The Wisdom of the Past

"EVERY ONE OF YOU IS THE LEADER."

Xenophon to his army

When Xenophon spoke these words, more than 2,000 years ago, he appealed to that spirit of individual responsibility that made the Greek character and nation among the most admired in all history.

With that spirit, the army of Xenophon marched to a seemingly impossible victory. With that spirit, men and nations have marched to greatness since the world began.

Our own nation won its freedom and built its strength as a nation of leaders. When we lose this spirit of independence, when we surrender our individual responsibilities to an expanding government, when we ignore the erosion of our personal liberties — then we sap our strength as a nation, and endanger the freedom of generations yet to come.

Let us accept the challenge of Xenophon. Let us all be leaders.

BOB STONE

"If it hadn't been for Mr. Stone I wouldn't have gotten through college."

Perhaps a score of alumni have uttered that sentence in praise and appreciation of the helping hand given them, particularly in those fearsome depression years, by Robert M. Stone.

Bob Stone worked his way through college; in fact, he worked his way through life. He had respect for honest toil and was quick to aid students whose financial difficulties were making rocky their road to graduation.

He carried a double load in college, working in the treasurer's office under the late B. West Tabb and in the classroom where he won his LL.B. degree in 1930 and was admitted to the State Bar. In 1939 when he was elevated to business manager, Mr. Tabb said publicly that Mr. Stone had "served the University with marked ability and with great loyalty."

In later years his service to the University included the many-faceted job of directing the activities of the Student Center building. For him it was a labor of love and again one which kept him in close and daily association with the students.

A native of Buckingham County, Mr. Stone attended Fork Union Military Academy. His education was interrupted by World War I in which he engaged, as a sergeant, in active service at the front.

After the war, he worked for a while as a clerk at the Westmoreland Club but resigned to accept a job at the University in order that he might continue his education.

One of the students he met in the treasurer's office was Mildred Pulliam who came in to cash a check. He married her. She gave him two children, Robert, '50, of Roanoke, and Mrs. T. Hugh Nelson of Upper Montclair, N. J., who in turn have given him six grandchildren.

Wherever Mr. Stone goes, he makes friends who recognize his worth, and appreciate his unassuming modesty. Fork Union, where he prepared for the University, made him a member of its board of trustees and over a period of years he has had a significant role in directing the destiny of this progressive school. He currently serves as secretary of the Fork Union School of Business Administration.

He served as treasurer of Theta Chi's Alumni Association for 25 years and also as president of the Alumni Board. He was active in the organization of the Alumni Council in 1934 and served continuously as its treasurer until his retirement this year.

All of his career was marked by one word, Service. He gave generously of himself to the University over a period of 42 years and now at retirement age he deserves the leisure that he has never known. He carries with him the affectionate best wishes of the alumni of the University of Richmond. His "contributions to the strengthening of this institution," as President Modlin said, "have had an indelible influence that will be felt through all the years to come."
Alumni Day was a huge success despite an over-zealous fire department that threatened to wash the barbecue right off the menu.

Few of the hundreds of men and women who partook of the juicy spareribs knew that Alton Williams, professor and chef, had had to perform a minor miracle to get the food ready on time.

Al, who learned the art of barbecuing from his father out on the west coast, had supervised the digging of the pit and the cutting of the wood to the most exact specifications. The fire was made—and banked—so that there would be a deep bed of fiery faggots over which to barbecue the ribs.

In the early morning a fire truck, passing the scene on the return trip from another errand, halted beside the pit—and filled it full of water!

When Prof. Williams got the word at 5 o'clock in the morning, he sprang into action. He supervised the removal of the muck and the laying of the wood for the new fire. At 4:30 o'clock the ribs were barbecued to a queen's taste for the alumni and their guests who fell to heartily after witnessing our Spiders defeat William and Mary in baseball, 11 to 2.

After the baseball game the old grads and their guests attended a pops concert in Cannon Memorial Chapel with Jack Jarrett wielding the baton.

It was a happy ending to a day which began with 8:30 classes for early-risers. Registration on the Student Center lawn, sight-seeing tours and entertainment by student groups occupied the morning hours.

And at the luncheon the old grads gave a big hand—and a bigger check—to guest of honor Robert M. Stone, '30, who retires this year after serving the University in several important capacities for 42 years.
"I know this is the most beautiful swimming pool in the entire world."

That was the estimate of Mrs. Frances Anderson Stallard, president-elect of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association and chairman of the committee which gave leadership to the three-year crash program that brought in $125,000 of the $185,000 raised by alumnae.

Mrs. Stallard’s estimate was also the consensus of Westhampton alumnae, young and old, who gathered from far and near to dedicate the Fanny Graves Crenshaw swimming pool on Alumnae Day, June 8.

They agreed it was worth waiting for. They were proud that the great majority of Westhampton’s 3,000 alumnae had contributed to the five-lane, 75-foot pool which is named for Westhampton’s first director of physical education and one of only two survivors (Dean May L. Keller is the other) of the original faculty which came to Westhampton in 1914.

Seven memorial plaques were unveiled at the colorful dedication exercises over which Mrs. Mary Owen Bass of Wilmington, Del., presided as president of the Alumnae Association. The dedicatory speech was made by Mrs. May Thompson Evans who, at the conclusion of her remarks, snipped the Red and Blue ribbons extending across the pool.

Mrs. Evans, a special assistant and editor in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, hailed the new pool and the resulting aquatic program as an important contribution to the physical fitness program at Westhampton. She called attention to President Kennedy’s assertion that "the softening process of our civilization continues to carry on its persistent erosion."

At the luncheon which followed, the alumnae expressed their affection and esteem for Mrs. Leslie Sessoms Booker, alumnae secretary, by presenting her with a silver dish. The occasion was her 20th anniversary as alumnae secretary.

MRS. CLARA EPPS UNVEILS a memorial plaque presented by the Richmond Female Institute-Woman’s College Alumnae. It is one of seven plaques unveiled at the dedication.

TO LESLIE WITH LOVE. Mrs. Leslie Sessoms Booker, for 20 years executive secretary of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association, receives an ovation from the old grads and a silver bowl, presented by Mrs. Harriet Sharon Willingham, a member of the University’s board of trustees.

ROSSES FOR FANNY “G.” Miss Lorraine Chapman presents American Beauties to Miss Fanny G. Crenshaw for whom the new pool is named. Miss Chapman, a physical education major, is now teaching at Collegiate School in Richmond.
Announcing plans to conduct a fund-raising campaign in the city of Richmond between November 1964 and April 1965 for funds needed for the erection of essential buildings, President Modlin listed three as rating top priority:

A new dormitory for men.
A building downtown to house University College.
A fine arts building.

Relatives and friends of the 1963 graduating class who a few hours later crowded into the auditorium of the First Baptist Church for the commencement exercises were in agreement that a fourth building also should rate the priority list: an auditorium on the campus.

President Modlin regarded as equally urgent the erection of a building downtown for University College which began operation this session as the seventh division of the University. Nine students of this newest division were among the 347 men and women who received degrees at the University's 133rd commencement.

University College was created to serve metropolitan Richmond in four fields:

1. An evening program of college credit courses leading to the degree of bachelor of commerce (the area formerly served by the evening division of the School of Business Administration);
2. An evening program of graduate courses leading to the degrees of master of commerce and master of humanities;
3. A Business Management Center providing both on-campus and in-plant training for business and industry (some 40 Richmond business executives attended a conference on the University campus a week after commencement to hear outlined the program of the center and to meet its new director, Richard S. Underhill, a former executive vice president of a Michigan equipment manufacturing company);
4. A junior college offering two years of liberal arts subjects to full-time day students living in the Richmond area.

The capped-and-gowned seniors who marched into the beautiful sanctuary of the First Baptist Church composed the second largest graduating class in the history of the University. The commencement speaker, Dr. Walter Pope Binns, reminded them that the answers to life's "big questions" cannot be found in textbooks or test tubes but are "born of faith and hope."

The commencement was a sad occasion for the family of David Ross Goode, one of the most talented members of the Richmond College class, who was killed in an automobile accident shortly before graduation. His bachelor of science degree was awarded posthumously.

Among the most encouraging developments was the upswing in teachers' salaries which ranged from $3900 to $4900 for ten months and averaged $4400.

In addition to the degrees in course, the University conferred six honorary degrees.

Dr. Gamble, in preaching the baccalaureate sermon the night preceding graduation, told the graduates that the answers to life's "big questions" cannot be found in textbooks or test tubes but are "born of faith and hope."

Each man must struggle, Gamble said, to "discover" himself and his relationship to God. This discovery will be made only by "those who are willing to commit themselves to an ultimate decision and never to break down," he said, "in the search for ultimate truth."

The commencement was a sad occasion for the widow, parents and other members of the family of David Ross Goode, one of the most talented members of the Richmond College class, who was killed in an automobile accident shortly before graduation. His bachelor of science degree was awarded posthumously.

A great many of the degree winners—57 per cent in Richmond College—will go on to graduate and professional schools. For those who elected to sell their services, the prospects were rosier than at any time in the school's history, especially for the very best students and most particularly for those who had outstanding undergraduate careers in the natural sciences and mathematics.

Starting salaries ranged upward to $7200 and two of those in the top bracket were Westhampton College mathematics majors who were starting at $6650.

A man of broad interests whose favorite pastime is taking long walks is the new president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. He is W. Braddock Hickman, University of Richmond '33, whose outstanding career in the fields of economics, education and finance led to his appointment in February, 1960, as senior vice president of the bank he has headed since May 1.

Ever since coming to the bank Brad has expressed confidence in a "bright future" for the Fourth Federal Reserve District. This embraces Ohio, western Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky and the panhandle of West Virginia...the "Ruhr of America."

The Cleveland Fed, with assets of $41/2 billion, is the fourth largest of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks which, with the Board of Governors at Washington, D. C., comprise the central banking system of the United States.

A measure of his sense of the humanities is the fact that in less than three and a half years Brad has gotten to know many of the 5,600 staff members in the Cleveland office and its branches at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh by their first names.

His almost infinite capacity for hard work is well-remembered by his '33 classmates. To help pay his way through four years at the university Brad played the saxophone with a dance orchestra.

He also played in the University of Richmond band; was elected vice president of the Economics Club; was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and, before obtaining his Bachelor of Arts degree, had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Brad received a Ph.D. degree in economics from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, the city where he was born on April 20, 1911. While at Johns Hopkins he was a fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

Between 1937 and 1942 he was a member of the faculties of Princeton and Rutgers Universities and of the Institute for Advanced Study. During World War II he served as a lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserve, specializing in exterior ballistics, statistics and automatic computing devices.

After the war Brad was director of the Corporate Bond Research Project of the National Bureau of Economic Research, Inc., and became supervisor of economic studies for the New York Life Insurance Company.

In 1956 he became associated with American Airlines, Inc., New York City, as director of economic research. The following year he was promoted to assistant vice president-economic research and played a major role in the financing of American Airlines' jet equipment. He left that position in February 1960, to become senior vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

"My job," Brad said upon his appointment as president of the bank, "is to interpret business developments in the dynamic Fourth District to help form the Federal Reserve System's monetary policy."

Brad pointed out that the seven members of the Board of Governors of the System and five of the 12 Federal Reserve Bank presidents, four of them on a rotating basis, are members of the Open Market Committee, which controls the Fed's vital activities in the Government securities market to help keep the economy on an even keel.

"The responsibilities of a Federal Reserve Bank," he said, "are divided into two main categories. One is monetary policy, related to the economic outlook, employment, and so on. The second involves services performed for banks, the Government and business generally.

"Monetary policy is more an art than a science. You could write volumes about it, but little that would have uniform validity. It is a matter which must be specifically tailored to the changing economic environment.

"The service functions of a Federal Reserve Bank remain fairly constant, at least over short periods of time, and therefore can be discussed with some meaning."

As a newcomer to central banking I am impressed by the volume and variety of our operations," Brad declared.

"For instance, we are the bank of issue for all currency and coin that is needed in our District. Every month we pay out $150 million in currency and $12 million in coin. We process over a million checks each working day. We are sorting magnetic ink encoded checks on high speed electronic equipment to keep pace with this growing avalanche of paper.

"As fiscal agents for the U. S. Government we issue E Bonds for payroll plan savers; issue and redeem other Treasury financing; pay coupons from U. S. Government bonds; receive withheld tax deposits from employers; accept deposits from post offices; redeem food stamps for the Department of Agriculture; and burn up unfit Treasury currency.

"We hold huge amounts of securities of member banks in safekeeping. This service saves time and money for banks that want to buy or sell securities, perhaps to adjust their reserves to the legal requirements."

Brad, who is listed in Who's Who in America, has written a number of articles and books that have gained wide attention in financial fields in recent years. Among his books are:

The Volume of Corporate Bond Financing since 1900 (1953); Corporate Bond Quality and Investor Experience (1958); and Statistical Measures of Corporate Bond Financing (1959).

He is chairman of the Advisory Committee of the National Bureau of Economic Research's Study on Interest Rates, and is active in more than a dozen financial, professional and philanthropic organizations.

Brad and Mrs. Hickman—she is the former Miss Audrey Spencer Dobson—met during his second year of high school in Baltimore. They were married at the end of his junior year at the University of Richmond.

Mrs. Hickman is distinguished in her own right as a painter, with numerous exhibits and prizes to her credit.

One of the Hickmans' hobbies is visiting antique shops and occasionally picking up a rarity. They favor the 18th century American period and are proud of "a few good pieces" they have managed to acquire for their Shaker Heights apartment.
Gridmen Face Toughest Schedule

By WALT DREWRY

"If our quarterbacks come through," says University of Richmond Football Coach Ed Merrick, "we should be on a par or better than last year's club."

The 1962 Spiders lost three of their first four games and then came on fast to capture their last five, all in heroic come-from-behind fashion, for a 6-3 record, the school's best mark since 1946. Twenty-one lettermen are expected to return this fall. Thirteen will be seniors.

Merrick, however, realizes that the Spiders have quite a task on their hands, for they face the toughest schedule in history with such clubs as Tennessee, Florida and Syracuse on their slate. So it will take somewhat of a miracle to match last year's record.

The chief loss was Quarterback Mel Rideout, Richmond's passing whiz for the past three years who was signed by the Baltimore Colts. Bill Silvi, a 6-0, 188-pound junior who was Rideout's understudy last year, and Ronnie Smith, a 6-4, 225-pound transfer student from Wake Forest, must fill Rideout's shoes. Senior Bill Sommers sees service chiefly on defense.

At the completion of spring drills, Merrick said he still was undecided about his quarterbacks until he had seen them perform under actual game conditions. Silvi, who can run as well as pass, had a fine spring but had three tosses intercepted in spring practice; Dick Foutz and Fred Manasco held key to behind fashion, for a 6-3 record, the school's four games and then came on fast to capture their spring work.

Both starting tackles, Seniors Al Mitchell and Larry Duty, return along with Junior Letterman John Deeter. John Sheranek, ineligible last year, also is expected back this fall.

Senior Letterman Ken Wilbourn, who averaged 4.2 yards a carry last season; Warren Hayes, who ran so well in late season games; Kenny Stoudt, shifty 167-pound junior; Tommy Peacock, shifted from fullback, and Mike Smelser and Norris Aldridge provide an adequate running attack from the halfback posts.

Senior Larry Deco returns at fullback and will have Sophomores Ron Gordon and Barry Crawford to back him up.

Merrick also believes he's lined up a number of junior college transfers who will help provide depth for the 1963 eleven.

The Schedule

Alumni from Gainesville, Fla., to Syracuse, N. Y., will have an opportunity to witness the Spiders who will play five of their 10 games on the road.

The home schedule includes the season's opener with East Carolina, Davidson, V.M.I., the Homecoming game with Virginia Tech and the traditional Thanksgiving fray with William and Mary.

Information about the home games will be found on the order blank. Other games: Sept. 21, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, 2 p.m., $4.00; Oct. 1, University of Florida, Gainesville, 2 p.m., $5.00; Oct. 12, University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, 2:30 p.m.; $4.00; Nov. 9, The Citadel, Charleston, S. C., 2 p.m., $3.25; Nov. 16, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., 1:30 p.m., $4.00.

Above—Thirty-five unbelievably excited students with six other members of the University party board the bus that took them to Idlewild Airport. The driver got lost in Brooklyn, and arrived with only minutes to spare! The tour's conductor, Associate Professor James A. Moncure of the Department of History, taught two on-the-spot courses in European history.

It is nearly midnight, June 17th, and thirty-five University of Richmond Summer School students aboard this airship are beginning to quiet down after a long trip that began by bus at the Boatwright Library on the University campus fourteen hours and nearly two thousand miles ago. Utter darkness covers our world 35,000 feet above sea level and above the clouds, and only a few seat lights pierce the night as a few of the more restless spirits continue to read and chat. With these students in the Boeing 707 jet Intercontinental air cruiser are six other members of the University party and more than one hundred other passengers.

Our jet rose quickly from the International Airport in New York causing our ears to pop as we rose above the clouds in time to glimpse the rays of the sun reflecting upon the clouds. Within an hour attractive French stewardesses were serving hungry students a fare of French cuisine that, as one student commented, contrasted vividly with the Richmond College refectory. Saumon froid basquaise and Supreme de dinde rotie revived our flagging spirits, and the French patisserie provided the perfect finishing touch!

James Moncure reports on . . .

Summer School in Europe

It is difficult to realize that we are traveling toward our destination—Rome—at over 500 mph, and that our night will be cut short by five hours because we are traveling eastward at such high speed.

The University of Richmond Summer School Study Abroad Program began yesterday—Sunday—with a Bon Voyage party in the student center, and resumed this morning when our bus left the campus at 9:15 a.m. The students were excited beyond de-
Earl Long, a Richmond College student from Mobile, Alabama, exclaimed, "If it wasn’t for this program, we would be attending classes tomorrow in the basement of Ryland Hall! Now we shall have our first class in Rome."

Within minutes after departure from Richmond the students had improvised tables and were dealing hands for bridge. Others were learning how to say "please," "thank you," "where is the rest room?" and other key words and phrases in Italian. One or two questions were raised about the recent Italian elections and present political conditions in Italy. Many questions were asked about papal election procedures. The learning process in the two courses being offered on this program had begun.

We began to lose valuable time when our bus reached the approaches to Holland Tunnel, and tension mounted when our bus driver lost his way in Brooklyn! We finally stopped at a precinct station and the police said we were forty blocks out of the way. We did not reach International Airport until 7:15, only 45 minutes before flight time and only 15 minutes after our arrival deadline. Officials awaiting us at the terminal were frantic just as we were relieved to be there in time for the flight. It took only a few minutes for us to go through the necessary procedures to board the plane and begin our trans-Atlantic voyage. There wasn’t enough time for them to weigh our luggage carefully!

Only weariness provided a balm for the acute anticipation of the students. And there were the priceless off-the-cuff remarks of members of the group. To Jimmy, six-year-old son of Professor and Mrs. Moncure, the clouds looked like balls of cotton. To the Rev. Meddie Taylor, a Richmond minister auditing the courses, it reminded him of what Heaven must be like. "How exciting," remarked still another when dinner was served, "We shall have a picnic in the sky!"

The night will be a short one, and the sun should begin to rise in the east at 1 a.m. New York time. The interest in this flight itself is going to give way to our expected arrival in Rome! Where else and others will eat dinner at sidewalk cafes and watch the pretty Roman girls. Richmond College students are alike all over the world! Two half-day tours have been arranged to give us a general impression of the city. There will be leisure later in the week to see once again those places that could one best begin a course in medieval European history? To tread the grounds once walked by the Etruscans, the caesars, and the saints; to take the time to study these events within a disciplined context; and to take tours and in our leisure to return to visit favorite sites will offer a new and vivid dimension to courses too long confined to the college campus.

The papal election will be the central drama in Rome when we arrive tomorrow morning. The sixth pope to be elected in the twentieth century will create for us a vivid impression of procedures established as early as 1059 by Pope Nicholas II. The medieval Church, with its pomp and circumstance, will be recreated for us much as a British coronation brings to life for us the ancient splendor of a great nation.

The Eternal City will have for the students many other special attractions. Some will gaze at the ruins of ancient Rome, and others will visit without its Coliseum, and the American tourist without her camera. Three of our students snap away at the ruins.

The route which the group will take. Rome, Venice, Munich, Lucerne, Paris and London are all on the itinerary.

In Rome, Edward Coogan, Jo Anne Cropper and Ann Sartoris enjoy a favorite Italian pastime—bargaining with a fruit vendor.

What would Rome be like without its Coliseum, and the American tourist without her camera?
Margaret Rudd—Teacher and Missionary

By NANCY McCULLOUGH

PICKANDS

"Miss Rudd is more than a teacher—she is a missionary!"

This is a remark made recently by one of her colleagues. It impressed me instantly as a perfect description of the woman and the teacher, for they are one and the same. To be sure, all of us who have known her in the classroom and have been inspired by her love and enthusiasm for Spanish, know that it is precisely this missionary spirit that makes Miss Rudd such an effective teacher. And now, with the publication of her first book, The Lone Heretic (University of Texas Press), she has shown us another example of dedication. After twenty-six years of research, indeed, fascination with every aspect of his life, Miss Rudd has given us new and intimate insights into the life of one of Spain’s greatest thinkers, Miguel de Unamuno.

(After twenty-one years on the Westhampton faculty, Margaret T. Rudd resigned in June to devote her time to writing and translating. She is now living at 5806 Franklin Ave., Falls Church, Va.—Ed.)

As a teacher, endowed with missionary spirit, Miss Rudd’s attitude toward her profession goes far beyond dedication. To her, teaching is a way of life. Whether it is a class in language or literature, a drill in pronunciation or a lecture on Cervantes; whether it is a lively classroom discussion of Latin-American politics or the tenth rehearsal of the annual Spanish Project, Miss Rudd’s heart is always in whatever she is doing. Pervading enthusiasm and sense of humor are always with her. A friend cogently expressed this thought one day as we were leaving Spanish class, when she said, “You know, Miss Rudd is one teacher who gives everything she has.” We may well add, “and she has so much to give!” And (alas!) in return, no one can deny that she expects the very same from all her students, from the Spanish major to the freshman fulfilling a language requirement. With this kind of inspiration she has given many Westhampton girls a firm foundation for any endeavor in the field—graduate study, teaching, and above all, speaking and using the language as a living language.

It is not, after all, so difficult to understand how she could have devoted twenty-six years of study to one man. First, there is the initial attraction based on Unamuno’s resemblance to her own father, a missionary. This was Unamuno the crusader. His mission was to discover and to teach the truth in a country steeped in tradition and stifled by religious orthodoxy. In matters of religion, to doubt, as Unamuno did every day of his life, was heresy. Hence, the lone heretic! It seems a paradox that Miss Rudd finds a resemblance in these two men, one, who derived his philosophy from doubt, and the other, her father, a Baptist missionary and a man of staunch Christian faith. Both however, were crusaders, and both missionaries. There was also Unamuno the teacher. One cannot but feel that she must have been strongly attracted by this aspect of his personality. For it is known that one of Unamuno’s greatest satisfactions in life, as with Miss Rudd, was his relationship to his students, the hours he spent in formal and informal discussions with young people. There was, finally, Unamuno the individualist. He believed that Spain’s unique gift to humanity was not to be found in any literary or philosophical trend, rather in individuals such as Santa Teresa and others. Unamuno himself was a prime example of Spanish individualism, standing alone in all his crusades and refusing to be allied with any literary or political group. To try to summarize his life and personality here would be impossible. Those of us who know Miss Rudd, however, especially as a teacher, know that these are some of the qualities most typical of her own approach to life.

On one occasion Miss Rudd told me she could never have written this biography without identifying, to a certain degree, with Unamuno. Indeed, her approach to any subject, and to all her students, is a very personal one. I was reminded of my former teacher when I later heard another professor say of himself: “At the end of this year you will have, not only a course in literature, but a man, with all his faults and virtues!” None of us will ever forget Miss Rudd’s personal involvement as she talked of the faith of Santa Teresa, the love of Gabriela Mistral, or even Unamuno’s agonizing search for God. Now, none of us can read her vivid description of the land of Castile in her opening words and not share the emotion with her. Certainly, with this book, as with all her classes, we have something of the woman.

It is appropriate that the outstanding hispanist and writer Federico de Onis has written the preface to Miss Rudd’s first book. De Onis, who is from Salamanca and studied under Unamuno there, founded the Spanish Department at Columbia University and served as its Chairman until recently. It has been said of him that, aside from his valuable contribution to literary criticism, one of his great contributions is his personal influence on Spanish teachers throughout the country who carry on the tradition he established. We, at Westhampton, are fortunate to know and to have studied under one such teacher.

The publication of The Lone Heretic is an auspicious beginning for a new career in writing. Miss Rudd’s students are proud to have shared with its author unforgettable days in the classroom.
The University of Richmond's Captain's Club will honor the 1939 football team at the club's annual banquet at the John Marshall Hotel on Saturday night, November 2, following the Virginia Tech-Richmond Homecoming game at Richmond City Stadium that afternoon.

The 1939 Spiders, coached by the late Glenn Thistlethwaite, won seven games, lost one and tied two—the second best record in UR football history. Only the '34 eleven, which was honored last year, did better. It posted an 8-1 record.

Ed Merrick, the present Richmond grid coach, was the captain and an outstanding center on the '39 club. His play that season won him All-State and All-Southern laurels, the first Spider so honored, and he was selected to play in the College All-Star game at Chicago the following September.

The '39 Spiders rolled up 15 points and had only three touchdowns scored against them. They blanked Virginia Tech, 13-0; The Citadel, 19-0; Washington and Lee, 7-0; Gettysburg, 21-0; Randolph-Macon, 26-0; Apprentice School, 37-0, and played a scoreless tie with VMI. Hampden-Sydney fell before the Spiders, 26-7. Richmond scored in the closing moments to gain a 6-6 tie with Rutgers. The extra point came at the hands of William and Mary by a 7-0 score in the final game of the season.

Jones scored one touchdown and set up another with a pass to Burge in the opener with Apprentice. Burge tallied on a pass from Alec Moore. Wilson (Moose) Faris, Merrick's understudy, romped 34 yards with an intercepted pass for a six-pointer. Eddie Bragg, Bill Fitzhugh and Jack Powers also scored touchdowns and Lem Fitzgerald accounted for the lone extra point.

Captain's Club to honor team of 1939

Malcolm U. Pitt looked up from his desk. He looked at the pictures of some of his athletes hanging on the wall in his office in Millhiser gymnasium.

"I've been pretty fortunate," said Pitt, athletic director and longtime baseball coach at the University of Richmond.

Modesty has always been part of the makeup of Malcolm Upshur Pitt, who man and boy has spent a lifetime in athletics.

Now, 10 years after giving up active basketball coaching, he has been elected to the Helms Hall of Fame for college basketball, entering with his long-time coaching friend, Elmer H. Ripley, and three former Southern Conference standouts—Richard Carmichael of University of North Carolina, Dick Groat of Duke University and Darrell Floyd of Furman.

"I'm sort of out of class with that group," Pitt said.

Elmer Ripley, who coached college basketball for 22 years at Georgetown, Yale, Columbia, Notre Dame and John Carroll, compiling a record of 262 victories and 191 defeats, would be the first to disagree with Pitt. On the basis of a 19-year record of 194 wins and 165 losses, Pitt belongs.

The Helms Athletic Foundation in Los Angeles is honoring Pitt for his efficiency in basketball. But it could well honor him for baseball, football and track. He has coached them all.

Since 1914, when he matriculated at the U. of R., Pitt has been a solid Spider. And with the exception of a few years he spent coaching at Fork Union Military Academy, he has been at Richmond College in various capacities. He coached with the late Frank Mills Dobson and the late Glenn Thistlethwaite. In 1942, he succeeded Thistlethwaite as athletic director and continued to coach basketball and baseball as he had since 1934. Ten years ago he relinquished basketball.

Oddly, Pitt did not play basketball as a Spider. Yet, he achieved renown in the game. And one of his teams, the Spiders of 1935, went undefeated through a 20-game schedule.

As an undergraduate, Mac Pitt was a quarterback and third baseman and a consistent point scorer in track.

The Pitt-coached baseball teams have dominated Virginia intercollegiate play, winning 15 Virginia championships, two Southern Conference titles and tying for two other SC crowns over a 29-year span. His last team, riddled by pitching losses a year ago, made a remarkable comeback and he is infinitely proud of the centerfielder, Bobby Stewart.

I asked coach Pitt for his No. 1 sports thrill. Carefully, and with much thought, he singled out the all-winning basketball team. But he had other memories that were happy.

"We had a lot of pressure on us in that unbeaten year," he recalled. "At the start one of the writers hinted we might go unbeaten."

"From game to game the pressure mounted. We had our toughest game with Emory and Henry down there. Pedey Jackson was coaching then and we couldn't find a friend in a carload."

"We went into the last minute two points behind. For some reason I could never explain I sent Bucky Jacobs in to replace Win Brown. Glenn Roberts of Emory and Henry had the ball. George Lacy stole it, passed to Bucky and he made the goal to tie the score. We were relaxed in the overtime, ran up 10 quick points and won."

"I coached a boy named Woodrow Clark. He was a country boy," Pitt recalled. "He tried other sports, football, basketball and baseball, without success. He was determined he'd make it in track."

"It was a memorable day when he threw the javelin 209 feet to beat two William and Mary boys who placed in the Penn Relays. Later, in the National Junior AAU meet at Lincoln, Neb., it was very satisfying to see him throw the javelin 213 feet."

"At Fork Union I had coached Lester Tharp, a middle distance

a try, romped 60 yards with an intercepted pass against The Citadel. Hoskins scored on a 13-yard smash through center and a Moore to Burge pass accounted for the other TD against the Cadets. Merrick and Guard Bert Milling were line standouts.

Richmond and VMI played to a deadlock before 15,000 in a pouring rain. The Spiders got as far as the Keydet five but Hoskins' field goal attempt was wide. The Keydets attempted two third period field goals. One was short and Burge blocked the second.

Hail and Farewell—Mills Succeeds Hooker

H. Lester Hooker Jr., the University of Richmond's basketball coach for the past eleven years, has been appointed athletic director at the College of William and Mary. His successor will be Lewis Mills, former Virginia Tech court star who assisted Hooker and coached the Spider freshmen last season.

Hooker, who returns to his alma mater, did much to make the city of Richmond basketball conscious. He turned out four state championship quintets, a Southern Conference runnerup and initiated the Richmond Invitational Tournament during the Christmas holidays. Although his teams during the past few years haven't been contenders—last season's club was handicapped by an unusual number of injuries and midseason scholastic difficulties—his overall record showed 147 victories and 142 defeats.

Few will forget his talented and colorful teams of the early fifties which included such standouts as Warren Mills, Ed Harrison, Walt Lysaght and Kenny Daniel. From 1952-55 the Spiders won 62 games and lost only 24. The 1952-53 quintet posted a 20-7 record. The following year it was 23-8, and the 1954-55 club had a 19-9 mark.

The 26-year-old Mills guided a depth-sly Richmond freshman quintet to a 10-7 record last year and was highly recommended by Hooker for the post of head basketball mentor. A native of Roanoke, he was an All-Southern choice under Coach Chuck Noe at Virginia Tech during the 1959-60 season. He helped coach the Tech freshmen one year and was coach of three sports at Roanoke Catholic High one year before coming to Richmond last season.

Chief losses from last year's 7-18 team were Danny Higgins and George Grodzicki. John Telepo and Buddy Enck will serve as co-captains of Mills' first varsity team. The only letterman expected back is Tom Tenwick. Ted Thorne, 6-6, and Spike Welsh, 5-10 guard, are the top boys up from the frosh.

Gale Catlett, former West Virginia University cager, has been appointed Mills' assistant and freshman coach. Hoping to build a solid foundation for the future, seven promising scholastic stars have been signed to grants-in-aid.

runner. We won the mile relay championship at Fork Union five years, and when Lester came with me to University of Richmond, he won the National AAU championship and set quite a few Spider records that still stand.

"I don't think he lost a race at Fork Union. He came down here and beat 'Scrap' Chandler in an indoor meet when 'Scrap' was the state star at William and Mary."

In basketball, Pitt regarded the "quarterback" (the ball-handling guard) with the same warmth he had for a good double play combination in baseball.

"I feel I've been blessed with good boys. We've had a good spirit," the coach recalled.

"Boys like Lacy, Louis Elmore, Pete Jacobs, Mac Jr. (his son now headmaster at Collegiate school), Weenie Miller and Warren Mills were wizards—give and go, the kind who could spot an opening and take advantage of it.

"It's hard as the deuce to call one the best, just as it is to pick out one baseball player from among Lacy, Herbert Hash, Bucky Jacobs, Porter Vaughan, Lew Burdette and Bobby Stewart.

"I've been pretty fortunate. At one time four of our baseball men—Weenie Miller, Cotton Billingsley, Pat Fenlon and George Gasser—managed teams in nearby communities in pretty good leagues. We've had 15 or 20 go into professional baseball.

"You have to be fortunate to get so many good ones and to have so many pleasant memories because of them."
WITH THE FACULTY
By THOMAS S. BERRY

With summer upon us we note three university activities of a novel character: (1) Professor Moncure is conducting a European trip, with instruction and course credit; (2) Coach Merrick is administering a coaching clinic; and (3) Dean M. L. Shotzberger of University College has already held a Management Seminar in the new School of Business Administration building on the campus.

Continuing summer programs include the Executive Development Program, under the direction of Professor E. M. Last, and the annual Pastors' School, conducted by Professor Rush Loving and under the joint sponsorship of the University and the Baptist General Association of Virginia. Running from June 24 to June 27, the Pastors' School this year featured Professor Ray C. Petry of Duke University, Professor Dale Moody of the Louisville Baptist Seminary, Professor James L. Mays of the Union Theological Seminary (Richmond), and Dr. Carlyle Marney, pastor of the Myers Park Baptist Church in Charlotte, North Carolina. The School enrolled some 180 ministers of the gospel from churches in Virginia and North Carolina.

Several organizations on the campus have reported their new officers for the coming year. In the Phi Beta Kappa Society Professor James Payne will be the president and Dean Smart the vice-president. Professors Turnbull and Gray were re-elected treasurer and secretary, respectively. The Alpha Society re-elected all its officers for another annual term. The Faculty Men's Club named Professor Bradley president, Professor Atkins vice-president, Tom Pollard secretary, and Professor Albright trustee.

The Faculty Wives Club has just completed a highly successful year under the leadership of Mrs. E. S. Grable Jr. The executive board for next year includes Mrs. W. E. Trout, president; Mrs. J. A. Moncure, vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Worsham Jr., secretary; Mrs. J. E. Nettles, assistant secretary; Mrs. W. D. Robbins, treasurer; Mrs. P. R. Hart, publicity chairman; Mrs. Luther Smith, social chairman; Mrs. J. D. Burke, literary chairman; Mrs. E. J. Merrick, home arts chairman; Mrs. W. B. Hackley, book discussion chairman; Mrs. T. S. Berry and Mrs. N. E. Rice, members-at-large; and Mrs. Grable in her capacity as past president. As you might suspect, this group gets things done.

The 1963 issue of the Web is dedicated to Dean W. T. Morton of the Law School.

Dr. C. J. Gray, dean of students, has been re-elected by the Richmond Area Community Council to serve on the advisory committee of the Volunteer Service Bureau. Dean Gray has also been named to serve another term as co-chairman of the Schools and Colleges Committee of the Richmond Area Heart Association. Dean Gray has promised to show us the handsome silver plate presented to him on his tenth anniversary as quizmaster on the Scholarship Quiz Program sponsored jointly by the University and Radio Station WRNL.

Dean Smart and Professors Ball, Peple, and Trout are among those voyaging to Europe this summer.

Edward Cronin Peple III, made his first appearance at the Bainbridge (Md.) hospital of the United States Naval Academy Preparatory School on April 24. The baby's father is an instructor in English at the school with the rank of Lieutenant Junior Grade. Speaking of new arrivals, the Bostwick Lane community's joy in anticipation came to a climax on May 19 with the birth of Anne Margaret to Mrs. W. Harrison (Margaret) Daniel. We have not had the pleasure of seeing the Peple baby; but little Anne Daniel, who still has her blue eyes and bright red hair, promises to keep things well under control at 7 Bostwick Lane.

The Faculty-Staff Picnic was held at Coach Fred Hardy's camp Rotherwood near Bowling Green on May 25 under ideal circumstances, although it was simply too cool to go into the water. The faculty tots chose between riding horses or traveling the circuit en-masse in a farm wagon, whereas their elders played baseball, horseshoes, and volley ball. Little do we realize how much we owe to the Hardys and to the Social Affairs Committee which plans this event every year.

Dr. J. Stanton Pierce (Chemistry) received the Distinguished Service Award of the Virginia Section of the American Chemical Society on June 7. The beloved and celebrated Dr. Ryland is the only other University of Richmond professor ever to receive this award, and that happened in 1950.

Professor E. M. Last (Marketing) has been elected a director of the Richmond Symphony Orchestra, an organization which is making substantial progress indeed.

Professor Austin Grigg (Psychology, to be sure) is the president of the Virginia Psychological Association for the coming year. The office will be held the following year by Professor R. J. Filer (also Psychology), whose promotion to the rank of professor has recently been announced by President Modlin.

The Westhampton College Alumnae Association has a pleasant custom of recognizing (Continued on Cover 3)

MCV-UR ENGAGE IN JOINT SCIENCE RESEARCH PROJECT

Dr. Ernst G. Huf, a professor of physiology at the Medical College of Virginia, has received a National Institute of Health Career Award enabling him to expand his research project to include laboratory facilities at the University of Richmond.

Assisting Dr. Huf in the project is Dr. Addison D. Campbell of the University's physics department. The project, split half and half between the University and MCV, is research and research training in the physiology of the cell.

The University phase of the worksay Dr. Campbell, "will help build a scientific atmosphere that will spark the interests of undergraduate science students, and perhaps others, to study more science in depth."

Dr. Huf reported across cellular structures.

Dr. Campbell, "will help build a scientific atmosphere that will spark the interests of undergraduate science students, and perhaps others, to study more science in depth."

Said Dr. Huf, "The fascinating thing is that through the pooling of intellectual and physical resources found in institutions of higher learning in and around Richmond, greater opportunities open up to our gifted students in Virginia to pursue advanced studies in the challenging fields of biology."

There are several ways Drs. Huf and Campbell hope to entice students into the life sciences through the project. First, some students may be taken on as assistants of various kinds in the university phase of the project. Secondly, informally arranged seminars connected with the project will be conducted from time to time at the University.

But the primary value, they believe, lies in the presence of such an active project among the young students, many of whom may yet be undecided on a career.

Also there is a more indirect value tied up with the nature of the project itself. It involves the study of how materials are transported across cellular structures.

This is one of the basic processes of life—exactly how various materials find their ways into and out of cells so that living processes can be maintained.

Dr. Huf believed that the project may not only interest students in physiology or the broader field of medicine, but in physics, chemistry, biology or mathematics as well.

Alumni In The News:

1907—
Professor E. M. Louthan has retired after 40 years service at Bluefield College. Claude W. Owen, former Dean and Professor of Education at Bluefield College, has retired after 39 years service and is now making his home at 1413 Palmer Drive in Blacksburg.

GOOD GOVERNMENT SOCIETY SALUTES WILLIS ROBERTSON

The American Good Government Society has presented a George Washington award to Virginia’s Senator A. Willis Robertson, ’07.

Robertson, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, received the award at the society’s 11th annual George Washington dinner in April.

The dinner commemorates Washington’s inauguration as first President and celebrates his contributions to good government in this country.

Also honored at the dinner was Senator John J. Williams from Delaware, who also received the award.

John J. Wicker Jr., Richmond lawyer and former State Senator, represented the state at a New York meeting at which the Council of the National Sculpture Society presented a medal to Virginia for its World War II and Korean War Memorials. The meeting took place in May.

John Wesley Elliott of West Winfield, N. Y., was married to Winifred Mills Beckstead last October. He is minister of Millers Mills Baptist Church in N. Y.

The Rev. Ryland T. Dodge of Alexandria reports that he keeps busy even though he retired four years ago. In the four years, he has assisted in 40 different churches.

HARGRAVE BUILDING NAMED FOR CAMDEN

Col. A. H. Camden, ’11, president emeritus of Hargrave Military Academy, was honored in April when HMA officially renamed its administration building as the A. H. Camden Administration Building.

At Homecoming Week Ceremonies on the campus, a plaque was unveiled and a cornerstone laid for the $700,000 new building. Col. Camden, who spoke to the gathering of friends and alumni, told them that “When the board notified me that this structure would be named the A. H. Camden Administration Building, they filled my cup to over-flowing.”

The second president of HMA, Col. Camden, first came to Chatham in 1913 to teach at the school when it was known as Chatham Training School.

From his appointment as president in 1918 until his retirement 12 years ago, Col. Camden helped get the school accreditation, brought in the military program and was instrumental in getting Baptist churches to accept the responsibility of the school.

Since his retirement, he has aided in organizing Shanaberger Homes and has served that firm as secretary.

BAPTIST FOREIGN MISSION BOARD SETS UP $40,000 FUND TO HONOR HOWARD JENKINS

Dr. and Mrs. L. Howard Jenkins examine the gifts sent to them from their friends in more than 50 countries where Southern Baptist missionaries serve. With Jenkins is Dr. Rogers M. Smith, administrative associate to the foreign mission board. Dr. Jenkins retired in May after serving on the board 48 years, during 30 of which he served as president.

The Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board has set up a $40,000 fund honoring Dr. L. Howard Jenkins, ’04, Richmond book manufacturer, who has been a member of the board for more than 40 years.

Dr. Jenkins was board president for 30 years before leaving the position last October. He retired from the board in May.

The income from the fund, known as the Jenkins Memorial Fund, will be used for the work of foreign missions.

The board also honored Dr. Jenkins by naming the library at the Foreign Mission building the Jenkins Library, and presenting Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins with a bound book containing some 250 letters from friends all over the world.

Dr. Jenkins has been named president emeritus of the board and has been asked to serve as financial advisor.

At the semi-annual meeting in May, the Jenkins’ were presented gifts from 50 countries where Southern Baptist missionaries serve.

The Thomas Society recognize outstanding students in the field of economics. Dr. Thomas has served the University for more than 35 years.

Dr. Lynn L. Bausum has retired after 38 years in the mission field, during which he served in China and Taiwan. They now reside in Mt. Vernon, Ky.

1918—
Titus W. Beasley, who has served as professor of Political Science and History at Southwest Baptist College since 1931, has been
DECA HONORS

WALTER ANDERSON

Walter B. Anderson, '21, of Sebring, Fla., has been awarded an Honorary Life Membership in the Distributive Education Clubs of America.

Anderson has served as DECA representative with the L. G. Balfour Company since DECA was founded. The award was given in recognition for his continued guidance, encouragement, development, and sustaining interest in DECA.

Anderson was instrumental in the adoption of the organization's emblem, and is one of few individuals who has attended every national conference of DECA.

Anderson joined the Balfour firm in 1921.

Morton G. Billups has completed his 45th year as Marshal of the Oakwood Memorial Association's parade honoring Richmond's war dead.

1922—
T. Coleman Andrews delivered the commencement address at Grove City College in Pennsylvania. Andrews is president and board chairman of the American Fidelity and Casualty Co., and the American Fidelity Fire Insurance Co.

Dr. George D. Stevens of Troutville reports that he is enjoying his retirement after giving up full-time pastoral duties four years ago. He is active in the Moore Swamp Baptist church where he teaches the Men's Bible Class. He has preached in nine churches during his retirement.

1924—
Lt. Col. Davis T. Ratcliffe of the Air Force Reserve has been appointed coordinator of training of Judge Advocate General Air Reserve in Central New York. Lt. Col. Ratcliffe resides at Mohawk Valley Community College, Utica, N. Y.

1925—
Dr. J. A. Soysan is now at the Thomas K. McKee Hospital in Salville.

The Rev. G. E. Bernard Mullin is now in the 21st year of his pastorate at the Beale Memorial Baptist Church at Tappahannock.

The Rev. H. Ward Curry has moved from Portsmouth to 1862 Greenwood Rd. in Roanoke.

1926—

Francis J. Pease is now an Engineering Draftsman with the Virginia Highway Dept. Location and Design Department. He retired last year from the Post Office Department after 52 years service. On retiring, he received an award and citation for outstanding service in the International Mails and for training others.

Samuel L. Cress has moved from Richmond to Paces, Va.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. West will make a World Mission Tour in December and January. The trip will take them to Denmark, Russia, India, Burma, Thailand, Hong Kong, and Japan.

1928—

Dr. J. C. Neale Jr. is now employed by the Veterans Hospital at Mountain Home, Tennessee.

Oscar W. Farly Jr., principal of George Washington High School, has been awarded a medal by the school's cadet corps for his outstanding contribution to the success of the corps.

Hugh Noftsginger Jr. of Wilmington, N. C.

CRABTREE COMPLETES HEBREW DICTIONARY

Dr. A. R. Crabtree, '14, has just published his 13th book in Portuguese, the first Hebrew Dictionary to be published in the Portuguese language.

Printed in Rio de Janeiro, the book is entitled, "Dicionario Hebraico-Portugues."

Currently, Dr. Crabtree is working on a commentary in Portuguese on Isaiah.

Dr. Crabtree received a B. D. degree from Union Theological Seminary in 1921, and a Th.D. from Southfield Baptist Seminary in 1928. He was appointed a missionary in 1921, and has served in various capacities in education and mission work in Brazil. After serving for 34 years in South America, he retired in 1959.

SHOCKLEY TEACHING IN SOUTH AFRICA

Dr. M. S. Shockley, '28, a professor of English at North Texas State University, has been appointed a visiting professor of American literature at the University of Cape Town in the Union of South Africa.

The appointment was received under the Fullbright International Education Exchange program of the U. S. State Department.

During his ten-month stay, which began in April, Dr. Shockley will teach undergraduate literature courses, conduct a graduate seminar in a series of public lectures on authors of American literature.

Dr. Shockley is a former chairman and member of the executive council of the South-Central Modern Language Association and a member of the American Association of University Professors. He has held teaching positions at the Southwestern Regional Conference of the American Association of University Professors.

He has sold his bottling business and is now in the construction and real estate business.

He received a LL.B. degree from Washington and Lee University.

LAW ALUMNI ELECT DILLON PRESIDENT
In accordance with a tradition of 22 years standing, Law Day, Saturday, May 27, was a big day for the law alumni and the University.
The festivities started with coffee on the campus in the morning and concluded with the playing of Good Night Ladies at the conclusion of the annual dance at the John Marshall Hotel on Saturday night. In between times alumni listened to discussions by the law faculty on matters of current interest and an address by Fred H. Caplan, '41, judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia. Mostly, though, the returning lawyers regaled their friends with stories of their legal (and other) accomplishments during the past year, all in the best tradition of returning lawyer-type alumni.

Professor Harry L. Snead Jr., warned the alumni that the relatively poor salaries paid Virginia judges are little incentive to induce the best men available to seek such jobs. William S. Cudlipp, a practicing attorney, as well as a professor, discussed recent developments pertaining to the tenancy by the entitites (or is it "by the entirety"). Seriously, his discussion dealt with much more pertinent aspects of the subject than the correct grammatical expression. In an effort to seek means to improve the law and to bring it up-to-date Professor Ellsworth Willshire called on the General Assembly to establish a committee to examine Virginia's laws in the light of modern needs.

The highlight of the afternoon was the address of Judge Caplin, who stressed the need of co-operation from both sides of the bench to best serve the ends of justice.

At the evening business session, Jesse W. Dillon, '31, and a member of the State Corporation Commission, was elected to the position of president of the University of Richmond Law School Association for the ensuing year. A member of the Virginia House of Delegates from Hampton, E. Ralph James, '24, was elected vice president. Re-elected to the positions of treasurer and executive secretary were Carle E. Davis, '53, and Virginia D. Ivey, '48. In the time they can spare from their official duties of the Association, Mr. Davis is a partner in a Richmond law firm, and Miss Ivey is assistant librarian in the state law library. A few days later on the University Alumni Day, Mr. Davis was also to be elected to the Executive Committee of the University Alumni Council.

John W. Edmonds III, '46

Ernest H. Dervishian, a Richmond attorney, was among the 234 holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor who attended a reception by President Kennedy in May. Dervishian won the medal as a second lieutenant with the 34th Infantry Division in May of 1944, at Cisterna, Italy. He led a group of four men that put four German machine-gun positions out of action far in advance of American lines.

The Rev. Paul B. Wadlington Jr., pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Charleston, W. Va., received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Alderson-Broadus College in Philippi, W. Va., in May. He served churches in Loudoun County and in Orange, Va., before going to Charleston in 1957.

Hunter B. Keck Jr., is moving from Los Angeles to Pasadena, Calif.

Ralph P. Moore has been promoted to treasurer of Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co.

1939—
Colonel George L. Oliver of the U. S. Air Force has been transferred from San Francisco to Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh, N. Y. Virgil F. Larus of Norfolk, is sales manager for Robertson Chemical Corp.
R. HARWOOD BAGBY RECEIVES NATIONAL FURNITURE AWARD

The National Wholesale Furniture Association presented its Distinguished Service Award to R. Harwood Bagby, '23, of Baltimore at the semi-annual dinner meeting in January.

Mr. Bagby is the executive vice president of Bagby Furniture Co., and the second member of his family to receive the award. His brother William Hugh Bagby, '17, president of the Bagby Company and president of the NWFA in 1947, received the award in 1956.

The award was given for a display, Bagby Galleries, which was created under the direction of R. Harwood Bagby, and for unsellish personal service to the wholesale furniture field.

Bagby was president of the organization in 1960-61. He is now chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee of the association, and often its representative at Washington hearings.

1941—
Dr. Herman S. Rockoff of Richmond has been elected to the board of directors of "Dental Management," the national business magazine for dentists.

Dr. E. Ashby Johnson has moved from Sherman, Texas to St. Petersburg, Fla.

Dr. Leon H. Alexander has been transferred to the V. A. Hospital in Lake City, Fla., from the V. A. Hospital in Richmond. He is Chief of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service.

1942—
Dr. Courtney C. Bowen has moved from Hazewell to Richlands, Va.

MAJOR NAMED SUPERINTENDENT FOR TWO VIRGINIA COUNTIES

Clarence E. Major, '42, of Stormont, Va., has been appointed superintendent of schools for the counties of King William and King and Queen.

Major, an exponent of the "firm but fair" discipline, is a graduate of Oxford University, where he received both bachelor and master's degrees with honors.

He has been principal of Middletown High School for the past ten years. Two years ago he was elected chairman of the Virginia High School League, a post in which he has served with distinction.

He served four years in the army during World War II, during which he rose from private to major. He was wounded in France, and came home with the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and two campaign ribbons.

Although his original intent was to be come a lawyer, he decided sometime during his service career that he would be more interested in the field of education.

Today, at 45, Major holds firm convictions concerning education and his responsibilities both as educator and principle.

"Our schools have a far bigger job than imparting education in the strict sense," he said. "Today the child must learn how to always distinguish right from wrong while he is learning how to get along well with others, and at the same time how he can contribute to the very limits of his ability to the betterment of an increasingly complex world."

"In my opinion," Major said, "every educator has a clear obligation to these ideals."

Mr. Joseph E. Nettles, Executive Secretary, Univ. of Richmond Alumni Association
University of Richmond, Va.

Dear Joe:

When I attempt to thank all those friends who made May 11th, 1965 one of the happiest days of my life I find words very inadequate. The entire affair came as a pleasant surprise to me and I thank the committee for the generous and gracious effort in my behalf. I wish I could thank all those who participated personally but I hope you will express my appreciation to Alumni and friends through the Alumni Bulletin.

Many thanks and best wishes always. It has been a pleasure to serve the University and its students these 42 years.

Cordially yours,

Robert M. Stone

It Is Wise to Make a Will...

. . . A nationally known minister thought it unnecessary to make a Will. As a result, when he died his checking account was frozen, his insurance policies were sealed in a strong box, and his wife had to post an expensive bond to handle her husband's affairs. She received only one third of his estate.

. . . A former Vice President of the United States left an estate of $355,000, but he had no Will. As a result, the bulk of his estate went for taxes and administrative costs. His heirs received only about $155,000 of his estate.

Whether or not you include your Alma Mater, it is wise to make a Will...

To: Dr. G. M. Modlin, President
University of Richmond, Virginia

☐ I have made my Will.
☐ I have included the University of Richmond in my Will.
☐ I plan to make a Will and am interested in including the University of Richmond.
☐ I would like additional information about the Alumni Bequest Program.
☐ Please have a representative of the University of Richmond make arrangements to call on me for a private discussion of my plans.

Please be thinking of and planning for our class reunion next June—1964. It doesn’t seem possible that 45 years will have passed since our caps and gowns were so proudly worn and under such trying circumstances. Let’s all plan to be present.

We are again at Virginia Beach for the summer and fall, and don’t forget that we are always happy to see any of you. Please come.

1923 Secretary

Mrs. BARTEE E. CORPWE (Dorothy Sadler)
7100 Horsepen Road
Richmond, Virginia

Since this is a post-reunion letter, we shall tell those who could not attend how much we missed them, and tell them how much they missed those who were here who join us in remembering it.

The largest group attended the informal dinner at the Executive Motel, where thirty-five members of the class and their guests enjoyed a delicious meal and wonderful companionship on the evening of June 7th. "The girls they came from far and wide," as you can see from the following list.

Mildred Campbell Broome, London; Nellie Saunders Early, Orlando, Florida; Sallie Davis, New York City; Louise Friston Arnold, Fan-wood, New Jersey; Sara Lee Atkins, Baltimore, Maryland; and Elsie Morgan Anderson, Greensboro, N. C., came by plane, train, and automobile from their distant homes.

From various points in Virginia came Ada Arthur Deacon, Kate E. O’Brien, Donzella George Harper, Mamie Smith Fitzgerald, Myrte Bidgett Brook, Virginia Kent Loving, Gladys Nuckols Wood, Glenna Loving Norvell, Evelyn Sanford Wamsley, Camilla Wimbish Lacy, Dora Ramone Hartz, and Lelia Dean, who had one enough time to come and visit with us after dinner.

The Richmond group included Elizabeth Hill Schenck, Olivia Hardy Blackwell, Miriam Norman Breman, Elizabeth B. Parker, Virginia Davidson Knight, Rosa Sanders Thomas, Elmir Ruffin Bowen, Josephine Tucker, Elizabeth B. Gayle, Ellen Douglas Oliver, Hannah L. Coker, Altha Cunningham, Ruth Powell Tyree, Mildred Pulman Stone, Ethelyne Selden Headlee and Dorothy Sadler Corprew.

Our guests were Miss Keller, Miss Lutz, Miss Turnbull, Elizabeth Gaines, Miss Crenshaw, Miss Mary W. Scott and Miss Virginia Withers; and with them we shared many fond memories.

After dinner each member and guest filled out a card with four facts about her life and achievements, one for each decade! Lest we feel embarrassed or boastful, the cards were read aloud by the person seated at our right. We heard fascinating and unusual facts.

Though we do not have a complete list of members who sent regrets, the following did give us their reasons for not attending, including graduations, weddings and the arrival of new grandchildren. Virginia Epes Felid’s grandchild’s birth date is June 7, 1963. Virginia Lake lives very far place, and the following wrote to us: Louise Beck Morris, Ardyis Houser Gwynn, Elise Davis Via, Janie Wood, Gladys Rees Otey, June Waters Gardner, Kathleen Prentiss Perrin, Katherine Hill Smith, and Margaret Terpstra Copenhaver.

On Saturday, June 8, beginning at 9:15 a.m., this position to devote her full time to teaching and research. She will continue as dean until her successor can be found.

Miss Roberts who had served for nine years at McMaster University in Canada before coming to the University of Richmond, said that “twenty-five years is enough ‘deaning’ for one lifetime.”

She told the Westhampton faculty that ever since her sabbatical two years ago she realized that she wanted more time for research into the life and works of Thomas Hardy, English poet and novelist. She wrote her Ph.D. thesis on “Hardy and the Theater” while a graduate student at Radcliffe College. Later she wrote “Tess in the Theater.”

One of only two deans in the 49-year history of Westhampton, Miss Roberts succeeded Dr. May L. Keller, dean from the college’s formation in 1914 until her retirement in 1946. The late Maude H. Woodfin, professor of history, served for a year as acting dean, pending the selection of Miss Keller’s successor.
Congratulations to Eva Sanders for her award of a Phi Beta Kappa key. We’ve been proud of Eva in her missionary work in Africa for many years. She richly deserves to receive such a fitting recognition for her untiring work there.

Norma Coleman Broadus took Inez Hite and me to the spring meeting of the Richmond club. We had such a good time seeing many friends, eating a delicious lunch, and enjoying a delightful program of slides of the Mellon Art Collection. We also had the pleasure of meeting Rita Baker after so many years. The four of us sat together at lunch so had the opportunity to catch up on long over-due chit-chat. I saw in the paper that Rita will play the cello in a concert at Richmond Professional Institute this month. I think I told you last spring that Rita is a regular member of the Richmond and Norfolk Sympathy Orchestras.

Louise Wilkinson Morton’s son, Oliver Jr., was married to Miss Virginia Woolard of Emporia, Virginia, on May 25th. They will live in Charlotte, North Carolina where Oliver is connected with the Associated Press. The AP is dear to the heart of the Morton family as Louise met Oliver Sr., when he was associated with that organization here in Richmond.

Another item of interest, which I read in the paper, is the announcement of the engagement of Estelle Billups to Mr. James Alfred Pettit of Roseland, Virginia. Wish you’d let us know if you’re able to catch up on all the rest of you. Don’t you see—I shouldn’t be secretary of anything because I have but one song to sing— that of the Spanish-speaking migrant. I must tell you just one more thing about our work. Four years ago, ’Bro-Mike’ as they know my husband, took one of the migrant girls, Rosa Molina, right out of the fields in Mexico.

Virginia Woman’s Missionary Union gave the second place award for her food columns in display advertising and publicity and a first place award for her food columns in the annual competition of the Virginia Press Women this spring.

The following were planning to be at reunion: Margaret Willis, Lucy Williams Seaton, Susie Powell Moore, Hazel Anderson Carpenter, Ethel Pond Brinkley, Louise Fubuk Gray, Nora Turner Turner, N. V., Mary Jane Robinson, Kay Moore, Gray Robinson French, Ruth Bishop, Henriette Tharpe, Gray Robinson French, Mildred Anderson Williams, Frances Anderson Stallard, and Louise Massey Crisp.

Virginia Robertson and husband drove from California to see their daughter graduate from Westhampton.

Mildred Williams has won again in the state and national press women’s contests for her writings, both in advertising and for her feature columns. We would like to entertain us on Saturday night.

There have been interesting messages from others. Elnora Hubbard Robinson, who teaches in the foreign language department at Westhampton, has been teaching Spanish at Westhampton for many years. She has been teaching Spanish at Westhampton since before our last reunion, entertained us at a buffet supper at her home on Towana Road. She is leaving Westhampton and retiring to her home in Washington, D. C. We are so glad that she feels that she is a 28er.

Mildred Williams won two first place awards for display advertising and publicity and a second place award for her food columns in the next Bulletin.
union Day for our class. Charlie Broaddus was escort for his daughter, Betsy, The May Queen. Carolyn with her two youngest children were seated down front. The weather was perfect and many classmatess attended, including Jane Gray, Valerie Jones, Mary Mathews, Jessie Miller Turner, Virginia Pharr and myself. Virginia and her husband drove up for the day and Jessie Miller and her daughter spent the weekend with us. Only wish more of you could have been there.

At the dedication of the Swimming Pool on June 8, a plaque to Mary Ryland Babcock was unveiled. Among the members of the family present were Mary’s mother, her brother, and her four children. Jud, the oldest son, is a ’63 June graduate of Washington and Lee. Bill, the other son, is a ’63 St. Christopher’s graduate. The two girls, Mary and Ann are in school in Charlotte, N. C. where they make their home. It is wonderful that the donations of Mary’s friends and family to the Alumnae Association have been so generous.

On April 6, Virginia Yeaman entertained at her home for her sister, Buena Myers. Many friends from the University as well as the class of ‘32 were present. Buena and meet her attractive daughter. We learned that Hugh and Buena are making their home at Fairfield, Iowa, where Dr. Myers is head of the Science Department at Parsons University and is continuing his Research Work. Their son, Hugh Jr. is stationed at the White Sands Missile Base, Las Cruces, New Mexico. He and his wife now have a baby girl, 4 months old. Their daughter, Mary Wheeler, graduated from high school this June.

At Alumnae Day College I visited with Inez Hauke Hartley and learned that she will serve her second year ’65/’66 as President of the Huguenot Parent Teacher’s Association (high school in Chesterfield County) where her daughter, Suzanne, is a junior. Her son, Robert, attends Wesleyan College, Rocky Mount, North Carolina. He and judges dogs shows all over the country. He went to Venezuela this spring and will go to Puerto Rico in November. He judged ‘Best in Show’ at Madison Square Garden last year, which was written up in Time Magazine. Inez judged a sanction match show at McGuire Veteran’s Hospital last March and will judge another in August. Inez continues to ride a hunter pony and shows all over Virginia.

I also visited with Adelaide Holloway Patterson ’33 from Opelika, Alabama. She told me she had been from Ruth Finke Hokanson. Ruth and her husband continue to live in Morningdale, Mass. and have a son, who is 10 years old now.

Why don’t some of you members of the Class of ’32 drop me a note during the summer and tell me some news about yourself? I can call alumnae in Richmond and do hear from many of you, but there is a great deal of news about others that is worth reading. You write and I will see that it is printed.

The Richmond Alumnae met for their annual luncheon on Saturday, April 27th, at Willow Oaks Country Club. Those of our Class attend­ ing were Ann Wood, Virginia Puckett, and Mrs. C. M. Tartum (Gladys T. Smith). The oldest son, graduates from Hamilton College this June. He has won a Woodrow Wilson fellowship for an outstanding scholastic record—Congratulations! We extend condolences to Christine Taylor Brown whose stepmother died recently. Marjorie Davis Seaton has had a most memorable Spring ’63. Her son, William E. Seaton Jr., was married on February 15th to Miss Virginia Lee Syer of Virginia Beach. Daughter Nan is making her debut on June 10th at the Commonwealth Club.

1935 Secretary Mrs. C. M. Tartum (Gladys T. Smith) 336 Lexington Road Richmond 26, Virginia

Romance is in the air! Margaret Gravatt and her fiancé are to be married during the summer and will live in Massachusetts. All of us wish her happiness. Her daughter, who is married and living in Indiana, is a librarian at the University of Indiana. Hazel Weaver Forbes and her family vacationed in this country during the summer, and while here they visited Harriet Walton. Hazel’s daughter will be a junior at the University of Wisconsin in the fall. Hazel’s husband has been promoted by the State Department and will serve another term in New Delhi.

Mary Pat Early Love has “retired” from her job with the Internal Revenue Service. Lottie Brits Callis is in demand as a substitute teacher—teaching biology, math, and chemistry. Her daughter, Pat, who was tapped by the National Honor Society of Thomas Jefferson High School, will enter Westminster in the fall.

Mary Mills Freeman and her husband had a wonderful tour of Europe. Harriet Walton is looking forward to a meeting of the International Hockey Association in Baltimore in the fall. Representatives of twenty countries will attend, giving Harriet an opportunity to renew acquaintances she made while competing as an All-American hockey player in various parts of the world. Beginning next February, Harriet will be on sabbatical leave from her position at St. Catherine’s School. She plans to study in England and to travel in Europe.

Margaret Taylor Callaway’s vacation plans included a visit with her mother in Lexington, Kentucky, and possibly a class at the University. You will be interested in hearing from Sue Cook McClure Jones and her family, as contained in a letter written in April: “Art’s transfer to the rocket engine division of the Company a year and a half ago really disrupted our life. He was sent first to the Development Center in West Palm Beach, Florida, and was told we would be transferred there. I went down there last February for a month, bought a lakefront lot to build on, then came back to Palos Verdes to see Allen through his senior year in high school. In June I leased the house, called the movers, and had reserved our plane tickets, when Art was sent back to California on a temporary assignment in San Diego. We put the furniture in storage and spent the summer in a beautiful motel on Mission Bay. Then, in September, testing of the rocket for the Saturn project went into high gear in Sacramento, and Art came up here to assist “temporarily.” Six months later we were still here, and were finally told we could plan to be here another year or so before returning to Florida. So—we bought a house, and you can therefore consider the address (641 Coronado Boulevard, Sacramento 25, California) permanent as long as we are in Sacramento. We will probably sell the Palos Verdes residence as soon as the lease is up this summer. Don’t know when we will be building on that lakefront lot in Palm Beach!

“I have been strictly a housewife since leaving Palos Verdes almost a year ago, but plan to re-enter the real estate profession here when we are more settled. I find it a stimulating and interesting business, and it fills the void left by the diminishing family. Kay and Gifford are in Santa Barbara at the University here, and Allen, our youngest, will be leaving for Stanford or Berkeley after his graduation next summer.”

1936 Secretary Mrs. Robert J. Fox (Kitty Ellis) Aylet, Virginia

Many thanks to all of you who responded to our letters. I particularly appreciate receiving news for the Bulletin. Ruth Parker Jones’ daughter, Beth, is a senior at Westminster High School. She will be the first daughter of one of our class members to graduate from Westminster. Ruth’s son is in his third year at Randolph-Macon Academy.

Frances Perkins visited me several weeks ago and said her daughter will enter West­minster this fall.

Martha Riis Moore sent me a clipping from the Bellevue, Washington newspaper which described the March of Dimes campaign headed by Dot Enslow. It is a great deal of information regarding her youngest son, Worthy, who was born with an exposed spine. He has learned to walk with lightweight aluminum crutches, although at one time he was in a cast from his toes to his armpits. He must be a very wonderful little boy.

ELIZABETH KELLEY CONLEY

Mrs. Paul Conley (Elizabeth Kelley ’36), died May 28th in Paulding Hospital, Paulding, Ohio. She suffered from nephritis. She leaves a husband and two children. Her passing is deeply felt in the family and among her many friends and classmates.

Monny Bowers had a delightful vacation in the spring. She visited Charleston, Chatt­anooga, then Ponte Vedra Beach in Florida. Marjorie Tabb had a letter from Helen Falls who has been on sabbatical leave this year to take extra courses at Columbia Teachers College. She will be in Richmond during June, so we all hope to have an opportunity to see her and talk with her.

Martha Cosby Rucker’s son, Ben Jr., is a Junior at V.P.I. Her daughter, Martha, is a freshman at Radford. A younger son, Jim, will graduate from Yorktown High School in 1964. Martha teaches English (sixty-two seventh graders every day)—quite a challenge. A letter from Alice Schater at Wellesley College was most welcome. She and Dick, who is now Deputy Head of the Mathematics Department at M.I.T., attended the International Congress of Mathematicians in Stockholm, Sweden, last August. There were over 3,000 delegates attending.

I hope to hear from any of you regarding your summer activities.

1937 Secretary Miss Pollyanna Shepherd 1035 Naval Avenue Portsmouth, Virginia

News is a bit scarce this time since many of you have not returned your questionnaires. Please do return them so that we may be brought up to date on everyone's whereabouts, activities, etc.

Marguerite Hall, who is a teacher of weekday religious education in Martinsville, Virginia, took a tour of Bible lands and three European countries last summer with a group of weekday religious education teachers. She wrote that "this was indeed the most wonderful experience of my life. It has truly made the Bible come to life.'

Jane Lawder Johnston is a busy housewife, mother and career woman in Richmond. Her husband is a consultant and owner of the Virginia Tool and Equipment Corp., and Jane serves as secretary and treasurer of the firm. She is a member of the Quota Club of Richmond and the family are members of Berryman Methodist Church and the Willow Oaks Country Club. By the time you read this the daughter, Elizabeth, will have celebrated her 18th birthday and will have graduated from George Wythe High School. She plans to attend college in the fall. The Johnstons also have a new address: 609 West 34th Street, Richmond 25, Virginia.

I hope that many of you attended Alumnae College and the Alumnae Day activities, including the dedication of that long-dreamed-of swimming pool. Plans to attend the Pilot Club international convention in Miami Beach in June prevented me from getting to Richmond in June.

News from Conway Moncure Collins tells us that she is a research assistant with the Department of Family Security of the State of Maryland. Wouldn't you just know that Conway would have a title like that! Her husband, Emory, is with the Plastics Division of Continental Can Company. Their daughter, Grace, has just completed her sophomore year at Washington State and has received special honors in Math. Emory S. Collins, III, age 15, has completed the ninth grade and claims for his hobbies radio and electronics. Conway is studying economics at Johns Hopkins University in connection with her job, and she is a member of the University Baptist Church in Baltimore.

The class will be saddened by the news of the death of Patricia Joblin in March. Pat at that time was living in San Francisco, California.

I had a nice chat with Elsie Mattingly Dickinson and learned that her husband has opened a new business, Alfred J. Dickinson Inc., Real Estate. They are also happy to report that Al Jr. plans to attend Yale in September.

John Jurgens, son of Fred and Maude Smith Jurgens, will join ranks with the freshmen of Richmond College this fall. Daughter Corliss is helping again at the swimming pool in Bon Air.

Jane Davenport Reid has organized her children's summer camp, Fontaine wild in day camp and Kendall is working at Camp Shrine Mount, after finishing at Thomas Jefferson High School.

Congratulations to Nancy Moss, daughter of Clinton and Helen Smith Moss on her graduation from Averett Junior College. There may be more who have graduated from both high school and college, so keep us posted.

It has been a pleasure to have been the class secretary for the past two years. Next serving will be the Mrs. E. Franklin Mallory (Emma Lou Parsons) of 6406 Monument Ave. She will be looking forward to hearing from you!
BOBBI YAGEL CHARMS ALL-MALE ASSEMBLY

 Cleopatra has nothing on Bobbie Brown Yagel, '51. The Egyptian queen's fame rests on the conquest of one man; Westhampton's femme fatale recently charmed an all-male audience of more than 1,000.

 The lone distaff delegate to a convention of supply manufacturers and distributors, Mrs. Yagel took to the podium in San Francisco, June fifth, to discuss the problems and solutions of advertising relations.

 "My speech was scheduled for 2 P.M.," she recalls, "and my only regret is that a case of butterflies took away my appetite. And the food looked fabulous!"

 This was not her first excursion into an all-male assembly. As magazine editor for the Industrial Supply Corporation, Mrs. Yagel broke the ice last year as the first woman ever to register at the Triple Industrial Supply Convention.

 "They had a time figuring out what to do with me," she grins. Her initial appearance must have been satisfactory, however, because her command performance this year invaded still another field-teacher and confidante to 22 senior high school boys.

 Despite her familiarity with machines, it seems apparent that scientific progress will never catch up with Bobbie Yagel. Such varied accomplishments, obviously, can never be replaced by automation.

 Our deepest thanks go to you helpers, bless your hearts, even as we thank those who wrote letters this spring for the Alumnae Fund, and Toni who worked with me so hard.

 Sue Trussell Wright has been substituting in a sixth grade classroom. "The work is very stimulating, but my days are just not long enough."

 A common complaint! She sends greetings to all her college friends.

 Kay Krug's Robyn, age fourteen, is already interested in Westhampton and has requested a catalogue! Kay's been busy with the Woman's Club Cancer Drive in Blacksburg, and is Presbytery Chairman of Christian Education for Montgomery Presbytery. She keeps up with the problems and solutions of advertising relations.

 "My children do come first," confides the alumna, "and if they need me during the day, I write at night. But when they run out to play, I run to the typewriter in the spare bedroom."

 In addition to her editing and homemaking careers, she has found time to create scripts for radio, television, and movies, including one which won top award in national advertising competition. Every Sunday she drives still another field—teacher and confidante to 22 senior high school boys and girls.

 Despite her familiarity with machines, it seems apparent that scientific progress will never catch up with Bobbie Yagel. Such varied accomplishments, obviously, can never be replaced by automation.

 Tis late of a Sunday evening as this is being penned. I am thinking of the wonderful tea held this afternoon at LaVerne's home in Arlington. This is an annual affair of the Washington Alumnae Club and a more delightful day we've never had. Amid the chatter could be heard a familiar voice, the guest of honor, Miss Keller—every bit as zippy as ever, accompanied by Miss Turnbull and Mrs. Booker. It was a very personal affair for us all! Jean Grant Andrews explained her beautiful pink silk frock this way. Richard, her son, attends the Landon School in Washington. This year the hostesses for the Landon School Azalea Festival were asked to wear pink by way of identification. A very attractive way to get a new dress, don't you agree?
but we did appreciate and enjoy all the cards and letters.

Wood, Kalima Dalton Tate, Barbara Fuller Cox, because she was getting her Masters in Library with us on Saturday night, Georgie Simpson, Anne Byrd Tucker Moore, Helen Herrink Williams Rogers, as chairman, did a fine job of organizing it all, and the highlights of the reunion because her oldest daughter graduated from high school June 7th; and Mary Elder Paul is now a law professor, with new records etc. and piano and voice recitals for her girls. (Her daughter, Carol, our class baby, is in her senior year at Westhampton this year.) I wish I could bring you all the news and reminiscences from the reunion but I don’t think they’ll devolve the whole issue of the Bulletin to you.

Georgie Simpson is being transferred to Oakland, Calif. in July. We’ll miss having her so near. And incidentally, for those who haven’t seen her, she did a marvelous job on the scrapbook.

The Alumnae Assoc. has voted to set up a new organization of the classes, with a president, secretary, and fund chairman for each class so that in the future the work and responsibility will be divided. Pepper Gardner Hathaway came to see us and rejoin her and Puff Potter, fund chairman. But we still can’t put news in the Bulletin if you don’t write. And don’t forget to keep me informed of changes of address.

Ann Seay Jackson and J.B. are planning a party at Marguerite Shell Ritchie’s after the party at Marylou held its 20th reunion. Marylou Massie Cumby tells us that it was a grand success. In answer to their inquiries they had a newsy letter from Kathleen Abbott who was with us for a year at Westhampton. She is Mrs. Kendall King. Her husband is a professor of bio-chemistry at Radford College and they have two children, a boy and a girl, of the Brownie and Cub Scout variety.

Marylou Coghill Poland was one of the organizers of the party. Some of the girls who went were part of our college time were Ann Fishburne, Alma McWhorten, and “Dee” Davenport. The traveling Allins, Jay and Dizzy, have been at it again. This time to St. Louis to see Science at St. John’s Univ. on Sun. June 8th. Congratulations Kay!

Pamela Carpenter Henry wrote that she had planned to come and bring her family but her husband has hepatitis and must rest all summer.

Peggy Jean Kyle Anderton had to miss the reunion because her oldest daughter graduated from high school June 7th; and Mary Elder Paul is now a law professor, with new records etc. and piano and voice recitals for her girls. (Her daughter, Carol, our class baby, is in her senior year at Westhampton this year.) I wish I could bring you all the news and reminiscences from the reunion but I don’t think they’ll devolve the whole issue of the Bulletin to you.

MRS. CLARK HUBER (Margaret Dudley Clark)

Richmond, Va.

There are two new babies in the class. Doris Mills Harrell writes from Wiesbaden, Germany, where she and her husband, Louis, are now stationed. They have had their second son, John Robert, born on March 15. I hear through Lillian Youell that Nancy Lazenby Stables wrote her from Texas that, after three boys, they have had a girl, Nancy Katherine Stables born April 19. Nancy Grey and Linton are now living at 6201-A Lamar Avenue, Montague Village, Killeen, Texas. She says the boys are delighted with their little sister.

I’m sorry to say Lillian is moving away again, but glad Mac will be able to return from Guam and clasps her in his bosom. The boys in a few weeks. He will be working at the Pentagon. Lillian has gotten a house in Fairfax County (5707 Huntington Avenue, Springfield, Virginia) and will be moving as soon as she finishes teaching and the boys are out of school.

Vacation plans are on everyone’s mind now. Ann Seay Jackson and J.B. are planning a quite exciting one now that J.B. has retired from the Reserves. They will go to Toronto and Niagara Falls via Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, and Buffalo, with stopovers planned at all points. On top of all that, they will take a cottage at Virginia Beach in July. Jane Wray McDorman and her family will go to the river, Mathews county, again, and Anne Glazebrook Tompkins and her family are also headed for the river to stay at her family cottage.

Got a nice, newsy letter from Gladys Kauffman Lowden in Burlington, New Jersey. Gladys has received her B.A. degree at Trenton State College last August and is now working on her Master’s degree in French while teaching English. Jay, Jr. is in his freshman year at Lycoming College, and the Lowdens have two younger children, Nancy and Bobby, who Gladys hopes will be interested in going to the University of Richmond. They vacation in New Hampshire every year which they find enjoyable, but Nancy wishes they could come South so she could renew ties around Richmond.

That’s all the news for this time. Please, during the summer, send your vacation news and your plans for the fall and winter to your group secretary.

In April of this year the graduating class of 1943 from Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond held its 20th reunion. Marylou Massie Cumby tells us that it was a grand success. In answer to their inquiries they had a newsy letter from Kathleen Abbott who was with us for a year at Westhampton. She is Mrs. Kendall King. Her husband is a professor of bio-chemistry at Radford College and they have two children, a boy and a girl, of the Brownie and Cub Scout variety.

Marylou Coghill Poland was one of the organizers of the party. Some of the girls who went were part of our college time were Ann Fishburne, Alma McWhorten, and “Dee” Davenport. The traveling Allins, Jay and Dizzy, have been at it again. This time to St. Louis to see...
Jay’s sister who is leaving shortly for a three year stay in Japan. On the way, they stopped in Oak Ridge, Tenn, to see one of Jay's brothers. They had family reunions in both places. I have one new address that I want to pass on every month. I’ve passed on Mrs. Joseph Reed (Alice Landl), 1108 Artwin Rd., Chatham, Wilmington, Delaware. Marie Walthall LeSieur and Claude announce the addition of a baby girl to their family. Her name is Jennifer Monroe and she is several months old now. She was christened a few weeks ago in Jamie Yeats’ dress—handmade by Betty.

The dedication of the Fanny G. Crenshaw wing of Keller Hall on June 8th was a dream come true—thanks to over 2000. C. alumni. We hope and expect that your support of the alumni fund will be continued. Hope your summer will be a lazy and happy one and please remember to write to your group leader.

Since our 15th reunion will come between my writing and your reading this Bulletin, the news may be quite stale. Hope most of us can be together then.

Jean and John Biscoe have a sweet little baby boy they adopted April 1. His name is John III.

Johnny Johnson Sandidge and Hill have bought a home which they will remodel and occupy in June.

A change of job has brought a change of address for Bob Koltuskian Cowles and her family. They have moved from Alabama to Missouri.

1950 Secretary
Mrs. David B. Burbank (Doris Balderson)
910 Hampstead Ave.
Richmond 26, Va.

Barbara Covington O’Flaherty had a long letter from Aggie Field Burke. She wrote that she had gone to numerous antique auctions and had just rescued her third Hitchcock chair. She is active in the Junior Auxiliary of the Alexandria Hospital and does volunteer work there every month.

Clarice Ryland Price’s daughter, Anne Beverly, and Barbara Covington O’Flaherty’s daughter, Terri, were two of the alumnae who danced the May Pole dance for May Day at College this year.

Lorraine Chapman is still getting shots for her trip to Europe this summer. She and Ginny Brinson will leave New York on June 16th for Paris. From there they plan to rent a car and motor around Europe all summer.

Doris Lee Reeves Childress and Tripp flew from Illinois to Denver to meet Earl who was there on a convention.

Libby Rouse Wilson and Bob are kept busy with their laundry. Libby insists that she can fix the machines herself now. Her parents paid them a visit in March on their way to La Jolla where they stayed for two months.

Libby, Bobby, and the children managed to visit them often while they were there.

In a recent letter from Louise Coviington Randall III we heard of her home last summer for a visit with her parents in Virginia. She wrote that a highlight of the trip was seeing Dr. Joanna Maiden who was back from Nigeria. Libby Grinnell spoke in a church in Appomattox near Louise’s home. Louise’s husband, Harry, is a Marine Corp instructor under the N.R.O.T.C. program and they are enjoying the college atmosphere. They have three children: Jane, six years old, Jennifer, four, and Jonathan, two years old.

Ludie Hickerson Wiley was in Richmond during the Easter vacation with her four children. She and Libby Givens Pierce had lunch together. Libby Grinnell spoke and Bucky are excited about moving into a larger house on Augusta Avenue. Their new address is 4301 Augusta Avenue.

Marianne Beck Duty and Lester are in the process of moving into a larger house, too. Their new address is 6711 Edmundson Avenue.

Mary Sullivan Tindler and Cecil have bought a new house in New York. She wrote that it is so near Central Park and they plan to spend a lot of time there.

One member of our class did a service for the alumnae living in the Richmond area in taking over and finishing the new year books. Our thanks to Jean Tinsley Martin!

Kitty Rosenberger Garber and John are back in Richmond again. Their address is 2105 Haviland Drive.

Their children are Brownen Ann 7, Glenn Eugene 5½, Brenda Jean 1½, Leland is math teacher at T.F.H.S. and 7 th & 8 grade Junior High School. He also has the after school sports program. Jeannine is active in Eastern Star, a Blue Bird group and P.T.A.

We will be anxious to hear more about the April 28th Northern California get-together atop Mt. Diablo.

No news from Betsy Phillips, Alice Sully or Mary Virginia Hughes who are also in the group. I would also like more news from Diane.

Harriett Williams Johnson plans a trip to Germany and Austria with Cork this summer.

Addie is being sent to the University of Utah to be on the visiting faculty. She wants to do some experimental work in the Research Lab of the duPont dacron plant. Their son, John, is now studying at the University of Texas.

Our tenth class reunion—where had the time gone? As we walked into Nick’s for our reunion meeting, many laughter, many tears. Will the years have changed us much? We will be here? Will we recognize everyone? Will the women have the same vital energy that we had in 1940? We would love to see everyone. Paley and Betty Andrews Rhudy coming from Ft. Bragg (third time they’ve been stationed there). Wet have another family who could not be with us.

Faye Kilpatrick Gillespie wrote that she would be thinking about us. Mary Katharyn Manuel Clark and Joan Wilson Radston had conflicts and sent their best wishes. Mary Katharyn has a private remedial reading practice that keeps her busy and Jane is teaching the sixth grade in Bristol, Va.

Marilyn McMurray Rishell and her four children are moving to Barce, 60 miles away. His plane companion once was Gina Lollobrigida!

Jeanne Hootman Hopkins and family are moving to Chatham, Va. in June where Peter will teach chemistry and coach track at Hargrave Military Academy.

Kathy Cole Lee is in Wilson, N. C. where her husband is a psychiatrist and director of a community health clinic. Son Stuart will be 5 in July and starts kindergarten in the fall. Kathy says that Bv Randolph Shannon “our Web secretary, is just as pretty, if not prettier than ever.”

Starting in September Diznie will be teaching geology at the University College of Oxford. Her friend in the capital city, Addis Ababa. She has a two year contract and is looking forward to the work as well as exploring all the things one does in one of the headwaters of the Nile. The University will fly her to Ethiopia in September. She is rushing to get her thesis finished and hopes to have time to visit on the East Coast before departure time.

Nola Textley Breckenridge is looking forward to going to England this summer. If they’ve been stationed there, they leave for New York to work on the sandwich tour of Turkey in July. Their children have red measles, yellow fever and Sábado Nola missed three weeks from teaching to take care of them. She has decided she liked being home, so she will not teach next year.

Claire Carlson flew up to Providence in April and they went to New York for the weekend. They saw two plays, the Radio City Easter show, and the New Yorker Four Seasons show. It was well worth it! Claire is taking an interesting sounding discussion course entitled “Ways of Mankind.”

Marvin McNeely and Betty have a new child, D. C. while Rish is in Berghazi, Libya. He arrived there in time to help with the disaster operations for earthquake victims

They have three children—Warren, 5, Neal, 3, and Cindy, a very young 9 months. Renée Gartner Diamonstein is also in the Tidewater area, in Virginia Beach, where she is busy doing work for the Norfolk Symphony and serving on the Auxiliary Board of the hospital, not to mention her chores with her two children. From Baltimore Jean Carter Cyphers writes of her three children, two boys, 5 and 7 years of age, and a daughter 3. Her husband is an engineer at Bethlehem Steel and Jean hopes to rejoin the teaching ranks in about three years. Another medical wife is Bev Drake Shull who is living in Herndon, Va. where hubby Owen is a General Practitioner. Their three children, Susie, 5½, Bobby, 3½ and baby Leeda, who just arrived March 31st, keep her busy enough, but in addition, she is also Vice-President of the Women's Club, a member of the Medical Auxiliary, and finds time for her children's school activities.

Ginnie Swain Saunders sends news of her brand new house, new to them, that is, since it dates from 1746. It's big, it's stone and in good condition, thanks to years of "loving care." Their new address is RD #1, Chalfont, Pa. Anyone for a trip to Pennsylvania and a tour of her house?

Elbe Smith Amacher and Martin are now settled in Durham, N. C. at 830 Louise Circle, and are planning to join the Officers' Wives Club of the Key West Naval Hospital. It is a group of 50 wives of doctors, dentists, and other naval officers who tend to the hospital. Dave's folks were down for a two weeks' visit and while there Dave and his wife, Jean, received a visit from a friend who has been teaching at Lakeside Elementary School this year. They were sorry to hear of the death of her grandfather in May.

There are several new items. Note our ad for "The New University of Richmond School of Law School." One of our classmates has moved back to Richmond—Janet Knobel Jones and Anne Jennings Vaughan. Janet lives at 3905 Lester Lane, Richmond in the Farmington section. Morris is employed at Vepco and is working on his Master's degree in night school. Janet is teaching her first grade at Raymond B. Pincheck Elementary.

Anne has moved from Charlottesville to 3925 Stratford Road, Richmond. Judson is practicing law now after being graduated from University of Virginia Law School. They have two children and a brand new home which Janie Bowles Hurt visited recently. Jane was present at the luncheon meeting of the Richmond club held at Willow Oaks Country Club while she was here. Anne Peery Frederick and Anne Jennings Vaughan also attended.

Moving away from Richmond was Mary Lee Kingrey Divers. She's living in Roanoke now at 5769 Littleton Road.

Anne Stuart Hill has a new address also. She's living at 4508 Brook Road, Richmond. She has been teaching at Lakeside Elementary School this year. We were sorry to hear of the death of her grandfather in May.

Three visitors to Richmond that we've heard about were Lillian Stephenson Stout, Dottie Siff Price and Edith Borjes Greer. Lillian and her husband came to the Richmond Boat Show, held at Willow Oaks Country Club while she was here. She plans to graduate in May. She has been teaching at Lakeside Elementary School this year. We were sorry to hear of the death of her grandfather in May.

Diane Brown Higgins, Edna Wagstaff Warncke and Joyce Still Gibson were the class hostesses on March 21 at the alumnae club party for the class of '56. Telling seemed to go well and went smoothly with all nine who were there—Diane, Edna, Joyce, Anne Peery Frederick, Helen Melton Lukhard, Macon Moring Horton, Ann Jennings Vaughan, Charlotte Hart and I.

Julia Hubbard Nixon wrote a long, much appreciated, letter bringing us up to date. After a three year interval of teaching in elementary school, Sam returned to Southeastern Seminary where he plans to graduate in May. He is also Minister of Education of Franklinton Baptist Church. They have one son, Sam, Jr. and two daughters, Arden Catherine and Julianna Marion. Julia taught four and half years in elementary school but in June 1961 she retired to care for the children. Their new address is 118 Bullock St., Franklinton, North Carolina.

Jane Andersen Jennings and Leon have relocated in Roanoke from Norfolk. Leon is a police officer and Juliana is employed at the Bell Telephone Company. They have three little boys, live at 4916 Shadeside Drive, Roanoke, Va.

They must lead a busy life from all the activities she lists in her letter. She and husband, Roger, live in Yale, Virginia where he runs a farm and manages a general store. Among the projects on the farm are an experiment in "mulch planting," the construction of a peanut dryer shed and a new "hog parlor." Besides all this Anne has been driving 12 miles each way to teach the sixth grade at Stony Creek and says she enjoys it immensely. They did take a vacation last summer and went to the Great Smokies. Her address is Yale, Virginia.

Mrs. George M. Ball (Margaret Logan)
25 Omaha Avenue
Rockaway, New Jersey

A card from Margaret Foster tells us that our class physicist is as busy as ever. She is spending much of her time on her research project in high energy physics. She gave no details on this—it's either Top Secret or she's deferring to your secretary's ignorance. Besides attending concerts, lectures and study groups, she finds time for folk dancing, skiing and tennis.

Dr. W level Margaret was in Virginia just after Easter. She had come East to attend the American Physical Society meeting in Washington.

Brandy McDaniel will attend courses at Union Seminary in New York from July 1-19. Local classmates are trying to organize some sort of festival to honor her tenacity at Eastern Carolina College.

Lovey Jane Long Walker and Randolph have joined the ranks of mortgage holders. When they reach Richmond they will be living in a brand new tri-level home near Richmond. He has a new job which will affect all of us—certainly those who have daughters. Since February he has been the Assistant Public Relations Director at the U of R.

Kakie Parr Jenkins' husband Dick has also joined the University. He will be teaching R.O.T.C. this fall, and they too will live in Richmond.

Norman and Betty Lu Scaree Bennett have bought a son, Charles Norman Bennett III. He was born April 11. Supervising two-year-old Debbie's "helpfulness" and activities connected Norman's heart and mine to Betty Lu's time. The Bennetts enjoyed a visit from Marilyn Yates Burkholder, Al, and their three children. The Burkholders are living in Bedford.

Ann Lee Hines Reamy has a new daughter, Martha Pitt, born April 30th. She and Charlie Reamy have moved their house to Charlottesville.

Meg Kidd Tenney reports they have finally sold their house and moved to Charlottesville. New address: Apt. 8E, University Gardens Apartments.

Page and Pat Moore Ewell's first child was born on March 29th. He's a boy, Lionel Page Ewell.

Cathy writes that Loretta Landers Crisp is now living in Pikesville, Ky., too. Loretta's husband is an engineer with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. He is working on a dam and reservoir to help control the floods that cause so much suffering. Loretta and her daughter, Laura, are doing well in Kentucky. A flood last spring destroyed the Crisp's apartment and much of David Armbrister's church equipment. Fortunately, both couples were able to move most of their personal belongings to safety.

During Easter vacation Judy Twyford Davey entertains with greetings from Georgia. She will marry Grant Talmage Lindley, Jr. of Atlanta in May. Virginia Beale Swallow, Nancy Jane Cyrus, and June Smith-Yarbrough relate that Earrol Anne is happy with the new furniture for the home. Susan Payne enjoys a visit with her folks when she came home to her cousin's wedding April 20th. Susan also enjoyed a get-together with Peggy Dulin Crews. The big news from Peggy is that Merle Garrett graduate's v.p.i. in August. Bev Wine Bowers wrote that Albert has accepted a job as plant engineer with Burlington Mills. In September they will move to N. C. (Charlotte). She does not plan to teach next year. Eileen McGonagle went to see Bev and Roddy. She enjoyed a visit with her parents in South Carolina kept Mike, who is now happily spoiled. Barbara Dulin Polis and Charlie had a two-week vacation in May. Part of this week was spent with Peggy Dulin Crews. The big news from Peggy is that Merle Garrett graduates from v.p.i. in August.

Saturday, May 8, we attended a couples party at the home of Sarah Ashburn Holder. Those in attendance Saturday, but not Friday were Betty Lu Sutton Anthony, Peggy Ware, Dorothy Wilshire, Martha Shotwell Hickson, Sarah Ashburn Holder, and Berry Blair Rhodes. After dinner and much chatting we read letters from class members unable to attend and elected officers for the coming five years. Several of our classmates got a jump ahead of us by taking early vacations. Martha Jordan Chukinas and family spent the Easter vacation at Nags Head, N. C. and reported that they thoroughly enjoyed the sand and sun, even though the water was not warm enough for swimming. Nancy Kipp Hughes and Ray spent the weekend of Easter in Deerfield. He had to go to Cape Canaveral on business; Nancy was taken along to enjoy the rest and sun. Ray's parents in South Carolina kept Mike, who is now happily spoiled. Barbara Dulin Polis and Charlie had a two-week vacation in May. Part of the time saw them on a trip to New York sponsored by a drug company. Barbara also wrote enthusiastically about the acquisition of new furniture for the home. Susan Payne enjoyed a visit with her folks when she came home to her cousin's wedding April 20th. Gary Moore Barnes and Peggy Powell Daniels are not vacationing, but are happy with their new furniture. Gary and Bill found a necklace of very rewarding experience. Since Friday, March 15th, at 6:06 a.m., David Sanderson Barnes has kept his proud parents well occupied. David's parents flew down from Virginia and spent five days with the Barneses at Easter, For the Moores it was their first trip to Alabama, and their first grandchild! Bill is taking another graduate course toward his Masters at the University of Alabama Extension Center in Huntsville. Bill also welcomed a visit with her folks when she came home to her cousin's wedding April 20th.

at 3235 Martha Custis Dr., Alexandria; Eddie is Assistant Director of Personnel Services for the George Washington University and Hospital. Nancy retired from her job at the Pentagon (Air National Guard Section) to a "busier job at home." Margie Donald Miller writes that Janet Lee just adores her new sister, Jeri Lynn; the Lowry Millers are enjoying the base near the Jacksonville, N. C. beach where Lowry is attending an aerial observer school and Margie is taking a Modern Dance class, but they took time off recently for a visit to New York City.

The two female additions will have equal company at Richmond College. There was no April's Fools joke in the David Lee's residence, for William Douglas weighed in at 8 lbs., 13 oz. on April 1st. Ethel Buran Lee and David's new address is 5823 Mt. Tacoma Dr., S. W., Tacoma 99, Washington. Edith Jones Middleton and Don announced the arrival of Robert Benjamin on April 14th; they also have bought a house and received their mail at Broad Run Farms, Sterling, Va.

Linda Morgan Lemmon and Bob had a lengthy vacation away from the "Great Gold Vault" in Fort Knox. They were in Aberdeen, Md., spent a week at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, and stopped off for a visit with Phyllis Jenkins Polhemus and Bob in Richmond on their way to Chesapeake, Va., for a visit with Bob's family. Linda's latest spare time endeavor is ceramics and she is thinking about going into the business.

News reached me from a classmate who left our rolls after her Sophomore year ... Hettie Reuel Lutz is living in Houston, Texas where she and her husband have just built a new home.

Gloria Greenfield, who has been the "middle man" on all roll calls, will stay in that position even though she has changed her name: she became Mrs. Jay Harris on August 4th and, after a honeymoon trip to Mexico City, will continue to reside in Los Angeles. Jay has become Mrs. Jay Harris on August 4th, and Barbara Sharp and Bob in Richmond on their way to Palm Beach. Betty and Dick were also in the sunshine state recently for a visit with her family. If the newsletter gets shorter each edition, it is because we have some "delinquent letter writers." Do drop me a line before the next Bulletin deadline ... September 15th.

1961 Secretary

MRS. JERRY H. JONES (Betty Blanton)
7701 Granger Rd.
Richmond 29, Va.

We are really alumnae now that we have had our first reunion. It is hard for me to explain how grand it was to see friends after a two year absence. Contrary to all belief, I recognized almost everyone and was surprised to see how little everyone had changed. We elected Betty Marlow Atkinson class president, Dixi Hartgrave as fund raising chairman, and Betty Blanton Jones as class secretary. The class approved a book memorial to Carole Johnson. Details concerning the memorial will be sent to each member of the class over the summer.

Westhampton has the most beautiful swimming pool!! Believe me, after seeing the pool, it was worth every minute of work the alumnae have done over the years. I cannot begin to describe it; you will just have to come to see it yourself.

I would like to say that I have had tremendous help during the past two years as a news gathering agency and I certainly do appreciate it. I only hope you all will continue to send in news so that I may continue to keep the rest of you for at least two more years.

So much news has been received this time that I hardly know where to begin.

Barbara Bertsch and Robert Cox were married June 22nd and they will move to North Carolina. Bob is a graduate student and Barbara expects to teach school in the fall.

Joyce Smith Allison and Ed were married in Roanoke on June 22nd.

Annie Pulz Waters and Zeke will be returning to civilian life at the end of summer. They will be moving to Norfolk where Zeke will be the assistant city attorney. Mary Burks, Suzanne DuPuy, and Mary Evans all received Master's Degrees from Indiana University this June. Mary Burks has accepted a position as Assistant Dean at Converse College. After Mary Evans journeys to Europe during the summer accompanied by Linda Frazer, she will take up work at Hanover College in Hanover, Indiana as Assistant Dean of Women. Linda Frazer has finished her requirements to teach in California and will be teaching English in the Los Angeles area this fall.

Cathy Marshall Overstreet and Keith have moved to South Boston, Virginia. Keith has graduated from Pharmacy School and will work in South Boston.

Ruth Reynolds Robinson and Bill became proud parents of a son, Mark Thomas, April 4, 1963.

Joyce Steed is teaching school at Front Royal, Virginia this summer and will return to school in the fall to continue studies for her Ph.D. Suzanne Foster Thomas and Bill have moved to Alexandria, Virginia where Bill is beginning his law practice.

I received a very interesting letter from Evelyn Spivey Drum telling of her recent trip from Iowa to Mississippi and New Orleans. She and husband Bill saw Jayne Mansfield and Pete Fountain while in New Orleans.

Jennie Marshall Stokes is working at Camp Pickett this summer and will return to teaching in the fall.

Martha Carole Rogers, Dixi Hargrave, and Ann Bertsch will attend summer School at UNC this summer. Barbara Spiers will return to summer school at the University of Virginia.

Terri Suzanne Gray has become a permanent member of the Junior class and her new parents Betty Hillsman and Lee Gray.

Jean Stonestreet Mann is working as a personnel assistant at Psychological Consultants. Anne Robinson Warner writes on the interesting work she is doing in the Anatomy Department Medical Unit at the University of Tennessee as a research assistant. She and Jim have become home owners and are busily painting and redecorating.

Irene Bambacus Rousos and Bill are moving to South Carolina where Bill will do graduate work.

Jackie Thomas Thomas and Jake are now living in Newport News where Jake is working with Mason and Company Stock Brokers.

Earlene Hord Richardson and Leroy are... know that Diane Hickman Rose and Ernie will be returning to Richmond this summer with their son, David Christopher, born in November. Judy Acree and Dick Hanson have recently announced their engagement. The wedding is planned for August.

Pat Kwa has stopped teaching kindergarten but is still teaching piano. She says they really liked Miami. sunshine while most of the rest of the South was covered with snow. Anne Morrow will finish in August her courses there and get ready to return for the fall semester.

Joan Bishop is planning to return to school this summer. She is going to start courses in French at the University of North Carolina so that she can teach French in the fall. Jane Carlson Shapard Conroy and Bill have recently moved to their new home in the Crestview Apartments.

I'm sure this column looks so short to you as it does to me, but only you can make it longer and "newser." Please send to your group leader or to me any news or items of interest, and group leaders please don't forget to contact your group in time for the fall issue.

WESTHAMPTON ALUMNAE LOCAL CLUBS

Baltimore Club

President: Mrs. John P. Higginbothom (Carolyn Quinn)
411 Alabama Road
Towson, Md., April 28

Our annual spring business meeting was a luncheon meeting held on May 4th at the home of Mrs. William H. Hammond. Various members of the club brought food and the others were asked to contribute to the alumnae fund.

New officers elected were: Kitty Whitty Eige as secretary and Conway Moncur Collins as treasurer.

We are planning a picnic the end of August for the new students attending Westhampton from this area. The setting will be the home of Ruth Latimer down on the Severn River.

California Alumnae Club

San Francisco Area

President: Mrs. L. P. Robertson, Jr. (Virginia Pleasance) 274 Emerystone Terrace, San Rafael, Calif. 94901

We held our spring picnic—a family picnic on Mount Diablo. No one could believe we could say a prayer for sunshine and have it materialize. We had had eight rainy weekend.

It snowed on the mountain April 21st and again May 8th. But April 28th the sun rose clear and beautiful, the earliest arrivals saw the snow capped Sierras. We got our first summer tan on our faces.

Twas too cool for most of us to expose more but many youngsters were stretched out nearby soaking up their first dose. This was muchly enjoyed and we'll try to schedule another in the fall before the rains start again.

Aren't there any other Richmond College alumnae who would enjoy joining us? We are begging for new recruits. Margaret Curtice '41 will be moving to Santa Barbara, Lorrie Applewhite '45 and Guy will be moving to Oregon. Betty Ann Richards '45 will return to Washington, D. C. Nola Breenridge '52 will come to Camp Lejeune when her husband puts his feet on land once more. Thelma Snider '52 and family will accompany John to Scotland. Kit Pedersen '49 will move to New York. Linda Frazer '61 will be teaching English at Palos Verdes, south of Los Angeles. Barbara Bridges '60 left no forwarding address. We hear that Ivey injured his back, wish we could have learned more. Each of us was deeply sorrowed at the death of the Applewhite's Gaylin suddenly in March.

If you are in the San Francisco Area we want to hear from you. Miss Coker managed to give us one last call, which was not quite as gracious as Pacific Salmon. Do let us hear from you. Ollie Stirling '47, 907 Petra Lane, Pacific Grove, Calif.; Jeanne Williams '52, 274 Emerson Terrace, Rafael, Calif.; Virginia Robertson '52, 28 Phone Area Code 415-934-49-28.

Peninsula Alumnae Club

President: Mrs. James Mackey, Jr. (Lois Moody)
29 Albun Drive
Hampton, Virginia

The Peninsula Club held an informal coke party on September 8, 1962 at the home of Barbara Fuller Cox, Draper Lane, Newport News, Virginia, for the freshmen and upper classmen attending Westhampton from this area.

On February 8th a joint dinner was held with the men of the University of Richmond at the Holiday Inn, Dr. and Mrs. Modlin, Mrs. Booker, and Joe Nettles were our guests. Dr. Modlin gave a very interesting talk on all phases of the university.

A large group attended and the venture was most successful.

In view of the combined dinner meeting, our annual spring luncheon was not held.

Plans will be made in the near future to entertain the students from the Peninsula area before they report for classes in September. A luncheon will also be planned for the fall.

Richmond Club

President: Mrs. Glenn S. Hesby
(Katherine Roberts)
900 West Franklin St.
Richmond 20, Virginia

Our Spring Luncheon turned out to be a lovely affair. About eighty were in attendance. The committee arranged an interesting program and a delightful menu. It was unanimously voted to have our '64 Annual Luncheon Meeting again at the Willow Oaks Country Club.

The new officers elected to serve for the next two years are: Mrs. Burford Parson (Sue Hudson '58) Second Vice President; Mrs. William H. Hammond '53, Second President; Mrs. Kenneth Angus Jr. (Edelyn Hazard '49) has agreed to serve as treasurer for another two years. She has served most ably for the past year after the former treasurer resigned.

The '63 Year Book was ready and given to members present at the Luncheon. Mrs. Ellis Dunham (Elizabeth Ramos '59), our Membership Chairman is in charge distribution of this most helpful booklet. We plan a membership drive in the fall at which time local alumnae will be contacted and given their copy of this directory. The actual work of compiling this information was through the efforts of many alumnae and finally made available for printing by the intensive leadership of the membership committee. Pauline Decker Brooks '53, Elizabeth Ramos Dunham '59 and Jean Timsley Martin '50. We extend our sincere appreciation to this committee and all those who worked so diligently to make this directory available.

The amount of our check to turn over to the National Association at the end of the year '63 is not as large as it could be, but the cost of printing our Directory has been paid for and we are happy to turn a check for $75.00 over to Mrs. R. E. Booker at the end of our fiscal year and still have on hand the usual amount with which to start our activities for the fall.

Roanoke Alumnae Club
President: Mrs. Donal D. Divers
(Mary Lee Kingrey)
5769 Littleton Road, N.W.
Roanoke, Virginia

The Roanoke club is again for its annual spring luncheon at the Oasis Restaurant. We were pleased to have twelve members present. A business meeting followed the luncheon, at which time new officers were elected to serve for the coming two years. Our new president will be Mary Lee Divers, our vice president is Jackie Gustin Bock, and our secretary-treasurer is Cary Gilmer. I know our new officers will do an excellent job for the next two years. Plans are already made for a tea in September for new Westhampton students from this area.

Suffolk Area Alumnae Club
President: Mrs. Holmes Small
302 S. Broad Street
Suffolk, Virginia

The Suffolk area alumnae club held its spring luncheon in Simpson's Restaurant, west of Suffolk, on May 18, 1963. Mrs. R. E. Booker met with us and brought information and inspiration. She talked on the role of the alumnae in the future of the college. She pointed out the importance of increased contributions and the need to keep these contributions coming. The new organ as well as the old organ were kept down. The new organ as well as the old organ was a fine organ building. The cost of the new organ was $30,000. The cost of the old organ was $10,000. The new organ was paid for by a gift from Mr. and Mrs. E. Booker.

Washington Alumnae Club
President: Mrs. T. C. Muse
(LaVerne Priddy '42)
3501 N. Peary Street
Arlington, Virginia

The membership of the Washington Metropolitan Club is well beyond the two hundred mark now. Therefore, during the past year the club diversified its types of meetings as well as the time and place in order that more members would have an opportunity to attend at least one meeting. Whereas the attendance was not increased, we do feel it was a successful beginning and we hope to continue it.

Just before the fifty-odd students from our area left for Westhampton in the fall, the club sponsored a Bermuda-Coke party at the home of Mrs. Bernard Chine.

This was followed by a Saturday luncheon in October at the Charcoal Hearth Restaurant in Arlington with Mrs. Leslie Booker as our guest. Mr. and Mrs. Booker continued the Scull calendars and Kathryn Beich candies which added $106.00 to the treasury.

In November the club participated with the Associated Alumnae Clubs in sponsoring "College Night," as well as furnishing alumnae at several smaller affairs in suburban areas.

Then we experienced a lull in alumnae activities which was broken by a Wednesday afternoon meeting at the Embassy of India the first of May. Everyone present was most impressed by Miss Mansingh, the Second Secretary, and her discussion of Indian affairs.

Our joint social hour and buffet with Richmond College at the Naval Weapons Plant was enjoyed by all. The friendly chats, scrumptious buffet, and the exciting news from the Dean of University College made this one of our most pleasant evenings.

Washington played host to the University Choir when a recital was presented at the National Gallery. Several alumnae shared their homes with groups of students.

The year closed with a Sunday afternoon tea at the home of the president. A visit by Miss Keller and Miss Turnbull who accompanied Miss Bock was really a pleasant surprise to all.

When our books were balanced, a check for $200.00 was sent to the alumnae fund in Richmond.

Necrology

Word has been received of the death in March of the Reverend Thomas Harper Binford of San Antonio, Texas. Mr. Binford attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and was married in 1909 to Miss Ethel Layman.

In 1909 he became pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Charleston, W. Va., and was pastor there for nine years. He has served other charges in Covington, Va., Marietta, Ohio, and Akron, Ohio. He retired in July 1950 from the active pastorate and taught in the Akron Bible Institute.

He is survived by four sons and six grandchildren.

Edmund Weller Hening, 82, retired farm machinery businessman, died April 17 in Norfolk. He was the father of Judge Edmund W. Hening Jr., of the Richmond-Henrico Circuit Court.

Mr. Hening was one of 16 children of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Hening of Jefferson, in Powhatan County. He was a direct descendant of William W. Hening, a signer of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals and who compiled Hening's Statutes at Large, the first compilation of Virginia laws. In addition to his son, Judge Hening, he is survived by a brother, Neil H. Hening of Jefferson, Powhatan County, and a sister, Mrs. Nell Hening Meacham of Rock Castle, Powhatan County, and two grandchildren.

Alfred J. Kirsh, 71, a Richmond attorney, died June 4 of injuries received in a three-car accident in Richmond.

Mr. Kirsh has practiced law in New York and Richmond for more than 50 years. He was a former law partner of Richmond Judge Leon Brazil.

He was a member of the Richmond Bar Association, the Virginia Bar Association, and the Beth Ahabah Congregation. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John J. Krauss of Norfolk, and a sister, Mrs. Raphael F. Leven of Richmond.

Word has been received of the death of Fred S. Britton of St. Petersburg, Fla.
Atlanta alumni and alumnae gave a party for Henry C. Taylor on April 19 at the Henry Grady hotel.

The meeting was announced as an organization meeting for the Atlanta chapter but it turned out to be a testimonial dinner for Henry Taylor, the genial, radiant Spider who had sung the praises of Alma Mater since his undergraduate days.

Still going strong at 77, Henry Taylor followed the football team on games in the far south, to Tuscaloosa, to Tallahassee, to Charleston, S.C. Perhaps there have been a few alumni who have traveled as many miles over a lifetime as did Henry Taylor to see the Red and Blue in action.

He recounted many gridiron glories that he remembered from his undergraduate days, and later triumphs of teams coached by Frank Dobson, Glenn Thistlethwaite, and Ed Merrick, '40.

Merrick had been his particular hero when Ed played for one of the greatest of Richmond teams and he was "thrilled" when he learned that Ed was coming to Atlanta to speak at the club's first meeting. Later he said "it was the most wonderful night of my life."

Ed presented him with a football autographed by every member of the squad. There were letters of esteem and appreciation from presidents of the Red and Blue Club and the Quarterback Club.

Less than a month after the meeting, Henry Taylor died on May 12 in Atlanta, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Locke H. ('48) and Frances Trigg. His body was returned to his native Richmond for burial. Most of his active life had been spent in Richmond, including 35 years as purchasing agent and cashier for Tredegar Iron Works. He retired as an employe of the state tax department where he worked for six years. Appropriately, relatives and friends have established a scholarship at the University in his memory.

VILLAGERS SING FOR ALUMNI

Folk singers Bob Dunville, Jerry Robertson, and Jim Carr—The Villagers—entertained alumni during morning celebrations on the green in front of the student center.

The three University of Richmond students are "making it big," having just completed several TV and radio commercials for Coca-Cola in the Richmond area.

They will be appearing at several colleges in the Fall and are currently appearing in clubs in the Richmond area.

Dunville and Carr attended Richmond College, and Robertson is a School of Business Administration student.
