I

Lobe den Herren, den mächtigen König der Ehren

Praised be the Lord, the almighty King of honor, your beloved soul, which is my only desire. Sound together, psalter and harp, awake and let the song of praise be heard!

Praised by the Lord, who so gloriously reigns, He who carries you on eagles’ wings, He who safeguards you, as you like it; Have you not felt His power?

Domine, ad adjuvandum me festina

Lord, assist me now and hasten to deliver me. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit. As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end, Amen. Alleluia!

Štyri slovenské piesne, Op. 70

Zadala mamka
A mother sent her little daughter into a distant land and sternly bid her to follow her husband and to never return. The little girl became a blackbird and flew home and there, perched herself in her mother’s garden on a white lily’s stem. The mother came to the garden: “Who is this blackbird whose song is sad and strange; little bird, be gone from the stem of my white lily!” “My mother has sent me to a bad husband in a distant land; it is hard to suffer such a bitter fate in such an ill-fated bond.”

Naholi, naholi
I will rest where the Alps soar so free, where the flowers bloom so brightly. Oh, there is no other bed in the world more soft. The work of the day is done, we’ve filled our barn with hay; the night has come, so let us turn peacefully home, brethren!

Rada pila, rada jedla
Food and drink are your only pleasures, and reckless dancing. Working with needle and pin never appeals to you. I have foolishly paid four dimes to the bagpipe player so that you may dance with others, and that leaves me quite lonely.

Gajdujte, gajdence
The bagpipe is playing and pairs are swaying! Piper, play until all is spent, until all hearts are content! Play on until the money lasts. Tavern keeper, here’s some for you, this is for the piper’s fee. Once a goat was roaming free, but now his skin is playing music! The goat no longer roams so the bagpipe can make music for dancing.
Ca’ the Yowes
poetry by Robert Burns
arr. Ralph Vaughan Williams
(1872-1958)

Drive the ewes to the hilltops,
Call them where the heather grows,
Call them where the stream rolls,
My beautiful dear.

Listen to the evening song of the mavis
Sounding among Cluden’s woods,
Then let us depart alone,
My beautiful dear.

Fair and lovely as you are,
You have stolen my very heart;
I can die but cannot part,
My beautiful dear.

While waters ripple to the sea,
While the sun shines so high in the sky,
’Til death as cold as clay blinds my eye,
You shall be my dear.

Ubi caritas
Maurice Duruflé
(1902-1986)

Where charity and love are, there is God.
The love of Christ has gathered us into one.
Let us exult and rejoice in him.
Let us fear and love the living God.
Let us love him with a sincere heart. Amen.

Timor et tremor
Francis Poulenc
(1899-1963)

Fear and trembling have taken hold of me,
and darkness has descended upon me.
Have mercy on me, O Lord, have mercy,
for my soul has trusted in you.
Hear my supplication, O God, for you are my refuge and strength. Lord, I have called on you, let me never be confounded.

Dirait-on (Les Chansons des Roses)
Morten Lauridsen
(b. 1943)

poetry by Rainer Maria Rilke

Abandon surrounding abandon, tenderness touching tenderness . . .
Your oneness endlessly caresses itself, so they say;
self-caressing through its own clear reflection.
Thus you invent the theme of Narcissus fulfilled.
