

1-1-2008

Acknowledgements

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarship.richmond.edu/lawreview>

 Part of the Courts Commons, Judges Commons, State and Local Government Law Commons, and the Supreme Court of the United States Commons

Recommended Citation

Acknowledgements, 43 U. Rich. L. Rev. (2009).

Available at: <https://scholarship.richmond.edu/lawreview/vol43/iss2/2>

This Prefatory Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Law School Journals at UR Scholarship Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Richmond Law Review by an authorized editor of UR Scholarship Repository. For more information, please contact scholarshiprepositary@richmond.edu.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The University of Richmond Law Review proudly presents the second issue of Volume 43. This issue is the product of the contributions, sacrifices, hard work, and extraordinary dedication of a number of individuals, whom we would like to recognize.

We would like to thank the entire Law Review editorial board and staff. Every editor and staff member generously committed their talent, time, and effort to help publish this issue, despite a host of competing responsibilities outside the Law Review office. We are especially grateful to the Executive Board—Jeff Chadwick, Scott Jones, Lindsay Pickral, John O'Herron, and Jon Haley—for their ever-present loyalty, passion, and good humor.

We would also like to express our appreciation to the authors for this issue. Their cooperation and commitment have enabled the Law Review to publish scholarly, timely, and creative contributions to the legal discourse.

In addition, we are thankful for the guidance and direction that our faculty advisors, Dean John Douglass and Professor Carl Tobias, willingly provide despite their many obligations. Dean Douglass and Professor Tobias work tirelessly to ensure that the Law Review remains a premiere legal journal and its members succeed.

Finally, we would be remiss if we did not express our heartfelt gratitude to Glenice Coombs, our Legal Publications Coordinator. Without Glenice, the Law Review would not function. She is the foundation upon which the journal stands, and it is to Glenice's experience, wisdom, guidance, and friendship that we owe our success.

To all who have helped complete this issue, we thank you. It has been our sincere privilege to work with you. Without you, this issue would not have been possible.

Molly T. Geissenhainer
Editor-in-Chief

Christopher S. Johnson
Executive Editor

