AN EXPRESSION OF FAITH

More than 3,300 sons and daughters of Alma Mater will contribute a sum in excess of $135,000 to the University this year through the Alumni and Alumnae funds. As has so often been said, these gifts constitute a living endowment: they are also an expression of faith in the University and in the laudable goals of higher education.

In the Alumni Fund total are 36 gifts from 18 American industries, each gift matching a contribution of an employee-alumnus of the University. That’s the way education is also an expression of faith in the University and in the laudable goals of higher education.

Whatever your gift you will not be in a unique category—this year’s contributions range from a few dollars up to a few thousand. Give as much as you can afford to give—but by all means give something.

Let this be the year that both the Alumni Fund and the Alumnae Fund reached new highs in the number of givers and in the total gift.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Saturday, November 14

BREAKFAST, School of Business Administration Alumni, Nick's House of Steaks, 7:45 a.m. Speaker: A. P. Gates, '48, executive vice president, V-C Chemical Co.

REGISTRATION, beginning at 9 a.m., Millhiser Green. Coffee and doughnuts. You will have an opportunity to visit with your friends prior to the freshman football game.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL, Ferrum Junior College vs. UR, 10 a.m., Millhiser Field. This will give the old grads a chance to prevue some of the men who will be playing on the varsity next year. This promises to be an unusually good game between two well-matched teams.

LUNCHEON. Alma Mater will be host at this always pleasant occasion in Millhiser Gymnasium, at 12 noon. All sons and daughters of the University will be guests. (Bring your friends. Guest tickets may be purchased for $1.50.)

HOMECOMING PARADE. The students are keyed up this year and promise the most spectacular of all Homecoming parades, with floats, marching bands, and the Homecoming Queen and her court. The parade will begin at City Stadium at 1 p.m.

FOOTBALL, Furman vs. UR, 2 p.m., with the traditional crowning of the Homecoming Queen and awarding of prizes at half-time.

CAPTAIN'S CLUB DINNER AND DANCE, Grand Ball Room, John Marshall Hotel. Dinner at 7:30 p.m. will be preceded by a 6:30 reception and will be followed by a dance at 9:45. Checks for tickets ($10 each) should be made payable to: UR Captain's Club and sent to P. O. Box 100, University of Richmond, Va.

ALUMNI DANCE, Grand Ball Room, John Marshall Hotel. This dance, starting at 9:45 p.m., is held in conjunction with the Captain's Club, thus making possible an unusually attractive price of only $3.50 per couple; music by Joe Michaels and his orchestra.

LET'S MAKE THIS A GREAT HOMECOMING. Bring your wife and children. Bring your friends. Come prepared to enjoy a big day ... on the campus, at the stadium and at the dinner and dance!
The grass grew green in the University of Richmond "lake" as the largest student body in history launched the 1964-65 session.

But there was a handsome new bridge and spillway at the lower end of the area which soon will be flooded again with water to provide the accustomed centerpiece of beauty. It is expected that water will be flowing over the spillway in December.

For the men there were two big plusses—a brand new kitchen which was expected to provide both better service and greater variety of food, and, on paper, a new dormitory which will be located between Wood and Dennis halls. Ground was broken in October to insure completion of the building before the start of the 1965-66 session next September.

The increased enrollment, according to Richmond College Dean Robert F. Smart, emphasizes the need for more dormitories for the men, many of whom were standing by in October as an earth-moving machine bit out the first chunk of ground. The dormitory will house 105 men and will bring the total Richmond College dormitory accommodations to 750. (There is an immediate need for another dormitory of identical size.) The new dormitory will be three stories, of red brick trimmed with limestone, in the University's traditional collegiate Gothic.

Increased enrollments were reported in the University's seven divisions, with an all-time first semester total of 5,616, full-time and part-time students. Of the 1,211 Richmond College students, 450 were newcomers to the University—a freshman class described by Dean Smart and Admissions Director Thomas N. Pollard, Jr. as clearly the best-prepared class in the school's history. Westhampton had an equally well-prepared freshman class of 200 in a student body of 600.

The freshman class enrollment was swelled to 800 by the initial class of 125 in the University's new junior college, located at University College, on the old campus at Grace and Lombardy streets. Many of these students will join their classmates on the main campus at the end of their two-year program.

The deans of the University's seven divisions announced their enrollment figures at the opening convocation in the Luther H. Jenkins Greek Theater, when seniors donned caps and gowns for the first time to march in academic procession with the faculty. Freshmen filled the remaining seats of the theater.

The largest increase of the seven divisions was announced by Dean Martin L. Schottberger of University College, who reported a total of 1,763, including the evening division and the Junior College, up 243 over last year.

Richmond College enrollment was up by 87 students, and the Summer School enrollment reached a record high of 1,512. Westhampton's enrollment was 602; the T. C. Williams School of Law, 199; the School of Business Administration, 215; and the Graduate School, 114.

The students heard the convocation speaker, Dr. H. Sherman Oberly, retired president of Roanoke College, deliver a new commandment: "Thou Shalt Not Kill Time." Dr. Oberly suggested the students use wisely their years at the University, setting aside time for preparation of assignments, thinking, recreation and prayer.

He told the students that a University can only provide the environment and opportunity for growth and development, and urged them to set a high goal for themselves.

"Filling classrooms with those in the 15 to 25 age group is not the solution for dealing with the underprivileged, the social problem and the under-achievers," Dr. Oberly said, adding that the solution rests with positive willingness—not merely agreeable acquiescence—on the part of the individual to set a high goal.

Newcomers to the student body were welcomed to the Richmond area churches by Rev. Constantine N. Dombalis, president of the Richmond Area Ministerial Association, and pastor of Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church.
Three of the University's most distinguished alumni addressed student convocations in October under the auspices of the General Society of Alumni.

Dr. Fillmore H. Sanford, '35, dean of the division of social sciences at New College, Sarasota, Florida, made the first address on Oct. 1, followed at week intervals by Dr. Vernon B. Richardson, '35, pastor of University Baptist Church in Baltimore, and Charles H. Ryland, '36, a Warsaw, Va., attorney and member of the University's board of trustees.

On the platform with each of the speakers was A. W. Goode, '42, president of the Society. Goode is president of Dillard Paper Company in Richmond.

Sanford, who achieved distinction at the University in his undergraduate days by winning a Phi Beta Kappa key as well as athletic letters, drew enthusiastic applause from the students in an address in which he urged them to assert themselves, to develop their own personalities, "to avoid being peas in a cultural pod."

A nationally-known psychologist, whose textbooks are used at colleges and universities throughout the nation, Sanford told the students that "there remains more room in our society than we vision and a more vital leavening function than we conceive of for the idiosyncratic, for the highly individual, and maybe even for the crank and the kook."

Dr. Sanford urged the students to "be unashamedly young while you have chronological reality in your favor," adding that knowledge is exploding and technological change is coming at an exponential rate. "In the face of this snowballing challenge, we stay young in mind or else we become the youngest old fogey in the history of civilization," he said.

An equally enthusiastic student audience one week later heard Dr. Richardson express his appreciation that in his undergraduate days there "was provided the intellectual and spiritual climate that encouraged occasions to see life in all of its relationships, its undefinable unity and spaciousness."

He asked the students to "develop a wholeness of life," adding that "the surest road to oblivion is to leave college with a diploma in hand, a mass of facts in your mind, but without any solid identification with enduring values around which life can be built." "Society is waiting," he said, "for just such persons whom it can mold and fashion into well-rounded zeros."

Dr. Richardson said growing is primarily a matter of moving discipline from the outside to the inside, and this transfer of authority is the big event of campus years. He urged the students to make the transition orderly, for "it is your only guarantee against lost identity in a social order that is astonishingly adept at making everyone over into its own image."

Ryland told the students that "those who come to college just to learn how to make a 'fast buck' are charting a dangerous course. The Warsaw attorney said that education should not be sought for selfish reasons, but for use as a tool for the maturing of the entire person to make that individual fit for competition and contribution to and in the society of which he is a part."

Education, he said, is "the instrument which helps us accept the society which is ours, live with it as best we can, and improve with what skills we have."

Ryland continued: "It is devoutly hoped that during your years here, you will absorb from the faculty the great truths of life they seek to teach and above all else, learn a measure of the application of these teachings with common sense to the life that you will lead after you leave here."

"He said education must consist of having knowledge penetrated with common sense; it must allow you to know the proper way to translate thought into action without losing the spiritual quality of life."

Each of the speakers was a leader on the campus during his student days. All were members of Omicron Delta Kappa leadership fraternity, and Ryland and Richardson were members of Tau Kappa Alpha forensics fraternity. Sanford, in addition to earning his Phi Beta Kappa key, was an all-Southern Conference tackle.
Jungle Camp

BY CORAL MEEARS, '63

As the M.A.F. pilot maneuvered the little plane over and between the high peaks of Chiapas, Mexico, I really felt that I was in the hands of God. When we reached Jungle Camp, I was met by the staff and ushered to what was to be my home for the next six weeks—a little mud hut with grass roof. I fell on my knees on the mud floor to thank the Lord for the dedicated Missionary Aviation Fellowship pilots who risk their lives daily to fly missionaries into remote areas. I thanked the Lord, too, that I was to have three months training to prepare me to live in a primitive Indian tribe as a literacy teacher.

My roommate at "Main Base" was Vida Chenoweth, author and concert marimbist. Vida has been guest soloist with Symphony Orchestras all over the world, but now she has dedicated her life, too, to getting the Holy Scriptures translated into the language of primitive tribes.

Our classes at Jungle Camp consisted of swimming, canoeing, mechanics, carpentry, Tzeltal (the Indian language of the surrounding area), and clinic.

In clinic class, our instructor, Dr. Bob Crawford taught us in simple language how to sew up lacerations, do skin grafts, give injections, give intervenous and subcutaneous feedings, pull teeth, and treat various diseases. He insisted that we will have to do these things in our tribes or let the people suffer or die as they have in the past. We practiced giving vitamin shots to each other, and then, after watching Dr. Bob treat a number of the Indians that came in for help, we began giving injections and treating them too.

Our canoeing class was climaxed by an overnight canoe trip. We paddled downstream for three and one-half hours in the big dugout canoes. The trip downstream was more thrilling than a roller-coaster ride as we went through twenty-seven rapids. The canoe I was in capsized twice and I had to put into practice what I had learned in swimming class—letting the swift current carry me feet first (while I sculled with my hands to keep my head above water) down to calmer waters where I could swim to safety.

When we reached our destination, we had a hearty meal of macaroni cooked in river water, and then we crawled into our jungle hammocks for a night's rest. Jungle hammocks are quite comfortable as they protect one from mosquitoes and gentle rains. However, the rain this night was far from gentle and soon I found myself sleeping in a pool of water!

Our return trip took us five hours as we had to pull the 500-pound canoes up over each of the rapids. We arrived home black and blue from being dashed against rocks, but we were thrilled over the experience.

Another high spot of our stay at Main Base was our trip to Naja to visit the Lacandon Indians who spear fish, live in stick houses, and worship man-made gods by burning incense in god-pots inside their god houses. The men wear their hair long and unkempt, giving them a "caveman" appearance.

About The Author

To prepare for her mission as a literacy teacher in one of the remote Indian tribes in Guatemala, Coral Mears underwent a three-month survival training program in Wycliffe's jungle camp in Southern Mexico. Here she learned to cut her own paths through forests, find food and water, prepare her own shelter. The rigorous program included a 26-hour solitary hike through the jungle. She left on a moment's notice—with only a machete. She became an expert swimmer and canoeist and learned to build a jungle hut of leaves, vines and mud.

In Guatemala she will teach the natives to read and write in their own language. She will have to learn to speak both Spanish and the Indian tongue fluently, not only for discourse with the natives but for the preparation of a primer and other teaching aids. She and one other white woman will live with the tribe, observing and absorbing the natives' customs, folklore and culture, in order to win their confidence.

She will receive no salary, not even living expenses. She will rely on "one of the promises of the Lord—that he will take care of me." And if, as it is said, the Lord helps those who help themselves, Coral Mears should qualify. She had to support herself and, in part, her teen-age son who was graduated from high school the year she received her degree at Westhampton.

Now, with no further domestic responsibilities, she is fulfilling a burning desire, a compulsion to be a missionary.

ance. Their clothing is a garment that looks like a filthy white nightgown.

It took us two days to hike to their village. After we visited the Lacandon Indians, we hiked several more hours to a Tzeltal Indian village where we attended church. Our mission, the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., has already translated the Bible into this language and what a contrast we saw between the two tribes—the one whose members worshipped idols and the other where praises were sung to the one true God.

The next day we began our journey home, hiking the entire twenty-five miles of muddy jungle trail in one day. I, for one, asked the Lord for strength and He supplied it.

The second six weeks of our training was spent at Advance Base in dense virgin jungle. To reach A.B., we hiked ten hours over a hot, hot trail. At noon we reached a river and sat down in the cool water, clothes and all, to eat our lunch.

When we reached our destination I spent a half hour just looking at the beauty and listening to the enchanting sounds of the jungle. Orchids grew in clumps and philodendron climbed nearly every tall tree. Vines of all sizes hung everywhere.

The first week at A.B. was physically the hardest of my life. My partner, Jaci Berhardt, and I had to build our champa (hut) in eight days. We had only a machete as a tool and we had to tie the framework together with vines. The thatch also had to be tied on with vines. But we finished our home and all our furniture in the allotted time. We made our beds, table, and shelves with cane poles and our stove with poles and mud. Several weeks later we were baking cakes, pies, and yeast rolls in a skillet with hot coals in the cover!

Our swimming and canoeing classes continued, as well as classes in food preservation and survival. We had to wear machetes, canteens, and survival kits at all times, so when a surprise survival hike was sprung on us, we were ready.

We girls were taken on a trip of several hours duration into the jungle and were spread out 100 feet apart so that each of us had to spend twenty-six hours alone and without food. As I had been taught, I quickly built a little shelter and gathered enough firewood to last all night. I built my bed in the shelter by placing cane poles across two logs to keep me off the ground. I found a little stream and tried to catch minnows, but they proved to be too fast for me! I did find a few plants that I knew were safe to eat, so the day wasn't too unbearable. When darkness came, I lit my campfire to keep away any animals that might be nosing around. I had learned, though, that most snakes and animals do not molest man unless provoked, so I calmly went to bed, putting myself entirely in the Lord's hands and spent a peaceful night. The next afternoon, when we arrived back at A.B., we let out some very unlady-like whoops!

We made two village visits while at A.B. On the first visit Jaci and I were taken by Doña Plascita, an Indian woman, to spend the night in her home in La Trinidad. What an experience! We were served supper consisting of tortillas (a flat pancake made of corn), beans, and coffee. We had a difficult time eating the beans with no utensils.

We had been forewarned that the Indians all live in one-room huts and that we would all sleep in the same room, so when darkness came and Doña Plascita gave us a thin straw mat to place on the mud floor, we were prepared for almost anything except the dozen or so rats which were playing tag in the hut. We decided we would ask the Lord for protection and have faith He would care for us. Jaci announced that she was going to mix faith with works as she placed her machete beside the mat! The domestic animals, which wandered in and out of the hut, insisted on keeping us awake. The dogs barked every hour on the hour while the burro let out with his hideous "hee-haws" at ten, two, and four o'clock! I must admit that it was a sleepless night climaxed by a huge rat landing on top of me! I then added an amendment to my prayer asking that the Lord not only protect us from the rats, but also to keep them off our mat. The Lord obliged!

The next morning Doña Plascita let us help her make tortillas for our breakfast. As we headed homeward, we both decided that the night wasn't so bad after all!

Our second visit was a three-day trip to Agua Escondida, an Indian village near some Mayan ruins. Five of us set out with one horse, one mule, and one pack animal, and, because we had no guide, we had to inquire our way of Indians we met on the jungle trail. It was a very realistic experience as we had to bargain with the Indians (in our limited Tzeltal) for food and lodging.

We were slowed by rain and we reached Las Tascitas at seven o'clock. There is no twilight in the jungle so it was just about dark. We asked for lodging and were given a hut to sleep in. We bought tortillas and bananas from the Indians, and after supper we were swamped by people coming in for medicine. We gave injections and medicines until 10:30. No one could possibly come into one of those tribes and see the poverty and illness and not want to dedicate their life to helping the Indians.

Smith to Hilton Passing Attack Potent as

Spiders Win Two of First Four Conference Tilts

By WALTER DREWRY

As the Alumni Bulletin went to press, the Spiders won their third game of the season and snapped a 14-game East Carolina winning streak by edging the Pirates, 22-20, on Oct. 24 at Greenville, N. C.

Richmond tallied 16 points in the first quarter, Ronnie Smith sneaking over from the one for a touchdown following a fumble recovery. Then, after East Carolina had scored on an intercepted pass, the Spiders added two points on a safety. Smith's 49-yard touchdown pass to End John Hilton made it 16-6 at the close of the first period.

Kenny Stoudt's 19-yard touchdown run in the second period gave Richmond a 22-6 advantage although Joe Stromick, who had kicked the first two extra points, missed this time. East Carolina tallied just before intermission and again on a 34-yard run by Dave Alexander in the fourth quarter. The Spiders stopped the big fullback short of the goal on the attempted two-point conversion run.

The University of Richmond football team captured two of its first five football games, defeating V.M.I., 20-14, and Davidson, 20-7. Coach Ed Merrick's Spiders also played well against two strong clubs, West Virginia and Southern Mississippi, before bowing to the Mountaineers, 20-10, and the Southerners, 14-9. Only against The Citadel did things go extremely bad, the Bulldogs winning, 33-0.

One thing is certain. The Spiders have one of the most feared passing combinations in

THROUGH Judge Edwin Owen Lewis, '96, the University of Richmond has made a priceless contribution to the renaissance of "America's most historic mile," that area of old Philadelphia which contains such treasures as Independence Hall with the Liberty Bell and Carpenters and Congress Halls.

Philadelphia had once been capital of the new nation, its largest city and most important port. Laid out in 1682, its original streets had echoed to the footsteps of Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison, Monroe, Marshall and other Founding Fathers. Through the years, however, the priceless historic structures of Penn's "greene Countrie Towne" had become crowded and overshadowed by buildings of no particular architectural significance and its once quiet streets clogged with heavy traffic. Then by 1939 the historic heart of the city was rapidly falling into that decay which affects most downtown sections of large cities as business and residential areas move away.

It was at this juncture that Richmond-born Judge Lewis, for forty years prominent in Philadelphia public life, formed a committee to take steps to protect the city's historic buildings from bomb damage in case of a second World War. The work of this committee evolved, under Judge Lewis' direction, into the organization known as Independence Hall Association, which was chartered to protect the historic shrines and to improve their environment. Judge Lewis was chosen president of this Association, which comprised representatives of fifty-two civic organizations.

Upon taking the presidency of the Association, Judge Lewis interested the Governor and Legislature of Pennsylvania, the Mayor and City Council of Philadelphia, and the United States Congress in a plan to create two parks in the deteriorating neighborhood of Independence Hall. Their construction would inevitably eliminate the great fire hazard of overcrowded streets lined with many outmoded buildings and bring about the visual re-creation of the Colonial period.

The parks are now known as Independence State Mall, which runs northward for several blocks from Independence Square, and Independence National Historic Park to the East. The creation of these parks necessitated the destruction of approximately 220 buildings, most of them undated but with a few massive Victorian structures modernized. and in use by financial institutions.

The total cost to the Federal government for the National Park exceeds $18,000,000 and Independence State Mall involves more than $15,000,000. All the land for both projects has been acquired. All the buildings have been demolished. The parks are now realized, although all landscaping has not been fully completed. The "historic square mile" of Old Philadelphia has been transformed to much of its original eighteenth century serene beauty.

Tourists come to Philadelphia by millions annually to tour the historic area of Independence Mall. Congress Hall has been beautifully restored to look as it did in 1795. Independence Hall is being strengthened with steel columns and restored to its original appearance, as is the United States Supreme Court building. Carpenters Hall has always retained its original aspect, being the meeting place of the Carpenters Company, a guild of builders, but where it was once obscured by other buildings it is now surrounded by landscaped gardens. Within walking distance of the Mall are the First and Second Banks of the United States, the First Stock Exchange Building in the country; Christ and St. Peters Episcopal Churches.

By-products of the Independence Mall movement are the removal of the sprawling old wholesale produce markets to a new and ultra-modern setting some miles away; a proposed park-like waterfront along the Delaware, and the already burgeoning restoration of the adjacent Society Hill area to its early residential tranquility. Society Hill, on a slight rise of ground overlooking the Delaware, was developed to house the citizens of the Colonial city. However, it too had fallen into neglect, with its buildings battered and its yards cluttered. To date 250 homes have been or are being restored with an estimated investment of $3,000,000 in private funds. There is a steady trek of suburban dwellers back to the city and into this renewal of a once gracious residential area.

Judge Lewis is generally acknowledged to be, more than any other man, responsible for what is known as the Independence Mall Area Improvements. With so much accomplished, small wonder Judge Lewis is considered one of this century's great Philadelphians. In recognition of this he was made recipient of the Philadelphia Award for the year 1962. The Award carried with it a medal and $10,000 in testimonial of his contribution to the city.

After leaving Richmond College Judge Lewis enrolled in the University of Pennsylvania where, in 1902, he received the LL.B. degree. He was that year admitted to the Pennsylvania bar and practiced in Philadelphia until 1923 when he was elected judge of the Court of Common Pleas. Judge Lewis retired from the bench in 1958, at which time he was president judge of Common Pleas Court No. 2. After retirement he joined, as "of counsel," the law firm of Hart, Childs, Hepburn, Ross and Putnam. He has the distinction of being an uncle of U.S. Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania who was born in Fredericksburg and educated in Virginia.

Judge Lewis served for 29 years as president of the School of Design for Women and of the Moore Institute of Art; as director and president of the Atheneum Library, director of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; and as vice president of the Pennsylvania Historical Society. He is honorary governor general of the Society of Colonial Wars and honorary general president for life of the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution and of the Pennsylvania Society. Somewhere Judge Lewis has also found time to play an active role in the political and social life of the city.
Memorial Service Pays Tribute to

May L. Keller: a noble woman

by MARY GRACE SCHERER TAYLOR, '42

May L. Keller was too busy to keep a diary. But the story of her life is recorded in the many possessions found after her death in attic trunks and desk pigeonholes.

Friends, colleagues, students, alumni, and alumnae who joined in paying her tribute at a memorial service held at 4 o'clock, September 27, in Cannon Chapel, stayed to browse through an exhibit of the late dean's memorabilia.

President George M. Modlin, presiding at the service, characterized her as "a noble woman and a distinguished educator who, in the long history of the University, stands among those who contributed most to its growth."

Mrs. May Thompson Evans, '21, of Washington, a past president of the Westhampton Alumnae Association, in an eloquent tribute to the "little dean," spoke of Miss Keller's "courage, forthrightness, and keen sense of humor"... a woman "who stood up for her rights" and around whom there was "always an eddy of excitement." She was described as a "well-integrated human being, with vivacity of manner."

But most of all she was "a mental and moral disciplinarian, who knew the ideals and principles that have made and kept mankind humane. She lived by them, was able to transmit their values to others. She attained what philosophers tell us is life's most difficult goal: to know one's self. What is more, she led college students to know themselves."

Dr. Robert F. Smart, now dean of Richmond College, a friend and colleague of Miss Keller for many years, spoke of her contributions to the civic, religious, educational and cultural life of the community, and Mrs. Alice Weber Mansfield of St. Louis, national president of Phi Beta Phi, told of Miss Keller's ten years of leadership of that social fraternity for women.

The Keller exhibit gave rare insight into the life which spanned 77 years and inspired countless individuals. Selected and arranged from deanery treasures, the souvenirs, ranging from dolls to dissertations, traced the little dean from her forbears to her death, June 28.

Keller family keepsakes include mementoes from her chemist father and gifts from a 19th century jet-set uncle whose journeys possibly whetted the youngster's appetite for adventure. In fact, many, who in later years stood agape at her unique combination of feminine dignity and intrepid daring, were not surprised to learn that she was descended on her mother's side from Maine sea captains, and on her father's from conservative Maryland stock.

A monthly report card from the small Baltimore school she attended under the tutelage of a relative of General Lee shows a perfect score of 10 on all subjects, including one general category of "Common Things and Poetry."

A large trunk reveals that her life as a little girl was not all "ethics and etymology." Dolls with wax faces and kid hands boast an abundant supply of handmade clothes. One model, an early relative of today's Chatty Cathy, still plays—although somewhat mournfully—"O Happy Land." Accompanying the doll family is a handsome

Focus on the Art of Thanksgiving

Many persons have tried with varying degrees of success to express their affection for the University of Richmond. Few have done this as well as A. W. Goode, '42, president of the Alumni Society, in the concluding remarks of his welcome to the freshman class of Richmond College.

"Many things about this University have changed," he said, "since my college days. But in reality, time has not brought basic change. The history of the university is one of constancy in the important realms of tradition and ideals."

"When you leave this campus you will leave it with the same feeling of love that those before you felt—and for the same reasons. No student has ever paid to the university while in school the full cost of his education. You will realize that you can never fully repay her financially or in service for all that she has given you, but you will want to do your best."

"You will want to put gratitude into action. As Wilfred Peterson has said, 'The Art of Thanksgiving is Thanksgiving!'."

"Gentlemen, I love this university not alone for what she taught me but how she taught me. I love her not alone for the friendships she gave me, but for the opportunities she made me see. I love her not alone for the friendships she developed here, but for the kind of friendships."

"I love her for these and many reasons more—and so will you!"

Dr. James E. Rayhorn, '48, a Richmond dentist, has completed a month’s trip to Nigeria where he worked with the Baptist Dental Clinic in Ibadan.

Dr. Rayhorn went under the auspices of a Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board program aimed at temporarily assisting medical missions.

He prefaced his observations of Nigeria with the disclaimer that he was in Nigeria only a month and saw only a small portion of it. He was surprised to find the new nation 'more advanced than I thought.' Three modern high-rise buildings stand in sharp contrast to the normal view of Africa.

In this land of contrasts, Dr. Rayhorn said, "television exists side by side with talking drums." And while there is now sewerage system, service stations are modern.

His church, Montrose Baptist, and several individuals in it lent financial aid for his trip, while two area dentists divided his practice for the month. He arrived in Nigeria July 3 to work with Dr. H. D. McCamey, a veteran of 25 years of mission service there.

The clinic charges a fee for all work, though it considers a patient’s economic status. The patients insist on paying something. "They don’t think you can get something for nothing," said Dr. Rayhorn. "They think it is worth much if it is free. Besides they are a fiercely proud people who want to pay."

EUGENE PEEK HEADS FLORIDA HEALTH BOARD

Dr. Eugene G. Peek, Jr., '40, is serving as chairman of the Florida Board of Health.

One of Florida's outstanding physicians, he is also serving as vice president of the Florida Medical Association, along with working with a host of other civic and professional projects.

Dr. Peek moved from a growing and successful medical practice in Ocala, Florida, to his current position where he is a policymaker responsible for the thousands of persons who make the Florida health system and its varied departments.

He inherited a driving ambition to be a doctor from his physician father, who lives only a few blocks away from the younger Peek's home. As a student at the University of Richmond he met and married Virginia Hall Bugg, who has presented him with four sons.

He earned his M. D. in 1944, spent two years in residency, two years in the U. S. Army and returned to Ocala to join his father. The elder Peek retired almost immediately and young Dr. Peek began 16 years of practice.

His wife, Patricia Saam Cousins, was a Delta Gamma at Colorado College, class of '56, and was introduced to Solon by her employer, a bank president and member of the "Y." They were married on July 7, 1956. Their children, three boys, are Solon IV (Jay), 7; Grayland (Gray), 6; and Joseph (Joe), 3.

From the University of Richmond this Phi Gamma Delta and Omicron Delta Kappa (president of the former and vice-president of the latter) received a B.A. in Sociology. In 1951 Solon earned his M.A. in the same field from the University of Chicago. This former varsity basketball player at Richmond has now become a good golfer shooting in the high seventies. His home course is the Mission Hills Country Club of Northbrook. Solon competes in the Midwest Public Links and the Chick Evans tournaments. Every time I come back to Richmond I never fail to go to see the campus and I am amazed at the fantastic, continuing development there," says Solon. "There's no small, denominational university that has any finer leadership. I am well acquainted with church-related colleges because that is where the Y.M.C.A.'s do most of their recruiting for workers." When in Richmond, Richmond residents Thad Cump, '48 and Walter Hyer, '49 visit with Solon.

Born in Richmond on November 17, 1925, Solon attended Hill School and Thomas Jefferson High School where he was defeated for the presidency of the student government at West Point by Stuart Massie, '49, who later became his fraternity brother and also president of the University of Richmond Student Government Association. collection of carefully crafted furniture embellished with needlework finery. Tucked away in one of the miniature drawers is a clipping from a Baltimore newspaper. It is a letter from May J. Keller, age 8, which was sent with a contribution of 25 cents to help educate the Indians.

A typewritten speech, delivered on the occasion of her graduation from the Girls' Latin School, is entitled: "Possunt Qua Posse Videntur" or "We Are Able Because We See To Be." With that motivation, she entered Goucher College at the age of 16 and her graduation portrait is visual proof of her achievement.

Souvenirs from the next decade show that the young lady was indiscrupt enough to insist on graduate courses, even though females were admitted to such seminars only then that they remain safely hidden from gentlemen by curtains. It was at this university that she found, in a biographical sketch, that a Middle German professor inquired whether it was necessary for her to earn a living. Her negative reply brought forth his exclamatory admonition that she "stop and get married."

Undaunted, she sailed for Germany at the turn of the century as witnessed by her passport which describes her face as "round with dimple in right cheek." Theater and opera programs, a rug with dancing Cosmopolitans, and a reproduction of the famous "torschmauch," a celebration traditionally given on the occasion of her graduation from the Girls' Latin School, are among the items that will be shown at the University of Richmond next month.

the area in Quarterback Ronnie Smith and End John Hilton. At the midway mark in the season, the 6-4, 220-pound Smith had completed 59 of 115 passes for 658 yards and four touchdowns. All four of the TD tosses were to the 6-5 Hilton, who had 20 catches for 293 yards. In the Davidson game Hilton, who like Smith is a Richmonder, broke a school record by grabbing nine passes (he held the record jointly with Bob Coolbaugh at eight) for 147 yards (the old record was 138).

The victory over V.M.I. was especially a sweet one for the Spiders for it was their first over the pesky Keydets since 1954 although the two rivals had played to a pair of ties during the past 10 years.
Merrick not only was concerned about the Keydets but also about injuries sustained in the opener with West Virginia as his Spiders ran on the field for the game with V.M.I. Hilton had an ankle in practice that week and All-Southern Halfback Kenny Stout was on the sidelines with a sprained foot sustained in the Virginia contest. Furthermore, Ends Pete Emelianchik and Kirk Kressler also were ailing and were to see only limited action.

However, the Spiders jumped to an early 12-0 lead. Halfback Warren Hayes smashed through the line for the first touchdown and then Smith, having his greatest day with 15 completions in 17 attempts, connected with Hilton, who made a leaping catch, in the end zone on a 31-yard TD pitch.

The Keydets, however, made it 12-7 at intermission when Quarterback Charlie Snead passed seven yards to End Dan Phlegar and Rick Parker booted the extra point. V.M.I. took the lead in the third period, 14-12, when Richmond gambled on a fourth-down-and-one-yard-to-go situation on its own 30-yard line and failed, The Keydets took advantage of that failure, scoring on a 25-yard TD run by Fullback Granville Amos.

However, it was evident that the Spiders "wanted this one." Again it was a Smith to Hilton toss, this time for six yards, that did the damage and Hayes passed to Halfback Norris Aldridge for the two-pointer and the six-point spread over the Keydets.

With Smith completing 14 of 25 for 164 yards and Hilton setting records, the Spiders put 20 points on the scoreboard against Davidson before the Wildcats tallied. Halted in the first period by a fumble, Richmond made it 7-0 at intermission when Smith passed 21 yards to Hilton after recovering a Wildcat fumble. Joe Stromick kicked the extra point.

Richmond, aided by a penalty and the running of Pete Britton and Don Matthews, rolled 74 yards for a score in the third period with Halfback Ronnie Grubbs carrying the final two yards and Stromick again adding the extra point. The Spiders paraded 67 yards in the fourth period with a 20-yard pass to Hilton keeping the drive going and the 30-yarder accounting for the touchdown. Less than a minute remained in the game when Davidson tallied on a 15-yard pass from Steve Heckard to Renn Guber.

The Spider line did well against the Wildcats although starting Tackle Dick Hodsdon, Guard Larry Pew, Ends Bob Ring and Ed Kullaf missed the contest with injuries and Tackle Bob Andrews saw very limited service.

It was a breakdown in the secondary that hurt most against West Virginia. The Mountainneers scored on a 61-yard pass from Quarterback Ed Pastilong to Homer Criddle on the third play of the game to take a 6-0 lead. Smith's passes to Hilton set up a 25-yard field goal by Richmond Sophomore Lou Flaim, but West Virginia came back to make it 12-3, a Pastilong to Bob Dunlevy toss setting up the score from the one.

Smith sneaked over to cap a 73-yard advance and chop the margin to 12-10. Richmond made a great effort and stopped West Virginia on the one-yard line in the third period, but Pastilong connected with Dunlevy on a fourth-down pass good for 14 yards to the Spiders' one in the fourth quarter to set up the final West Virginia touchdown.

The Spiders made only two defensive mistakes against Southern Mississippi, allowing USM Quarterback Vic Purvis to break loose on 79 and 34 yards scoring runs, but they were enough to whip the Spiders. Richmond's touchdown came on a 67-yard run by Stromick after intercepting a pass. Nothing went right for the Spiders in their loss to The Citadel. Stoudt broke loose on an apparent 75 yards TD run after taking a pass from Smith only to have a clipping penalty nullify the score. The Bulldogs led, 14-0, at the time and that play, just seconds before the half, seemed to take the wind out of the Spiders.

Several short punts put The Citadel in position for its first score, Ed Brewster cracking over from the two. Another short punt hurt Richmond as the Citadel scored again in the first period, Quarterback John Breedlove passing 30 yards to Jim Parker for the TD.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVAL

In an effort to give Thanksgiving its full impetus and recognition and promote it as a family holiday, the Virginia Thanksgiving Festival again will sponsor the traditional football classic between the College of William and Mary and the University of Richmond at Richmond City Stadium on November 26. This year's clash between these ancient foes, the second oldest gridiron contest in the United States, will be the 73rd in the series which dates back to 1898.

Pre-game activities for the W&M-UR game will start at noon with the kickoff at 1 p.m. Halftime activities are especially colorful and events will include an official re-enactment, in costume, of the first Thanksgiving.

As is customary, the Festival extends invitations to the football game to the entire family by offering special prices in the reserved seat section. Tickets will be reserved on a first come, first served basis. They may be obtained in Richmond at the University of Richmond Athletic Office (Atlantic 8-5308) or the Virginia Thanksgiving Festival, Inc. (MI 4-5768) or the College of William and Mary Athletic Office, P.O. Box 399, Williamsburg, Va. (Williamsburg CA 9-3111).

With the help of distinguished Virginians, it has been recognized nationally that the first Thanksgiving in America took place in Virginia on the shores of the James River on December 4, 1619. This historic fact was officially chronicled by the late President John F. Kennedy in his Thanksgiving Proclamation of 1963. This recognition was brought about by a group of interested and devoted Virginians now known as the "Virginia Thanksgiving Festival, Inc." under the leadership of former State Senator John J. Wicker, Jr.

The Richmond Thanksgiving Festival was founded in 1958 and incorporated in 1960 as a non-profit organization for the "institution of the Public as to the history and meaning of the annual Thanksgiving Day and the Thanksgiving season" as originally celebrated at Berkeley Plantation near Richmond in 1619. Virginia's claim to the first Thanksgiving celebration in America is substantiated by the papers of John Smyth, one of the early colonizers of Virginia.

According to historical record, a group of 38 Englishmen sailed for Virginia, already a growing colony, from Bristol, England, on September 16, 1619. Their objective was the establishment and settlement of a "town and hundred at Berkeley." This is the present site of Berkeley Plantation and Harrison's Landing on the James River some 25 miles southeast of Richmond.

The settlers were sent by a company which owned a grant of 6,000 acres in the area. The first of a long list of instructions to the settlers from the company was: "Wee ordaine that the day of our ships arrivall at the place assigned for plantacon in the land of Virginia shall be yearly and perpetually keepd holy as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God."

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR FESTIVAL GAME

The Richmond Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad has arranged for a special train to leave Washington for Richmond on Thanksgiving Day to carry University of Richmond and William and Mary alumni and friends to the football game at City Stadium. The train will leave Washington at 9:15 a.m. and Alexandria at 9:33 a.m. Fredericksburg alumni will be picked up at 10:30 a.m. and the train will arrive in Richmond at 11:45 a.m. The train will depart the same day, leaving Broad Street Station at 5:00 p.m.

Heading up a committee to foster participation by University of Richmond alumni to make reservation on the special football train is Norman A. West, president, Washington Chapter, UR Alumni. Serving on the committee are Richard W. Stone, vice president; Rev. James J. Greene, secretary; and Frank Garey, treasurer. The Fredericksburg committee are Dr. Robert F. Caverlee, Charles B. McDaniel, Jr., Jerry G. Miller, Graham A. Morris, Joseph A. Amrhein, and W. B. Bolton, all of Fredericksburg.
Miss Keller, Dean Emerita of Westhampton College, died on June 28, 1964. In her will Miss Keller very generously bequeathed her home on the campus to the University without cost if it were converted into a lodge for the occupancy and use of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association. Otherwise, under the terms of the will the University would purchase the house at the cost price, and the proceeds, plus other assets in Miss Keller’s estate, would be placed in a trust fund, the income from which would be paid annually to Miss Pauline Turnbull, who was Miss Keller’s closest friend and companion through the years. At Miss Turnbull’s death the trust fund would go to Goucher College, Miss Keller’s Alma Mater, as a memorial to her parents.

So she could arrange her future plans, Miss Turnbull requested that the University Trustees make the decision as promptly as possible. On July 22 the Executive Committee of the Westhampton College Alumnae Association met in Miss Keller’s home to consider the matter. Devoting the entire day to a discussion of every aspect of the question, the Committee presented its findings in a communication to the University Trustees.

Because the decision to accept or reject the terms of Mrs. Turnbull’s will rested solely in the hands of the Trustees, the Alumnae Executive Committee helpfully presented both the advantages and disadvantages of using the deanery as an alumnas lodge and made no recommendation.

The Executive Committee of the University’s Board of Trustees, having full authority, held a special meeting on August 4 to consider the matter. Although the Trustees were most appreciative of Miss Keller’s generous offer and were very reluctant to reject it, they decided that, despite the advantages of an alumnas lodge, there were convincing reasons why the house could not be accepted under the restrictive provisions of the will.

According to the terms of the contract between Miss Keller and the University when she was constructed in 1925, it could be sold only to the University at the cost price. The Trustees have the responsibility of determining the future use of the house. The residence is needed primarily as a home for the new Dean of Westhampton to be appointed by next session. It was built as a residence and is unsuited to serve adequately the varied functions of an alumnas lodge. An alumnas committee composed of two Trustees, Miss Elizabeth Tompkins and Mrs. G. Mallory Freeman, and the President of the Westhampton Alumnae Association, Mrs. Beecher E. Stallard, is assisting in securing the new Dean.

Through the generosity of Miss Turnbull a large number of mementos and articles belonging to Miss Keller and relating to her life have been made available to the alumnae and will be preserved and placed on permanent exhibit in Keller Hall. In this way succeeding generations of Westhampton students will be able to appreciate to some degree the outstanding contributions of this remarkable woman to the founding, the progress, and the strength of Westhampton College.

Robert T. Marsh, Jr., Rector
University of Richmond
Looking and feeling somewhat less like "the old gray mare" ("she ain't what she used to be") than one might expect after 35 years, 12 members of the class of '29 returned to Westhampton in June to marvel anew at the strength and beauty of the pine-hills, and the inevitable tug at the heartstrings that is a mixture of pride and loyalty and hope and faith and love and sentiment for old, dear, familiar things.

On Friday night among the "Ritchmond girls"—Mary Richardson Butterworth, Clare Johnson Wayt, Jimmie Stuessy Mattox, Virginia Perkins Yeaman, Helen Moon and Violet Cearvich Simpson—were hostesses at a sumptuous dinner party served on Mary's delightful back porch. Others making up the dozen or so present were Tom Rudd, Louise Hardaway Boswell, Rosalie Gore Hinson, Thelma Pruden Stanton, Natalie Evans Sanford and I.

Adding immensely to the fun of the dinner party were two special guests—Miss Virginia Withers, '29's class sponsor, and Miss Emily Brown, our speech and dramatics instructor. Miss Withers, "the little dean," was there, adding a touch of glamour, youth and beauty. Renny spent July and August in Europe and has since returned to Randolph-Macon Women's College where she is a senior and has since returned to Randolph-Macon Women's College where she is a senior and holds a high office in Student Government.

For most of us, it was our first visit with Miss Withers since the famous party she and Miss Scott gave for us at our tenth reunion in 1939. Proving that her memory is much better than ours, Miss Withers brought along with her a plate from a tea set we ('29) had given her 35 years ago and related several amusing incidents in the tea set's checkered career.

Miss Brown, forever young and lovely, was her usual charming self. She professed to be flattered that Miss Brown accepted the invitation to dine with us. It was our good fortune that Miss Brown, forever young and lovely, was her usual charming self. She professed to be flattered when we recalled some of her favorite incidents in the tea set's checkered career. Miss Brown, forever young and lovely, was her usual charming self. Just to be sure that we keep on keeping in touch, we suggested to Miss Brown the idea of having Virginia Saunders Thomas and Bill are going to New York in October and will, of course, visit the World's Fair. What a shock it was to learn via the Summer Bulletin of Miss Keller's death on June 28. We all will discover we have many wonderful memories of the "little dean." As someone has already stated, "Dean Keller was Westhampton." Virginia Saunders Thomas and Bill are going to New York in October and will, of course, visit the World's Fair.

Two others have made enjoyable trips. Helen Hutch and your achievements and activities.

Hello again! We’re substituting till the new secretary can begin and will start with a correction in the notes from the Bulletin. Had a phone call from Frances Folkes Duncan when she was vacationing in Richmond. Her favorite hobby is raising Maltese dogs, not cats. While in Virginia Frances saw Katherine Bell here and Elizabeth Claybrook Bristow in Urbanna.

Some of our class enjoyed a luncheon at the William Byrd Hotel on June 8 and had some members from out of town.

Altogether it was an impressive tribute to our first Dean.

Several members of the Class of ’35 attended the memorial service for Miss Keller who expressed their respect for her memory and their gratitude for her contribution to their lives. Margaret Gravatt Baker came to visit relatives in Richmond during the early summer. Rhea Tapp and Art spent a part of their vacation with her mother.

Estelle Vezey Jones and Stella flew in from California for a stay with her brother and the Joe Nettles family. Estelle’s lovely daughter, Stella, is a freshman at Williamette University in Oregon. Stella and Cheryl, Lola Williams Pierce’s daughter, enjoyed talking about their mutual interest, horticulture. Lola’s son, R. G., received his degree from Peabody Conservatory and is now working in New York. Estelle had dinner with Nan Owen Manning in Arlington as she and Stella were on route to New York, where they spent most of their time going to the theatre.

Margaret Taylor Gallaway visited Margaret Gravatt Baker in Massachusetts after a few days at the World’s Fair. They called Rhea Talley Stewart, who drove up to Sturbridge, Massachusetts, to meet them for lunch at the Publick House.

Mildred Epes White’s daughter and son-in-law, Betty and John Koonce, are now living and teaching in 21st News.

I received the following news on a post card that Harriet Walton sent from the Isle of Skye: “We spent last night in this hotel (Loch Torridon Hotel). It was gorgeous with scenery beyond description. It is located in northwest Scotland. I did not know before this trip how lovely this part of Scotland could be. We have a car and are enjoying this mode of travel very much. On Saturday we go to Ireland, but it will be hard for anyone to come to see us while we have been here. Coming home September 4th.”

Connie Vaden Moore accepted a three-months’ position with the Chesterfield County School System.

Sue Whittet Wilson’s son is now in training for assignment to foreign service by the State Department.

Let me hear from the rest of you. We’re always interested in news of you, your families, and your achievements and activities.

Some of our class enjoyed a luncheon at the William Byrd Hotel on June 8 and had some members from out of town.

Alice Turner Schafer was in town for the commencement exercises at Westhampton, where she received an honorary Doctor of Science degree. Both Alice and her husband are college professors in Massachusetts. Her address is Mr. Richard Schafer, 60 Spring Valley Road, Belmont, Mass. 02178.

Also here for the Richmond commencement was Mary Ellen Stephenson and her sister Ruth Stephenson Edwards, whose daughter was graduating from Westhampton. Mary Ellen is a Ph.D. and a full professor of romance languages at Mary Washington College. The daughter was married this June.

Others here from out of town were Helen Falls from New Orleans and Lu Frank Cherry (Mrs. Bernard Drell) whose address is 3000 Spout Run Parkway, Apt. 411B, Arlington, Virginia. She is teaching government at McLean High School.

Boo Owens Page was getting ready to go out of town on a graduation trip. Daughter, Gale, had just graduated from Longwood College in Elementary Education, and Diane from Thomas Jefferson (off to Smith College this September). So, all of this called for a celebration and the whole family went to Hawaii this summer.

A recipient of the Dupont Honor Scholarship to the University of Virginia was John Dutton, Jr., Esther Walsh Dutton’s oldest son. Congratulations to John and Ethel.

Martha Rios Moore had a daughter, Gretchen, graduating from Patrick Henry High School in Ashland. Martha is a child welfare worker for the Department of Welfare in Richmond.

We hear that Dot Harrison Enslo has been elected president of the women of St. John’s church in Seattle, Washington.

All of you who have been silent for some time, please share some of your interests with us.

I was quite disappointed not to see anyone else from the Class of ’37 at the meeting, luncheon or banquet on Alumnae Day. Perhaps some of you were there for the activities on Friday. It was a glorious occasion when Westhampton celebrated her Fiftieth Anniversary, and I thoroughly enjoyed the program.

While I was in Richmond in June, I heard that Tom Pettigrew, Jr., son of Tom and Nancy Chappell Pettigrew, had graduated from V.P.I. and was to be married to Carolyn Saunders of Richmond on June 20th.

Our congratulations go to “Piper” McFall, daughter of Lyle and Nancy Lee Riley McFall, who was married to Stephen Blankinship on August 22nd.

It is always nice to hear of honors that have come to someone of our number. Martha Elliot Deitchler was named Woman of the Year of Brockport, New York.

Callie Ross Lewis is one of the busiest people that I know. She is Chairman of a committee to procure Alumnae Sponsors for the Freshman Class, Vice president of the P.T.A. for her son's school, and Librarian at the Richmond Memorial Hospital.

Those of our class who will be Alumnae Sponsors are: Sarah Hoover Jones, Elizabeth Ashbrook Jackson, Scottie Campbell Jacobs, Lois Lyle Mercer, and Callie.

Jessie McElroy Junkin’s son, Bill, was married in August to Peggy Gilkeson of Richmond.

Scottie Jacobs’ son, Mac, is teaching school at Georgia Christian School in Valdosta, Georgia.

Elizabeth Mitchell Driscoll and part of her family took a trip to Mexico this summer. Her older son traveled in Europe, quite a offering her for several months. She's been working through customs, for my torment officials spoke English.

"Curitiba is south of Sao Paulo, and in the winter it gets quite cool—cold enough for frost—there is no heat in the houses—not even a fireplace—and as I write (July) my hands are so cold I can barely hold a pen. ... But the sun gets warm in the middle of the day, and then we all migrate to the garden."

Jo continues, "My children are trying to teach a Brazilian child how to play football using a soccer ball and not knowing how to speak Portuguese... I like Santos better than any other place in Brazil, and the children can't wait to get to the beaches at Santos and Copacabana."

Virginia Lee Ball Glover wins the merit award for being my most faithful correspondent. She's had two hospitalizations for surgery this summer, and was rapidly recuperating when I heard from her. The three children were visiting grandparents on the beach. The Glover's new address is 5633 Arbor Way, Charlotte, N. C.

Virginia Lee enclosed a letter from Tinsy Gradwell, whose family had been visiting her for several months. She's been working three days a week as Director of the Volunteer Bureau for Harbor-South Bay Area. Tinsy adds, "We have been hearing from Margaret in the past three years this September. We expect to be here through next February, as Phil is presently engaged in obtaining his Master's from USC. He also completes 25 years in the Army this September, so we are thinking of retirement... We like it here (San Pedro, Calif.) except for the fact it's so far from my family, who still live in Blackstone." Tinsy was expecting a visit from Patsy Garrett Kokinars, who lives in Northridge, California. Tinsy also planned to visit her family for Christmas, and was hoping to visit Margaret Brittingham Curtice in Santa Barbara.

Mayme O'Flaherty Stone called with numerous items of interesting news. She herself attended the Massanetta Bible Conference and Music Workshop during the summer and saw Alice Evans, Teeny’s sister—learned that Teeny is aeronautics major and that her husband, Briston Hardin, Jr., is energetically combining his job as school principal in Roanoke with his devotion to dramatics and his Episcopal Church.

"We all are in extenuatingly living thought of Its Holden Slupek and her family in the death of Ed's only brother. The Slupeks have been renovating the interior of their home, Ed doing most of it himself. Their daughter, Betty Tabb, has been achieving great strides in math.

Five of the Forties are participating in the Alumnae program of sponsoring dorm tooms. They took the girls on a tour of Richmond on September 17 and throughout the year will try to make the girls welcome and at home. Our thought is to sponsor a dorm room to serve in this worthwhile endeavor, our thanks go to: Lucy Baird, Bobbie Cannon, Connie Holloway, Doris Hargrove Kibler, and Helen Meredith.

Millie Donohue has graciously consented to be our Reunion chairman and will soon start making plans for June, 1965. It's coming!
Margaret Forrer Wren and her daughter Bryan were at our Fiftieth Anniversary celebration. Greg, her older daughter, has been studying at the American University in Paris. The whole family was in Paris to visit her. Everything seems to be going beautifully for studying at the American University in Paris. Bryan were at our Fiftieth Anniversary celebration. Toni Wirth Whippet also took part, and old Henrietta Sadler Kinman. They will always remember the trip to visit the Spirit of Westhampton. Jean Nemeath Dickin- som discharged her "in charge" responsibilities admirably; others attending included Phyllis Anne Cothill Brown, Charlotte Dudley Pet- terson, Its Slipke and her daughter, Anna Marie Rue Stringfellow and her daughter. We are happy about the part our classmates took in the planning and the consummation of this significant event.

Rue took a group of Girl Scouts to New York to the World's Fair. Toni and her family spent two months in Europe. Connie, the older daughter, travelled abroad with a group, meeting her family later for further travel. Toni, Mac and the other two children—Elizabeth and Robert—flew over, bought a car and toured England and other countries. Mary Alice Smith Tillotson has moved with her family from Lynchburg to Williamsburg, where husband Rex has joined Mason and Company, a firm of investment brokers. Mrs. Smith tells me she has a lovely big house outside of town towards Jamestown and are very happy there. The Tillotsons spent the summer on the Rappahannock River, enter- ting friends and relatives.

Jeanne Huffman Waite came to see me one afternoon, bringing with her Carole and Tommy. All three were good to look at and listen to. Those of us who knew and loved Dr. Frank Riley are sad to think we won't see him again this side of heaven, but surely he's content there. We want Mrs. Riley and Betty Riley Johnson to know of our love and sym- pathy.

Kay Crutchfield had a busy but fun-filled summer. Since Captain Bob and his ship the Dale were in passage, he and their three children joined him. Not all at once mind you. Wanda, their younger daughter (a senior in high school this fall) represented Virginia Beach at Girls' State held on the Barter campus in June. She discovered that over 85% of the high school "leaders" have Westhampton as their first college choice. The Dale was in the shipyard at Long Beach for a more ex- tended stay than planned—and the Crutchfields, too, were flexible. They managed to see all the exciting and interesting places from Long Beach down to Mexico and up around the San Francisco Bay area. Kay had her navy- wife duties, of course, coffees, teas and lunch- cans. Bob took over temporary command of the squadron, so a few other "female duties" fell her way.

Pam, their older daughter (a freshman at Mary Washington now) had saved her money for a Hawaiian holiday. For a part of her stay she was the guest of Frances (Kendall) and Bob Wolf. They are living in quarters on Ford Island. Needless to say this was a cloud of experience for Pam.

By Labor Day the Crutchfields were flying back East, all but Bob—he will be relieved of his duty around the end of December. Home for Christmas.

Another traveler is Lila Hunt. The leading character is Lila, the driver (over 10,000 miles) and Barbara (13) and Elizabeth (11) and a friend girl of Sara's. They drove to Washing- ton, D. C. via the Grand Canyon and Santa Fe. Raison d'etre of this adventure was to meet George (6th) on his return from Germany. He'd been living with friends there. Sight- seeing 95% of the time, "they did" the nation's capital and then on to Richmond. Lila had a nice "old times sake" visit at West- hampton. Behind the old dorm Lila had a visit with Harriet Byrider and Dae Dee Kirk. Harriet had just moved into a new larger home the day before. Of course, there is never enough time to visit everyone, so they began their Southern tour—down as far as New Orleans and back—visiting as many kin folks as possible. They spent two days with Lila's sister Kitty in Oak Hill, Virginia.

While en route Lila's husband called telling her that they'd had a terrific offer for their house in Berkeley and how about selling it? That was August 8th. Occupancy was needed immediately—let's guess it—Lila agreed to sell and straightway headed her sight- seers West. Good thing John (16) and his dad were home. They bought an "old barn" up the hill and the family moved there. Lila and John and Lila says they've begun to remodel the kitchen and are living out of boxes. They are covered with plaster, dust, cook on a Coleman stove and barbecue in the garage! John, their summer-stay-at-home, has come East now to be a junior at Fork Union Mili- tary Academy.

Marjorie Wilson Glick and her family have moved from Falls Church to the Seminary area of Alexandria, 1306 Trinity Drive. In our support ticket that's, Marjorie was with the Misses West. Good thing John (16) and 7-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son.

Jean (Miller) Yeiser and Harry were our guests this summer. We had a wonderfully relaxing week at home here on our beach. Beside swimming we've added a sailfish—this appeals to all Navy types (like the Yeisers). Jean still sounds like North Carolina after year up North.

B. G. Langley and I had the pleasure of meeting June Hoyt's boy John (16) at Dulles Airport. He was bound from California to Emporia for the summer. Imagine being able to combine a visit with his grandparents, the Parkers, and a summer job as life guard. He favored Jute in looks and polite manner, and even improved his big teeth. Why doesn't someone open a transcontinental travel agency? Our class alone could support it. It would be nice to hear from you Rich- mond gals, as well as the others of you scatter- ed in the U. S. and abroad. Drop me a few pages on your doings and your children's whereabouts.

One of the pleasant things about living in Annapolis is the chance of old friends wanting to show the Naval Academy to their children and of our gaining a visit thereby. Carolyn Babb Heflin, Bill, and family stopped by after a week at Ocean City, Maryland. Daughter Anne Carolyn won a scholarship to W. C. Mary Wonfield wrote the DAR Good Citizenship Award from Princess Anne High School, and was 1964 Lotus Queen at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

Mary Elder Paul and family have moved to Athens where Ed is the executive officer for U.S.L.A. in Greece for three years. Carol, our class baby, is a junior at W. C. Mary's address is U.S.I.S., APO 223, New York, N. Y.

Puff Poteat Humbert and daughter Susie spent the summer at their New Hampshire home, where Dick and Priscilla Anne joined them after summer school. The girls won their tennis divisions for the third straight year. Millie Cox Goode, Skee, and girls and Betty Ann Horeylinne Shackleford, George, and son had a gay get-together in N. H. with the Humberts.

Joining the working world is Peggy Jeanne Kyle Anderson. She is with Manpower (office work), and daughter Donna is a sophomore at Randolph-Macon.

Pam Carpenter Henry and children visited in Virginia. Pam's summer from Georgia, while Fay Carpenter Kirchman and family went to Michigan.

Unrecorded here until now is the birth in Mexico, of Evan David Evans to Barbara Krug Evans and Evan, their fifth child.

Mickey Allman Cape spent last summer at the U. of Va. learning the modern approach to math in conjunction with her teaching.

Mary Jean Shelby Proctor's husband just finished a six-weeks' hospital stay after a severe coronary. Here's to a speedy recovery. She is with N. C. State Government in Personnel.

Lowata Rowland Martin is the grandmother of the month. Are there any other grandchildren in '43? She and her family were in Japan and Oklahoma where she taught private music lessons, and now her husband has retired from the A. F. and is with Litton Industries in Canoga Park, California, where they have bought a house at 22401 Burton Street. Their oldest daughter is married to an A. F. man. and has two children. Their second daughter is a scholarship student at U. of Cal. at Santa Barbara. Two boys are at home.

Note another change of address. Ann Chambers Surber and family have moved to 705 Ridgeland Place, Tullahoma, Tennessee, where Bill is with the paper and Ann is in a department store as cashier and bookkeeper. Their Kim is a freshman at Belmont in Nashville.

Bible School, swimming lessons, family vacations, getting children to and from camp, getting settled in school—who said summer was an easy time? I'm sure many of you share my sentiments.

I expect many of you visited the Fair this summer. Mary Graham and her family had a unique trip by boat. They docked at the World's Fair Marina and had no traffic or parking problems like the rest of us peons. The Grahams also made several trips to Va. Beach by boat. Over the 4th of July they ran into Marty Mercer Oast and family who were docked at the Cavalier Yacht Club. The Oasts have since bought a new boat, but Marty hastens to add "it's still not as big as the Graham's." Incidentally, Mary's street address has been changed from 8015 Maple to 8015 Carriage Lane.

Lois and Walter North spent six weeks in Newark, Delaware where Walter taught a summer session at the University of Delaware. I chatted with her while visiting my brother in Newark. They were much concerned lest Walter catch mumps from Betsy. Luckily all went well and Walter finished his classes with no complications.

Gene Keever and family moved in early September to 305 Norman Rd. Now she's just a block and a half from me. George tells me that Kay lost her mother last winter and made a hurried trip from Hawaii to Wash., D.C. and back. Our deepest sympathy, Kay. Gene also visited Doris and Frank Neal while they were vacationing at the beach this summer.

Gloria Robertson is the smartest one! This summer she worked on her Master's degree at William and Mary and now is working four days a week as school psychologist in Portsmouth. In the past year Gloria has been to Johns Hopkins and Columbia University Hospitals for diagnosis of a rare eye disease. She faces a possible corneal transplant, but as the condition is for the moment dormant, they are playing a "wait and see game." We certainly hope it stays that way.

Ann Filer is slowly recovering from a long siege of illness which resulted in surgery. We are glad to know that she is better and hope she continues to improve.

I was so pleased to see Ann and Walt Sheaffer in Lynchburg when we took Fleet to school. Ann looks just grand. Garland is rooming down the hall from Fleet in a brand new dorm. Even though they had never met before I think they had a good feeling that they had met before. Ann and Walt were going to spend a few days in Bowling Green before they returned to Ft. Madison.

Many of you know of the tragic plane crash that claimed the life of Jinx Thompson Paarus and four others early in July. The plane crashed during an early morning take-off in Martinsville, Va. Those of us who had been with her at the reunion remember how enthusiastic she was about all her activities, especially her flying. Besides her husband she leaves four children.

Since this marks the fourth member of our class we have lost (Alison Cooper, Nancy Masters, Edith Boehling, and Jinx) there have been many suggestions that we in some way memorialize them. The most feasible idea seems to be that we establish a Memorial shelf in the Reading Room and place a volume in memory of any member of our class who passes away. Ann Stansbury is going to check with the proper authorities and we'll have further information on this in the next issue.

Please let me hear from you before Dec. 1 so I'll have some news for the next issue. I can't pass on what I don't know!

With this issue of the Bulletin, I assume the responsibility of your news correspondent. Please inform your group chairman or me directly of all pertinent news concerning the class of '46. With this cooperation, I then trust I shall be able to record our news just as faithfully as Elizabeth Thompson Schmidt has done for the past two years. Our appreciation to you, Libby, for a job well done!

Our class was saddened this summer when one of our members, Anne Harris (Mrs. Robert L. Wood), passed away on August 13. She lived at the time of her death in Goochland, Virginia and is survived by her husband, Bob, a minister, and three children. As a classmate of hers, I want to extend our sympathy to you, Libby, for a job well done!

As a classmate of hers, I want to extend our sympathy to you, Libby, for a job well done!

The class of '46 is now well represented on the teaching staff of the School of Pharmacy, Medical College of Virginia. Irene White Bain arrived there in July. Bev Patton Browne and her mother took one of the R. F. & P. tours to N. Y. and the Fair.

The Gumby's, Mary Lou Massie and family, took a three week camping trip through New England, visiting every state, and Canada. In addition they have acquired a summer home at Nags Head, N. C.

Marion College Miller had the busiest summer of us all, I believe. In addition to going to school at the U. of R. she took her two boys, John and Mark on a N. Y. and Canadian trip that her husband had planned for her. She will continue school, working on her Master's Degree, this winter. Instead of teaching, this fall, Marion will be a full time counselor at J. Randolph Tucker Jr.-Sr. High School.

Gin Ellet will add counseling to her duties at Thomas Jefferson High School this fall. She will teach only the Advanced Science classes.

Frances Coles McClenann brought her family to Halifax for a summer visit. Frances and Augusta began their career when Augusta was a child. Frances is doing a really good number of us during the summer. The Cralles went to Virginia Beach and took another trip to upstate N. Y. They spent a quiet time on the shores of Lake Ontario. Jesse is opening a forty unit apartment project in southside Richmond this fall.

Ann Higgins Borger and Dan spent a few days at Wrightsville Beach. The second half of our vacation was spent at a Delaware beach with friends from Washington.

Not everyone went North this year. The Allens, Iry and Jey, went to Florida early in the season to visit both of their families.

The Andrews, Betty Tinsley and Dick, took their vacation through the mountains of North Carolina—very beautiful and restful.

This is all for this time but please let me know of your fall activities—only you can supply me with news for these letters.

We have one new baby to announce. Lena Thornton Small and Holmes welcomed a son, Christopher Thornton in April.

With the World's Fair as the Main attraction, New York really beckoned to a lot of us. Sam and Sara Frances Derieux took their daughter Robin to Paris, June. Gin Ellet visited the Fair and Jean Waldrop went not once, but twice. We just happened to run into her in St. Patrick's Cathedral when we were there together. Gin had just returned from a tour of northern Europe. She enjoyed the Scandinavian countryside and people very much! Bev is presently a teacher of Spanish in an Alexandria, Virginia High School.

Until our next issue and, I hope, another news letter, please keep in mind that we want to hear from you. Newsletters now will make our 20th reunion "chit chat" so much more up-to-date!

1948 Secretary

I never cease to be fascinated by the things the "Girls of '48" are doing in their post college days. I received a letter from Los Angeles which outlined the finest program... of international good-will that one of our classmates married a little Englishman. Lena Irgers Moszkowski is chairman of a committee of the International Student Center at UCLA. This committee furnishes two to eight apartments from the free hotel students. They attempt to help orientate these families to our language, customs, and foods while they are students in America. All of this voluntary work is done by Lena while she is still taking care of her husband, a Physics professor at UCLA, and her three boys, ages 8, 5, and 4. She stated that in addition to helping these people get the physical items they need, she is called upon to stand by them in times of major personal crisis. What better way to make foreign friends?

Jean Brunsey Bisceo wrote that she had visited Faye Hines Kilpatrick and Bob at their home in Connecticut. She was impressed with the interest of the family in horses. They own two animals, the children have won many ribbons, and Faye qualifies as an instructor at the "horse camp" this summer.

Two class members have husbands with promotions. Pat Adams Woodhead will have to move to Stroudsburg, Pa. for Bob to accept the position of vice president of Edinger Wyckoff. This means giving up two horses and a new stable in Richmond. Mary Cross Marshall's husband, Fred, is now vice president of Union Life Insurance Co.

Some of the Richmond girls got to visit with Beth Kolukian Cowles when she came into Richmond. Mary Cryan Gilbert will visit with her family. Other visitors to the capital city were Arlene Reynolds Schaefer, Susan Lovern Peeler, and Faye Kilpatrick. These girls attended the John Marshall High School 20th Reunion.

On a recent trip to Florida, Betty Hickerson Butterworth went shopping. There is nothing unusual about this except that she came with Allen Rucker Williams in the store. Neither could get over seeing someone from WC in a store in Florida. Small world!

Mary Byrd Hudson Goforth and Bill live in Richmond. They have bought a home there. This means giving up two animals, the children have won many ribbons.

Many thanks to our outgoing secretary Barbara Rhodes Barker who did a splendid job not only as secretary but also in organizing and handling the reunion. We will now have a secretary for two years at a time and a Richmonder as the secretary for the reunion year. This means that the secretary in the summer five years which should lighten the load. I am looking forward to hearing about or from all of you in the near future.

1950 Secretary

MRS. DAVID B. BURBANK (Doris Balderson) 910 Hampstead Ave. Richmond 26, Va.

Louise Covington Randall this summer wrote that Harry would be with the 1st Marine Air Wing in Japan for a year, so she and the three children will stay in Appomattox with her mother. Louise's father died in April, so I know that she and her family will find comfort in being together. Her address now is Route 5, Appomattox, Virginia.

New address for Miriam Weddle Whit and Robert is 1418 Ford Avenue, Mechanicsville, Virginia.

We did not receive the news of Gatewood Holland Stoneman and Wilmer's fifth child, Richard Edward, born October 11, 1963, until this issue. Sorry to be so late. Gatewood says that they are kept busy in their family with 4H work.

Ruth Morrissey Bain, Tom, and the children are back in Virginia from Southern Rhodesia. They are living in Crozet with her mother. Tom is going to the University of Virginia to further his medical studies. They are in the process of building a home in Crozet.

Lucia MacIntosh Barr was a neighbor of hers in Winchester, a girl who attended Westminster College in 1962-1963, was a counselor at Lake George Summer Camp. On Parents' Day, she met a camper's mother who was Carol Sidlofsky Glickman. Lucia and her family spent four days in New York City and the Fair. Then they went to Rehoboth Beach, Delaware for a week.

Marty is active in Girl Scout work. Jo Martens had a busy summer. She did volunteer work at Diamond Spring Lodge which is a vacation place for blind women from New Jersey. All during the year, she sends birthday, Christmas, and Easter cards to the women she has met. In July, Jo and her mother spent a week at the shore and another week in New York City. She writes that the firm where she works has moved to 51st Street, West only half a block from Radio City Music Hall.

Libby Givens Pierce, Bucky, and the children took a trip to the World's Fair this summer. Libby lived in Richmond.

Lucie Hiller Fruin and Robert went back to England to visit with relatives. She settled the house so that they will be able to join us in '69 for our twentieth. On Friday evening we had dinner at the Colony Club, and we were so glad that Miss Rivenberg, our sponsor, could be with us. Saturday activities arrangements and details for our fifteenth reunion. There isn't enough space to list everyone there but hope there were enough to make it this time will be able to join us.

Many thanks to our outgoing secretary Barbara Rhodes Barker who did a splendid job not only as secretary but also in organizing and handling the reunion. We will now have a secretary for two years at a time and a Richmonder as the secretary for the reunion year. This means that the secretary in the summer five years which should lighten the load. I am looking forward to hearing about or from all of you in the near future.

of the Old Testament, and General Epistles, besides giving music lessons to all ten students in the Bible School and directing the choir. She also continues with a few piano students and English students in the evening; girls' student-home choir; Sunday School class; and the weekly meetings of the women in the church. Barbara is a Presbyterian missionary who must be a credit to her church.

Jean Tinsley Martin received a long, newsy letter from Joanne Waring Karppi. Joanne and Bill hope to return to the States in January and live in Washington, D.C. They have two boys; Bill who is three years old and Stewie who is one and a half years old. The Karppis have been living in Nepal but have been traveling around to places such as Calcutta for visits before leaving there.

Mary Sullivan Tinder and Cecil have spent their summer remodeling their "new" home in Roslyn Harbor, New York. Mary continues to play the organ and to direct the choir in one of the churches in her community. Jean Tinsley Martin, her father, and the children visited with the Tinders for a few days and also took in the World's Fair while they were so near it.

Virginia Sims and her mother went to New York City for two days. They saw a play and the Fair. Virginia decided to make her summer constructive so she learned how to type.

Nancy Harrison Davis, Jack, and their three children have moved from Huntington, West Virginia to Parma, Ohio. Jack is secretary to the president of C.O.

Maryanne Bugg Lambert and Pete have moved to Chester, Virginia. Pete is the new administrator of the John Randolph Hospital in Hopewell which is only ten miles from their new home. The address is 12308 Winfree Street, Chester, Virginia.

Marianne Beck Duty is back at West­hampton College this year teaching five English classes. She spent the summer at the University of North Carolina doing graduate work in English for her doctorate.

Davie and I went to the New York World's Fair early in the summer on a special Richmond Train Tour. Over two hundred people from here went. I met several 1964 graduates from Westminster College in the group. Terry Noble Wavter and her family went with the same tour, so we kept meeting in the hotel lobby.

The group leaders keep complaining that they do not hear from you, so please drop me a line. It is hard to keep in touch.

with the PT-A as Legislative Chairman and also co-chairman of the annual card party and fashion show. This summer the Howlands had a vacation to Maine and to Ocean City, Maryland.

Rita Bross had a fabulous tour of Europe—5 countries in all. She says, "Those hours of European History have taken on a new meaning." In England she had lunch with Anne Marie Hardin Bailey and her family at Stratford-on-Avon. Rita will teach the third grade again this year.

I want to thank each of you who wrote me your news. I have the rest of the 57? Hope I can hear from you before December.

Mary Ann Coates Edel writes that they vacationed in Virginia this summer, partly with her parents near Warrenston and partly at Va. Beach. She saw Georgie McTeer Cooke and family. The Cookes (Mrs. M. D. Cooke, 4249 Country Club Circle, Va. Beach) returned in July from their stay in the far north. Mary Ann enjoyed their slides and stories of Newfoundland and Labrador.

Nancy Avery Cook has a busy gal, doing modeling and coordinating fashion shows and variety shows. She is also doing press releases for the Travel Sections of newspapers, as well as compiling surveys for real estate firms.

I saw Mrs. Watson and Ann Stanfield in Richmond this summer. Ann is a very fine looking girl and it was quite a treat for me to see them. Mrs. Watson said that Ann Holmes deCastro has a little girl, born this past spring.

A card from Dizzy Stuart-Alexander tells briefly of her vacation: "Have seen abundant wildlife wandering freely over the plains, particularly in Uganda and Kenya. Since then the most scenic spots have been Mt. Kilimanjaro and Victoria Falls." Diz was on her way to South Africa.

Betty Hurt Beasley and Bob visited Marilyn McMurray Rishell in Washington for a few hours.

Claire Carlton took a train tour of the West. She loved Yellowstone and also traveled to Grand Canyon, California and Western Canada. She flew home from Chicago.

Lucie Dearing Hunt has a new address: Mrs. S. J. Hunt, Jr., 5216 Tropicana, El Paso, Texas. Lucie took a course in Social Studies at Texas Western this summer and tutored several children in phonics. She'll be teaching 2nd grade again this year. Lucie has her own Austin Healey Sprite to get around in and she and Jack have become campers. They take weekend trips to Mexico, New Mexico, as well as in Texas.

Marilyn McMurray Rishell's address is: Mrs. C. L. Rishell, 4835 Alton Place, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Joyce Bell Cody and family visited in New Haven with Bill's family and spent a day at the World's Fair with the children. Joyce also was in Atlantic City the last day of the Democratic National Convention for the Young Citizens for Johnson Rally.

Betty Crews Watkins and family vacationed at Nags Head, N. C. in August.

Jane Ozlin Given and I spent a day in Martinsville with Lou Gladding Shelton and family. We had a grand time and enjoyed Lou's precious children.

Walt and Lacy Mahon went on the Virginia Bankers' Association Convention Cruise to Bermuda. The weather was perfect and they had a marvelous time.

Jeanne Hootman Hopkins took a course in Math for Elementary School Teachers this summer. She and Peter had a nice vacation in August at Wrightsville Beach savant children. Barbara Cauthorne Clarke writes that they made a fast week's trip to Virginia and North Carolina. They stopped one night in Chapel Hill and saw Ann Gibson Hutchinson in her lovely new home. Dick is now associated with Thomason Plywood Company. From there Barbara dashed over to see Ruby Vaughan Carson (class of '53) in Smithfield, N. C. Barbara's oldest, John has entered first grade and Bob is going to nursery school, while baby Ann is keeping her hopping. Husband Herb is now taking flying lessons, in addition to carrying on his busy T.V. duties.

Kitty Dupuy Allfriend and John have returned from a month in England. The trip was under the auspices of the Town and Country Department of the Episcopal Church. They were at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury for two weeks where John studied and had an opportunity to talk to other representatives from twenty foreign countries. They spent a time in Essex and Lincolnshire in the homes of the English people.

The children and I spent a grand week in June with Scott's sister and her family at Pawley's Island, S. C. Then in July I visited with my mother, the two older children, and I spent a few days in Connecticut and two of those days at the Fair. It was really a marvelous trip for the children—one I am sure they won't forget.

We have only one address change this quarter: Peggy Dietrich Shackelford and Bob have moved to Richmond's far west end, 9314 Bramall Road. Robin, 9, and Mark, 8, will attend Mayberry School.

Carla Wail visited with Peggy in August. She is now officially Dr. Wail, having received her Ph.D. in drama from Indiana University this summer. Carla will be on the faculty of the University of Georgia at Athens after September 1st. (I guess that's another address change to note.)

Kay Beale Coate's address has been clarified. It's 1020 Ridgetop Road in Richmond. Kay won 1st prize in the Erto-Lay "Name the Pup" contest recently. She is trying to decide which of several ways to spend the $1,000.00. Carter thought it was a joke and took some convincing.

Peggy Gilman Welker and Don are camping enthusiasts and vacationed in Canada. Weekends find them skeet shooting.

We have caught up on the news on Margaret Gooch Williams. She and Tommy have a 3 year old daughter, Ellen Kay. Tommy is purchasing agent for B. T. Crump. Their vacation was spent split between the river and Beach Haven, New Jersey (the shore, as we Yankees say). Joan Perlin Ruby and Arlin have 4 children. Our file credited only 2 to their account. Iris is 10½, David is 8½, Amy is 3 and Matthews is 2. Joan and Arlin vacationed Miami Beach alone!

Saw in the Times-Dispatch that June Pair Carter's husband, Mann, was musical director for the Sandston Community playhouse recently.

Faye Kilpatrick Gillespie is the only correspondent in Jane Cather's group. She, Arthur and the children vacationed in the N. C. mountains. Shirley Mason visited them in August.

Janet Johnston Parsons also had only one reply to her postcards. Sue Bentley Joseph said that Marietta and family visited them this summer.

Janet is still tutoring high school and college math. This fall she will work with two 16 year olds to get them math up to standard for admission to a private school.

Betty O'Bannon Culp's group wins the prize for most news in this issue. Betty reports the birth of a son, Richard Bertram on July 19th.

Not to be outdone, Gayle Mepham Hensley and Ray proudly announce the arrival of Jennifer Ann on April 20th.

Ola Hill Krueger writes that she, John, Cathy, Marianne and Beth summered at home primarily but spent some time at Fort Myers Beach. Ola has recently become interested in shellcraft. She is also active in the Doctor's Wives Club where she is assuming secretarial duties.

Nancy Nicholson Cudlipp and Jerry spent their vacation this July at the Split Rock Lodge in the Poconos. They reported a wonderful time and highly recommend the Lodge for a wonderful vacation.

Mary Kathryn Manuel Clark and Ed spent two weeks at Nags Head, North Carolina in July. While there they saw Segar White Guy, for the fun of it drink
John and Judy. In August they spent a week at Capon Springs Hotel in West Virginia. Mary Kathryn is continuing her work as superintendent and music teacher at the kindergarten in her church. Last year a Kindergarten group for mentally retarded children was begun. She serves as director of the school and chairman of the Board of Advisors.

The Jones family, recuperating from German measles (Mama included) very cautiously decided to get on the "camping out" bandwagon in gradual stages. We rented a log cabin on the river near Clifton Forge. Electricity, but no plumbing. We found ourselves to be more resourceful than we expected (no TV, telephone, only local radio station) and had a wonderful time. We returned to civilization with a bang by spending the rest of our time in West Virginia. Mary Lou and John Dorsey moved to Connecticut in July. Her new address is 18 Shipway Road, Darien, Connecticut.

Lois Reamy, class of '56, is writing an article for the Alumni Bulletin dealing with Westminster graduates who are currently living and working abroad. I have written to her about Barbara Magyar, but if there are any others from our class, please write to me about them or to Lois Reamy, 18 rue Norvins, Paris XVIII eme, France.

I am sponsoring the Ball State Dames Club this year. It is part of a national organization of student wives. We have over 500 student wives (not all members of the club unfortunately), and they are remarkable young ladies. Their number certainly indicates the changing times, doesn't it?

1955 Secretary

Mrs. Zed J. Wampler, Jr. (Jody Weaver)
6307 Colebrook Road
Richmond, Virginia 23227

In case you were wondering why there was no letter from the class of '55 in the last issue of the Alumni Bulletin, I'm ashamed to say it was because there was no news to report. I really shouldn't complain, though, because you have done so well every other time, so let's just let bygones be bygones and start all over again.

We've heard from or about some of our long lost sheep, and this is always fun. Ann Cohen, who left us after two years and went into the School of Business, is now Mrs. Irving Schiff. Her two precious children, a boy and a girl, are now in Richmond while Dave is taking a year's residence in cardiology at McLean Hospital in June for the reunion of their medical class at MCV. I wish I had seen her there.

Speaking of long lost sheep, some of you may have seen Cammie Freeman's lovely wedding picture in the Richmond News Leader September 12th. She was married on the 11th to Major John H. Napier, III in Montgomery, Alabama and they plan to live there.

A nice long, informative letter from Dottie Smoker Nielsen told me that last May she was elected president of the Junior Woman's Club of Springfield, Pa. for a two year term. She represented her club at the State Convention in Harrisburg for three days in May and also went to the General Federation Convention in Atlantic City in June. Since her club is a large one (105 members) and an active one, we foresee two extremely busy years ahead for Madam President.

Joy Winstead Propert, Dave and their two children, are now in Richmond while Dave is taking a year's residence in cardiology at McGuire's, and their address is 2113 Flodden Circle, Bon Air, Va. I just happened to run into her while shopping one day and we had a completely enjoyable chat over a quick lunch.

Marty Glenn Tinsley's daughter, Lelia, was a wonderful reunion? That is certainly understandable, but I hope to have stacks of mail before I lose the sheep and this is always fun. Ann Cohen, who left us after two years and went into the School of Business, is now Mrs. Irving Schiff.

The Wisdom of the Past

"EVERY ONE OF YOU IS THE LEADER."

Xenophon to his army

Greek Amphora

When Xenophon spoke these words, more than 2,000 years ago, he appealed to that spirit of individual responsibility that made the Greek character and nation among the most admired in all history.

With that spirit, the army of Xenophon marched to a seemingly impossible victory. With that spirit, men and nations have marched to greatness since the world began.

Our own nation won its freedom and built its strength as a nation of leaders. When we lose this spirit of independence, when we surrender our individual responsibilities to an expanding government, when we ignore the erosion of our personal liberties — then we sap our strength as a nation, and endanger the freedom of generations yet to come.

Let us accept the challenge of Xenophon. Let us all be leaders.

delightful model in a recent fashion show at Miller and Rhoads put on by the Board of the Chamber of Commerce. It was nice getting to chat with Marty. This summer she and Blue went to Roanoke to be in Bob Baylor's wedding. Another set of travel-minded people were Barbara Turner and Bob who spent some time this summer with Janet Pace Burbage and Bill in Raleigh. A very interesting letter came from Virginia Murden, who had a grand trip to Florida, where she’s lived for 30 years (she is in the heart of the chateau country), spent a week in Paris, and toured all of France for two weeks. In all, 80 high school teachers in the U.S. were chosen to participate in the program.

“I am still at Douglas Freeman in Henrico and next year will co-sponsor the newspaper and yearbook in school and teach in English and French. I would like to be two classes each of first-year and fourth-year French.

“Right at the moment I am going through final adjustments to the new Ford Mustang I’m ordering. In my old age, I’ve gotten ‘sports car buggy.’ ”

Martha Ellen Boatwright (Mott): Mrs. James G. Boatwright, 11314 Stonewall Rd., Va. 23220. “I am a housewife and Jerry is a second year resident in Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Virginia. I am mostly a tourist at this point, as I just had my last child! I have several of my fondest memories of the Portsmouth Little Theatre production of “Under the Yum Yum Tree.”

Ruth Owen Batt and Karl went to Virginia Beach in June and saw Beulah Boston Thorson from Virginia Murden, who had a grand trip over Labor Day.

Beach in June and saw Beulah Boston Thorson from Virginia Murden, who had a grand trip over Labor Day.

I am pleased to announce the arrival of two young ladies to the homes of two of our classmates. Separated by 27 years of age, Leslie Kaufmann to the home of Jean Crittenden and husband Myron. Congratulations also to Patrice and her fiancé Charlie. Young Donna Marie is now a member of the proud Knott household.

Ann Petit Gets is now address 81st Tac. Fed. Wg., APO 406, N. Y. N. Y. They are now in England and I’d like to know more about it.

As for the Wampers, we made our annual trip to Roanoke in July for the Miss Virginia Pageant. Our Miss Richmond was not a finalist, but we were very proud of her showing, anyway, and the new Miss Virginia is a lovely talented redhead who walked off with a special talent award at the Miss America Pageant. A quick trip to Ocean City with our two children and a hurried trip to Pennsylvania and New York State completed our summer and now we are back in the frantic routine connected with the fall season. Lee, our 5 year old, just started kindergarten.

It’s not too early to start making plans for our big ten year reunion next June. If any of you have some new and different ideas about our big week-end, be sure to let me know, because we here in Richmond want to plan the biggest and best reunion celebration yet, so let me hear from you and we’ll get to work.

Her hobbies are knitting and bridge and she has completed a Master's Degree in history at Eastern Ill. University. They spend the summers in Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park, Colo. She adds, "Ferrel received a National Science Foundation Science Faculty Fellowship to study computer science at Stanford University for the school year 1964-1965. Since he works in Rocky Mountain National Park as a seasonal Ranger-Naturalist each summer, we will be away from Chatanooga for 15 months. An address list would be handy so that I can look up any of our classmates who live in the San Francisco metropolitan area while we are there." Anyone who is there can now contact her.

Since so many of you were so faithful in answering, there is still two thirds of the class to cover. Look for the second third in the next Bulletin.

One birth announcement that came this summer. Dottie and Madison Price have a new daughter, Miranda, who was born on July 26. They have two older boys: Robert Bruce—April 20, 1960, and Thomas Madison—September 25, 1961.

How was your summer? My family and I had the best vacation ever! We spent the month of July touring the Irish Hills of Michigan, a trip to New York and the World's Fair (Grandma kept the children) a visit to Virginia, and having my mother and brother be in our wedding party! The Detroit newspapers are in their tenth week ofstrikes and we are without information of daily, national or world events. What is some work on a Master's Degree in history at Eastern III. busy and he is currently in Europe on a project.

Gene and I just returned from a frantic five-day shopping trip in New York City. We are exhausted. We saw a couple of plays and drove over to Long Island to visit friends in Bridgehampton. We spent only a short while at the World's Fair, but it is certainly worth seeing. I was distressed when I arrived home to find that I had missed a call from Jackie Jyerson Cockrell, who was visiting friends in Binghampton. Can you believe it, John Ashburn Holder is in the first grade.

It is with sincere regret that I tell you that Annette Ellis Hall lost her husband Curtis this summer. Let us all extend our sympathy to Annette.
Joan Baird Hunnicutt has absolutely the latest arrival (and how’s that for meeting Diana. Ballew Finley’s son, see page 30. Mary Elizabeth is three now. Doug is attending a three-month language school session in Vietnam. She will be returning in December for a year’s tour of duty in Viet Nam. Joan’s temporary address is that of her parents: 15 Westover Road, Newport News. The only one at home is Jerry, who is a sales representative. His station is 801-G N. Hamilton Street, Richmond. He and Jerry are residing at 801-G N. Hamilton Street, Richmond.

Barbara Dulin Polis loves living in San Antonio, Texas. She has a garden and cans the vegetables. She is still raving about the delightful trip they took 2 months ago while visiting her mother in Los Angeles. Barbara is teaching 30 fifth graders. Her husband and two children are residing at 150 Parga Street Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

Tallahassee like Rome is a city of seven hills and as the warnings of Hurricane Dora became more intense, we felt some relief in knowing that it was moving north and that when Dora subsided just a few miles from Tallahassee as we had just moved into our new home on December 5 we felt more relieved.

Weddings are of interest to all of us and another June bride on our class rolls was Becky Grisson who became Mrs. James Gerald Van Ausdall, junior, on June the twenty-seventh in Chesapeake, Virginia. After a honeymoon in Sea Island, Georgia, and the World’s Fair, Becky and Jerry are residing at 501 G N. Hamilton St., Richmond; Jerry is a sales representative for Pilot Freight Carriers. I understand there was quite a WC reunion at the wedding.

The class officers will begin informing husbands, grandmothers-babysitters, and best friends of the upcoming reunion this next June. The next newsletter deadline is December the first. I cannot urge you enough to start making plans now to attend the Fifth Reunion coming up next this June. The class officers will be making plans shortly and if any of you have suggestions as to how to make this our biggest and best reunion, please let us hear from you.

Let’s aim for a better than 50% attendance so start filling the piggies banks and informing husbands, grandparents-babysitters, etc., so that we can present the best Rolodex card at Patuxent, Md.

Margaret Rutherford Compton has been travelling behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia, Poland, and the Soviet Union was recently visiting relatives in France. Margaret is doing her residency in Urology.

Our classmates are on the move all over the country, and the world. Georgia Lingle Waldrop and Tom are now living in Atlanta, their third southern city. Georgia is enjoying her new role as city-dweller. She has been attending Emory University in the spring and now attends the University of Georgia in the fall.

Joyce Steed is on the move to Madison College where she is now Assistant Professor of English, teaching freshman and sophomore courses. Her doctoral work will continue at a slower pace and she plans to return to Harvard in a year or two. Joyce visited with Janet and John Shea and Little Mary in Wellesley before she returned home. Janet enjoys creative writing in her spare time and takes an active interest in community affairs.

Jessica Scarborough hasn’t moved but there has been a change in her life. She is now Mrs. Raymond Burdette as of August 16. Jessica and Raymond are making their homes in Winston-Salem, North Carolina now that Jack has finished his Ph.D. He is now teaching at Wake Forest College. They have returned to the old home place and bought a new daughter, Mary Jessica, who has been moved to Durham, North Carolina.
Sarah Willis and William Blair were married June 27 in Suffolk and are making their home in Norfolk. Among her attendants was Benja Vudhiporn and Laura Colgin. Laura returned the favor on July 1 at the wedding of her son, Jonathan Edward, born August 5th. Jane Gochenour Archer and Arch are moving this fall to Madison, Wisconsin where Arch will begin work on a Ph.D. in French History at the University of Wisconsin. Jennie Marshall Stokes and Robert Howe were married in Blackstone on August 5th. Laura Colgin was her matron of honor. Jennie and Bob are living in Blacksburg where they will both be finishing their Master's. Becky Powell Harris has been named Smith's intern from the University of Virginia. Her husband will be returning around the first of October. Ann Jones Stirling is enjoying her son born May 16th. Ruth Reynolds Berger is also enjoying her son born on June 15th. Betty Pritchett White is busy looking after her lovely daughter while Ray is interning in oral surgery at MCV.

One of our classmates is really moving. Carol Eastman Gray and Tom have left for Christchurch, New Zealand for a year and then they will make their home in Bismarck, South Dakota. Tom is working for the U. S. government with the Artic Institute. During their stay in Christchurch, Carol will be involved in the Sister City Program which is an international program for more world understanding. Her home town is Portsmouth, Virginia and it is sister city with Dunedin, New Zealand. They toured 10 countries in 38 days and had a fabulous trip.

Along with Nancy Adams Booker and Louis Inman, Carol is spending her summer vacation in Europe. They toured 10 countries in 38 days and had a fabulous trip.

Hoge Byrd is teaching English at the Bon Air School for girls ages 6-10.

Jo Ann Parke is teaching 3rd grade at Thoroughgood Elementary at Virginia Beach. Gay Shelton is teaching 5th grade at the Bon Air Elementary school. Mary Ann Wheary is teaching the 4th grade at A. M. Davis Elementary in Richmond.

Elizabeth Morris is a Language Arts Instructor teaching English in Richmond. Alice Carter will be teaching in Henrico County after a summer of study in Dijon, France. Charlotte Pringle is teaching English and Social Studies at Tuckahoe Junior High while her sister-in-law, Elsa, is teaching 10th grade biology at Douglas Freeman.

Pat Ryan is in the most logical place for her—teaching drama at St. Catherine's. Brenda Wade is teaching Spanish. And Eric Herrmann is teaching English in Staunton, Virginia.

Carolyn Richardson is teaching 8th and 9th grade math at George Wythe High School in Richmond. Phyllis Shields is teaching in Hopewell, Virginia this fall. Julie Zuck is teaching in Roanoke County.

Carole Bradley is teaching music at Midlothian High School. Ann Byrd is teaching engineering at Wayce High School. Sara Ruschhaupt and Dottie Williams are teaching and sharing an apartment in Newport News, Va.

Pat Dahley is teaching at Hampton and living with Beth Edwards Cox while Randy is overseas.

There is no old buddy, Linda Fridley, who is roaming the jungles of South America. Seriously, Linda is visiting her cousin in Brazil who is a missionary and will probably return to the states the first of the year. Sondra Miller Ivey has been in the Philippines since June. Walker Glenn, Pat Bankes, Ann Willey and Sally Abel had an expedition in Europe this summer. I wish they would send me more details of current activities but this will have to do for the present.

I am now in Louisville, Kentucky and hope to be employed soon as a social worker. After some experience, I hope to return to school for my Master’s degree in Counseling.

It has been fun hearing from all of you and if you were not in time for our last letter, I hope to send you the news about yourself for the next issue. If you would like addresses of the girls in our class let me know and I will send them to you. Keep up your addresses and let us know changes. Group chairmen thank you for all your work. I wish the best for all of you as we begin our post-college days.

The Atlanta Club met Sunday evening, August 30, at the home of Anne James. We had a good representation present of recent graduates, several from the class of 1950.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carver told us of her experiences at Westhampton’s 50th Anniversary Celebration last June. Also, we were fortunate to have Luci Johnson join our group and share with us some of her views of the college today. It would be our pleasure to see any visiting alumnae or visiting faculty members.

The Baltimore Club had a tea for Westhampont students, prospective freshmen, and their mothers and the alumnae. The tea was held at the home of Mrs. Katherine Newby on Thursday, September 10.

It was a most successful occasion and we had such fun talking about Westhampont—talk of past, present and future—that we hoped unanimously this could be an annual affair.

Another very encouraging sign in last Spring’s meeting was the number of very recent graduates and other newcomers to our area. As we look forward to another successful year, once again we invite all of you who are new “in town” to let us hear from you.

The Peninsula Club met at the home of Mrs. A. S. Butterworth and Mrs. J. M. Butterworth, 810 Riverside Drive, Newport News on September 9th for an annual luncheon honoring the Westhampont students and the girls entering this semester. It was a most successful occasion with about thirty in attendance, enjoyed by the alumnae as well as the student.

We are busy reorganizing and naming our committees with the anticipation of an interesting year.

Sixty enthusiastic Richmond girls who entered Westhampont College this fall enjoyed a tea given by the Richmond Club at the home of Mrs. Lesley Booker on September 10. It was a particular pleasure to have Miss Clara Keith, the new Dean of Students, present to meet the students. Dean Roberts, Mrs. Modlin, Mrs. Bookier, board members, and freshman counselors also greeted students and enjoyed a lovely afternoon. Mrs. Buford Parsons (Sue Hudson) ’56, and Mrs. Edward Palazzo (Anne Smith) ’42, made the arrangements for this first event of the year.

On October 5 the Covered Dish Supper took on a political atmosphere with Goldwater and Johnson posters and bumper stickers and the provocative words of Dr. Ralph C. McDaniell, University history professor, and Dr. Martin L. Shoptzer, Dean of University College. Our two distinguished speakers gave us their views from opposite sides of the political fence. Spon- dorized by the Class of '59 with Mrs. Thomas Evans (Beverly Eubank), as chairman, the evening aroused enthusiasm and interest of alumnae and their husbands, and dates, who were invited this year for the first time.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ed Kubu (Marilyn Alexander), '49, and Mrs. James G. Rice (Martha Boatwright), '56, the calendar sale was quite successful. More calendars were sold, and therefore more money was earned.

In November the alumnae will be selling pecans as in the past. Mrs. Ralph Ownby, Jr. (Margaret Elliott), '48, and Mrs. Arnold Frederick (Jean Hudgins), '58, are the co-chairmen of this project. Anyone interested in buying or selling should contact one of these ladies.

Other events for the year are the Christmas Party for the children on December 15, a Bridge Party with entertainment in February, a Swimming Party in the new pool in March, and the annual Spring Luncheon.

This year's officers of the Richmond Club are: Meurial Webb, '60, first vice president; Mrs. Buford Parsons, '58, second vice president; Mrs. Warren L. Flanagan (Barbara Moore), '54, recording secretary; Mrs. John Garber (Kitty Rosenberger), '50, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Angus (Evelyn Hazard), '39, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Palazzo, '42, and Mrs. Philip Frederick (Anna Peery), '56, members-at-large.

Mrs. Jerry J. Jones (Betty Wade Blanton), '61, and Mrs. David B. Burbank (Doris Balderson)'50, membership chairmen; Mrs. William Philp (Nancy Johnson), '59, student relations chairman; and Mrs. James L. Dunn (Mary Catherine Sellers), '61, publicity chairman. We all hope that every alumna in the Richmond area will become a member by paying her dues and will be a participant in all activities.

Our summer planning committee met in August at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club. We discussed an agenda for the coming year and planned a coke party for the new and returning students.

Twenty-one students accepted our invitation and we enjoyed the garden and home of Mrs. Herbert J. Gerst in Norfolk. Margaret Saunders planned the party with the assistance of Elizabeth Dudley, Jane Glover, Marion Breeden and Elsa Gerst.

Our first regular meeting of the year will be in October at the home of Jane Van Leeuwen.

Jungle

We reached Agua Escondida the next day at noon and received an unfriendly "welcome." We were thirsty and asked for water. Each Indian we asked pointed in a different direction. Finally we saw a woman coming with a pail on her head. We searched in that area and found a tiny spring entering into a dirty, green pool. We could not get our containers to the spring and had to dip water from the pool. We strained it through an article of clothing and boiled it. We were able to drink it even though the animals refused it!

When the Indians learned that we had medicine they gave us a hut and sold us eggs and tortillas. One man guided us to the Mayan ruins and we were amazed at the temple that was in such good repair.

The day following our return to A.B. we went out of control and crashed into a bridge abutment. His two companions, both grounds employees of the University, were thrown clear of the car. Neither was injured fatally.

Mr. Clarke had been responsible for all maintenance activities on the University’s campus. The most current project under his direction was the removal of silt from the lake bed.

University Treasurer Charles H. Wheeler, III was outspoken in his praise of Mr. Clarke’s service to the University. "He performed his constantly growing job with zeal and devotion. We shall miss him a great deal," Dr. Wheeler said.

Mr. Clarke came to the University of Richmond from Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg. Earlier he had been chief power engineer for the American Viscose Company at Front Royal. He was a native of Goochland County.

Mr. Clarke is survived by his wife and two children.

Spiders

Pat Green booted a pair of field goals for The Citadel in the third period and the Bulldogs scored again in the same period when a bad pass from center to Richmond punter Ron Gordon gave them possession on the Spider 18. Jim Grant scored from the one.

The Citadel got its final score late in the game when Stoudt juggled a flat pass from Smith and The Citadel’s Mike Addison grabbed the ball out of the air and raced 20 yards with the intercepted pass. It was a dark day for the Spiders but they showed they could come back the next week against Davidson.
