PREFACE

The University of Richmond Law Review is pleased to present its seventeenth Annual Survey of Virginia Law. The Annual Survey serves as a comprehensive and reliable resource for the Law Review's readership, focusing on legislative, administrative, and judicial developments throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia. Each article is written by a Virginia practitioner or professor who is considered an expert in that particular area of law.

In addition to the traditional areas of law, the 2001 Annual Survey also includes articles on election law and the Uniform Commercial Code Article 9 revisions. The Law Review is honored to once again include a Foreword by the Governor of Virginia, the Honorable James S. Gilmore, III.

The Annual Survey is the Law Review's most popular edition, as well as one of its largest editions. Many dedicated individuals have contributed countless hours to the production of this scholarly work. The Law Review extends its gratitude to all of its authors and commends them for their time, effort, and commitment in writing their articles. I would like to personally acknowledge the Law Review Staff and Editorial Board for their time and effort during the summer and the fall semester. Finally, I would like to offer a special thanks to Carl Omohundro, Scott Crumley, and Glenice Coombs for their guidance, support, and patience.

It has been a pleasure and an honor to serve as the Annual Survey Editor. Thank you for your support and readership.

Heather M. Cain
