ordained into the Baptist ministry in May. He attended summer school at Southeastern Seminary in July.

Robert A. Stricklett is now a writer on the staff of Page Communications Engineering in Washington, D.C.

The following received degrees from the Medical College of Virginia in June:

Benjamin Randolph Allen, Jr., appointed to the U.S.A.F. Hospital, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Mortimer Dantzler Heizer appointed to General Hospital, Denver, Colo.

Benjamin Newman Jones appointed to Lewis-Gale Hospital, Roanoke, Va.

John Joseph Kriz, appointed to Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn.

Robert Thomas Moses, Jr., appointed to Mercy Hospital, Springfield, Ohio.

Walter Reams Perkins, Jr., appointed to the V.A. Hospital, Los Angeles, Calif.

George William Porter, Jr., appointed to Memorial Hospital, Charleston, W. Va.

Norman Albert Tempion, Jr., appointed to Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital, Greensboro, N. C.

Charles Betts Hogan, III, received the doctor of dental surgery degree from the Medical College of Va. in June.

Keith Armatage joined the staff of the First Baptist Church of Petersburg, Va. in August as organist-choir director and assistant in the fields of Sunday School and Brotherhood work. He was formerly minister of music with the Starling Avenue Baptist Church, Martinsville, Va.

1958—

Arthur K. Radin of Richmond, a 1961 graduate of the T. C. Williams Law School has joined the legal staff of Gerald A. Brown of Calif., member of the National Labor Relations Board in Washington. He will do legal analysis of cases involving unfair labor practices.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pendleton Baber of Cartersville, Va. were blessed with their first child, Claydon Anderson, in June. Mr. Baber has recently opened up a law practice in Cumberland.

Reginald John Exton of Newport News, Va., received his M.S. degree in physics from the West Virginia University in June. He is now associated with NASA, Langley Research Center, instrument research division, Langley Air Force Base, Va.

Harley Morton Ellman and Charles Thomas Poline, Jr., received the master's degree in hospital administration from the Medical College of Virginia in June. Ellman has his residency at M.C.V. and Poline was appointed to Mercy Hospital, Springfield, Ohio.

Jerome Warren Schonfeld received the doctor of Dental Surgery degree from the Medical College of Virginia, and Nelson Lewis St. Clair, Jr., received the master's degree in hospital administration. St. Clair is assistant administrator at Riverside Hospital in Newport News.

Lawrence G. Flannagan, Jr. is administrative assistant of the Children's Hospital of Washington, D.C. After graduation from M. C. V. in June, he served as administrative resident at Butler County Memorial Hospital, Butler, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah A. Kesler of Jacksonville, Fla. announce the birth of their second child, Malcolm Scott, in July. Their daughter, Deborah, is four years old.

Wedding bells rang in September for Kenneth Ayers Burnette of Lynchburg and Miss Joyce Anne Black of Chase City.

Leo A. Massad, Jr. has been promoted to Senior rating in the accounting firm of Arthur Andersen and Co., in New York.

William D. Bullock of Fredericksburg, has joined the staff of the Internal Revenue Service in Richmond as a reserve officer trainee. The Bullocks also announce the birth of their first child, Dolores, in June. Mr. Bullock was with the Farmers States Bank in Fredericksburg for three years.

Tony R. Auby who graduated from the Southern Baptist Seminary in July, resumed his duties as minister of music at the First Church of Suffolk in August.

George Richard Hulcher has been appointed as a Special Agent by the U. S. Secret Service and was stationed in Washington, D. C., field office. He was recently discharged from the Army.

The engagement of Harvey J. Michelman, of Flushing, N. Y. and Miss Nancy Beth Heller, of Westfield, N. J., has been announced. Mr. Michelman is a member of the legal department of the Consolidated Mutual Insurance Company of Brooklyn.

Sherman B. Lubman has become associated with the law firm of Sidney L. Berz, (48), in Richmond.

Dr. Patrick T. Quisenberry of Richmond graduated from Dental School at M.C.V. this spring and has opened an office in Ginter Park. Dr. and Mrs. Ray W. Bowles announce the birth of their first child, Kimberly Rae, on May 10. Lt. Bowles is stationed at the U. S. Naval Station in Bermuda.

Robert B. Beasley was ordained into the Baptist ministry in June. A native of Richmond, he is pastor of the Barnesville (N.C.) Baptist Church. He graduated from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary this summer.

Robert Dillon Burch has ordained and installed as pastor of the South Hill Presbyterian Church in July. A graduate of Union Theological Seminary, he has served as student minister of the church.

Richard K. M. Thomas is administrative officer at the Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas.

John S. Markham is currently comptroller at Western Home in Richmond. He was previously at GreenTree's.

Richard A. Maxwell is on the staff of Western Electric in Omaha, Nebraska, as a cost accountant.

C. W. Griffin is teaching English rhetoric and literature at Richmond Professional Institute. He is married to the former Janet Mabry.

James B. Thomas is currently with Southern States Cooperatives. He married the former Jacqueline Thomas last January.

Louis Wacker has been appointed head foot ball coach at Colonial Heights High School. He was formerly head coach at Midlothian.

An August wedding was held for Dan Franklin G. Livaditis and Miss Amelia Massey of Richmond. Miss Massey is a graduate of Westhampton.

Philip B. Morris is newly associated with the law firm of Browder, Russell and Morris, in Richmond.

1959—

John Melvin Smith received the master's degree in mathematics from the University of Maryland in June. He is now working towards his Ph.D.

The Rev. William Hewlett Stith, Jr., of Lynnhaven, Va., was married to Miss Ann Elizabeth Walker of Lynchburg, N. C., in August. They are making their home in Durham.

Barry Melvin Spero received the master of Hospital Administration degree from M.C.V. in June. His administrative residency is at Baptist Hospital, Nashville, Tenn.

The master of science degree in physics was conferred on Aubrey Clyde Hodgins, Jr., at the West Virginia University in June.

W. W. Hamner is a dealer sales trainee with the Esso Division in Newport News. He was formerly assistant manager of Hamner Construction in Norfolk.

Edwin Mayo Lohmann is the new manager of the Willow Lawn branch of Everett Waddell in Richmond.

Richard W. Davis, president of the Radford Jaycee and winner of the state Spark award, represented the Virginia Jaycees at the National Convention in Atlanta, Ga. in June. The Jaycees are for the member contributing most to the Jaycee organization during his first year.

Frank T. Smith is a first lieutenant with the 3rd Marine Air Wing at El Toro Air Force Base in Santa Ana, Calif. His next tour of duty will take him to Japan.

Jack H. Wyatt is now a bank relations representative in the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. He was previously an assistant examiner.

Sherwood C. Butler, Jr. of Richmond has been ordained into the Baptist ministry and is serving as pastor of the Newville, Antioch and Reidelville churches near Waverly, Va. He has been attending Southeastern Baptist Seminary.

Wedding bells rang in August for Ulysses P. Joyner, Jr. and Miss Martha Col Barcham, both of Franklin, Va. They will make their home in Richmond.

A second child, George Floyd, Jr. was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ricketts of Emporia, Va. in August. Their daughter, Jennifer Dawn, celebrated her first birthday in July.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dudley Scott in June, bringing them a daughter, Suzanne Patricia, their first child. Mr. Scott is now a Group Field Representative for Travelers Insurance in Reading, Pa.

Edgar Baird is on the sales staff of Everett Waddell Company in Richmond.

MORRIS MITCHELL RECORDS UNCLE REMUS TALES

Dr. Morris Mitchell, son of the beloved Dr. S. C. Mitchell, has recorded several of Joel Chandler Harris' famed Uncle Remus stories and songs. The long-playing record, released by the Pathways of Sound folklore record series, features Mitchell's stories of B'yer Rabbit and his entanglements with B'yer Fox. Dr. Mitchell is the director of the Putney Graduate School of Teacher Education in Putney, Vt.
ADAMS HONORED

Dr. Theodore F. Adams, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Richmond and a member of the University of Richmond board of trustees, has been presented a portrait, as token of the church's appreciation for his twenty-five years of service. The painting was presented to Dr. Adams at a deacons' dinner.

John Michael Seay was married to Miss Bernice Hynst in August. Formerly with R F & P Railroad, he is now employed with International-Benz in Machines in Richmond.

Ray D. Davis of Greenville, Va., has joined the staff of the New York Life Insurance Company.

Robert Gentile has been promoted to associate buyer at the Rike-Kumler store in Dayton, Ohio.

The wedding of Edgar Benjamin Cahoon to Mary Ellen Summers of Fredericksburg was held in July.

Robert W. Gay, Jr., has been with the North Carolina Wesleyan College since March, 1960, as assistant comptroller.

Aubrey Clyde Hudgins, Jr., of Richmond, received his master's degree from the West Virginia University in June.

Roger H. Clarke has been named the leading first-year agent of the Richmond Agency of Connecticut Mutual Life Ins. Co.

The wedding of Costos Steven Linardos and Miss Beverly Layne Moore, both of Richmond, was held in October.

Bobby Douglas Willis of Vallscrew, W. Va., and Miss Barbara Anne Turner of Richmond were married in September. Joseph D. Griffith, D.D.S., announces the opening of his dental office at 800 E. Belt Blvd., Richmond.

Deane E. Beamer was given the A. D. William Award as the outstanding member of his class at the Hospital Administration School of the Medical College of Virginia. Beamer is serving his residence at the Memorial Hospital, Asheville, N. C.

Thomas C. Stavredes began teaching ninth grade history at Albert H. Hill Junior High School in September. He has completed a six month tour of duty in the Army Medical Corp at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

John H. Bowles, Jr., has been named one of six national winners of the Alcoa Student Design Merit Awards, in a contest sponsored by the Aluminum Co. of America. Bowles, a June graduate of the Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y., received the award for his design of a model amphibious camping vehicle. Designed to carry five persons both overland or across the water, Bowers' Amphicamper was designed to solve the family vacation question of whether to buy a boat or a travel trailer.

1960—

Robert Sullivan is a supervisor in the control laboratory at A. H. Robins Company.

Married: The Rev. Jimmy Dean Edward to Miss Helen Sue Hairston of Roanoke, June 10. Larry C. Teter was ordained July 9 at Rocky Mount Baptist Church.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Percy Eason, Jr. of Norfolk, a son, Stephen Clayton, July 28.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Brown of Arlington, a daughter, Laura Lynne, August 9.

Leo Coale is in the computer engineering section of the missile division at Douglas Aircraft Corporation in Santa Monica, Calif.

Gilmer L. Barton is with the U. S. Army in Okinawa. He married Miss Sue Echols while he was stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Tex.

Engaged: Richard Thurl Willis of Vallscrew, W. Va., to Miss Mary Ann Belton of Richmond. A December wedding is planned.

Ronnie Montgomery of Richmond has joined the company of Paul Green's outdoor drama "The Stephen Foster Story" for the 1961 season on the grounds of My Old Kentucky Home State Park.

James B. Crocker was ordained May 7 at Central Hill Baptist Church.

Jerry A. Enfield is with the 703rd Ordinance Battalion in Wiesloch, Germany.

Married: Sidney Harold Horwitz to Miss Helen Diane Perlin, both of Richmond, June 24. Jack F. Ingraham is on the sales staff of Brookes Transportation Company in Richmond.

Arny Pvt. Graham A. Carlson, Jr. is with the U. S. Army Engineer Center Regiment at Ft. Belvoir.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Buss, Jr. of Raleigh, N. C., a daughter, Melinda Anne, March 22.

Percy M. Eason is associated with the Ford Motor Company in South Norfolk.

Married: Robert Miller Saunders to Miss Shirley Mae Southworth in August.

Engaged: Michael A. Glagola of Garfield, N. J., to Miss Hannelore Angermayer of Richmond. A November wedding is planned.

Robert L. Johnson was the summer pastor of Potomac Baptist Chapel, Broad Run, Loudoun County.

1961—

Engaged: John Francis Daffron, Jr. to Alice Elizabeth Mitchell, both of Chester. A December wedding is planned.

Engaged: James Q. Whelan, Jr. of Petersburg to Nancy Ann Hundleby of Crewe. A November wedding is planned.

Army Pvt. Richard A. Holderman recently underwent a trial in Baumholder, Germany, with personnel from the 8th Infantry Division's 12th Artillery.

Married: Gerald W. Sklar of Brooklyn, N. Y., to Miss Juanita Vaughan of Woodford, June 6. James W. Nunn is a sales trainee with Moore Business Forms in Richmond.

Melvin R. Otey is a supply cataloguer at the Richmond Quartermaster Depot.

Richard Rose is a management trainee at the Central National Bank in Richmond.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hawkins, Jr. of Richmond, a son, Rhee Leonardus, August 11.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Lacy of Raleigh, N. C., a daughter, Kimberley Gay.

William C. Smith is with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in West Virginia.

Emory D. Shiver, Jr., is in the Roanoake District Office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia.

Married: Norwood Bernice Woodard, Jr. to Miss Barbara Coleman Hubbard, both of Richmond, September 2.

Married: Charles Stuart Pierce III of Richmond to Miss Mary Garland LaPrade of Martinsville, August 26.

Edward C. Peple, Jr., is an instructor at the Naval Academy Training School in Bainbridge, Md.

Army Pvt. Donald D. Parr is undergoing advanced individual training with the Army Clerical School.

Harold F. Gladding is teaching this year at Longfellow Intermediate School of Fairfax County, McLean.

John J. Hughes, Jr., is a sales trainee with the Royal McBee Corporation in Richmond.

James R. Keller will be associated with the firm of H. S. Keller, Jr. and Son in Bloomburg, Penn., after training in the U. S. Army Reserve.

Married: Carl Frederick Langley, Jr. to Kathryn Virginia Gill.

Kenichi Sugahara is attending graduate school at the University of Virginia.

DAVIS AWARDED ROTARY FOUNDATION FELLOWSHIP

John E. Davis, 60, has been awarded a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for advanced study abroad during the current school year. Davis, whose home is in Norfolk, will study philosophy of religion at the Ruchilson Baptist Seminary in Zurich, Switzerland.

Davis is one of 134 outstanding graduates from thirty-two countries who were selected for Rotary International grants this year. His application was sponsored by the Rotary Club of Norfolk.

While a student at Richmond College, Davis was a member of Tau Kappa Alpha fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, and was elected to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Davis is preparing for a career in the ministry.

Ryland D. Crews, pastor of Wilderness and Flat Run Baptist Churches in Spotsylvania County, was ordained June 17 in Central Baptist Church, Chestertown, Md.

William Pelligragno is teaching this year at New Brunswick High School, New Brunswick, N. J. He was married August 19 to Miss Wanda Gayle Blackwood.

Married: Frank Thomas Hanenkrat to Miss Linda Leigh Taylor in August.

Married: David Oakley Crookshanks of Covington to Miss Rebecca Ann Leber of Richmond, August 6.

Robert E. Haney has been selected as one of 160 young Americans to be assigned to East African secondary schools to teach. Those selected for the program which is sponsored by the International Cooperation Administration will be assigned to schools in Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda.

Gordon Prior has begun studies at the dental school of the Medical College of Virginia. Prior's parents, who came from England to see their son's graduation in August, have decided to make Richmond their permanent home.

Thomas S. Word, Jr., recipient of the 1960-61 Lawyers Title Award, has been accepted as an associate by the Richmond law firm of McGuire, Eggletston, Bocock, and Wood, Word, who graduated from the T. C. Williams School of Law with an average higher than any student in the last 13 years, received the award which is presented annually to students who have demonstrated ability in the field of real property law. [17]
Years ago when there was only a relatively few students in Richmond College on the old campus Dr. F. W. Boatwright, whose duties were also those of president, was accustomed to record grades by hand.

Finally the chore was taken over by the secretary to the dean, for many years, Helen Monsell. Actually her title was “assistant registrar and secretary to the dean” and it bothered her, in her more sober moments, that she should be the assistant to a non-existent person.

Finally she was elevated to registrar and moved “down the hall” from Dean Pinchbeck. With the help of an assistant, later two assistants, she recorded grades, issued transcripts, and did a thousand and one things graciously and well.

Now the magic word is UNIVAC, a series of machines that do all the recording chores so quickly, so expertly that, as one student said, “when I flunk out that darned machine will know it before I do.”

Most of the machine’s chores are happier ones than informing saddened parents that Willie has flunked out. The machine not only records grades but also automatically totes up each student’s credits and quality credits, and keeps a record of such vital statistics as his age, religious preference, fraternal affiliation, and whether or not he prefers blondes over brunettes.

The last named attribute is indignantly denied by Thomas N. Pollard, ’53, who as registrar and director of admissions rides herd on the mechanical mules. “UNIVAC,” he said, with dignity, “is Remington Rand’s name for its data processing system. It will be of untold value to the deans, the directors of admission, and faculty advisers, as well as the students.

“The system has been especially designed to increase the effectiveness of the college’s guidance program. Each student will know exactly where he stands in his academic career, semester by semester. Because the information will be released faster to all those concerned with counseling the student, he will become aware of his weaker areas in time to correct the deficiencies.”

Although he and his staff are in the process of hunting down and stomping upon several “bugs” which have cropped up in the machinery, he is confident that the system will be working flawlessly (well, almost flawlessly) when the time comes to issue grades in November.

He said the work preliminary to the issuing of grades which used to take seven weeks of work by 3½ clerical workers can now be done by the mechanical marvel in a half day.

Three days after all the grades are in, the glad news should be in the hands of Willie’s parents.

HAL BONNEY HEADS TIDEWATER ACADEMY

Hal J. Bonney, Jr., ’51, has been appointed the superintendent of Tidewater Academy, Norfolk. An instructor for ten years at Norview High School, Bonney is a specialist in the fields of history and government.

A native of Richmond, Bonney was one of the founders of Tidewater Academy. He will continue to teach classes in addition to his duties of superintendent.

W. I. McKendree, president of the Tidewater Education Foundation, Inc., in announcing Bonney’s appointment, said, “Mr. Bonney . . . has caused the students of this community to become inspired by . . . great Americans that they might be better enabled to hold high the torch of freedom.”

The New Session

(Continued from page 3)

has become “easy does it” rather than do it the “hard way.”

At the local level, he said, persons are looking to the state capital for a handout, and at the state level persons are looking to Washington, with hands outstretched.

Noting the grave international situation, Dr. Williams said the present generation’s chief task is to “prevent the liquidation of the human race.”

He seemed to see a far-reaching “community-mindedness” large enough to embrace the entire world. He cited a recent interrogation of 60,000 persons in one New Jersey congressional district, 77 per cent of whom believed that “a disarrangement agreement based on rules of law, backed by a world court and enforced by legally controlled international armed forces, should be concluded.”

Substantially the same number agreed, he added, that “our federal form of government, through which fifty sovereign states live together in peace, provides an example of a well-tested system which the peoples of the world might follow by delegating to a strengthened United Nations constitutionally limited powers for enforcement of worldwide disarmament and peaceful settlement of international disputes.”

In an academic environment where there is not likely to be full agreement on any proposition, there was startling unanimity of opinion at one point. This year’s freshman class is the best. Deans of the undergraduate schools had made the forecast. After a few weeks of meeting with the newcomers in the classrooms, the faculty was willing to endorse this appraisal.

[18]
1992 Secretary
Mrs. CLARK MOORE BROWN (Margaret Lazenby)
Box 14
Richlands, Va.

All of you who didn’t return for our 35th reunion missed a lot of fun. We went to Louise Mattern Coleman’s house on Friday evening and had a good old talk fest. Louise Fry Galvin, Elizabeth Salle, Dorothy Campbell, Mary Virginia Daughtrey, Lila Crenshaw, Annie Renée Powell Sage and I were there. As you observe Annie Renée and I were the only ones away from Richmond who came.

We spent most of the evening reading the letters we had received from those of you who couldn’t come and we really did enjoy that. You’ve no idea how wonderful it is to hear what so many of you are doing, especially some from whom we haven’t heard for many years.

Besides the ones I mentioned in the summer Bulletin we had letters from Nelda Anderson Cotton, Margaret Miller Smith, Mary Ellenor Darden, Frances Bell Barnes, Margaret Harlan Hilton, Aurelia Gill Nicholls, Eliza Grimsley Miller Reams and Margaretue Roper Tuggle. Marguerite sent snapshots of her grandchildren and we really enjoyed those.

Sorry we didn’t hear from all of you. I hope you will let us know what you are doing before time for another Bulletin comes around.

I almost forgot to mention the rest of the festivities! At the alumnae luncheon on Saturday Annie Renée modelled a dress in style during the war, complete with twirling string of beads. There were others in costumes of other decades—it was a scream!

1928 Secretary
Miss. Louis S. CAMER (Louise Massey)
210 College Circle
Staunton, Virginia

Ann Trent Gaines and husband, Bill, who live in Bronxville, New York, stopped by to see me in June. They were on their way to Greenbrier, West Virginia, where their twin daughters were participants in the “Crowning of the Queen of Greenbrier.” Ann had sent me a picture of herself and the girls who are both blondes and very attractive, so I was well prepared when Ann walked in looking not much older than she did during our college days. We had much to talk about because Bill is related to the Richmond College Gaines and graduated from Richmond College himself. Their son, Dick, attended Washington and Lee, did his army stint, and is now completing his work at Columbia University.

Another one of our class whom we should be proud is Virginia Pleasant Robertson. Mrs. L. P. Robertson, Jr. of Walnut Creek, California, whom we knew was in the army, wrote to the Daily Dispatch of June 1, with her daughter, Mary Lou, a June graduate. Virginia was wearing a dress of the ’28 era which did not look very different from the one Mary Lou was wearing.

Mable Bradner Davis, Mrs. J. Corbett Davis, who lives in Danville, wrote an interesting letter. Mable is now a widow, but is quite busy with nieces and nephews and an interesting teaching job involving counseling and guidance work at George Washington High School, in Danville.

Elmona Hubbard Robinson wrote that she had her annual visit to Virginia to see her family, and was surprised to be going back to teaching. She will be at Chester High School, near Goshen, New York, and will have a part-time job teaching advanced Latin and working in the school library.

In June there was a wedding invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gaskins in Spartanburg, S.C. Sarah Caud Gaskins and Lee's son, Lee Jr., married Patricia Ann Curry in Columbus, Georgia, on June 10.

Congratulations to Cecilia Hunt Wright's daughter, Louise, who graduated in June from the Georgia State College at Valdosta.

My family, husband Louis and son, William, who returned to V.M.I. for his third year, had a delightful visit with the W.A. Carpenters of Lynchburg at the end of the summer. Hazel Anderson Carpenter and husband, Aubrey, have a son, another Bill, who will be a sophomore at Lynchburg College this fall. They have a beautiful summer place on the James River, and Hazel and Aubrey were delightful hosts.

They are only about two miles from town, close enough for Aubrey to lunch at home, but it seems to be miles from human habitation.

Best wishes to all. Let me hear from you.

1929 Secretary

MRS. HAMPTON H. WYATT (Clare Johnson)

4801 Rodney Rd.

Richmond, Virginia

Frances Schofield, who teaches graduate work at the University of Tennessee, and does research on the nutrition of preadolescent children, was in Richmond in June. She also visited in Newport News, went to see Garland January Con, who teaches in High School. Garland's oldest son is married, has a son, and is an intern at Cornell's School of Medicine. Her youngest son is a pre-college student at the University of Virginia. Elizabeth Hale is at home in South Boston after four years of missionary work in Alors Star, Malaya. She called me when she was speaking at one of the local churches.

Mary Stevens Jones and her sister flew to Memphis this spring, were met by friends with whom they toured Alabama, Mississippi, and New Orleans, and were unable to line up a column of Englishmen. All of her work will have much to write about now.

Mary and "Jug" Butterworth had a delightful fishing trip into Canada this summer. Their daughter "Penny," a graduate of Collegiate, is now a freshman at Randolph-Macon.

Nancy Simpson, Violet's daughter, a recent graduate of Mary Baldwin, is working with The Williamsburg Foundation.

The Yeamans took a late summer trip out west, stopping in New Mexico to see Ann Carol and family. "Tommy" is a freshman at the University of Richmond.

"Jimmie" and Guy Mattox, with their daughter, Ione, travelled up through parts of Canada, New England, New York in August after Marilla's son was born.

Charlotte Marshall Farmer's son, David, is engaged to be married.

News from the rest of you would be most welcome.

1930 Secretary

MRS. JOHN E. MILLER

(Priscilla Kirkpatrick)

174 Mt. Ida St., Newton, Mass.

Fred and Alice Richardson Connell comes the news that young Dick and Linda moved in May to a house two blocks from her. Alice also wrote that Katherine Tyler Elliott's son was married in August.

Virginia Prince Shinnick's daughter, Peggy, was elected last spring to membership in Pi Epsilon Mu, the scholastic honor society at Hollins College. Peggy is now President of the Student Government Association of Hollins College. Frances Willis Overton's son, Eugene, graduated from Jefferson High School in June. He received the first place citizenship award from the Richmond Junior Chamber of Commerce. Else McClintic, who has been faculty sponsor of the John Marshall High School Cadet Corps, was a guest of honor at the annual dinner meeting in April of the Corps' Alumni Association. Else received a certificate from the group and a book of letters of appreciation from past first captains of the corps since 1924 and the past presidents of the alumni association.

A note from Lina Light arrived just too late for the last Bulletin. Her nephew, Jim, graduated from Exeter Academy and goes to the University of North Carolina this fall. Janet, her niece, completed three years at Westhampton and will spend her fourth year at the College of William and Mary, studying Medical Technology. Lina's father died in October, 1960, after a long illness. At this late date I should like to express to her the sincere sympathy of all of us.

Virginia Saunders Thomas attended the lunch of the Southwest Virginia Club in May. Her son, Tommy, flew to Paris late in the spring and toured France, Switzerland, Germany, and Italy. Before returning home, he visited his cousin in London who was studying there on a fellowship. Virginia and Bill toured eastern Canada in July, stopping in Ottawa, Montreal, and Quebec. On the way south they spent several days in Falmouth on Cape Cod so John and I drove down and stayed at the hotel with them part of the time. Before returning to Pulaski, they spent a few days in New York and visited their granddaughter in Richmond.

1931 Secretary

MRS. TUCKER HABBOCK (Virginia Beck)

Dinwiddie, Virginia

Margaret (Leaky) Leake is the new Vice President of the Alumnae Association. Congratulations! So I've fallen heir to this job. Anyhow, I go on to give the Dinwiddie, Virginia (as always) a widow—no kids—no news—so dull. I travel a bit—been to Japan—Europe—and have just come back from Mexico—so no news in the summer issue—sorry.

We had 17 of '31 back for our 30th reunion: Johnnie Adams Irby, Carolina Beattie (looking younger than at school), Me—Virginia Beck Hargrove, Page Cauthorne Spellman (shinner than ever), Louise Cooper (lovelier than lavender), Lucie Francis Samuel (fresh as a daisy), Emily Gray (chic), Hattie Habel Mosher (with the charm and good will). Need I mention the Vice President again? Guess I'd better—trim—slim—and a nice white (Indian). Selma Rothschild Mann and I had cameras but nothing worked and if they come out we'll send them. Laura Thorndihill presided at the Executive Motel with all the aplomb of a maharajah. Anne Jones Bergholz had helped out with all the details of our gathering. Amelia Ullman had lunch with us but couldn't stay for dinner. Louise Sanford breezed in and what with all she does for the Latin (Romans) and the dear old education she brings it. Alice Pace Locky brought news of Phil and of her (Allene's) budding young scientist son.

Well, that ends the reunion party so here's what is happening with those who couldn't make it. Lauretta Taylor Sullivan was busy writing her thesis on reading skills. She has 2 grandchildren. Remember she won the baby cup.

Phil Johnson Pope's youngest son became a teenager on June 1st. He graduated on June 10 at St. Andrews. Phil had fractured her back while gardening.

Our sympathy goes to Lucie Taylor Long on the loss of her husband some time ago. Our best wishes go to one of our own daughters who was recently married.

Our sympathy also goes to Ida Scott Wright on the loss of her husband last winter. Scotty's daughter is back in college and lives near her. Tina's three daughters are walking off with honors and Tina stays busy with them and her teaching.

Louise Schmidt Newcomb was in Richmond in July. She spent her winter in Paris but is back in Boston now.

I had a three weeks' trip to Mexico and Acapulco this summer and had fun. Now all of you gals—let's hear from you.
THELMA PRUDEN STANTON, '29, Head of foreign language department of Francis C. Hammond High School, Alexandria, Virginia

I was a member of a group of 52 Spanish teachers from the United States selected to attend the Instituto de Espanol offered under National Defense Education Act at the University of Puerto Rico. All of us had to have attended a first level institute, of which there are many each summer. However, since this was the only one of its kind and the second year of its existence, I consider myself very lucky.

School closed on June 15th. On the 15th Kemp and I started on our trip to Miami where we were leaving the car. For a week we were sightseeing or visiting, going as far as Key West. On Saturday 23rd we flew to San Juan. Since Kemp had had an operation in the spring and could not work, he accepted the invitation of an American friend to spend the seven weeks with him and his family in Bayamon, about seven miles from me.

The University of Puerto Rico is in Rio Piedras, and I lived in the general area. For seven weeks we were lodged with native families with whom we could speak only Spanish. My charming family was just three years out of Madrid. We not only had the advantage of having wonderful native professors, but could participate in the cultural offerings presented for the students of the regular summer school. We had swimming privileges at the wonderful pool and beach of LaConcha Hotel, were taken on various sightseeing trips through old San Juan and the surrounding areas, including the beautiful beaches and the famous rain mountain, El Yunque. One weekend we had a bus trip which encircled the island, visiting such cities as Salinas, Ponce, Mayaguez, and many more. Another weekend we flew to St. Thomas Island in the Virgin Isles.

Our classes included linguistics, phonetics, culture and history of Latin America (including literature), audio-visual aids, laboratory methods, pedagogy, and a demonstration class in methods and presentation.

I was so friendly and helpful, a charming people they are. The traffic is terrific. I would never attempt to drive there! The flowers and trees are too beautiful for words. I ran out of vocabulary the first week. The fruits are excellent, but there is a lack of vegetables grown locally.

We arrived back in Miami August 12th. After a few days there we took two weeks driving home via the Gulf coast on up to Rome, Georgia, where we spent several days with Elizabeth Cox and family, (thoroughly enjoying a sidetrip to Lookout Mountain and Rock City). Among others, both family and friends, we spent a night with Margaret Minnick (Daughtrey) '27, who had lost her mother just before our departure. We arrived back home August 25. School started 31st, and we are still pulling weeds, cutting grass, unpacking, writing thank you’s, housecleaning, dragging things out of the attic that I had stored away when we rented.

Evelyn Gardner Ward spent the weekend with me and when all of us got together we truly had "old home week." Yes, we even brought up the subject of our 30th reunion, which, let us remind you, will be in June, 1962. You will hear more about this later, but keep that date free for Westhampton.
Marion West attended a Latin conference in Ohio before making a trip to Virginia Beach with her mother and Archie.

Etta Whitehead Nachman with her family had a long, but enjoyable motor trip to Nova Scotia in July.

Jane Reynolds and John Holt Merchant were married in June. Jane's new address is 447 N. Grant Avenue, Manassas. They attended the Banquet convention in St. Louis. Later they continued their trip to the coast for Jack to lecture at Patent Law meetings. He is the Director of Trademarks Operation in the U. S. Patent Office.

Marilda made a trip to Europe this summer and so was unable to get to Virginia as usual. As she was made principal of a school in Atlanta last year, her winter was unusually busy.

What have you been doing?

1934 Secretary
Mrs. R. van Heveln (Frances Lundin)
3055 Midlothian Pike
Richmond 24, Virginia

Those of our class present at the June homecoming were Ann Wood, Frances Gee, Hazel Hemmings Coleman, Virginia McIntosh Puckett, and Virginia Watkins Ellenberg.

During June Helen Hulcher attended the National Education Association convention in Atlantic City.

Virginia and Lloyd Ellenberg returned recently from Tennessee where they visited relatives.

Erma Gay Cecil is recuperating gradually from a lengthy illness which kept her in Richmond Memorial Hospital for several weeks.

The trip along the inland waterways was enjoyed again by Grace Wells and family. This time they continued down to Florida. Grace's son, Taylor, has begun his freshman year at VPI in Blacksburg.

Amye Hill's oldest son, Tim, has transferred to the University of Richmond as a junior. Tucker has entered William and Mary. Amye has been very busy painting, and also has charge of the Tuckahoe Woman's Club art exhibits.

Virginia Puckett's oldest daughters have attended summer school at Westhampton; these extra courses will enable them to finish college in three years. Janet will receive her degree from Meredith next June.

Hazel Coleman's daughter Pat is a freshman at Westhampton. Hazel visited Frances Lumsdon Gwynn in Greenville, North Carolina during the summer.

Frances Folkes Duncan's daughter, Barbara Blinn, has transferred to Westhampton. Frances has moved south to the following address: 401 North Hibiscus Drive, Miami Beach, Florida.

Please send in your news, especially you who live out of town. We are all interested and want to hear from you.

1935 Secretary
Mrs. C. M. Tatum (Gladys T. Smith)
336 Lexington Road
Richmond 26, Virginia

Our sympathy is extended to Laura May Thomasson Leitch in the loss of her mother and to Marian Allport Foley in the loss of her father.

Gertrude Lewis has been promoted to a responsible position in her field—education.

Betsy Cannon Kimball visited Mary Mills Freeman when her son was a groomsman in the wedding of Dot Chevning's niece and Margaret Owens Young's son. Betsy's son graduated from the University of Virginia with honors and received a scholarship to the Law School.

Mary Mills Freeman has two sons in college this fall, one at the University of Virginia and another at W & L. Mary now has a grand-daughter, Beth.

Connie Vaden Moore and her son, John, visited his paternal grandparents in Indiana and then vacationed in Canada and New England. Connie is taking a guidance course at the University of Richmond graduate school.

Helen Whitten Adams' son entered William and Mary; Jackie Johnston Gilmore's son returned to VPI for his second year; and Lola Williams Pierce's son to Peabody in Baltimore.

Bev Bates visited Tess Carter Hawkins in Roanoke. Tess' daughter, who was named after Bev, was married during the summer.

Margaret Taylor Gallaway returned to her teaching position at Thomas Jefferson High School after a summer in Kentucky.

A friend of mine talked with Estelle Veezy Jones while in Los Angeles, and Estelle was doing what would be expected of her—looking after the children of a neighbor who had to be hospitalized.

1936 Secretary
Mrs. Robert Fox (Kitty Ellis)
Aylott, Virginia

Our twenty-fifth reunion was a great success and certainly fun. We had twenty-one to attend the dinner on Friday evening. Esther Walsh Dutton was our hostess.

I received letters from many of our group who could not be on hand for the festivities. Betty Kelley Conley wrote that she took a teaching position this year and after returning to college for additional credits.

Alice Pugh Bartz is librarian in a Junior High School. Virginia Kirk Lennox is also teaching. Helen Falls is a professor in the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and is the author of a book.

Our group was particularly delighted to welcome Booda Gregory Thorpe back to Virginia. She is now living at 2420 Thoroughgood Drive, Bayside, Virginia.

Bobby Brock Clevenger and Martha Cosby drove down from Arlington. Monroe Bowers came from Baltimore and Virginia Ingram and Lucy Blackwell Alexander from Kensington, Maryland. Louise Callison, another of our college professors, drove down from Philippi, West Virginia.

The years haven't left any noticeable traces on these 36'ers. They are remarkable girls. Here's to 1966.

1937 Secretary
Mrs. Carl W. Meador (Margaret Mitchell)
214 Burris Road
Richmond, Virginia

The summer months have brought sadness to Liz Angle and Betty Briel. May we extend our deepest sympathy to Liz, who lost her mother, and to Betty in the loss of her only brother.

On August 26th the wedding of Patsy Chevning (daughter of Louise and Pat) to William Angle Young, Jr. (son of another alumnus, Margaret Owen Young) was the joyful scene of quite a large Westhampton gathering. It was such a lovely wedding, such a handsome and radiant couple, and such a delightful reception, that we were thrilled with Nancy and Tom Petri-grew, Merle and Gene Caldwell, Ruth and Elwood Snead (down from Baltimore), Miss Keller, Miss Turnbull, and Miss Wright (to mention a few). They are living in an apartment in Richmond while Patsy is completing her senior year at Westhampton and Bill is attending T. C. Williams Law School.

Carl and I should have aged considerably this summer since becoming grandparents in May, but I'm afraid that it has only proved what I've always heard. It is the easiest way to love and lose a baby—and the only way the Meadors could have a boy. Our daughter, Barbara and her husband, an ensign in naval aviation, have an adorable boy, Barry Neale Dowell, born May 4 in Pensacola. After a wonderful two weeks' leave and visit with us in June they were transferred to the base at Sanford, Florida and hope to remain Floridians while in service.

Grace Elliott Olsen writes that she and Humphrey made ten days of refresher courses at the 1961 American Library Association Meetings in Cleveland in July.

It would be quite shocking to suddenly hear from some of you out-of-towners, but please let me know what you've been doing. Start giving thought to June, 1962, when our "twenty-fifth" is coming up, even though we're only thirty-nine!

1938 Secretary
Mrs. Bert Burchill
6709 Kensington Ave.
Richmond 26, Va.

The Class of 1938 has extended sympathy to the family of Adele Maxie Riddick who passed away at a Richmond hospital on September 4, 1961. Adele is survived by her daughter, Sharon Ann Riddick; two sisters, Miss Burnelle Maxie and Mrs. E. B. Beirne; her brother, Clarence S. Maxie, all of Richmond.
1939 Secretary
Mrs. Kenneth D. Angus, Jr. (Evelyn Hazard)
1512 Wilmington Ave.
Richmond, Virginia

Two of our number have joined the ranks of teachers. Virginia Brit Brit Austin is teaching mathematics at Brookland Junior High School in Henrico County. Dot Shell Wood is teaching fourth grade at Collegiate School.

Paula Smith Mackey and her family enjoyed a week's vacation in New York.

Pat Walford said she had the most wonderful vacation. She attended a library convention in San Francisco and then went on to Hawaii for a tour.

I had two nice trips with Ken this summer. We went to Los Angeles for a few days. Travel by jet, as Pat says, is wonderful. Then we drove up to Wisconsin—business and pleasure.

Scout Campbell Jacob's son, Mac, enters the University of Virginia as a freshman this year.

Christine Duling Sponsler's daughter, Kristin, is entering Westhampton this year. I'm sure she'll all follow her career with interest.

1940 Secretary
Mrs. Herbet L. Holloway
(Constance Atkinson)
6801 S. Cromwell Ave.
Richmond, Va.

Everyone is getting organized for the new fall season and summer will soon be far behind. However, Lucy Baird and Sadie Sykes Williams are still remembering their exciting trips to Europe. Lucy spent four weeks traveling by bus through eight countries. She stayed in Italy about a week.

Sadie and her sister flew over and back by jet, staying five days in the Scottish Highlands and visiting various places such as Paris, Copenhagen, Rome, Inverness, and Stockholm. She saw Princess Margaret on her last personal appearance and the Pope in Rome. In Stockholm they were entertained in the summer family home of Alfred Nobel by his nephew.

Many of the girls are working in various schools. Emma Lou Parsons Mallory is doing substitute work for the fourth grade at Crestview Elementary and Margaret Brinson Reed and family are settled in Ashland, Virginia and she is teaching in the school there.

Maude Smith Jurgens has been engaged in a different occupation this year. This year she has two daughters in college, the oldest in her second year at Westminster College and another entering Madison College.

Ebel O'Brien Haxton's son will be a freshman this term at Chapel Hill.

Evelyn Smoak Lewter's brother, who you remember was the lone survivor of a B47 jet explosion over Little Rock, Arkansas in the spring of 1960, recently vacationed here. Evelyn reports he is doing fine and is now awaiting plastic surgery.

I received a note from Anne Ellis Harrison, telling me about her vacation with George and her two children at Ocean City, Md. They also stopped in Richmond overnight but I did not get to see them.

Eleanor Parsons Fish and family had a grand time this summer visiting in the High Sierras.

1941 Secretary
Mrs. R. Stuart Grizzard (Barbara Eckles)
2329 Farrand Drive
Richmond 1, Virginia

Happy Fall to you all! This is my second effort at rounding up the news: through some error Mayne was charged with our last column, but she is not to be held responsible therefor. Our few funds are deposited in a new account and I'm the one panning to hear from you. Won't you help by seeing that I learn whatever you know that we all should know?

Alee Hardaway Prince came through her hospital experience "beautifully" and then with her family spent two months at Virginia Beach. She, David and Molly saw Anna Marie Rue Stringfield and her girls while there. Rue's husband is taking therapy in Mt. Alto Hospital; she appeared pleased with his progress.

The Princess visited Edith Burfoot Lovig and her husband, Larry, at the Naval Air Station in Norfolk, and also entertained them at the Cavalier. Alee reports that the Lovig sons—Larry, who recently completed his plebe year at Annapolis, and Eric, 12—are both brilliant and gentlemen of the old school.

Josephine Mosier Flexner was also holidaying at Virginia Beach from her home in Bronxville, N. Y., with her husband and children.

Jane Huffman Waite took a Caribbean Cruise and wrote "Wednesday we spoke French (?) in Martinique, Saturday it was Dutch (?) in Curacao and today (Monday) it's Spanish in Panama." Her parents were also on the cruise, as were Caroline Doyle Saunders and her husband.

Kitty Crawford Lindsay, after a wondrously happy year in Hawaii, where son Robbie grew strong after rheumatic fever and she took graduate work in philosophy and other subjects—"far and away the most mind-stretching experience I've had in years"—flew back to San Francisco in June. During the summer they toured the states in a marvelous Volkswagen Camper, reaching Richmond in August. Now back in Setauket, Long Island, she is spending this year writing a book.

Virginia Omohundro Purcell had a trip to California.

Elizabeth "Itz" Holden Slipher, with Ed and all six youngsters, drove to Chicago. She declares she's very glad to be back in Richmond after all those turnpikes! Our class extends loving sympathy to "Itz," whose father died in the late summer.

Saratayne Payne Arkedis, George and the children, visited Nassau and then spent some time with her parents in Ashville, N. C.

Mary Alice Smith Tillotson and her family visited her mother in Richmond during the summer.

Frazier Drumwright Catron, Stuart and their daughter went to Canada, stopping at the Chateau Frontenac.

Virginia "Teensy" Garrett Buckler and her husband have returned from Germany and are temporarily in Blackstone. He is to be stationed in California.

Carolyn Gary Hugo, with Larry and their children, spent last year in San Francisco; he has been with the repertory company there, due to remain until this fall. Carolyn was in Richmond in June and then returned to Long Island for the summer.

Stuart and I, with our twins and small one, touched briefly fourteen states and the District of Columbia. Beginning with a visit to kin in Bristol, Tennessee, we motored northward for a view of New England. Rapid—educational—unforgettable!

Ann Phillips Bonifant is taking art classes at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, developing further the talent we remember.

Constance Powell Luttrell is the new president of the Tidewater Alumnae Club.

Now, Everybody, keep on doing those deeds of interest and importance—and communicate!

1942 Secretary
Mrs. G. E. Massix 3rd (Jaye Maire)
The Grove
Hanover, Virginia

Jane Blake Longest writes with much enthusiasm about her adopted son who is three. Previously she had been teaching Biology and Spanish at Gloucester High School.

Betty Ann Perzinger Shackleford writes that George is vice president of Travelers Insurance Company. They are living in West Hartford, Conn. She sent a picture of the family—Betty Ann looks as she always did in college, but George has put on a great deal of weight.

Pat Abernathy Riley writes that her mother has had a stroke and is paralyzed. However, she hopes to be at the reunion.

Dorothy Quinn Keeling has 5 children ranging in age from 16 to 4 years of age. She's very busy in the Medical Auxiliary and, of course, Woman's Club work.

I also heard from Edne Flanagan Higginbotham and Mildred Slavin who are both planning to be at the reunion.

Lila Wicker writes that she is writing children's books—three to date. She says she will probably not get to the reunion because she and Ed hope to go to the Seattle Fair and then up to Alaska. She writes that she missed a luncheon last spring that Margaret Brittingham (41) Curtis gave for all Westminster Alumnae in the Bay area. This summer she and her husband spent two weeks on a trip through Utah, Wyoming, Montana and Canada to Lake Louise while the children went to camp.

Gene Woodfin Steussy is now in New Castle.

MILK
adds years to your life ... and LIFE to your years! ENJOY Virgin-ia Dairy Milk every day!

EL 5-2838
VIRGINIA DAIRY
DELICIOUS IN THE BARGAIN!
Indiana. She has three children—Carolyn 8; Calvin, Jr., 7; Helen 5.

I also received a nice note from Peggy Vicars who has quite a variety of activities, plus three children—Stephen, 12; Ellen, 9; Susan, 4.

Jean Hood Redford lost her father some months ago. On behalf of the class, please accept our belated sympathy.

Virginia Mayo Dalby lost her husband in the spring and our sympathy is extended to her also in her loss.

Sally Gonzalez Seavers, after teaching for two years, decided to go back to the type writer and is now working at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts and loves it!!

Those of you who have not answered my letter, please do so. We have no other really good way to know what you are doing and where you are now.

You see at Reunion in the spring.

1943 Secretary
MRS. R. M. HAWTHAW (“Pepper” Gardner)
8518 Julian Road
Richmond, Va.

There seems to be a dull year for the gals of ’43 and this one is no exception. One of the most exciting things to me was having nine of us at the Alumnae Day lunch in June. With the exception of our fifteen reunion I don’t believe I’ve seen as many of our class together in years and we did have fun!

Anne Byrd Tucker Moore was on her way to Europe with her 17-year-old Billy for a two and a half months stay. Her husband, Don, was to join them the final month. Anne Byrd was planning to work on her thesis for that Ph.D.

Georgie Simpson, too, travelled afar this summer. A card from Alaska: “Now I know how a cherry in an old-fashioned feel after sitting in a small boat among the icebergs at the foot of this ice mass eating lunch today. Also saw a whale blowing his spout as we sailed down the sound.” Bob and I hope we can invigorate Georgie down for a week-end visit this fall.

Bette Hogan Rogers and Vergil had their first girl to go with their three boys last Feb. 12. The baby’s name is Michelle Lizbeth and they call her “Miss Liz.” The boys are six, five, and twenty months so you can obviously see that Bette has her time slightly full.

In July I received a phone call from Ann Arwood Smith who was in Richmond for a few days visiting with her seven children. I was distress to learn that Ann’s husband had died last Nov. from a heart attack at the age of 38. Ann and the children were on an extended trip from their home in Tampa, Florida, visiting relatives and seeing some of the country. From Richmond she planned to go to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Salt Lake City, Yellowstone, and Albuquerque. Her oldest, Bobby, 16, was helping with the driving while Pat (14), Mike (13), and Rita (4) helped look after the twins (2½) Jimmy and Johnny, and one year old Todd.

Puff Humbert and Joni Black both had Canadian tours. Puff and Dick with their two girls and Mrs. Poteat toured eastern Canada and Nova Scotia camping out part of the time. Joni and her husband, international, Quebec and N.Y. state for two weeks.

Cozy had a nice visit with Jean Price Gausby, her husband, Donald, and their two boys this summer. The Gausby’s were in town visiting Jean’s family and came out for the day. They live in New Rochelle, N.Y. where Donald is an Episcopal minister.

When I talked to Dolly Dorsey Garwood she was in bed with an inner ear infection that had left her equilibrium upset. Dave was home from Alaska for a week in July and expects to be gone for five more months. Max Williams Rogers was in Texas during battle with Carla during the big Storm. It wasn’t exactly planned that way since she and her sister were driving her nephew down to Austin to college.

Hartrett Lees Goodman is Treasurer of the Woman’s Auxiliary of the Bulletin for the Richmond Chapter of the National Council of Jewish Women. See, you can tell what career may open after you take an apprenticeship as class Secretary! The Richmond papers carried a fine tribute to Jean Bowers McCannon’s father’s 75th birthday two weeks ago. To Jean we would all send our sympathy.

Summer for the Hawthaways involved two beach week-ends (one with and one without children). The Hawthaways went to Seneca Falls in the mountains, visits with Grandparents, and the first overnight camping experience for one of ours when Bobby (13) went to a camp in N.C. for three weeks. Four of us were on one of the Dogwood Dell children’s plays in July, “The Pied Piper of Hamlin.” The twins were rats and later townchildren. I was the mayor’s wife, and Ricky (10) had the lead as Dirk, the little lame boy. It was all very exciting and lots of fun. Carolyn Babb Heffin and Bill spent Labor Day week-end with us with their Billy and David. Soon after you read this it will be Christmas time and I can think of no happier way for you to help me celebrate than by dropping me a card with news of you and yours. Please do!

I can’t close without mentioning the Alumnae Fund and our last big push for the swimming pool. I haven’t seen Leslie’s figures yet, but I’m hoping we made our goal last year again. If we did 16 of you may take bows for your part. To those let me say a personal thank you, for that is several more than we have had in many years. We also had some new contributors. All of this is very fine, but still there are only 16 of our listed 55 contributing, so, fellows, gals of ’43, and let’s make this a bigger and better year. Do hope you’ll let me hear from you at Christmas.

1944 Secretary
MRS. K. L. MAXWELL (Ellen Mercer Clark)
1026 South Fancher Ave.
Mt. Pleasant, Michigan

Ann Thurston Filer and Bob had a busy summer moving into Bob’s new office building and spending ten days in New York and Boston. Ann spent some time in College Hills and hoped to be settled before September and the beginning of the school year.

Dee Dee and Bill Kirk took their family to Florida for two weeks.

Eleanor and her family went through Richmond on their way to Connecticut to visit her brother. They visited the Goode’s on their way up and had dinner with the Kirks on their return.

Juanita Tiller Elmoquist was teaching a few hours a day at home with individual students this summer. She will teach at Collegegate again this year but this time doing special problems for various levels instead of teaching the fifth grade.

Keith and I had the usual summer; six weeks while he directed summer clinics, then a trip to Indiana and Virginia and back through Canada; plus buying a new house and moving. Note the address change, and please send me news of your summer and fall activities.

1945 Secretary
MRS. W. M. PACE (Wanda Walton)
113 Willowy Drive
Manakin, Virginia

We’ll start with something really big. Ann and J. B. Jackson have a new son, William Minor, born June 4, weighing in at 7 lb. 9 oz.

Another baby has been welcomed into the world. Ruth Anne and Jamie Lynch have a new daughter named Virginia. Besides a new daughter, they have a new home at 4597 Blinding Dr., Memphis 18, Tenn. Virginia was born on their son George’s birthday.

Gin Pitk Fridell reports that Rusty and Mac went to Camp Virginia this summer leaving Gin to satellite around in the house with Winn. Right now Gin is substitute teaching at Collegegate.

Good news to Richmonders! Liz and Howard Cone are back in town and are as happy to be here as we are to have them, I’m sure. They live at 606 Chandelier Circle, phone 282-9863. Liz just joined the choir at St. Stephen’s and is elated. They went to Nag’s Head N. C. on the tobacco market with Howard, and to Williamsport visiting their summer.

Ann Clark Howe and her two children spent a few days here visiting Ann Jackson while Ann Howe’s husband was in New York doing research classes.

Peggy Clarke Huber has had a bit of illness in her family this summer but when I talked to her she was getting ready to go on vacation at Ocean View and all was well. Peggy will be the new class secretary. We’ll be looking forward to reading her news soon.

Connie Sutton Richards visited friends in Wilmington and Philadelphia this summer.

Hollie Garber Kenyon is in charge of the West End for Unitel Givers this fall. Thus, plus being Secretary of her Sunday School at Second Presbyterian, should keep her out of trouble for a while.

Jane Wray Bristow McDorman and her family vacationed on the river this summer. Jane Wray is teaching at Westminster again this year. Their little boy, Addison (4 yrs.) was bitten by a snake and needed 8 stitches on his face. It was a scare but he’s fine. George is in Pa. at teletype school for 4 weeks.

Mariam Waddill Jones was here for a visit this summer.

Anne Glazebrook Tompkins and family spent time at the river, a week-end in Washington, and many cups of tea in Va. where Langhorn’s father is ill. She’s busy with Brownies, church work and children. Sounds familiar.

This summer I felt a strong urge to visit Lib Weaver Martin (we were room-mates) so Warren gave me the trip for my birthday. I flew down Monday, spent Tuesday and flew back Wednesday. It was a “flying” trip but we packed a lot of fun. Lib’s children are charming; Lester Jr. is 8 and Sam is 4. She has a beautiful yard and rose garden. Those of you who have met Lester will remember his easy friendliness and good looks. This past spring he was busy in Raleigh for the legislature was in session. Lib spent part of each week there. Thanks to Grandmother taking the boys. On top of the legislature, Lester has a busy law practice, is active as a deacon in the church, and is active as commanding officer in the reserves.

Doris Mills Harrell wrote this summer. “Lou and I had a marvelous vacation in May. We visited old friends in Georgia, then went to Rio de Janeiro for a two-week vacation with friends I knew from Princeton. Before that, Louis, stayed with my mother in Richmond, and it did him a world of good, but was bad for my ego. After that trip they took a jaunt to Charlottesville to see “Monticello.” Doris’ husband, Lou, is a Texan and is interested in Virginia’s great heritage. Quoting again, “Lou is still stationed at Andrews Air Force Base and is assigned to the Division of Foreign Technical Intelligence. We hope to be here at least another year. I am chairman of the World Affairs Group of the officer’s Wives Club here, and teach a Sunday School class. The rest of the time my two-year- old wears my heart and I should have reversed the order: when I’m not chasing him, I do the other jobs.” Doris’ address is 44 Maverick Drive, Dayton 31, Ohio.

Lydia Crabtree Love is leaving D.C. where she has lived for the past two years to go to New York where Bill, her husband, will manage T.W.A. sales. A promotion for Bill, but Lydia naturally didn’t want to leave their beautiful home in Falls Church.

The frustrated writer in me has enjoyed writing the news this year. I’ll miss it, but am looking forward to Peggy’s news. I can’t urge you enough to drop her a post card and then so she won’t have to mine desperately for news. Good-bye, good luck and a good year to all of you.

1946 Secretary

Mrs. David Branch (Barbara Richie)
1232 Persinger Rd.
Roanoke, Va.

With twenty-five of our class back for reunion, you can imagine what fun we had. Those back for the week-end were Jean White Robison, Libby Thompson Schmidt, Amy Hickerson Dalton, Jeanne Yeamans, Irene White Bain, Marian Lawton Kinsey, Mary Frances Bethel Wood, Lucy Harvie, Lee Phillips Toone, Jeanne Pembworth Gannon, Frances Anne Beale Goode, Ellen Hodges Proxmire, Mary Lane Williams Brockenbrough, Anne Harris Wood, Virginia Gibson Stewart, Gora Lynn Chaffee Goldsborough, Jinx Booth Armstrong, By Ryland, Marie Peachee Wicker, Mary Lucy Willis Barendorff, Dottie Davis Wittenberger, Julia Shelton Jacobs, Cornelia Reid Rowlett, Ann Ware Fry and Barbara Richie Branch.

Mary Frances Wood and her committee did a wonderful job. Friday night’s dinner at Amy Dalton’s home was delicious. After dinner Miss Keller and Mrs. Booker came to talk with us and help us with future plans. Most of the group attended the almnnae luncheon in the gym on Saturday. Our class was represented in the skit which followed by Marion Kinney and Libby Schmidt in their baggy sweaters and hobo socks. On Saturday night we had another lovely party at the home of Irene White Bain. This time husbands were present, but that did not slow down our chatter one bit.

Jackie Hodges Walker wrote that she was unable to attend because after eight years in their present home that time was the time for moving into their new home. Jackie has been selected for the Home Feature Section of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, Marjorie Webb was also unable to come. She has recently won prizes in the Virginia Press Women’s Contest, NBC’s Board of Radio and Television, and the Dr. Christian award for a radio script at CBS.

From Franklin, Virginia, Naomi Hall Kin- gery sent regrets and news of her three children, Donna, age 10, Chip, 7, and Terry, 4. She is president of her Woman’s Club, and active in local almnnae work. Jackie Barnes Wolf has two-year-old twins, Joy Franklin and Joseph William, and a year-old daughter, Janice Adele.

Coming back to Virginia to spend spring vacation with her grandparents, Ruth Smith Tschan brought her family, two sons and a daughter.

I am keeping the class secretary job for another year to be followed for two year terms by Libby Schmidt and Frances Anne Goode. Cornelia Rowlett was made our permanent class chairman. From our reunion we have gotten a list of new addresses. If you would like a copy, drop me a card.

1947 Secretary

Mrs. R. F. Andrews (Betty Tinsley)
3203 Enslow Ave.
Richmond, Va.

Special news from Melton and Verda Sletten Hobbs. They announce the birth of twin daughters, Elizabeth Ann and Pamela Catherine, who were born on May 22, 1961. I believe these are our first twins and our special congratulations go to Melton, Verda and Debbie, who quickly acquired two sisters.

Susie sent me excerpts from a letter from Olaf Wapfors Moberg. Three Mobergs have moved to 907 Petra Lane, Pacific Grove, Calif. next year so let me hear how you want to celebrate and begin planning to come.

1949 Secretary
Mrs. Robert O. Marshall (Mary Cross)
7815 Granite Hall Ave.
Richmond, 25, Virginia

Though I'm looking forward to this year when I hope to hear from all the girls, I cannot image how the writing is as interesting as Pat did last year.

Pat Adams Woodhead, Bob, Shawn and Robbi have been very good neighbors and welcomed Bob, me, Carl and Jean to their community. They entertained us with a barbecue pork chop supper and then a dance at the Recreation Center.

We are really enjoying our new location and house. For awhile I've had an extra room for sewing, but I'll have to have a new study room for Bob who is taking two night classes in Life Insurance.

From Pam Burnside Gray, we learned that she spent two weeks in Nassau with her parents. Her two other boys, G.G. and Bruce, stayed on for a longer visit. Daughter Kay enjoyed camp. Later they went to New York to meet the boys who flew up alone by jet from Nassau.

Jo Hooper Pittman, Bob and their four sweet girls visited her mother in Richmond this summer. She took a little trip up to Fredericksburg to see Frances Orrall Dunn, Bob, Andy and Roy. Jo says she's already looking forward to returning for our 15th reunion in 1963.

Someone else has visited Frances. Ginna Herndon Pugh wrote that they have a couple of good “talking over W.C.” sessions. Newsy Ginna also reported that Emily Smith Powers and Jack adopted a little boy, Paul Hamilton, in May. This fall Ginna and Alger will move to Staunton where he will be Head Coach and teach at R.E. Lee High and she will teach 7th grade English.

Ginna sent us the sad news that Jackie Jeter Shot lost her father in May. Our sincere sympathy goes to her. Also we would like to express our sorrow to Sarah Bishop Willburn for the recent death of her father.

Arline Moore wrote that she and her family were moving from Maryland to Texas where Bob will begin his residency in anesthesiology at Brooks Army Medical Center.

Peggy Stone Cunningham had a busy summer. She and her three children were frequent customers at Overhill Lake which Jerry operates. In addition, she kept score for little league games as son Steve is a budding "Babe."

Earlier Peggy attended her brother's wedding in Baltimore, and while there she saw Betty Hardin Elmore. Betty had visited her mother in North Carolina and also had seen Sally Taylor DuBois and little William.

Shaping the continent, Doris Vickers Hall moved from California to Connecticut in May. Charles is working for Remington Rand Utica. Already Doris has had the lead in two plays with the Westport Players along with the "pros."

Pat reports that Boo Koltukian Cowles returned to visit in Virginia this summer and is now living in Sheffield, Alabama. If you spot an ex-Navy hull speeding along the Chesapeake Bay, it's probably "Jejo," name sake of Jean and Johnny Boisse. They are fixing it to sleep seven. Already this summer, it's provided relaxation from her job as Probation Officer for Henrico County.

Away back last January 31, Russell Elliot Willey welcomed a new daughter named Martha. Congratulations!

Maria Carter Satterfield braved it and drove from Cape May, New Jersey to New York with her four children. Their "daddy" joined them and all went on for a vacation in Maine.

Jackie Pitt Suttenfield seems to have had a lovely good time this summer. Her family sunned at the river and Virginia Beach and Sutt, aged 9, went to camp.

No loafer Lois McCannahan Garrett. She and Jack were involved in the July Democratic primary. Jack's now a committee man from Henrico County.

Arlene Reynolds Schafer promises me what she accomplishes. Besides looking after her four children, she teaches piano lessons three afternoons a week.

When you read this Bulletin, sit down and drop me a line so newsy you from will make the next issue.

Nancy Lou Bailey, seven month old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Rolen Bailey (Frances Stuart) passed away in Roanoke Memorial Hospital on June 20, 1961. She died with leukemia, having been ill about three months. Burial was in Richmond.

1949 Secretary
Mrs. Jackson B. McCarty, Jr.
(Rosamond Calhoun)
213 Keller Lane
Marion, Va.

We have two new babies to report this month. Maria and Johnny Smith, Norman and Anthony, adopted a baby boy (Stevie) in March and are so thrilled with him. Jane Dens McManigal had a little girl, Elizabeth Jane, in May to go with her three boys. Congratulations to both.

Most of the news this time is concerned with vacations: Bobbie Rodwell Forest and family spent the month of July at Sandbridge Beach, Virginia, as did Jean Harpers Sellers and her family, Kaki Smith Spratley spent two weeks in Alexandria in July; Francis Hix vacationed in Daytona Beach, Florida; Lynn Gilmer Guilford's family visited in Virginia and Michigan; Dot Richardson Corbin on April 4th; Sue Hoff Schenuburg and Fred send word of Melanie Victoria, born August 22nd in Germany.

Maggie Alexander Anderson and Sat had their second boy on September 9th. His name is David Alexander. Pat Kelly Jordan and Alex had a boy, Carter, born July 20th. Beatrice Fannie and Skip had their third son in July.

Lou Covington Randall wrote that she and Harry now have a boy, Jonathan Burnett, who was born July 26th. Lou also wrote that she is living in Utah now. She and Harry, who is a major in the Marine Corps, met on July 1st from California. Her new address is Box

FRANKLIN FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION
"The Family Savings Center"

Main Office
SEVENTH & BROAD STS.
Mon. - 9
Tues. - Fri. - 9:00

Village Branch
THREE CHOPT & PATTERSON
Mon., Tues., Thur. - 9:5
Wed. - 9:2
Fri. - 9:6
2718, Fort Douglas, Utah. Harry is an instructor under the NROTC program at the University of Utah.

Aggie Field Burke, David, and their daughter, Ann, stopped to see Hilda Moore Hankins and Deck and their children at Daytona Beach. Stella Dalton Wallner, Jon, and their two girls also stopped by later in the summer in Beaufort. Hilda wrote that Stella has moved to Clinton, Tennessee, where Jon is vice-president of a hospital. Hilda is teaching again, but in a different school—Savannah High. She and Deck spent a month in Virginia with their parents, then went to Waycross, Georgia, where Deck played in the Okefenokee Golf Tournament.

Marty Lowry Greene and Jack spent most of the summer in their summer cottage on Lake Otario. Jo Markey wrote that she got three weeks vacation this year. She and her mother spent them in the New England states and Long Island.

Barbara Covington O'Flaherty and family visited her sister, Mary Elinor, in West Palm Beach, Florida this summer.

Libby Rouse Wilson vacationed in Maine. She is teaching arithmetic and general science in grades 1-5 in a private school this year. Dot Warner Gardner saw Tucky Bellows Morrissett and Basil during the month of July when they were on a summer visit in Tappahannock, Virginia. Their vacation was shortened due to the death of Basil's father.

Nancy Chapin Phillips and her four children visited her people in Pittsburgh this summer. Nancy has been playing tournament bridge for about a year.

Alice Clark Lynch, Bob, and their children spent a week at Virginia Beach. Ann Dorsey James and family were in Richmond this summer for a few days. She and Joe went up north to Massachusetts and stayed with Mrs. and Mr. Norris Griffin.

Doris Lee Reeves Childress and a friend went to Nassau for a week in May. Doris Lee said that Louise Cheatham Chandler spent a day with her this summer. Louise's husband, Bruce, who is a principal in Chase City, was in Richmond for an education meeting. Louise and Bruce visited Barbara Lee Jones and family in Berryville, too. Barbara Lee and her children vacationed in Indiana with her brother and family earlier this summer.

Clarice Ryland Price went to Williamsburg for the meeting of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs. She saw Barbara Lee Jones and Claire Noren Griffin there. Clarice and her family tried camping this August in Douthat State Park near Clifton. They stayed for a week in a tent near a lake and "roughed it." Clarice reported that they loved it!

Libby Givens Pierce and Bucky took a trip to Panama and Jamaica. They stayed one day in Jamaica and four days in Panama at the El Panama Hilton. They saw the Panama Canal, a jungle, and Panama City. They flew back to New York. Bucky won the trip as a dealer for Gibson Company. While there Bucky won an "oscar" as the outstanding dealer for Gibson in this district.

Virginia Britton and Lorraine Chapman roomed together at William and Mary College this summer. Virginia was chosen to take a seminar in Guidance Council. Lorraine took English and History to renew her certificate.

Emma Talman Kay took exams this summer to become a registered seed technologist with the state.

Leslie Whitman and her children visited in Round Hill this summer. I have an address for Leslie. It is 2 Pryor Road, Natick, Massachusetts but I do not have her married name.

Please write to me or your group leaders with your news.

1951 Secretary
MRS. CHANNING BASKERVILLE, JR.
(Libba Eanes)
McKenney, Virginia

I am sure you will all join me in thanking Iby Gill White who did such a wonderful job in our secretaries these past five years. I hope that I will be able to follow in her footsteps.

Our thanks also go to Charlotte Houchins Decker, Mary Lee Moore Vinson, Bobbie Brown Yager and to all the Richmond girls who did so much work on our reunion.

I am sorry that all of you could not have been back to join in the fun. There were forty of us back to enjoy all of the events that were planned.

The boys and the weekend with a banquet at the Executive Motel. Miss Lutz was there and she read a very interesting letter from Betty Cather MacCollum telling about the play production that she and her husband had just finished. Betty also sent some pictures that we all enjoyed.

At the banquet we decided to elect a president and fund chairman to work with the secretary. Betty Bethune Langhorne is our new president and Jane Lawson Willis is our fund chairman.

Saturday morning we returned to Westhampton and it seemed like old times. That night we went to the lovely home of Bobbie Brown Yager and Marion. It was nice to see so many of the husbands back for the occasion.

Many of the girls came from quite a distance. Millie Wright Orten and Joe flew from Greenville, South Carolina. Ginni Herrink came from Bermuda. Our hats are off to Jo Hyche Baulch and Hank who drove from Colorado with their four boys. Ann Marie Hardin Bailey and Ben came from Massachusetts.

Nance Anderson Hall said that she was sorry that she could not attend the reunion but her four girls managed to get the meals and chicken pox at the same time. Nance said that they had a small epidemic all their own.

I received a letter from Eleanor Wright Weston telling about her trip to Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland and Copenhagen. She said that she did everything from seeing the Royal Danish Ballet to shopping. One night that she attended the ballet the King and Queen were there with their daughters. What a thrill that must have been. Billy and Eleanor hope to be back in the United States this fall.

Doris Goodwyn Bridgfior will be moving back to Farmville, North Carolina as soon as their home is complete. Please send us your new address, Doris.

Marilyn Montague Harper and T.G. have moved to Charlotteville where T.G. is district manager for Blue Cross. Marilyn will be teaching physical education at Albemarle High School this fall and her new address is 2411 Commonwealth Drive.

Another change of address is that of Iby Gill White who moved to Cliffsides, North Carolina in July. Iby writes that Don is minister of music and education at the Cliffsides Baptist Church. They are delighted to be settled in a job that Don is thoroughly enjoying and in a community of warm and friendly people.

Helen Clark Hensley and Dick have moved to Chatham where Dick is public relations director and teacher at Hargrave Military Academy.

Barbara McGhee Cook and Sam have moved to Alabama College in Montevallo, Alabama. Sam is teaching chemistry there.

Ann Rogers Crittenden and Crit had a grand trip to Bermuda this spring. Ann writes that her two little girls were in her brother-in-law's wedding in August.

We have four new babies to report this time. Jane Ellis Babb and Emerson welcomed Russell Macaulay on March 28. This makes two girls and a boy for the Babbs. On May 4 Roger Connelly joined his two brothers and sister. The proud parents are Mary Ann Hubbard Dickenson and Boyd. Norma Streeter Doss and Bill announce the arrival of their first son, Clay Hawthorne. This is their third child.

Jean Lowry and Bob welcome a baby boy, Holt Hawkins Bradley, who was born last spring.

There is a new addition to Betty Tredway Blake's family—a pony named Velvet. Betty and Pinkie are in the process of adding new rooms to their home.

Claudia Bradshaw is now Mrs. I. M. Miller and she lives on Archdale Road in Richmond.

We are proud of two of our members who will head their local alumnas groups. Henrietta Dow Vinson is president of the Peninsula Club and Charlotte Herrick Jones is president of the Roanoke Club. Charlotte and Bob went to Chicago for five days in September and had a most enjoyable vacation.

Reenie Groves Howland wrote that she and John have a grand vacation in Ocean City, Maryland this summer.

I had a nice long letter from Paula Abernathy Kelton telling about her summer. John was director of boys at Camp Eagle Nest at Pisgah Forest, North Carolina. Paula said that it was quite a change from college life and a vacation from the kitchen for the entire summer.
They returned home in time to enter their oldest child in school and to plunge into building their new home. They hope to be settled by Thanksgiving.

Paula reports that Betty Munsey Spatz's little boy had a mild case of mononucleosis and had to be kept quiet most of the summer. I am glad to hear that he is back to normal now.

My summer was rather hectic. I managed to fall in a hole at the beach and break a bone in my foot. I am back to normal now but it was rather hard trying to keep up with three active children on one good foot.

The following girls are going to be group leaders the next five years. Paula Abernathy Kelton, Frances Arrighi Tonacci, Joan Dalve Heizer, Jane Ellis Babb, Iby Gill White, Irene Groves Howland, Jane Lowe Bradley, Jane Lawson Willis, Rose Serien Blanchard, Shirley Robertson, Lea Thompson Osburn and Nance Anderson Hall. I do hope that you will work with your group leader so that we will have a lot of news for the next issue.

1952 Secretary
MRS. W. R. BEASLEY (Betty Hurt)
719 6th Ave.
Coralville, Iowa

What a lovely summer! Summer travels covered the whole of the states. Lelia Adams Anderson spent four weeks in the east, dividing time between Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina, including a few days in Suffolk, with Anne Simpson Turner and her family . . . a week of vacation and visiting in Atlanta for Fannie Cridder Wood, then for a stop at Myrtle Beach, S. C . . . Off to see "both sets of grandparents" in Lynchburg and Clarksburg, West Virginia for Sue Easley Candler, Ralph and their three children . . . Harriet Willingham Johnson with husband, Cork and little Brad taking a pleasant trek into northern Minnesota, and also a jaunt to Wisconsin to meet her family there . . . a delightful week of rest and fun for Anne Gibson Hutchison, Dick, and the children at Pawley's Island, S. C . . . Addie Eicks Coneys, Brock and daughter Lee off to Nova Scotia for two weeks of camping out and trout and salmon fishing . . . Eleanor Bradford Tunell and Bob joining Barbara Cawthorne Clarke and Herb for a week at vacation at Sea Island, Georgia . . . then Eleanor and the children returning to Portsmouth later in the summer to visit with her mother and sister Audrey (79) just home from Venezuela . . . Marilyn McMurray Rishell, Rish and four children taking a 5,000 plus mile trip east from Arizona, visiting relatives and friends in D. C. and Alexandria . . . Eleanor de Person's Hay, Bob and children spending two weeks of their vacation at a shore home outside of Baltimore. One day was declared University of Richmond Day with eight graduates attending. The Hays family also joined Marianne Shumate Jensen, Kathleen Cooke O'Brien, and Sarah Barlow Wright in Smithfield for a visit . . . WC Day in Boyden for Marion Lacy Mahone, Janie Tune Sease, Betty Crevs Watkins and LeNeve Hodges Adams. Betty Sned Scott and Kitty Little Dupuy Alfriend's. Betty writes that this group is already lining up baby sitters for our Tenth Reunion and that they plan to stay up all night so they won't miss a word.

Lou Glading Shelton and Bud were through Boyden on their way to Coatsville, Pa. They now have four children, the latest, a girl Katherine, arrived on June 1st. Two boys and two girls, how nice! Kitty Little and John welcomed on August 4, Sarah, to join their household of three girls. The Alfriends have just moved into the lovely landmark of Boyden, the old Boyd home.

Kathy Cole Lee, Bill and Stuart are now in Wilson, N. C., 411 Monticello Drive. Bill is Director of the Wilson County Mental Health Clinic. Kathy writes "We adore North Carolina, our new home, and this small town living. Stuart is now three, perpetually 'in orbit' but, of course we wouldn't have it any other way."

Wedding bells for Diane Evans on July 1 when she became Mrs. Robert Brest.

Bob is associated with the California Electronics Co. and they live in Arlington, Va. Harriet Randolph Shannon is teaching at Collegeville High School to fifth and sixth grade boys. Her little Jane will be two in December.

Kathleen and Junie O'Brien are at Deland, Florida where Junie is teaching biology at Stetson University. Sarah Barlow Wright is teaching near Smithfield.

No address for Nola Texley Breckenridge but understand that they have moved from Fort Sill, Okla., to Sacramento, Calif.

Jackie Gerson Lownstein enjoyed a lovely visit with Anne Holmes and her husband Alex De Farza E. Castro from 56 Wilhelmen St., Wiesbaden, Germany. He just recently received his Masters degree in the school of law. Jackie's little Molly Ann missed having her birthday date published, April 14, 79. Anne is teaching in the Air Force School in Wiesbaden.

The President's new frontier program is causing Isabel Sanford Rankin a bit of concern. Hugh's National Guard unit has been called to active duty.

Harriet Stubbs Johnson also had "active duty" this summer when she was in charge of a Girl Scout Camp of about 140 girls.

Janie Tune and Jimmy have moved to Harrisonburg where he has opened his office.

The birth of Stephen Randolph Slats, the first for Bud and Louise Hedley.

Marilyn McMurray Rishell and family are in Fort Huachuca, Arizona, 120 Mills Circle. Rish earned his Masters in Business Administration in May, became a Major in June. He and Muff have become active in the Post's Theater. Can't you provide a skit for us at our reunion?

While in Richmond on our vacation, chatted with many of our girls, note the length of this letter! Deanie Dungan Mitchell has two children, William Rayls and Robert Bean. Too bad I am unable to reach all of you personally. But in person I hope to see almost all of you at our Tenth Reunion in June, the 9th! Sue Peters Hall is chairman with Monty Wiley Schurr as co-chairman. So you know it is going to be a wonderful weekend. You'll be hearing from them soon after the new year. Save your family snapshots for the class photo book.

1953 Secretary
MRS. WILLIAM G. BRUCE (Meryl Young)
5565 Richmond Ave.
Richmond, Va.

Betty Jane Williams Potter had visits this summer from both Betty Ichelburger Allen, who was visiting with her family in Norfolk and Lou Hodgins McNally and family. Betty Jane keeps busy with teaching and her own two children.

Joan Deter Sullivan and I had separate visits with Lois Moody Mackey in Hampton. Joann's husband, Bill, is appearing in "Born Yesterday" at the Barwick Playhouse. My husband was at Williams and Mary again this summer under the National Science Foundation program for teachers.

Patti Thompson Stoy was in Washington for a visit with her parents, and Lou George Wolfe Malone had an afternoon with Beth Carpenter Browne in Boykins.

Pat Moran Talley was in Richmond while her husband took a course at Union Theological Seminary. Ruby Vaughan Carson also visited here at the same time. Pat, Ruby and Ginny LeSueur Carter had a very luncheon together. Ginny has a job three days a week at the Information office of the Va. Dept. of Agriculture.

Mary Crehan Payne, Jim and four children had a camping trip to Maine.

Harriet Wheat Franklin has been traveling around with husband, Cotton, on several golfing trips during which he picked up two trophies. They also spent a weekend with Pat Shomo Bradshaw and Steve.

Doris Jean Johnston MacEwan is the proud mother of twins, Gail Jean and Glenna Joan born May 30. Doris and Mac and family live in Arlington.

Kay Beale is newly engaged to Carter Coates. The wedding will be in December.

Janet Francis Midgett and family have moved to Mobile, Alabama, where Bob will be office. manager for Friden Business Machine Co.

Jackie Gustin Boeh has a new house outside Roanoke where she enjoys a beautiful view.

I saw Joyce Brock Bennett downtown and she was busily getting ready to move to Marion, Va., where her husband will be pastor of the Baptist Church.

Now a pat on the back for our girls who are so active in the Alumnae Richmond Club. Gladys Tatarks, President, Nan Byrd, First Vice President, Fling Fowler is membership chairman, Harriet Wheat Fain is project chairman and Joann Deiter Sullivan is telephone chairman.

1954 Secretary

Mrs. R. Denby Lewis (E. Linda Goodman) Apt. 15, Bldg. 8 MCV Apartments Richmond 28, Virginia

Your correspondent hereby acknowledges an omission, long neglected, was made in listing Onward and Upward: Robert Bruce McDaniel, III, who was born September 14, 1960 to Nancy Davis McDaniel and Boyd, Apt. 507, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been a honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions.

Roberta Cohen Cohen is a "Trotting Tutors," as in Goody Two Shoes, for she is teaching Spanish in several elementary schools in Richmond. She has some classes per day.

Thoughts naturally turn beachward in the summer. Mary Lou Gilbert Dorsey, Jean Burgess Sadler, Barbara Moore Flannagan, Pam Markel Goldman and their families all vacationed there, and Carol Jones worked there. Ann Hambly collaborated with the children of the district level. I also did some writing—a play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Beverly Burke Dunklee has been engaged in writing in connection with her Woman's Club work. She collaborated on a play in the district level. Bettyon Dunklee has also done some writing—a short play for the Richmond Rotary Club, which was presented at one of their meetings this summer.

Betty Rosenberger moved this summer, to 8806 Three Chimneys Road, Apt. 907, Richmond 29, Va. Her father has been quite ill, but he is recovering now. Nancy Davis McDaniel writes that they are planning to move in January, when Boyd's residency is finished at the University of Florida Law School. He has been an honored roll student there, true to "little's" scholastic traditions. middle of moving (when I heard from her) was Sallie Trice Greene. Jimmy has become pastor of the Waleska Baptist Church and will also teach at Junior College in Waleska, Georgia. Sallie writes she is north of Atlanta at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

In Blairstown, Kentucky are the Armbisters (Catharine) and pastor of the Jacksonville Baptist Church and Catharine says "it is a challenging and absorbing work and we are beginning to love these mountains and the people.

Since February, the Ball's (Margaret Logan) have resided in Rockaway, New Jersey where they have a brand new house. Margaret saw her brother, a lawyer and partner in Logan, and Don is going to add in Addis Ababa. Then she and her family vacationed for a week in the Finger Lakes. She mentioned seeing Brandy Macclan, Mary Jane Miller and Bobby Cronin Lovell and Judy Twyford Davey’s lovely home in Montclair this summer. Still another move is that of Mary Virginia Seymour Hilligross, and family, to Petersburg, Virginia. Don is working with Goodyear there. In another part of Virginia, Williamsburg is to be exact, Helen Melton will be working this fall. She vacated in Havre de Grace and spent a week writing us some of the details for the next Bulletin.

Back in Wisconsin is Margaret Foster. She is attending the University of Wisconsin, working on her B.A. and J.L. and Jerry Jowett will be continuing their graduate studies at the University of Virginia this fall. Lucy has a National Science Foundation fellowship.

Bettie Warren Hodgins taught at the University of Alabama center this summer after stopping work at the bank. There are several new additions to our list of babies. Peggy Graves Butterworth and Dick have a little boy, Richard Reylondson Butterworth, Jr. (Richie) born July 24th. Peggy will be teaching this fall in Chestertield County. Meg Kidd Tenney and Lin are proud parents too. Their little girl Elizabeth Ellington was born July 6th. On July 20th, John William, was born to Faye and Bob Townsend. They and Bob are now back in Urbana, Illinois where Bob is in Library Science and will finish with his M. S. in June 1962. They have a house with a garden and Faye writes that she has canned 17 pints of sweet peas.

Spending the summer as librarian at Crestmont Inn in Eagles Mere, Pennsylvania was Carol Dickerson Kauffman. Chester was a bell hop there and he and Carol won a double tennis tournament. Their little girl, Peggy, spent every day at the beach and was "brown as a berry." Sounds like a perfect way to spend the summer. The Walkers (Lovely Jane Long) spent their vacation on the shore (Eastern Shore of Virginia) visiting families and Rita Davidson Stein wrote they had a lot of company during the summer and plan to go to Richmond in September. She also mentions that Harriet Miller Berlin had moved to Atlanta, Georgia.

Nancy Bertsch Ratchford spent the month of August at Bethany Beach with Bill’s parents. I mentioned in the last Bulletin Nancy’s illness—mononucleosis—forcing her to stop work last spring but it appears she has now resumed her job this fall which is working with handicapped children in several schools near D. C. With so much good news to report I hate to end on a note of sadness but I must. Betty Ann Ponton Rodrigues’ husband, Charles, was killed in an accident the later part of May. I know you all join me in sending deepest sympathy to Betty Ann and her infant son. Not only sympathy but our prayers too go with you, Betty Ann.

1958 Secretary
Miss Becky Branch
Bromley Lane
Richmond, Virginia

Future alumni and alumnæ have been on the increase this past summer with the former Patti and Ash Kessler welcomed son Malcolm Scott into their household this past summer in Jacksonville, Florida. Steven Clayton made his debut and two proud parents are Nita Glover Eason and Bert who recently moved from Georgia to Norfolk. Lola Hall McClellan and Warren’s spring addition to their family—Henry T. McBride, III. Another male newcomer to the 1958 roster—Scott, was born to Beth Smith Steele and Bob. Robert Torday has applied to the Law School and the home of Kay Crawford Trumbell and husband Bob. Cynthia Feldman Ruth and Jerry became parents during the summer when their son was born. Their summer in Ireland is in thanks to Nancy Prickett Yarbrough and Lou, who are now living in Norfolk while he is in the Navy.

Interesting and varied vacations both in this country and abroad were the rule during the summertime. Peggy Ware and her family enjoyed a 3 week motor trip Westward to California and up the coast by way of Yosemite, Sequoia and Kings Canyon. They spent another 3 weeks in the southwest and on June 18th, they returned home to the home of Kay Crawford Trumbell and husband Bob. Cynthia Feldman Ruth and Jerry became parents during the summer when their son was born. Their summer in Ireland is in thanks to Nancy Prickett Yarbrough and Lou, who are now living in Norfolk while he is in the Navy.

Back from a summer spent in Europe in which she was able to visit our speaking French and German, Genie Borum reported her adventures with enthusiasm. She went by plane and returned via a Norwegian ship with mostly Europeans on board. Among countries visited were Scotland, England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy and Scandinavia. While in Oslo Genie spent some time with the present Princess and her architect husband. Lisa, a native of Norway, was a member of our class during freshman year. She and Genie have kept up their friendship through correspondence.

Nancy Jane Cyrus and her family vacationed at Lake Junaluska in North Carolina and in the Great Smoky Mountains. Nancy said she enjoyed seeing the drama “Uto These Hills,” the story of the Cherokee Indians. She is planning to follow a course in graduate Math in evening school.

Suzanne Kidd returned from a year’s study abroad the latter part of the summer. Musical keys (on the organ) proved to be magic keys for opening doorways in Europe. Study, travel, professional advancement, dozen, dozen organ recitals filled the year with activity. Suzanne will be one of the youngest members of the University of Richmond faculty when she begins teaching courses in practical music and theory this year.

Congratulations to Peyton Farmer who was appointed commonwealth’s attorney for the Bowling Green region in July. Jean Anderson Farmer reports that on Peewee’s vacation at Virginia Beach this summer. Mary Jean Simpson Garrett and Harry have moved to Bedford, Virginia where he is to begin his law practice. Also, Pat Davie will marry Mr. Bob Heldt and Al.

Atlanta is the new home of Susie Prillaman Wiltshire and Charlie. He will be studying for one year at Emory University on a National Institute of French scholarship.

In Pulaski are Betty Bruce Harris Bones and her doctor husband who has entered into practice in the hospital.

Annette Hassey is now living in the Virginia Beach area. Marit Haislip Paddgett and Peggy have purchased a ranch style home in an Atlantic Beach development. They seem to be enjoying living in the "Deep South."

Barbara Bloodgood Lidbetter writes that she and Guy are residing in North Carolina where he is in school and she is continuing her research.

I have a new job at Reynolds Metals in the Personnel Department. My work consists of orientation of new employees and also planning activities such as art exhibits, social events, theater parties, lectures and other functions. It is both interesting and varied.

There are "two doctors in the house" now. Carol Brie was married on July 29 to classmate Harold Griffiths. They left for a 5 week motor trip through the West before returning in September to enter their senior year at George Washington Medical School.

After their marriage to Harrington Moore, the work of the Foreign Mission Board to begin teaching 5th grade in Chesterfield County.

Jeanne Jones is teaching at Ridge School this year. She has a baby son in the spring.

Also in Richmond is Carolyn Moss Harr, the third grade instructor at Skipwith School this year.

Living in Rochester, New York, Dorthe Goodman Lewis was a "school marm" last year but plans to stay home with her young daughter this winter.

Carolyn Yarbrough’s concentration schoolwise will be toward 8th grade science students at Huguenot School.

Marilyn Hunter Adams plans to teach again at Loudon High School.

We are happy to report that Nancy Brooks Flowers and Joe have adopted a little daughter, Martha Grace.

The husband of Connie Preddy Tillotson finished his seminary course this past June. Sue Hudson Parsons’ Bo passed the Virginia State Bar exam in June. Her teaching position is at Albert Hill School in Richmond.

Nancy Graham Dillon (whose name was on the 1958 roster freshman year) has a young son. She and her husband are living on a farm near Purcellville, Virginia.

Dow DeLong Belk and Sam are in Richmond where his position is with IBM.

Tune in again soon for early winter news.

1959 Secretary
Mrs. E. M. DUNKIN (Elizabeth Ramos)
3631 A West Franklin St.,
Richmond 21, Virginia

As usual, the summer months have seen the "Mrs." title added to many of "59ers. Ruth Adkins became Mrs. Robert Hill in June and began a grand new life in Norfolk, at 1043 Buckingham Ave., Apt. 81B. Another June bride was Margaret Rutherford—now Mrs. Delano Compton. LaVerne Watson and Ellen Matlick were also married each year since graduation.

Mrs. Bob Edwards; Ellen, Mrs. Peter Martin Klein. Ellen and Peter make their home at 90 La Salle St., New York, N. Y.
Patsy Kelly led the July parade to the altar as she married Douglas Clark on July 8. They are settling happily in what sounds like a marvelous apartment in Laurel, Maryland. Her new address is 327 Morris Ave., Apt. 4, where they are both teaching in her chemistry classroom at Hermitage High School.

Janice Dowdy wed Lt. Ed Briggs in July and moved to R. I. Peggie Dulin joined forces with Merrill Grossman on Aug. 19. Rev. 9 Bev Brown married Rev. Jewell Patterson Floyd, Jr. He is a ministerial graduate from Duke where Bev met him. On the 16th Mary Marlowe married Jay Price, who is a law school graduate from U. R. They'll move to Blacksburg where he'll practice law. She'll find there Peggie Dulin and Bev Bey Wine Bowers. Bev will be teaching a combination 4th, 5th, and 6th grade class.

Besides wedding bells, '9ers are hearing other joyful noises—baby rattle, coo, and sometimes laughter. The Mary Thompsons have quite welcomed Master Jeffrey Hoover on June 29. Lilac Guerrier and Gerry Dollard are very proud of their baby girl born in June, while Marler and Hazel Hernandez boast of a little master who also arrived in June. Meanwhile, Peggy Powell Daniels, Martha Jordan Chukinas, and Anita Kluping Scott are admiring the growth and activity of their young sons.

Martha is now a full-time mother and home-maker. Warren was named assistant principal of the new Raymond Pinchbeck Elementary School in Hertico County. Anita is allotting some of her time to her high school English students. Hubby Fred decided to leave law school and is working with Truckers Insurance Co. in the area of management. Anita and Fred are moving from their 2½ room apartment to a larger home—a two-bedroom duplex, 4410 Southlake Drive.

Indeed our class is on the move. Elaine Petoskig Rigsby and Robert have moved to 12 Brentwood Drive, Hampton, Va. Sue Mathews Wright is now making her home in Charlottesville where she's now working on Traveller's Insurance Co. Eileen Gordie now lives at 3111 20th St. North, Apt. C521, Arlington 1, as she teaches in Fairfax Co. Sandy Wilson is turning our Brooklyn lass Sue Kaufman into a real southerner. They're moving to Atlanta, Georgia.

B. B. and Sherwood Strum are the proud homeowners of 6625 Glenwood Street. Recently B. B. has bought a new horse for her charming new home and caring for her non-descript puppy occupied all her time. Soon, however, she'll be spending time with the girls at Marymount School where she'll return to teach.

Mary Beth Stiff Jordan, Bob, and their two sons, Mark and Luke, returned from Alaska in July. They're living in Collinsville, Va., where Bob is practicing dentistry. Pat MacDonald Allen and Dick have also come back to the East Coast. After Dick received his masters degree in educational psychology, the two visited with his family in Portland, Oregon, and then began the drive across the states. It was good to see them and to hear about their many interesting experiences as residence advisors in a coeducational dorm at UCLA. They report the system worked beautifully. Now, they're heading for New York where Dick will fulfill his desire to be a doctor. He'll attend N. Y. Medical School, Mary Ann Williams Haske, Bernie, and 3 children have moved to the Eastern Shore of Maryland where he'll be a college professor.

Alene Olson took a trip to Europe this summer. Nancy Phillips, Bill, and children spent a week camping at Cape Hatteras where they had a grand time. Fred, Anita, and Craig Scott also enjoyed some camping.

Jean Rice joins the rank of those in higher education. She is attending U. N. C. where she is working towards a masters degree in political science.

Dorrine Sparks is in Japan as a missionary. We will all want to keep her in our prayers and hearts as she performs a most worthy service.

As for me, I just couldn't leave teaching! So I decided to do substitute work this year. And I'm eagerly awaiting my next assignment. Meanwhile, Ellis and I have been painting the inside of our duplex—quite a job.

I'm trying to include address changes in the new news letter subscription when you list your name. At the reunion we discussed our financial status very thoroughly. The class voted unanimously to collect $1 from each member to build a general fund which would take care of many incidental expenses as they occur. Mailings are the biggest item. Please send your contribution to me, and I'll get it to Nancy Phillips, who has been named fund raising chairman.

As you well know, there would be no news without YOU. When something worthwhile, interesting, or exciting happens in your life, don't just let it pass. Share it with us, for we are very interested in you. If you don't hear from a group leader, write to me directly. I'm eagerly awaiting your letters and your news.

1960 Secretary

MRS MEURILL C. WEBB
1205 Mount Erin Drive
Richmond 31, Virginia

"I'm planning now to come to our reunion," writes Jeanne Kosko Light. What a fine way to begin our first year of the Richmond alumni newsletter. I hope all of you will start planning now to come next spring.

Weddings again head the news. Since graduation about forty of our classmates have received the MRS degree. On the last Saturday in June Mary Eaker became Mrs. Floyd E. Adams, Jr. The next Saturday, July 1, Elizabeth Thompson was married to Charles H. Zimmerman, Jr., Martha Jane Pugh, who became Mrs. Billy Woods on July 29, was one of Elizabeth's attendants. The Zimmermans are living in Charlottesville where she is teaching. About July 1 wedding was that of Lynn Mapp to Dr. Benjamin E. Wiggins, Jr. Nancy Wheeler was one of Lynn's attendants. The Wiggins are living in Northern Virginia teaching geography at Lee High School and her husband is serving a dental internship at Walter Reed Hospital. Another July 1 bride was Fanny Manning, who became Mrs. John Dixon Lineberger III. They are living in Richmond and she is again teaching at Manchester High School.

The first August wedding was that of Gerry Gaff to Hudnall W. Baldwin on the thirteenth. On August 19 Julie Hollyfield became Jeanne Kosko Light's sister-in-law by marrying Andrew Paul Kosko. Both Jeanne and her husband Robley were in the wedding. Robley received his doctorate from Duke in June and was one of two students in the chemistry department to be awarded the Phi Kappa Kappa. Jeanne, who is working for a law firm in Boston's financial district, says, "I'm being initiated to both law and politics. One of my houses is in State Reformatory and another is Assistant Attorney General for Massachusetts." The Lights spent much of the summer traveling and have been in every state on the eastern seaboard north of South Carolina and Canada since their wedding last December.

August 26 was wedding day for Nancy McColloch and for Doris McBride. Nancy, Mrs. James Prentiss III, who is an examining attorney and receive her M.A. in Hispanics from Columbia in January. Jim, a Yale graduate, is studying for his Ph.D. in mathematical statistics at Columbia. Doris, Mrs. Ollie L. Chesher, Jr., set out to get a M.R.E. at Carver School of Missions and Social Work. Instead she got a husband with a Ph.D. and a M.R.E. Her maid-of-honor was Barbara Ferguson, who received her M.S. in Library Science from the University of Illinois and is now Children's Librarian at the Western Branch of the Richmond Public Library. On August 27, Joan Silverstein became Mrs. Marvin Zimmerman.

From the statistics compiled by our classmates at Carver, it's evident that their Romance Department are pretty efficient. Sue Sturman and Richard are planning a late November wedding to Sam Jones, a 1957 graduate of the University of Richmond and a 1961 graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. Eric St. Clair will be their maid-of-honor. We are anxious to hear how Nita Leseueur is progressing. Another November wedding will be that of Sarah Hudgel and Fred Roderick.

Emelyn St. Clair received her Master's degree from Duke University in August and is teaching the seventh grade in Burlington, North Carolina. She is engaged to marry a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College, 1961 Duke graduate, who is now enrolled in the Duke School of Forestry.

Ree Grasty is working at Hollins on the compilation of textbooks for methods teaching. She is planning a December wedding to Dick Harris, an industrial engineer who will be working with atomic materials in New Mexico.

The stork visited several homes during the summer, bringing five girls and a boy. On June 2 Janet Leigh Miller arrived at the home of Marian Donald and July 7 Dr. Jane Horton and Buddy Blackwell, now living in Atlanta, Georgia, became the parents of Kathryn Elizabeth. In August Melissa Granger and Paul Mayo welcomed Elizabeth Wing to Charlottesville and Miriam Rothwell and Bill Tom Livermore became the parents of Christie Lynn. If these new parents found that some changes had to be made in their households, Sally Riggins and Don Clement's problems were doubled. Twins, a boy and a girl, were born to them in August.

Even after a year, tennis is still the most popular occupation. After taking some education courses at Boston University during the summer Becky Grissom returned to Richmond and to her job at Manchester High School and Linda Morgan went back to her hometown Aberdeen, Maryland, to teach the third grade. It's good to know that Linda was promoted after being in the second grade only one year. Anne Hurd Parker is teaching music in Chesterfield County and Martha Kellogg has moved to Norfolk to teach. First-time teachers this year are Mary Ann Hood, who took a teaching math in Salisbury, Maryland; Jeanette McWilliams Welsh in New Orleans, Louisiana; and Betsy Gathings who has a seventh grade in Doylestown, Pennsylvania. There are now twenty-six first graders at J. G. Henig Elementary School in Chesterfield County.
The summer was spent in many ways. Betty Brown, who is returning to Iowa to work at the University Counseling Service, was a vocational counselor at a Florida V.A. Hospital. Betty hopes to get a M.A. next June. Alice Clement Boone was in Greensboro, North Carolina, where Chuck played baseball. Gloria Greenwood saw the Maharajah and had dinner at his palace in India.

This year is going to be a big one for us and I'm sure each one of us will want to receive the Bulletin and any correspondence we may have in the office. We'll want to contact you many times during the year and particularly at reunion time. For these mailings we will need to know your correct address at all times. Please let your group leader or me know of any changes. We want to know any news, too, so write often.

1961 Secretary
Mrs. Jerry H. Jones (Betty Blanton)
1210 Skipwith Rd.
Richmond, Va.

The class of '61 says "Hi" to all our old friends whom we are now joining as alumni.

For those of you who found a job not teaching—be they many or few—we are now trying it—teaching is hard work. It was almost like a class reunion to attend teachers' meetings around Richmond.

Kitty Thombs is teaching Spanish at Douglas Freeman this fall and living with Sally Magruder who is also teaching here in Richmond. Kitty spent an interesting summer working under the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board in New Mexico.

Sylvia Thompson and Adrienne Price are sharing an apartment here in Richmond and are both teaching. Adrienne is teaching Fourth Grade and Sylvia is teaching eighth grade General Science. Adrienne sends word that they are having loads of fun fixing up their apartment in West End.

Jane Pitts McAllister, whose marriage took place to Jack July 8th, is teaching General Math in Henrico County.

Betty Lou Hillman Gray is teaching third grade in Fairfax County. She and Lee were married August 5th and they are living in Alexandria.

Anne Abbott, Martha Carole Rogers, Dixie Harrage, Ann Bertsch and Betty Marlowe are all teaching here in Richmond. Going to visit them is like walking back into South Court. Anne Abbott is teaching senior government at Huguenot High School and says that she is loving it. Martha Carole and Dixie spent their summer between weddings and recuperation from that "hard senior year." Dixie is teaching Math at George Wythe and Martha Carole is teaching biology at Douglas Freeman. Ann Bertsch is teaching third grade here in Chesterfield County.

Among those that are remembering the summer spent in Europe are: Barbara Spier, Mary Barley, Hinkle, Sally Marsh and Gail Morrison. Barbara is teaching general science in Henrico County this fall.

Meg Gunter, Betty Pritchet and Lorene DeJarnette are sharing an apartment here in Richmond. They are all teaching third grade of the summer recuperating. She is teaching the 5th grade in Chesterfield County. Lorene is going back to Westminster where she finishes in January. Betty is teaching math at George Wythe and in spare time planning a December wedding.

Tommie Wolfe Cook is teaching elementary school in Chesterfield this fall. She and Jim were married August 19th.

Fern Grimm is teaching music in Newport News this fall and sharing an apartment with Gloria Holland. Gloria is teaching high school English in Warwick High School. She is also working for the Virginia Gazette in Williamsburg.

Nancy Adams is teaching science and math at the new John Marshall High School along with Maridel Bugg who is teaching German.

Emily Jennings Wallace, whose marriage to Vernon took place August 12th is teaching sixth grade at Sandston Elementary school.

Mildred Tierney is not teaching in Richmond. She is teaching physical education and dance at a private school in New York.

Mary Catherine Sellers Dunn was married June 17th to Jim and she is teaching high school English at Manchester High School.

Suzanne Foster Thomas is again teaching Spanish at Tuckahoe Junior High School. Lilian Stubley is also teaching at Tuckahoe.

Margaret Denman will appear as a member of the chorus in "Lady in the Dark," a musical comedy by Moss Hart, opening at the Renaissance Theater in Richmond September 14th.

She is also teaching history at Prince George High School.

Shirley Southworth, who was married August 13th, is now Mrs. Robert M. Saunders. Shirley is also among the '61 graduates who are teaching.

Sheila Rector is teaching general science in one of the city schools in Portsmouth.

Jennie Marshall Stokes writes that with warm weather and summer just flown and this fall she is teaching fourth grade at Central Gardens school in Henrico.

Evelyn Spivey spent her first part of the summer in Arizona and got her diploma August 25th. She is now working for the Virginia State Department of Welfare and Institutions.

Becky Powell is teaching fifth grade at Broad Neck Elementary in Chesterfield County. Jane Gochnour writes that she finds herself "abruptly catapulted into adulthood. But isn't it wonderful?" She enrolled in a class at the Sorbonne in Paris where she is taking an elementary French course and an art course taught in French—brave girl!

Bonnie Cox has a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and is to study this year at Union Seminary in New College.

Elizabeth Clarke was married June 24th to Lt. A. Ludlow Clark, II at Naval Air Station in Belville, Texas.

Mary Lou Robertson was married August 27th to Frank C. Estes, Jr. in Lafayette, California. They live in New York.

Mary Lou Robertson was married August 27th to Frank C. Estes, Jr. in Lafayette, California. They live in New York.

Marcia Bowman Mosby is teaching English in a Junior High in Lynchburg.

Ann Jones was married July 1st to William Striibing, Jr. After a wonderful honeymoon in Bermuda Ann is settling down to being a housewife.

Joyce Steed visited Boston and Cambridge in June and enters Radcliffe College September 22. She has a fellowship to do work toward her M.A. degree in English.

Congratulations to Kitty Borum Fitzhugh who was married on the 9th of September. She got her degree in August with a very wonderful straight A average.

Mary Burks, Suzanne Dupuy and Mary Evans entered Indiana University this September for further study toward graduate degrees.

Barbara Goodwyn enters University of Wisconsin at Madison for graduate work in history.

Ruth Mary Reynolds served as a summer missionary for the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in southwestern Indiana. She reports that her experiences were "really great."

Linda Frazier spent a month with Mary Lou Robertson and her family in California this summer. She liked it so much, in fact, that she flew back there August 31st and has a job out there.

Janet Harwood is attending Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Wake Forest, N. C. and says it's wonderful but she misses "ole W.C." just a little.

Gwynn Barefoot Raper and Jerry announce the marriage of a son, Porter Gwynn on August 27th. She says Jerry is still trying to get over the shock.

A baby boy, James Earl Jarrell, III was born to Anne Coleman Jarrell and James on June 21. Anne says that all is well and she is devoted to housekeeping and baby tending.

Anne Cunningham Woodfin whose marriage to John took place June 17th is working at the National Academy of Science while John is at Ft. Belvoir.

Kathy Gill Langley and Carl who were married on August 5th are now living in Dayton, Ohio.

Judy VanderBrogh Carroll whose marriage to Bobby took place September 9th is working for the Virginia State Laboratory.

Dilek is attending Georgia Tech but I couldn't find out what she was taking.

Joyce Smith is teaching 9th grade math at Brookville Junior High in Roanoke and living at home.

Ann Pulz was married June 24 to Charles (Zeke) Waters, II. They were in Norfolk this summer and at the end of August they left for Fort Sill, Okla.

Pat Cluverius married Tim Goodwin June 10th and they spent the summer in Charlotte, N. C. This fall Pat will work in the Alumni Office and Tim is teaching at Duke.

Linda Taylor was married August 30 to Frank Hanenkrot. They will be living in Seattle, Washington where Frank will attend graduate school at the University of Washington.

Sandy Gort and William Gilliam were married June 17th. William worked at Reedville this summer and Sandy enjoyed an extended vacation. This fall William goes back to T. C. Williams High School.

Virginia Needham Whitfield plans to stay with her parents while Jim is in Pensacola, Florida for Navy Officer School.

Janet Sheas and husband, John, are very proud of their baby daughter, Mary Elizabeth, born May 29, 1961. They are now living in Boston and Janet is going to give housekeeping and baby daughter all her time.

Charlotte McGlohan and Wayne are living in Greenville, North Carolina with their daughter, Clarissa Lee, born August 6, 1961. Charl-lotte is working on her master's degree at East Carolina.

Sally Spiller Settle and "Fay" were married June 17th and Sally is working for six pro-essors at V.P.I. while "Fay" is in school.

Lynne Stephenson is teaching sixth grade at Stuart Elementary school in Norfolk. Minna Wilson is also teaching. She has 9th and 10th grade English at McLean High School in Fairfax.

Barbara Ross is training here in Richmond to be a tax auditor for the Internal Revenue service.

Daphne Shepard is teaching 8th grade American history in Roanoke and wishes that she loves it so far "in spite of herself."

Judy Oltten spent the summer as cook on board a 100 foot schooner that sailed out of Camden, Maine. She is teaching 8th grade Eng-

[ 32 ]
Gayle Dowdy Williams is enjoying being a housewife.

And as for myself—I am very happy being Mrs. Jerry Jones and I really am enjoying cooking. I am teaching 7th grade General Science at Binford Junior High and I believe I am at last getting used to it.

I want to thank all my group leaders and to ask anybody who didn’t get their news in to write me in time for the winter issue.

LOCAL CLUBS

WESTHAMPTON ALUMNAE

Baltimore Club

President: MRS. MARKET H BOWERS
2922 Wyman Parkway
Baltimore, Md.

The Baltimore Club rounded out its ’60-’61 season with its annual meeting on May 11th. Ruth Latimer showed slides and told of her experiences in Morocco as a physical therapist with the Red Cross staff treating victims of the fuel oil disaster.

New officers elected were Jeanne Plunkett Beckett ’53, treasurer, and Anne Smith Palazzo ’62, secretary. Betty Becker ’56, and Kathy Alford Connor ’57 remain in office as president and vice-president respectively.

Richmond Club

President: MRS. J. S. PIERCE, JR. (Joyce Betts)
3454 Hanover Avenue
Richmond, Virginia

The Richmond club held its new students’ tea at the home of Mrs. Whitter on September 12. It was very successful. Our engagement calendar sales are doing fine and we object to complete them by the end of September.

In October we will have our first meeting, the covered dish dinner, and begin our sale of pecans.

Roanoke Club

President: MRS. ROBERT M. JONES (Charlotte Herrick)
817 Welton Ave., S.W.
Roanoke, Virginia

The Roanoke Club had a reception for new students on September 6th and it was very successful. We had six new students who attended, about ten returning, and fifteen alumnae. Altogether it was a most pleasant evening.

Two students showed color slides of the campus, May Day, Song Contest, dormitory life, etc. They also talked and answered questions about orientation week activities. The new students seemed to benefit from the program.

We are planning to have a card party for the alumnae in this area sometime during the winter. The girls always enjoy getting together after Christmas.

Tidewater Club

President: MRS. O. EDMON LUTTRELL
(Constance Powell)
1409 Cedar Lane
Norfolk, Virginia

We began our year’s work in the Tidewater chapter with a bang of enthusiasm that I hope will continue during our year. The heat of an early September’s afternoon did not take away from the sheer enjoyment of our annual tea for the girls from Portsmouth, Norfolk and Virginia Beach, returning to college. The tea was held September 7th in the lovely home of Carolyn Babb Heffin in Chesapeake Colony, who graciously helped us entertain about twenty-five college girls and many of our alumnae members.

The college girls took this opportunity to get acquainted with each other before arriving at Westhampton and seemed to enjoy the occasion to the utmost.

Washington Club

President: MRS. A. R. GUSET (Virginia Ingram)
5707 Old Spanish Trail
Kensington, Maryland

The Washington club of the Westhampton alumnae concluded the year with a tea at the home of the president, Mrs. A. R. Guest. At that time it was decided to give the $200.00 to the Swimming Pool Fund. Many members attended the alumnae meetings at Westhampton in June. The club will begin the year with a luncheon on October 28th.

Necrology

1899—

Hunter Miller, 84, a former state senator and a member of the Virginia Alcoholic Beverage Control Board for more than 19 years, died July 17 in Bedford following a year of ill health.

Mr. Miller was a former mayor of Bedford and a former commonwealth’s attorney of Bedford county. He was elected to the State Senate in 1928 and was finishing his second term when Governor Peery offered him a position on the three-man ABC board, saying that Mr. Miller was a man the dry forces would respect. After a week of thinking it over, Mr. Miller accepted.

Mr. Miller retired from the board in 1954 and returned to Bedford where he had practiced law 35 years and where he still had interests in a dairy farm and other enterprises.

A staunch Baptist, Mr. Miller was for many years a Sunday school superintendent and teacher.

Dr. Henry M. Martin, who spent his life in educating college students, died at his home in Birmingham, Ala., January 28.

Dr. Martin received his Ph.D. at Johns Hopkins University and did postgraduate work in Paris, France.

He taught in the romance language department at Fork Union Military Academy, Wells College at Aurora, N.Y., the University of Michigan and at Howard College in Birmingham.

1906—

George Bonner White, a lawyer of Varina, died July 18 in a Richmond hospital.

1910—

The Rev. Ernest L. Ackiss Sr., 74, former assistant professor of Bible at the University of Richmond and a former acting chief of chaplains, United States Navy, died September 17 in Atlanta.

Dr. Ackiss left Richmond before World War I to enter navy service as a chaplain. Before his retirement from the navy in 1949, he served as a chaplain aboard the USS Nerada in World War II; was chaplain of the carrier Saratoga at its commissioning in the 1920’s; was chief chaplain of the San Diego Navy base, Calif., during World War II and at one time during the war was stationed in Washington as acting chief chaplain.

He had been secretary of military personnel of the division of chaplaincy of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention since 1953.

A native of Oceana, Dr. Ackiss received a

BOONE PROMOTED

Chuck Boone, former star catcher for the Spiders, was called up by the Richmond Virginians from the Class A Greensboro club of the Carolina League late in the season and made an impressive debut with the Class A A.A. International League team. The Virginginians defeated the pennant-winning Columbus Jets, 5-3, with Boone lashing a bases-

loaded double in the fourth inning to account for the first three Vee runs.
BA degree from Richmond College and MA degrees from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., and from the University of Chicago. He received the honorary doctor of divinity degree from the University of Richmond.

Dr. Ackiss handled most of the details in procuring and planning training of chaplains in the navy. He represented the Navy Department in the national radio memorial service for the late President Roosevelt.

During World War II Dr. Ackiss did much to advance the public welfare of natives of the Virgin Islands by serving as a member of the Library Commission for the navy and as commissioner of prohibition.

1911—
Wilson Meek, one of the founders of the Virginia Federation of Sportsmen Clubs, died July 15 in Richmond. He was 72.

Mr. Meek was a veteran of World War I and the Mexican border campaign of 1916. A sports fisherman, he was also active in the James River Conservation Commission and was president of the Cohoke Fishing Club.

1920—
William M. Phipps died May 9 after a long illness.

Before starting his law practice in Norfolk, he had served in the armed forces during World War I.

1924—
Albert M. Austin Jr. died last spring in Memphis, Tenn.

1925—
Carleton E. Jewett, judge of Richmond’s Traffic Court and Police Court Part II, died this August in a Richmond hospital.

Judge Jewett, 63, suffered a heart attack the week before his death while recovering from major abdominal surgery.

Judge Jewett served six years on Richmond City Council and 25 years as a local judge. He was a member of the board of trustees of Central Methodist Church, a past master of Manchester Masonic Lodge No. 14, AF & AM, member of Scottish Rite and Aca Temple and also a member of the board of governors of the Masonic Orphanage.

1926—
Walter Scott Street Jr., president of the A. E. Tate Lumber Co., died June 30 in a Richmond hospital. He was 56.

A member of the River Road Baptist Church, Mr. Street had served on the board of administration and as deacon for two 3-year terms. He was a member of the Virginia Builders Association, the National Home Builders Association and the Willow Oakes Country Club.

1930—
Harold M. Woodall, 51, former New York theatrical personality, died September 1 in a Richmond hospital.

During his career in show business he played as guest artist with Andre Kostelanetz, served as piano accompanist with Tony Martin, Hildegarde, Dorothy Lamour, and Gracie Fields, appeared on the stage with Margaret Sullavan, and served as vocal coach for Howard Keel, Doreta Morrow and June Allyson.

Mr. Woodall began his career at the age of 12 when he played with an orchestra at the Country Club of Virginia. Later he served as organist at the Colonial and National theaters and at All Saints Episcopal Church.

A pioneer in television, Mr. Woodall joined Imogene Coca in experimental shows as early as 1939. He also had appeared in dramatic and musical radio shows on the NBC and CBS networks.

Mr. Woodall appeared on the stage at the Roxy Theater and served as musical conductor for Ed Sullivan on tour. A composer, he had written special material for several entertainers.

During World War II he was in special services and entertained troops in the China-Burma-India Theater with a group led by Tony Martin.

EDWARD HUTSON TITMUS

Edward Hutson Titmus, Sr., 84, chairman of the board of the Titmus Optical Co. in Petersburg and a past member of the board of trustees of the University of Richmond, died in August.

Mr. Titmus established a small jewelry store 50 years ago which has been built into one of the country’s leading manufacturing optical companies.

The Titmus Foundation, Inc. was set up in 1950 by Titmus to give financial assistance to a wide range of religious, charitable, scientific and educational organizations.

A RARE COMBINATION OF RESORT LUXURY, IN-TOWN CONVENIENCE AND SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY!

- Swimming Pool
- Piped in Music
- Beautifully Landscaped Grounds
- Minutes from Downtown Richmond
- Adjacent to Willow Lawn
- Richmond's Smartest Shopping Center

Superb In-Hotel Dining
Every Hotel Service
Every Motel Convenience Closest to University of Richmond and Westhampton College

Write for folder and information

5215 W. Broad St., Richmond 30, Va.
Phone: AT 8-4011
members of the Virginia Antique Automobile Association. Student organizations will vie for the trophies offered for the best and most novel entries.

Alumni who are members of social fraternities are being exhorted by the undergraduates to visit their lodges and to sign the registers. The fraternity which brings back the largest percentage of its old grads will receive a special trophy. There also will be a trophy for the best decorations.

The queen, whose name will be kept secret until the half-time coronation, will be one of eight finalists in the campus talent contest. Homecoming arrangements were made by a committee headed by William C. Farmer, '50.

Practical Politics
(Continued from page 2)

Campaign appeals regularly contained soaring exaltations of the candidates. Jefferson was praised as "the enlightened citizen, the patriot, the philosopher, and friend of man," and he was called "a man of pure, ardent and unaffected piety; of sincere and genuine virtue; of an enlightened mind and superior wisdom; the adorer of our God; the patriot of his country; and the friend and benefactor of the whole human race."

Another party announcement called for the support of the man "whose talents as governor of his native state, as an ambassador abroad, as legislator and secretary of state . . . have been from first to last to promote toleration in religion and freedom in politics." The man who "routine clearly has a long history.

Religion was a prominent issue in the presidential election of 1800, and Republicans answered the Federalist attacks on Jefferson by stressing his nominee's devotion to religious toleration and appealing to as many religious groups as possible. The Federalists were attacking Jefferson, protested a Republican publication, "because he is not a fanatic, nor willing that the Quaker, the Baptist, the Methodist, or any other denominations of Christians, should pay the pastors of other sects; because he does not think that a Catholic should be banished for believing in transubstantiation, or a Jew, for believing in the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob."

Although Jefferson may have envisioned the triumph of his party not as the victory of a party but of the American people, he worked within the party to carry the election of 1800 and approached the contest in the manner of a practical politician. He was active in urging Republican spokesmen to prepare pamphlets and party handbills, and he himself acted as a sort of private clearinghouse for the distribution of party tracts. Jefferson's correspondence reveals that he personally arranged for the distribution of large numbers of campaign pamphlets, and he was careful to direct this party literature into the hands of persons who could most benefit the party. In sending a dozen political tracts to James Monroe, he instructed: "I wish you to give these to the most influential characters among our country-men, who are only misled, are candid enough to be open to conviction, and who may have most effect on their neighbors."

Jefferson also made use of the elaborate Republican party machinery which had been set up in Virginia in 1800. This first formal party machinery in the state consisted of a state-wide organization headed by a central committee in Richmond and local committees in most of the counties of the state. During the campaign of 1800, Jefferson sent eight dozen copies of Thomas Cooper's Political Arithmetic, a protest against commercial expansion, to the chairman of the central committee requesting that one pamphlet be sent to each county committee in the state. "Tho' I know the immediate object of your institution," wrote Jefferson, "yet I consider it as a most valuable object, to which the institution may most usefully be applied. I trust yourself only with the secret that these pamphlets go from me. You will readily see what a handle would be made of my advocating their contents. I must leave to yourself therefore to say how they come to you."

After Jefferson became President he continued to work within the party structure in his handling of patronage, in his relations with Congress, and in his continuing contacts with party leaders throughout the country. Although he said in his inaugural address, "We are all Republicans—we are all Federalists," and at the opening of his administration he made some attempts to reconcile the Federalists, he soon abandoned this hope and administered the government as a party President.

The widespread American propensity to deprecate practical politics would appear to be founded in part upon a tendency to ignore the practical operation of politics in the past. The fact that today the man who is 'above politics' is likely to command more respect than the 'politician' is due in some measure to the failure to realize that the past development and operation of the nation's political system has been in large part the result of the work of practical politicians. The study of politics in the first two decades of the young republic reveals clearly that the new government in its formative years owed much to the practical politicians. To recognize that Jefferson and other early American heroes were also practical politicians should not be shunned as disparagement of their records but acknowledged as part of the operation of the American political system, whose record of success is without parallel in history.

50,000 Missionaries
(Continued from page 5)

the United States. One does not have to enumerate all or only the good things about this country to draw the admiration of foreign observers. A clear picture of the growth and ripening of this democracy should be sufficient.

The USIA could do a priceless job by establishing in this country a separate bureau for the affairs of foreign students in this country. Such a bureau would sponsor the publication of a magazine furnishing scholarly and authentic reports concerning the problems of the day. It should include essays on American history, especially those facts which deal with the present international scene. It should contain timely articles dealing with establishment and maintenance of mutually beneficial relations between the United States and foreign governments. It would also be very desirable if such a magazine contained basic hints on current American slang to facilitate the free expression of ideas. Many of these articles could be reprinted from other publications, and others could be contributed by specialists in the given fields of interest. Numerous other ideas would be likely to emerge from such an undertaking for which the magazine could serve as a common ground of exchange.

But this is by no means the job of a single agency, since the problem embraces the whole of the country. Private citizens could assist mightily in giving the visiting students a sense of awareness through their civic and religious organizations, and through direct person-to-person contact. First hand impressions could then be gained by both the visiting students and their hosts. This would help the United States and foreign citizens to better understand their own society while explaining it to others.

Some bridging of the gap between American ideals and the foreign student's concept of this country's desires and intentions seems imperative. If understanding and trust cannot be won from those who are viewing this country on the spot, they will never be able to tell the American story once they return to their native lands. As a student who has lived here for several years, and who has acquired a modest acquaintance with the American way of life, I trust that once the magnitude of the problem is realized, the American people will, as always, come through.

With The Faculty
(Continued from page 6)

writing a doctoral dissertation for the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Thomas Mason Harris, Assistant Professor in the Biology Department, is also writing a dissertation to be submitted at Chapel Hill. Matriculating at Emory, he then taught school in Bristol, Tenn., and worked as a supervisor for the Western Electric Company before beginning the course of graduate study.

Charles Howard Newton, who joins the faculty this fall as assistant professor of sociology, is a native of Nebraska who has been doing graduate work at Florida State University. A veteran of the United States Air Force, Mr. Newton’s chief research interest at the moment is in the patterns of career choice as among the professions.

Assistant Professor F. David Sanders is a new member of the English Department with published poems to his credit. A Baltimore native with a magna cum laude degree from Bob Jones University, Mr. Sanders is putting the finishing touches on a dissertation entitled "A Critical Edition of Horae Subsecvae (1620)" for the University of North Carolina.

Harley Ray Stafford, instructor in mathematics, comes to us from the Space Technology Laboratories in California. A native of Nebraska and veteran of Korea (Naval Aviation), he has taken degrees at Western Washington College and the University of Kansas. Mr. Stafford assembled a paper not long ago on the numerical solution of a partial differential equation as part of his work in computer analysis for the Douglas Aircraft Company.

Richard Barry Westin, instructor in history, is a graduate of Grove City College with a master’s degree from Duke. A native of the Buffalo area, he is married to Edwina Jane Adams of Pittsburgh and has two little girls.

Benjamin J. Jones comes to coach freshman football and varsity golf and to teach physical education. A Pennsylvania and Marine Corps veteran, Coach Jones has degrees from East Stroudsburg State College and New York University and is pursuing a doctoral program at the University of Maryland. He has been the head football coach at a number of high schools in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

George Gouldin, instructor in French and Spanish, is an air force veteran with degrees or certificates from Richmond, R. P. I., Grenoble, and the University of Madrid. He assisted last year in the Westhampton language laboratory.

Charles M. Bowden, instructor in physics, took his bachelor’s degree at Richmond in 1956 and then completed a master’s program at the University of Virginia in 1959. Recently he has been engaged in radio-astronomical work at the Naval Research Laboratory, one of his projects being the radiometric measurement of the moon.

Robert H. Bell, who is joining the chemistry department as instructor, is a native of Virginia with degrees in biology and pharmacy from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the Medical College of Virginia, respectively. He is about to complete a program leading to a master’s degree in pharmaceutical chemistry at the Medical College.

Dean E. F. Overton has returned from a two-months trip to Europe where he studied methods of education in Denmark, Holland, Germany, and Belgium. On his sabbatical he visited his son Edward, on duty with the Air Force in London, and toured the British Isles before coming home. (Dr. Smart served as acting dean of the summer school during the second term.)

Professor E. M. Last conducted the 7th Annual Program for Executive Development at the University of Virginia this June. The faculty and guest lecturers included Pearce Atkins, M. L. Greenhut, E. W. Gregory, Jr., James W. Payne, Edward C. Peple, R. F. Smart, and J. T. Taylor.

Dr. Last also was on the staff of the School of Bank Management at the University of Virginia in August.

Mamie Spangler of the education department was on the staff of the University of Indiana Summer School for the first part of the summer, then left for a "grand tour" of Europe.

Dr. E. W. Gregory, Jr., professor of sociology, is on the technical staff of the Evaluation Committee, a subcommittee of the Greater Metropolitan Committee on the Richmond-Henrico merger.

Mervyn W. Wingfield attended the annual meeting of the American Accounting Association at the University of Texas August 28-30, then took an automobile tour of Guanavaca, Taxco, Guanajuato, and Queretaro from Mexico City. He is director of professional development for the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, and chairman of the education committee for the Richmond chapter, National Society for Business Budgeting.

Mr. Dale Dewey Spoor, new lecturer in marketing at the School of Business Administration, is a native of Virginia with an M. I. T. degree. Recently retired from operations at the Westhampton Company in the Midwest, Mr. Spoor has been active for years in Freemasonry and in alumni work for M. I. T.

Miss Anne Inman, President Modlin’s secretary, and Miss Frances McRae of Dean Holtzclaw’s office are leaving the University for matrimony and retirement, respectively. Miss Inman wed Mr. Carl E. Watkins at the First Baptist Church on Friday, September 22. The newlyweds will live in Chicago. Miss McRae, who has helped many a graduate student take his academic hurdles since she transferred from the Westhampton College office about fifteen years ago, is retiring to her home at 5706 Lowry Street in Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stone returned from Europe in July on the Queen Elizabeth, and were pleased to meet Professor and Mrs. M. E. Carver on the boat. The Stones visited England, Scotland, France, Holland, Switzerland, and Italy, suffering plenty of cold weather during the month of June. While at Wimbledon they paid a visit on Mrs. Cyril Broome (Mildred Campbell ’23).
He Worked For FREEDOM

In 1611, when the Virginia colony seemed on the verge of collapse, Sir Thomas Dale became deputy governor. It was a sorry situation that he faced.

Under the policy of common ownership and production, the colony was failing. The men were indifferent. Little work was done, and many were starving.

Then, Dale introduced private ownership—and struck the spark of individual initiative in the hearts of the colonists. Virginia was saved, and John Rolfe wrote that now every man could sit under his own “fig tree safely, gathering and reaping the fruits of their labors with great joy and comfort.”

This was the true beginning of the American way of life—and of the spirit of free enterprise that has made and kept us strong.
Unlock a new world of fresh smoking pleasure

Start fresh Stay fresh with L&M

...Smoke after smoke, your taste stays fresh!

L&M's fine tobaccos are better-tasting — they're fresher when you smoke them. Your taste stays fresher — L&M's are never drying to your taste. The secret: L&M's special moisturizing seals in natural freshness and flavor. And you get L&M's famous Miracle Tip for the cleanest, freshest taste possible. Start fresh with L'M today.

A difference you can taste — a difference you can feel!

Moisturizing is the secret. This is the modern advance in tobacco care that seals in natural freshness and flavor — until you unlock it with a light. We call it Flavor-Seal — you'll call it great!

Get fresh-tasting, best-tasting L'M...pack or box.