

5-1-2013

Issue 4: Table of Contents

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarship.richmond.edu/lawreview>

 Part of the Courts Commons, Judges Commons, State and Local Government Law Commons, and the Supreme Court of the United States Commons

Recommended Citation

Issue 4: Table of Contents, 47 U. Rich. L. Rev. (2013).

Available at: <https://scholarship.richmond.edu/lawreview/vol47/iss4/1>

This Table of Contents is brought to you for free and open access by the Law School Journals at UR Scholarship Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Richmond Law Review by an authorized editor of UR Scholarship Repository. For more information, please contact scholarshiprepositary@richmond.edu.

UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND

LAW REVIEW

VOLUME 47

MAY 2013

NUMBER 4

CONTENTS

ARTICLES

- Why Federal Rule of Evidence 403
Is Unconstitutional, and Why
That Matters Kenneth S. Klein 1077
- In Defense of Deference: The Case for Respecting Educational Autonomy and Expert Judgments in Fisher v. Texas Eboni S. Nelson 1133
- Advancing an Adaptive Standard of Strict Scrutiny for Content-Based
Commercial Speech Regulation Nat Stern 1171
Mark Joseph Stern
- Inchoate Crimes Revisited: A Behavioral
Economics Perspective Manuel A. Utset 1205

COMMENTS

- Did We Miss the Boat? The Clean Water Act
and Sustainability Ryan P. Murphy 1267
- Nonprofit Organizations, For-Profit Corporations, and the HHS Mandate: Why the Mandate
Does Not Satisfy RFRA's Requirements .. Jonathan T. Tan 1301
- Spelling Out LGBT: Enumerating
Sexual Orientation in Virginia's Anti-Bullying Law Melissa Wright 1373

DEDICATION

To Pete and Glenice.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This marks the fourth and final issue of Volume 47 of the University of Richmond Law Review. We thank all of our authors who have chosen to publish with us; it has been a pleasure working with each of you. It has been a privilege to serve as Editor-in-Chief this year, and as my tenure comes to a close, I find it appropriate to thank those who have helped us along the way.

Thank you first and foremost to Dean Wendy Perdue. I have truly enjoyed getting to know you over the past two years. Your support for the Law Review has taken many forms, including opening your home to our speakers last fall to kick off our successful Allen Chair Symposium.

Professor Carl Tobias and Professor John Douglass have served as supportive advisors of the Law Review. Both have always had their doors open to assist us in our times of need, and we are thankful for their dedication to us both as students and as members of the Law Review.

While the close of Volume 47 marks the end of our tenure on the Law Review, our experience began in August of 2011 during new member orientation for Volume 46 under the direction of Chris Dadak. Thank you, Chris, for your steadfast leadership during Volume 46 and your willingness to mentor me as I attempted to fill your shoes.

The Law Review's staff has been incredibly hard working this year. Each and every member has contributed positively to Volume 47. Without the diligence, dedication, and professionalism of the staff, Volume 47 would not have succeeded as it did. I hope that each of you looks back fondly on this year and realizes what an accomplishment it was to produce Volume 47.

To the 2L staff members: thank you for your countless hours this year in spading and office hours work. Without you, we would not have been able to even get our issues off the ground.

We wish you all the best of luck in the coming year with Volume 48.

To Kelly, Conor, Geoff, Charisse, Dori, Laura, Paul, and Eric, our Senior Staff: thank you for being our workhorses over the summer in spading the Annual Survey. Our ability to publish on time was a direct result of your efforts.

To McKenzie, Elizabeth, Kathleen, Pat, Joe, and Claire, our Articles Editors: thank you for mentoring the 2L staff members throughout the year. The spading improvement over the year is due to your commitment to them, and we are thankful for it.

To West, Susan, Dave, Mary Grace, Rick, and Rachel, our Manuscripts Editors: thank you for your work as the unsung heroes of the Law Review. Editing an entire article from start to finish can be a daunting task, and your diligent work has eased the burdens for the Final Editors.

To Laura, Marium, Liz, and Brooks, our Articles & Comments Editors: thank you for mentoring and shaping the 2L staff members in to better writers. The quality of our student comments in this issue is a reflection of your hard work and guidance.

To Simone, our Lead Articles Editor: thank you for your commitment to selecting timely and quality articles. Your willingness to offer different perspectives has been valuable to the decision-making this year in a number of ways. I have enjoyed getting to know you, and I am fortunate for having had the opportunity to sit next to you over the past year.

To Clint, our Allen Chair Editor: your meticulous attention to detail and tireless work ethic were reflected in both your symposium last fall and your March issue this year. It is quite an accomplishment to fill the Moot Courtroom to capacity, much less at three o'clock on a Friday afternoon. I am immensely thankful for your support and friendship.

To Tracey, our Annual Survey Editor: the six months you spent shepherding your book through the editorial process was an incredible feat. Its broad spectrum and thorough review of changes in Virginia law are valuable resources for all practitioners in the Commonwealth. I am especially thankful for your support as a fellow book editor, always willing to lend a helping hand to put the finishing touches on our issues.

To Maggie, our Senior Notes & Comments Editor: thank you for your commitment to making every aspect of your position better. The positive changes to the Bluebook Exam, Case Note Competition, and Comment Competition are due to your thoughtful and careful suggestions, and the improvements in each are a reflection of your work. Your dedication to others knows no bounds, and we are all better off for it.

To Andrew, our Managing Editor: thank you for your quiet, diligent, and thorough work. Throughout the year, you never complained, always took our jokes with a smile, and made the office a better place. Even though at times the candy jar was lacking, your commitment to the Law Review never was. You are a true team player deserving of our respect and admiration.

To Robert, our Executive Editor: thank you for everything. You kept us moving forward in order to publish each issue on time. Your strategic plans kept everyone up-to-date and moving forward on our publication schedule. The quality of your leadership when sending our staff into battle against spading, editing, and publishing has been on par with those generals whom you so often quote. I am not sure where we would have ended up without you.

To Glenice, our Publication Coordinator: thank you for your incredible dedication to us. You have taught us more in the past year than any formal education ever could. Thank you not only for your tireless work ethic, but also for your quick wit that reminds us not to take ourselves so seriously all the time. The Law Review is fortunate to have you, and we are thankful for your continued support.

I end with a few personal thanks. Thank you to Dean Rahman for betting on me. The past three years have been incredibly valuable, and I cannot thank you enough for that.

Pal and Jamma, I am thankful for the support and love you give me in my every undertaking. Granny, thank you for your constant love and support, and I hope Dan is looking down with a smile. Matt and Garland, thank you for keeping me grounded and being the best siblings I could have ever imagined. You both inspire me every day.

Mom and Dad, words cannot begin to describe how incredibly fortunate I am to have you as parents. Thank you for my education. Thanks for being my roommates over the past three years. Thank you for always helping me to see what is truly important in life.

Finally, thank you, Emily, for your love and for always being there for me. Your support and encouragement motivate me to be a better person every day. I could not have done this without you.

Frank Talbott, V

Editor-in-Chief