Why sons want their fathers to bank at Virginia Trust.

A civilized gentleman like your father deserves a civilized bank. A bank that understands that his holdings represent a lifetime of work and prudent investing—and that they now demand sensible estate services, perhaps through a living trust, perhaps through other investments. A bank that understands that his current business dealings often demand complicated financial help.

Virginia Trust is just such a bank. We can work intelligently with your father's attorney in planning estate and overall trust programs. We can also help in his business dealings. In short, we can help not only with day-to-day matters like checking and savings, but also with the complicated matters of finance.

And that's why you want your father to bank at Virginia Trust. And that's probably why he wants you to do the same thing.

VIRGINIA TRUST

THE TRUST SERVICES

The people who understand money in Richmond have always come to Virginia Trust for their trust and estate needs. That's because we've built our entire banking operation around financial planning for both the long and short terms. We offer permanence, experience, financial responsibility, impartiality and economy. And we don't think anyone in Virginia knows more about trusts, estate planning or commercial banking.
